BALLOONISTS GET BIG OVATION IN NEW YORK

(Special to The Guardian)
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Lieutenant J. L. Kior and three other balloonists were given a tremendous ovation when they arrived today on their return from northern Ontario. The police were called to keep back the crowd that threatened to rush through the gates to the platform to give a personal greeting to the three officers. Lieutenant Farrell was the lion of the ceremonies. The crowd kept yelling, "where is Farrell, we want Farrell!" Farrell smiled and lifted his cap in recognition. Outside the gates the party had to fight their way through the crowd behind a squad of police. The officers then retired to clean up for a dinner that was given in their honor by the Rockaway Board of Trade.

Poor Outlook For Steel Company

(Special to The Guardian)
SYDNEY, Jan. 14.—With reference to the situation of the Steel Plant and the outlook for production the Post is in receipt tonight of the following wire from President Wolvin of Montreal: "The continued operations of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., depend entirely on the volume of business on which orders may be received hereafter. Orders now on hand are no more than sufficient to keep the plant in operation until about the end of the present month."

JAPAN WORRIED OVER SHOOTING OF AMERICAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Lieutenant W. R. Langdon, of the United States cruiser Albany, was shot by a Japanese sloop, the Vladivostok, when he failed to understand, or heed a command to halt, said an official version of the incident received today by the Japanese Embassy from its government. Lieutenant Langdon, the message said, had drawn a revolver after the sloop had pulled back a hood that covered his face in an effort to determine his nationality.

Jap Fired First

But he did not fire until after the sloop had shot him after the officer had turned to walk away. Another message to the Embassy said the Japanese government and the incident were greatly concerned over the incident, and that both the Japanese commander at Vladivostok has expressed regret to the commander of the Albany, of which Lt. Langdon was chief engineer.

WINDFALL FOR HOSPITALS

LONDON, January 14. An estate valued at $299,402. In normal times about $482,460, nearly all of which is bequeathed to charities, has been left by David Martin Currie, who died in September at the age of 84. A brother of the late Sir Donald Currie, he was a familiar figure in art sales rooms. He bequeathed to the Victoria and Albert Museum, at South Kensington, all his works of art, including arms, armour, bronzes, silver and other things, which were on loan at the museum. The rest of his works of art, which include some exceptional pieces, are to be sold. Mr. Currie left large bequests to hospitals and charitable institutions, including one bequest of £25,000, nine bequests of 20,000 pounds each, and three of 10,000 pounds each. After the payment of some legacies, half of the residue is divided among some of these institutions.

GREEK FINANCES IN RUINOUS STATE

ATHENS, Jan. 13.—No foreign or domestic loan, however huge and advantageous, can definitely lift Greece out of the financial morass if this country does not at the earliest possible moment inaugurate a policy of ruthless economy. This statement was made by John Ethaxias, former Governor of the National Bank of Greece, today, and expressed in a nutshell the view of the Athenian financial experts, ship owners and bankers. "We have been drifting toward a financial catastrophe for eight years. The war was carried on almost entirely on money borrowed abroad," said the financier. "For a quarter of a century Greece has been piling on foreign loan on another, rarely repaying the principal, often falling to pay interest and nearly always appealing for the renewal of the loan."

DETROIT, Jan. 13.—Joe Ercovitch, five-year-old, whose parents live in Highland Park, a suburb, was reported by his father when he came home with his feet wet tonight. The lecture was followed by a whipping and the lad was ordered out to the kitchen to get dried out. A moment later a shout was heard and the parents rushed out to find the boy dead on the floor, blood oozing from a hole in his temple and a 38-calibre revolver lying by his side. The police say it is a case of suicide. The boy's father insists that he kept no weapon in the house and was unable to offer any explanation as to where the pistol came from.

Further Robberies In Charlottetown

JUVENILE CRIMINALS IN THE MAKING. DEPLORABLE STATE REVEALED
The arrest of a lad named Ingram yesterday morning in connection with the robbery of McNevin's shoe repair shop on Great George Street, in which three other boys were concerned, brought out facts concerning recent robberies not hitherto reported. It appears that among the latest places entered was Reardon's sample rooms at the corner of Queen and Sydney Streets. It appears that the thief in this case found Mr. Reardon's keys in the door and some time later in the daytime unlocked the door of the premises and went in, a couple of fancy cases containing valuable sets of cuff links and also appropriated four fancy china cups. These all were recovered.

Complete Mystery Surrounds Sydney Fire

SYDNEY, N. S., Jan. 13.—A complete air of mystery surrounds the fire which completely destroyed the Glace Bay Hotel and caused the loss of one life Thursday morning. Tonight the fire commission of that town held an investigation into the conflagration and found that two main points which they wish brought out, cannot be explained. All the evidence which has been given does not disclose the identity of the person who called fire through all parts of the hotel and rung the buzzer in the hotel office which woke up two girls sleeping on the third floor.

Presbyterians Won From Anglicans in Final League Game

In the final basketball game of the Church League series played at the Y. M. C. A. last night the Presbyterians won the championship by the score of 23 to 19. It was a well contested basketball battle, the players of both sides doing their utmost to bring victory to their team. Penalties were few and the big crowd were kept at a high pitch of excitement as each new score would be made. At the end of the first period the score was 10 to 13 for the Presbyterians.
