Killed In Action

Mr. Wesley Paynter of French River, P. E. Island, has been notified that his son Fred, who has been missing since July 26th, 1944, is now reported killed in action on that date.

Company Sergeant Major Paynter enlisted in June, 1940 in the N. N. Scotia Highlanders. After training in Canada for some time he was sent with his unit to England where he remained until D-Day. From time to time he received promotion until he went into the field as C.S.M. He was awarded a certificate of merit by Field Marshal B.H. Montgomery, commander in chief, 21st Army, in June, 1944.

Following is a letter from his commanding officer received by his family.

"It is with great pleasure that we pass the enclosed certificate on to you. The standard set for these certificates is high and our feeling is that there have been few of them so well-earned as this one. Freddie was one of the best soldiers we have ever had in this unit, and the work he did both as a platoon sergeant and Company Sergeant Major has never been equalled since we have been in the theatre of operations.

"His influence on the men was of the very best and they respected and liked him to a most unusual degree.

"It was always a great pleasure to me to come across Freddie when the going was tough, during the first bitter days at Les Buissons. He was always going about his job with his usual quiet manner.

"Every time Freddie was given a promotion in England he protested that he wasn't capable. He then proceeded to do a better job than anyone else. When the real test came he accepted the responsibility of Company Sergeant Major without hesitation and did such an extraordinary job that it was difficult to realize he was little more than a boy in years.

PROCEEDINGS

Souris Hospital. The bill completes the documentary title to lands purchased in Souris from Harry D. MacLean and Roy C. MacLean for the erection of a new hospital.

Labor Legislation

On motion of Hon. Mr. Wright the House went into committee with Mr. E. H. Strong in the chair on second reading of an Act to carry out the International Labor Convention (1937) concerning the minimum age for the admission of children to industrial employment.

The promoter explained that the bill was introduced at the request of the Association of Labor Legislation, in order to make uniform the legislation in each Province in conformity with Dominion legislation, this being required to enable the Dominion Government to ratify the Geneva Convention.

The bill defines children as persons under the age of fifteen years It was discussed by Messrs. Heath Strong, H. H. Cox, H. F. McPhee and G. E. Saville, differences of opinion being expressed as to wnether the packing of lobsters and other fish or farm products came within the scope of the legislation.

Mr. McPhee called attention to the omission of a clause providing for the appointment of a competent authority to define the difference between industrial and agricultural occupations.

Premier Jones said the Families Allowance Act might have something to say about young children working in lobster factories in place of being in school where they ought to be.

Mr. H. Strong said this was already provided for under the School Act, which made school attendance compulsory up to the age of fifteen.

Progress was reported.

At 4.45 Hon. Mr. Hughes moved that the House go into committee of Supply. He was followed by Mr. H. F. McPhee who adjourned the debate at 5.30 p.m.

Evening Session

The House resumed at 8 p.m.

An Act to provide retiring allowances for civil servants was introduced and given first reading.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Hughes the House went into committee with Mr. Francis in the chair on an Act to provide a retiring allowance of $500 annually for John F. Duffy, butler at Government House for fifty years. It was reported agreed to without amendment.

On motion of Mr. Hughes the House went into committee with Mr. Ramsay in the chair on an Act to amend the Amusement Tax Act. The bill provides that upon all bets at a pari-mutual machine the tax shall be equal to 5 per cent of the amount of the bet.

Mr. McPhee said this was indirect taxation and the question was whether it might not be held to be ultra vires.

Mr. Hughes argued that similar taxation was in operation in other provinces.

After discussion the bill was reported agreed to.

Mr. Hughes moved the House into committee with Mr. McNeil in the chair on an Act to amend the Registry Act. The bill authorizes any commissioned officer to take affidavits in the armed forces, this authorization at present being restricted to officers of the rank of Major and upwards. Reported agreed to.

Public School Act

On motion of Premier Jones the House went into committee with Mr. Cullen in the chair on an Act to amend the Public School Act.

Sec. 1 of the bill empowers school inspectors to authorize any board of trustees to admit to school privileges pupils from other districts if conditions warrant it, and states the board may exact from such pupils from other districts such reasonable tuition fees as may be sanctioned by the inspector.

Mr. E. H. Strong objected to the indefiniteness of the phrase "if conditions warrant it." He referred to overcrowding in the Summerside schools.

Dr. McMillan said the clause was only intended to apply to rural districts. Hon. Mr. Barbour concurred in this view.

Mr. McPhee said the clause was ridiculous because the trustees already have the power which it purports to give.

Sec. 2 enlarges the definition of "public school" to include any school in any school district receiving financial aid from the Government.

Sec. 3 gives full authority to attendance officers to investigate all questions in respect to school attendance and to enter action against defaulting parties.

Sec. 4 provides that whenever any factory or other building used for commercial purposes in the Province is outside the shore line it shall be deemed for all purposes in the Act, as being within the school district which it adjoins.

Mr. E. H. Strong argued that areas outside the shore line belonged to the Dominion Government and could be affected by provincial legislation of any kind. On his motion this phrase was amended to read "adjoining the shore line."

Explanations with regard to the amendments were made by Mr. Lloyd Shaw, director of education with the consent of the House. The bill after discussion was reported agreed to.

Education Act Changes

Premier Jones moved the House into committee with Mr. Saville in the chair on an Act respecting the Department of Education.

The bill provides for the establishment of a separate Department of Education under a Minister; for the appointment of a director of education who shall be the Deputy Minister; for a secretary and other officers; for an advisory council serving without remuneration, consisting of the Minister as chairman, the Deputy Minister, the Secretary of Education, the Principal of Prince of Wales College, the rector of St. Dunstan's University, a representative of each of the following organizations: P. E. I. Federation of Agriculture, the Labour Unions, the Fishermen's Union, Canadian Legion, Associated Boards of Trade, P.E.I. Teachers Federation, and two representatives of the Central Women's Institute; the members of the council other than ex-officio members to hold office for three years and be eligible for reappointment. The duties of the Minister, Deputy Minister and Council are defined.

Discussion centred chiefly on Sec. 5 concerning the personnel of the advisory council, and the method of appointing the representatives of organizations.

On motion of Mr. Heath Strong provision was made for the appointment of three Women's Institute representatives to the council.

Mr. McPhee said it would appear that all the powers formerly vested in the Board of Education are now vested in the Minister.

Mr. E. H. Strong criticised the bill as being poorly drafted, leaving numerous obscurities, which would cause trouble and expense later on.

The bill was finally reported agreed to with amendments.

Hon. Mr. Hughes moved the House into committee with Mr. Ramsay in the chair on an Act to amend the Affidavits Act. The bill, which effects a change similar to the amendment to the Registry Act, was reported agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Hughes the House went into committee with Mr. Heath Strong in the chair on an Act to amend the Credit Union Societies Act. The bill amends the statute to conform with Dominion requirements governing the interest rate on small loans. It was reported agreed to.

At 10.20 the House adjourned, to meet at 11 a.m. today.

GREETINGS!

In this season when day-old chicks are being sold to many Islanders, we submit for your approval this "day-old column". We have hopes, now that it has cracked the shell that it will develop from a tender fledgling to a wise old bird of adult stature. On the other hand, it may, like many a chicken, get the axe. This, dear readers, is up to you.

THIS WEEK'S LIMERICK

It's the season for sweet birds to sing,
And the gay lover shobs for a rig;
Why should I go to bed
With this cold in the head,
It's budiful, budiful, sprig!!!

Which means that, in all probability before you read these lines, the equitorial gales will have blown your new spring hat into a mud puddle. What if it does! It's a grand and glorious feeling to know that the sun is on our side of the fence once again.

Hitler's chief objection to the United Nations is that they don't play the game "according to Hell."

Theme song of the week (chanted by the Berlin bivouackers beside Meinm Kampf fires) "Ten-ton Tonight."

"Our bombs are getting better all the time" is probably the way we'd sing it. In the early days bombs were just bombs. Then the "blockbusters" were developed, and now "town busters." If we don't make sure that war is outlawed for keeps this time, some clever fool is going to come up with a "nation buster". The nation that drops the first one wins the war!

Won't it be swell though when the war is over, and Canadians will have nothing more explosive than "broncho busters" to contend with.
