Roosevelt's Chief Pledges

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (AP)—The fourth successive Roosevelt administration will take office Jan. 20 pledged to a most comprehensive program—and the President has set down to work immediately on it.

As outlined by Mr. Roosevelt in the recent campaign, the administration policies of the future will point mainly to these general courses:

1. An "orderly" reconversion to civilian production in due times.
2. Demobilization as rapidly as is permitted by military necessity.
3. A world security organization with United States representatives in advance with "authoritative" to act in halting aggression.
4. A campaign for peace, though kept "prepared" for any threat to peace.
5. A program for economic goal of 60,000,000 productive jobs in a year.
6. A program for time savings in production.
7. Perhaps the aim most frequently mentioned by the President in his campaign concerned muniting-out. Time and again he promised to bring the fighting men home as rapidly as possible—this time to jobs, farms and businesses.

FLAG ETIQUETTE (Continued)

When the flag is carried for marching, along with one other, the Jack is to be on the marching right, and the staff is to be on the right of the Jack. If there are more than one other, the Jack is to be ahead, alone, and in front of the centre of the group.

If the Jack is placed on the wall, as behind a speaker's chair, the flag is to be placed as though the flag, that is, to the right side, when looking at the speaker.

If the Jack and one other flag are crossed, the Jack should be on the other flag's right, that is, to the left of a person looking at the flag; and the staff of the other flag, the flags being the same height.

When displayed in a cluster of a group of three or more, the Jack occupies the centre and is the highest.

When flags of two or more nations are flown, separate staffs of the same height are to be used.

When used in church, one's Union Jack is to be on the minister's right.

The Jack is never used to drape anything but a casket or a pulpit.

The flag is to be raised at sunrise (travelling) and lowered at sunset (retreat).

WEDDING BELLS—A pretty quiet wedding took place on Sept. 18 at the Baptist Parsonage, Tryon, when Rhoda Gertrude MacLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nell D. MacLeod, of Hartsville, became the bride of Robert Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Wright. The bride, charming in a two-piece ensemble of black and green and wearing a royal blue suit with white, Stewart was groomed by her brother, art Sherrin was groomsmen. After the ceremony the wedding party moved to the home of Mrs. Sherrin where a wedding supper was served to neighbours and friends. MCKENNA - BASSETT, WEDDING—A very pretty fall wedding was celebrated at St. Paul's church, Kinkora by Rev. Monsignor J. A. Murphy on Wednesday, September 27th when Margaret Emaline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell McKenna, Emerald was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Joseph Elsworth of Mr. and Mrs. Keir Bassett, Albany. The bride, becomingly attired in a tailored suit with wine accessories was attended by her sister, Teresa who wore a tweed suit with brown accessories while the groom was ably supported by his brother, Anes. The bridegroom entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March played by Sister Mary Winifred, cousin of the bride, who also played and sang hymns during the Nuptial Mass, assisted by The Children of Mary's choir. After the ceremony, wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride to immediate relatives with Monsignor Murphy and Rev. Father W. V. McDonald, P.P. Seven Mile Bay being present. Then the bridal party gave a shower at the bride's home and a good wishes motored to Summerside where they left by plane on a honeymoon trip to Montreal and Halifax. For a travelling costume the bride chose a beige coat with brown accessories. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl bracelet, to the bridesmaid, a dressing set, to the groomsmen, a shaving set. On their return they were tendered a miscellaneous shower at the groom's home. The young couple will reside in Albany, where the groom is a prosperous farmer. The Guardian joins friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth-Bassett many years of wedded bliss.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

A MOTHER'S "THOUGHTS"

It's just a little mound somewhere in Flanders
Perhaps upon some hillside over there;
Where sunshine smiles upon him in his slumber,
In answer to his boyish wish—his prayer.
Then he would lie and look up to the Heavens,
At fleecy clouds like wool go drifting through the day,
And wonder "is my other home up yonder?"
So far away above the azure sky?
Then Mother if it would be his answer
I must look up so long that I will know
And not forget what you have always told me
About that home above when there I go.
Perhaps he sleeps beneath some spreading shade tree
Where birds sing in its branches throughout the day,
Where dancing light through leaves still weaves in fancy
The fairies in their loveliness at play.
A mother's prayer went with him through his danger,
Her thoughts across the miles went out each day;
She who had watched her baby grow to manhood,
Through all his hopes and joys, his work and play.
A mother waited: watching—longing—yearning,
Through weary nights, through days as long as years;
"Thy will be done," she whispered in her patience,
"Thy will be done," that only calmed her fears.
God kept him somewhere over there in Flanders,
Where poppies grow blooded a-bloom;
To see their petals softly on his pillow,
As light as Mother's touch upon his bed.
Thy many were the steps of those returning,
Her boy came not again—the one so fair;
Now in her garden grows a glorio-sa,
Her, her son lies sleeping over there.
Whist grew a Poppy on the field or hillside
In Flanders, through the changing times, through years,
They grew and grew, more rich with added beauty;
They're watered by a lonely mother's tears.
Written specially for a Mother somewhere

REMEMBRANCE BOOK PLACED IN MEMORIAL CHAMBER IN PEACE TOWER

Authorized in 1932, Production of the book was formally authorized in 1932 and an appropriation of $35,000 provided by Parliament. James Purves, a Scottish-born artist of London, Ontario, was given the task and he worked on it until 1940 when he died. While only one page was ever completed in that period, much of the planning and designing as well as the lettering was done when Mr. Purves died.

Then the assignment was given to Alan Beckett, well-known Ottawa artist, a veteran of the First Great War and a Lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Volunteer Reserve in the present conflict. He completed the work with the assistance of a group of Ottawa artists, including J. Sylvia Barry, Edna Beattie, P. J. Macoun, Evelyn Lambert, Florence Meagher and K. D. Harris. Subsequent Parliamentary votes to defray the cost have brought the total appropriation to about $80,000.

Compilation of names and supervision of names and supervision of the records department of National Defence Headquarters, with an honorary committee headed by Sir Arthur Doughty, Dominion architect, who died in 1936. He was succeeded by Col. H. C. Osborne who directed the work to its conclusion.

Col. A. Fortescue Dugald of Ottawa was active on the committee throughout the task and the work was completed by him two years ago. Others on the committee were J. Lemire, former clerk of the privy council, the late Lt.-Col. A. T. Thompson, T. W. Fuller and G. D. Sutherland, all of Ottawa.

Binding was executed by W. A. Proctor and J. E. Noble of the Dominion Archives.

AN EARNEST APPEAL TO THE WOMEN

We appeal to you as Christian women—women who have the right to lead in Social Issues—to decide not to serve wines or cocktails, or liquors in any form at your own table, or to your guests, or to partake of it at any social function.

In this way the serving of alcoholic drinks will cease to be respectable, and no longer be CORRECT in good society, since the women of our churches who have the right to say what should or should not be done are united against this practice.

It is ours, to elevate and purify the social world, and to hold out a hand of strength to weaker sisters who think it is imperative to follow the fashion, no matter what it entails.

By our example, also we will help to remove temptation from our young people, so many of whom are already forming habits which will start them on the downward path.

Think, too, of the boys coming home to WHAT? To temptation in their own home circle of friends? To the loss of better impulses which come to them in their hour of danger? To disappointment and disillusionment? Surely not! No. Let them come back to homes where God is honored, where things that tend to evil are shunned, where the hands of mother, wife or sister are stretched out to help them walk in the way of righteousness and sobriety. Let them come back to the Canada of their dreams—to a better Canada.

We women of the churches can

OTTAWA, Nov. 8. (CP)—The price of farm machinery today is being controlled by agricultural authorities and advisory committees as the best method of ensuring delivery of available machinery to farmers most urgently in need of it.

"Although the supply of farm machinery for Canada in 1943 was limited, the supply in 1944 will equal in tonnage approximately 102 per cent of 1940 available supply. It is not sufficient to meet the present consumer demand," said H. H. Bloom, farm machinery administrator.

In 1944 the supply was equal to 80 per cent of that in 1940. The Board's announcement was accompanied by a warning to farmers not to dispose of the old tractors or other rationed farm equipment this fall unless they have a permit from the Board to purchase a new piece of next spring. To help keep present equipment in operation there is no limit on the production of repair parts, and such parts are not rationed.

Community Concert Artist

LORENZO ALVARY, who will be heard in concert, Monday evening, November 13th, in Prince of Wales College Hall.

In the six years he has been in this country, Lorenzo Alvary has won fame in every musical field. This dashing young Hungarian sings over one hundred performances a year—concert, opera, oratorio, and radio—and has won the hearts of music lovers from coast to coast. Powerful and rich, dramatic and flexible, Alvary's voice lends itself to a wide and exciting repertoire and his personality complements his musicianship on the stage.

He has repeatedly co-starred with such singers as Laurence Tibbitt, Lily Pons, Blau Sava, Lauritz Melchior, Gionanni Martinelli, Grace Moore, Ezio Pinza, and others.

His repertoire is quite extraordinary. He has appeared in more than sixty operatic roles, six major oratorios and choral works and has been heard on many of the best-known radio programs. Although Hungarian by birth Alvary received most of his musical education in Italy. He joined the Metropolitan in 1942, since then there has been one triumph after another.

MRS. HOWARD'S MESSAGE

I am pleased to receive greetings from the Secretary of Unecda, British Columbia, and the promise of their local support in the work of our churches. Every member should participate in the devotion of the Y. T. C. and so feel a bit more acquainted. My desire is to be able to help you.

A common question with Y. T. C. leaders is: "What do we do now?" The following are suggestions or guides: The theme for the rest of the year will be "Building Tomorrow's World" and for December, "The Master Builder Builds." In the Evangelistic Dept. let us see to it that:

1. Each member read a passage of scripture every day. Be familiar with Bible verses, relating to drinking, Christian citizenship, and other rules for Christian living.
2. Cultivate the habit of prayer—not only at stated hours but all through the day.
3. Engage in regular work for Christian service.
4. Use several counsellors for devotional services. Some for music, others for the scripture lesson, the inspirational talk, personal or directed prayers. Every member should participate in the devotion of the Y. T. C. and so feel a bit more acquainted. My desire is to be able to help you.

At the splendid Convention held recently in Woodstock an embarrassing situation arose when we found we could have made a petition to our government much stronger if we could have said our membership was 6,000. What a pity we only lacked 200. What a small number, if divided among our
