

Lea Resents Reminder Of His Attempt In '33 To Cut Teachers' Wages

Opposition Leader Claims His Amendment To Estimates At That Time Not Binding As A Party Policy. He Is Brought To Task By Attorney General MacPhee For Attempting To Sidestep Responsibility For His Attitude Two Years Ago.

Legislative Chamber, April 2. The House in Committee on the Estimates, with Mr. Hunter in the chair.

Department of Agriculture, Travelling expenses, (Ministers, $450, Livestock Superintendent, $400, Field representative, $300.)

Mr. Dennis said the government was providing good cars to the Minister and field men, and the estimates for travelling expenses should be cut down.

Mr. LePage agreed. The travelling expenses for all departments was getting serious. They should do as they did in Ontario—scrap a lot of the cars or put them up for auction. If a man had to have a car, let him be paid to much salary, and make him furnish his own transportation. There was entirely too much gas used, not only by this government but by other governments.

Mr. Dennis moved as an amendment that the travelling expenses for the Minister and Livestock Superintendent be reduced $200 each.

Hon. Mr. MacPhee said that whatever weight or merit the Opposition criticism might have, it was nullified by their conduct when in office. They had made no attempt to dissuade their own government from voting money for travelling expenses. "I was going to give some credit to the member from Rustico from making the suggestion now," he added, "if it had been consistent with his attitude when he was a member of the government in power. But he has prevented me from having that opportunity of thinking well of him." He pointed out that both the heads of both the Department and Public Works Department have necessarily a great deal of travelling to do in the course of the year.

Mr. LePage said he had never used a gallon of government gasoline when in power.

(Mr. Dennis' amendment was lost and the motion to adopt the item carried. No standing vote was called by the Opposition.)

EXHIBITION

(Exhibition and Livestock Judging, $11,500)

Mr. McIntyre: "Why the increase of $2,000 over last year in this item?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We are adding $1,000 for Summerside, and $1,000 for the Amherst Winter Fair."

Mr. Lea: "We used only to give $500."

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "The directors of that exhibition found that they could not carry on without an additional vote. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick passed theirs on condition that they would have an increased vote from this Province as well."

Mr. Allen: "Was a request received by the Government from the Summerside association for a grant to put on an exhibition this year?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "Yes."

Mr. Allen: "Would you mind telling me the amount they asked for?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "$5,000."

Mr. Allen: "If they asked for $5,000, surely you can't expect to satisfy them with $1,000."

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We are doing our best."

Mr. LePage: "How is the money distributed?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "Charlottetown gets $6,000; Souris and Georgetown $1,000 each; Summerside $1,000; Amherst, $1,000; Alberton $750 and Mount Carmel $400."

Mr. Dennis: "Provided Summerside does not take up the grant, is there a possibility of having it diverted to Alberton?" (Laughter.)

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "That will require further consideration."

The items carried.

Grants to Farmers Institutes $800 passed without discussion.

Encouragement of Live Stock, $4,200

Mr. Lea referred to an experiment in hog raising carried on at the Experimental Station, to which he understood this Government contributed.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We gave a grant of $300."

Mr. Lea: "Did the Government get a grant from Ottawa?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "Yes."

Mr. Lea: "Then this government did not give anything towards it at all."

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "There were some additional expenses."

Mr. Lea: "Did the Minister ever investigate what was carried on out there? I have heard that something new was discovered that we never experimented in before in Prince Edward Island in regard to live stock. Some of these animals died. Does my hon. friend know how many died?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "Three or four."

Mr. Lea: "Do you think that was all?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "That is all I am aware of."

Mr. Lea: "I understand that these hogs that were fed there died of eating too much straw. I read that in the 'Star' in an article by Oora Hines who was here investigating for the Winnipeg Free Press." Continuing, Mr. Lea said that a veterinarian who was called out there had also given the opinion that the animals were so hungry that they ate too much straw, and died. The Livestock Superintendent at that time, he said, was writing in the press censuring the farmers for not raising more hogs, but the number of hogs at the Falconwood farm were decreasing to a greater extent than the hogs throughout the country. There were also fewer cows being kept at that institution. They are now increasing the number of hogs but they are still falling down in the matter of cattle, and horses.

Mr. LePage asked what the Minister intended to do to promote horse raising.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We are endeavoring to encourage horse breeding throughout the Province. We have now fourteen premium horses on the island, thirteen of them owned by private individuals. There are a lot of fine young horses growing up, and these will be distributed with the Federal Department for a special class of horse, a Clydesdale."

Mr. McIntyre: "There is an addition of $200 here over last year."

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "The addition of $200 is for the organization of sheep and poultry clubs."

Mr. J. A. MacDonald thought it would be in the interest of farmers if they produced their own horses. The Liberals had imported Western horses—and pretty poor horses they were. They had the horses. He suggested that the O'Leary Liberal member, who was an auctioneer, would know something about the disposition of these animals.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt in reply to a question by Mr. LePage, said the population of young horses increased from 2,172 in 1933 to 2,600 in 1934. He did not have earlier figures available.

Mr. Dennis thought the Government should consider the advisability of buying improved stock from the farmers at a reasonable price, then holding a dispersion sale in order to give the farmer anxious to buy a better type of animal the opportunity of bidding for which ever one takes his eye. Let the Government absorb the profit or loss, whatever it was. The Minister of Public Works, he continued, had adopted the number of pounds of pork that had been utilized at Falconwood. Mr. Dennis understood that the hogs killed were among the best that could be found in Canada. Those excellent breeding animals should not have been slaughtered just for meat.

After some further discussion on minor matters, the item carried.

Women's Institutes, $5,100

Mr. LePage asked if the estimates contained anything for a rest room which the Premier had referred to in his Budget speech.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt explained that the office of the Supervisor, the outside office and rest room is being rented at $20 a month. For a number of years past they had been paying $35 a month for the old large office. The three rooms combined are now being obtained at a cheaper rental than was formerly paid.

The item carried, as did, with little discussion, the estimates for School Pairs ($2,600) Central School Fair ($750), Agricultural hall, salary of keeper ($720), Car account, gasoline and repairs, $1,200, Miscellaneous, ($3,500).

Skunk and Owl Bounty, $1,800

Mr. McIntyre said he noticed this estimate was $200 less than last year. Is it possible that the skunks are getting less than they have been in former years?

Mr. Lea: "In some sections, I believe."

Mr. McIntyre thought the grant should be increased to last year's amount. It was an inducement to

Husband—Wife Both Benefit

Always Keep Dodd's Kidney Pills

"Both my husband and myself have taken Dodd's kidney pills for years," writes Mrs. J. W. Bramley, R. R. 2, Florenceville, N. B. "When I first came to Canada my mother-in-law told me how good Dodd's Kidney Pills were. At that time my kidneys were in poor condition. After taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt so much better. I am a farmer's wife, 34 years of age, and have had nine children. I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful medicine, and always keep a box in the house. I give them to my children when they feel out of sorts."

Dodd's Kidney Pills

people out of employment in the winter, to take advantage of this money.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt said the skunks were undoubtedly getting fewer, especially in Prince County. Last year the expenditure in bounty was $1,400 less than the preceding year.

Mr. Allen asked about the bounty on hawks.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt said the bounty was $2.

Mr. Allen thought the Government would be justified in increasing the amount because the Arctic Owl is a greater pest than the skunk. They are killers of the Hungarian partridge.

The item carried, as did the estimate for Agricultural Short Course ($250) without further discussion.

Bovine Tuberculosis Test $6,000

Mr. Lea: "Are they going to give free veterinary service as in the past, and vaccine?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "Yes."

Mr. Lea: "I think it cost more than that, and there were two tests."

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "$9,000."

Mr. Lea: "How does my hon. friend expect to do it for $900?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We expect to get cheaper transportation this year. The last test was in 1929."

Mr. Lea: "Has my hon. friend ever considered putting on the Bang test?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We asked that it be put on this year, but they couldn't put on both at the same time."

Mr. Lea: "Or pullorum test?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "We have not made that application."

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL ($3,750)

Mr. LePage said the junior member for Charlottetown (Mr. Stewart) had referred to an Opposition pledge to reduce the teachers' salaries. There never was any pledge, he maintained; it was merely a motion which did not effect teachers' salaries under $600.

Premier MacMillan: "If my hon. friend's motion had prevailed, the teachers' salaries would have been reduced."

Mr. Allen: "Some of them."

Premier MacMillan: "All of them earning $500 or over would have been affected."

Mr. LePage: "Might I ask my hon. friend if he has had a delegation of the teachers asking for an increase in salaries?"

Hon. Mr. MacNutt: "Yes."

Mr. LePage: "What is the intention?"

Premier MacMillan: "Our intention is expressed in these Estimates."

The item carried.

EDUCATION ($268,500)

Under the item Miscellaneous ($1,500) the Premier explained, an additional expenditure of some $200 was estimated for over last year, due to the King's Jubilee. For that occasion it is planned to distribute nicely engraved pictures of the King and Queen among the school children.

Mr. J. A. MacDonald asked if any history had been issued this year. The Premier replied that there was a history recommended for supplementary reading. Mr. MacDonald said he understood that next year there would be a history issued for the Maritime Provinces. We should prepare a history of our own, he thought. The Premier: "We are still the Prince Edward Island history."

Mr. Allen raised the question of cheaper school books. There were many discarded books which could be bought and resold cheaply for those who were unable to purchase new books, he suggested.

Premier MacMillan said it was already provided by statute that discarded children have not school books, the school trustees shall furnish such books and assess the parents or guardians.

Superannuation Fund ($5,500)

Mr. Lea asked what this fund amounted to.

Premier MacMillan said the fund had a balance at Dec. 31 last of $50,000. He described how the amount was invested.

P.W.C. Staff Salaries ($28,400)

Mr. LePage asked if there had been any increase this year.

Premier MacMillan replied that a delegation from the staff had made very strong representations.

Mr. LePage: "A poor time to ask."

Mr. Lea: "There seems to be an increased number all the time. I am not objecting if they are absolutely needed, but as we know in past years, with possibly not as many students going, five or six professors did this work. Does the Minister of Education think that all of these are absolutely necessary?"

Premier MacMillan: "Yes, with the fourth year."

Mr. Lea: "That fourth year should be paid for by the parents."

Premier MacMillan: "The fees for the fourth year are pretty high."

Mr. Lea: "Not so high as if they go to the university, where they used to go. I question the advisability of taxing the rank and file for the benefit of less than five per cent, to give third and fourth year courses, because it is putting quite a burden on people who are not getting any benefit at all. They are being educated to go out of the Province."

Premier MacMillan: "The City fee for the fourth year is $150."

Mr. Lea: "That would be first year in Mount Allison or Dalhousie. Their fees would be much higher."

Premier MacMillan: "Of course, there is no additional burden. The fees make the course nearly self-supporting."

Mr. Lea maintained that his amendment did not apply to the supplements paid by the school districts, but only to the amount paid by the Government.

Premier MacMillan: "The teachers are paid from two sources, the government and the district. That makes up their salary, and that is what my hon. friend's amendment referred to."

Mr. Allen: "How could we deduct 5 per cent from the supplement paid by the people of the district. That would be a most absurd thing."

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "Of course. The motion was absurd in the first place."

Mr. Allen: "There was no such intention."

LEA CONTENTION ANSWERED

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "That was the basis on which the whole matter was discussed on both sides of the House. Now my hon. friend says they did not mean that. If the members will refer back to the debate they will be convinced that we discussed it on that basis."

Mr. Lea: "Not at all. It was only what the Government paid."

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "But the determining factor would be whether the teacher received a total salary of $500 or over."

Mr. Lea: "From the Government."

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "No. If my hon. friend will refer back to the debates he will see that he is wrong. I remember very clearly drawing to the attention of the leader of the Opposition the fact that part of the salary was paid by the district and part by the government, and that regarding the part paid by the district there had already been a substantial reduction. That matter was put clearly before them, but they nevertheless persisted in their attitude, and quoted statistics to show that that would be applicable to the whole amount."

Mr. Allen: "We are dealing entirely with the amount of money paid by the Provincial Government to the teachers as salaries. We couldn't touch money over which we had no control."

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "The proposed reduction was to be applicable to the amount paid by the Government, but the determining factor was to be the whole salaries received by the teachers." (Applause.)

Mr. Stewart: "I just want to make myself clear. I did not say teachers only; I said teachers and all persons in the employ of the government."

Mr. Allen: "He said 10 per cent."

Mr. Stewart: "I did not specify any percentage. I said a reduction."

Mr. Dennis: "I turned up the resolution and all hands are wrong. It was moved by Mr. Lea, seconded by Mr. McIntyre that the report of the committee be not adopted but that the Estimates be referred back to committee to take into consideration a reduction of Ministers' salaries and travelling expenses and seasonal indemnity to the extent of 10 per cent."

Mr. Lea: "That is not the one at all!" (Laughter.)

Mr. Dennis: "All right! Find the other one yourself!" (Increased laughter.)

Mr. Speaker Strong said the amendment in question could be found at page 117 of the 1933 Journals.

The items carried without further discussion.

LOOK UP THE FILES

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "I think my hon. friend has not a perfectly clear recollection of the scope of his amendment, and the argument he himself used to support it. If he looks up the files covering the debate of that time, he will find that he really did intend that his amendment should apply to the teachers. I recollect the debate, and I drew to the attention of the committee the fact that the teachers throughout the country had already suffered a reduction in salary owing to the fact that their supplements had been materially reduced. It was certainly my idea at the time that it was the Opposition leader's intention that his amendment should be applicable to the teachers. I cannot say what idea was in the mind of the hon. gentleman, but he can hardly blame the member from Charlottetown for making the statement that he pledged his party. Because surely the leader of the Opposition meant something when he moved the resolution. We realize now, of course, that he meant nothing at all. But it was too much to expect that the member from Charlottetown should understand that without the clear explanation that has come from my hon. friend tonight. We are accustomed to believe, when the leader of a party makes a motion of that sort, that he is speaking for his party, and the leader of the Opposition has made it clear on this occasion that that is not the case." (Applause.)

Mr. Lea: "Mine was not any resolution; it was simply an amendment."

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "Wasn't it moved in committee?"

Mr. Lea: "Yes."

Premier MacMillan cited the large number of school teachers, earning $500 or over in 1934, who would have been affected.

Mr. Lea: "By only five per cent."

The Premier also pointed out that the reduction affect a larger proportion of male than female teachers.

Mr. Lea maintained that his amendment did not apply to the supplements paid by the school districts, but only to the amount paid by the Government.

Premier MacMillan: "The teachers are paid from two sources, the government and the district. That makes up their salary, and that is what my hon. friend's amendment referred to."

Mr. Allen: "How could we deduct 5 per cent from the supplement paid by the people of the district. That would be a most absurd thing."

Hon. Mr. MacPhee: "Of course. The motion was absurd in the first place."

Mr. Allen: "There was no such intention."

Made Permanent Members Of Civil Service

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, April 12—Some 350 members of the soldier settlement branch of the Department of Immigration and Colonization will be made permanent members of the civil service by a bill of which notice was placed today on the House of Commons order paper by Minister of Labor W. A. Gordon.

For almost 20 years the Soldier Settlement Board has been functioning with a temporary staff practically all of whom were ex-service men.

Identifies Dead Son Through Photo

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HAVANA, April 12—Jaime Greinstein, keeper of a small store in the Havana market, said today Jose Angulo Terry, who died before a firing squad yesterday under Cuba's new emergency laws against terrorists, was his son, Jaime, Jr.

Greinstein said the dead youth was unquestionably his boy, who would have been 30 years old in June. He said the condemned youth sent a telegram to his brother, Pedro, advising him of the sentence, and signed it "Angulo Terry." Pedro did not tell other members of the family, the elder Greinstein said, and it was not known Angulo Terry was really his son until he saw his photograph, published after the execution.

Greinstein expressed the belief his son changed his name to save the family from suffering.

Members of the family said Jaime had been active against the regime of former President Gerardo Machado and had been arrested many times.

Celebrates 92nd Birthday

(Moncton Times)

One of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Moncton and Westmorland County Friday received the heartiest congratulations of his many friends on the occasion of his 92nd birthday, in the person of Mr. John Corcoran, retired farm supervisor of Dorchester Penitentiary. Nearly a quarter of a century beyond the allotted span, Mr. Corcoran is still hardy and in good health, being much younger in appearance and actions than a man 20 years his junior.

Born in Prince Edward Island, at Georgetown, on April 12, 1844, of Irish parents who came out to the Garden of the Gull, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corcoran, he gained his early education in his native place. Farming was his first avocation, he afterwards securing a job with the contractors building that part of the Island railroad between Charlottetown, Alberton and Tignish. On the construction work he took part for four years and for three years afterwards was permanently employed as a track official with the road.

At the instance of Hon. J. C. Pope, Minister of Fisheries, representing Prince Edward Island, and Chief Justice MacDonald, of Nova Scotia, Mr. Corcoran came to Dorchester, N.B., where he was placed in charge of the agricultural section of the penitentiary and supervised the clearing of the land which now comprises the farm there generally known to residents of the Shiretown as the "Corcoran farm." For thirty-six years, Mr. Corcoran continued to direct the farm activities, retiring some 21 years ago to well-merited leisure after a most active life.

Pioneer Days

In his long life Mr. Corcoran recalls that before the advent of railways in Prince Edward Island, four stage coaches plied between Summerside and Charlottetown, and that sailing vessels took large cargoes of produce from the different parts of the Island. He also recounted that when steam vessels made their advent they sailed between Summerside and Point du Chene, the first two of the steamers or class between the Princess and the St. Lawrence.

Dorchester was a thriving centre when Mr. Corcoran arrived there as a young man to make his home; it was the legal centre of the province, besides being a hive of industry in shipbuilding. He recalled that seven vessels were on the stocks when he came to the Shiretown and this number was even surpassed in after years. The shipbuilding yards of the Chapman's, the Hickman's and the Palmer's were brimful of activity and furnished employment to a large number of men.

Mr. Corcoran during the 36 years he was in the civil service of Canada never had a mark of any description recorded against him, and retired from active duty leaving behind him a record of the highest attainable merit and one of which he should be justly proud.

Moderation Makes for Long Life

Moderation in everything is what Mr. Corcoran attributes to his long lease of life, although he comes from a family of longevity, his father having lived to attain the age of 88 and his mother that of 84. He is an almost constant smoker and declares there is nothing that he enjoys more than a pipeful of the real old Island twist. Mentally alert, and in possession of all his faculties, he follows the current events of the day with keen interest, while his memory is also distinctly clear and he can recall outstanding events of eighty-five years ago.

Prior to removing from the Island province to the mainland, Mr.

He also said it was his belief that the almost-white frog is looked upon, scientifically, as a conspicuous mutation, representing an almost diagrammatic step in the mechanism of evolution. Liquor Case Hearing Is Adjourned

Counsel For F. S. Blair Cites Jurisprudence On Conspiracy Charge.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, April 12.—F. Philippe Brals, K.C., Counsel for F. S. Blair, cited jurisprudence on the subject of conspiracy today at preliminary hearings of eight alleged members of a $5,000,000 liquor conspiracy. The hearing was adjourned until Monday.

In addition to Mr. Blair the others before the court are the four Bronfman brothers, Samuel, Allan, Harry and Abraham, Barney Aaron and William Casley, all of Montreal, and William Yule of Halifax.

Mr. Brals in his continued legal argument quoted the definition of conspiracy as an agreement which, if legal, would be enforceable; if illegal, indictable and punishable.

STAND TEST?

Did the relations between the accused and "run-runner" Fred Levesque of Quebec stand this test? asked Mr. Brals. Supposing smuggling was legal, was there any agreement between Levesque and the vendor, F. S. Blair, to introduce liquor into Canada, on which Levesque could have taken action in a court of law? Could Levesque have sued Blair for damages if he failed to get the liquor within Canada's territorial limits, according to the presumed agreement? Counsel for Mr. Blair asked.

Obviously the questions were absurd, Mr. Brals contended. Yet if such an agreement did not exist, it followed there had been no criminal conspiracy. Liquor was sold to Levesque in a perfectly legal manner, in place which such sale was not prohibited by any law, and the sale was final. The vendor relinquished all responsibility; the merchandise went to the purchaser who could do with it as he saw fit, argued Mr. Brals.

REFER TO I'M ALONE CASE

Reference was made to the case of the schooner I'm Alone the Captain and crew of which had been indemnified for damages despite the fact they admitted their intention of smuggling liquor into the United States. If these persons were not conspirators, how much more guilty were the present accused who had displayed no such intentions, Mr. Brals told the court, but had merely made a legal sale of their lawful merchandise.

A Mixed Menu

A June bride asked her husband to copy the radio cooking-recipe one morning. The husband did his best, but got two stations at once. One was broadcasting exercises and the other one the recipe. This is what he got:

"Hands on hips, place one cup of flour on the shoulders, raise knees and depress toes and wash thoroughly in one-half cup of milk. In four counts, raise and lower the legs and mash two hard boiled eggs in a sieve. Repeat six times. Inhale one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, and one cup of flour. Breathe naturally, exhale and sit."

Attention! Jump to a squatting position and bend whites of eggs backward and forward over the head and in four counts make a stiff dough that will stretch at the waist. Lie flat on the floor and roll into a marble the size of a walnut. Hop to a standstill and boll in water, but do not boll to a gallop afterward. In ten minutes remove from the fire and dry with a towel. Breathe naturally and dress in warm flannels and serve with fish soup.

Corcoran married Miss Margaret Green, of Kinkora, P.E.I., who was his faithful helpmeet until she passed away 21 years ago. Of the union there were six children, John H. Corcoran, a Canadian National Railways, Atlantic Region, this city; James, of Edmonton, Alta.; Fred, of the T. Eaton Company, Moncton; Frank, C.N.R. station agent, Etobicoke, Ont.; Mrs. Florence Grant, of Moncton, and Mrs. William D. LeBlanc, also of this city, with whom he has made his home for the past seven years. There are also fifteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Corcoran is looking forward to the King's Silver Jubilee celebration, and recalls that it will be the fourth time that he has witnessed the throne of Great Britain, then her golden jubilee in 1887, and her diamond jubilee in 1897. Another interesting and epochal royal event, he recalls, was the visit of Queen Victoria's son, the Duke of Connaught, to the Island Province a great many years ago.

Mr. Corcoran is a devoted member of St. Bernard's church and a member of the Holy Name Society, and he has a host of friends both here and elsewhere who will join in wishing him many happy returns of his natal day.
