Robins will be remembered, left here with the 16th Battalion for overseas. One of the fathers of Presbyterianism in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, indeed in all Canada, passed away on Thursday morning, when Rev. Alexander Maclean, D. D., died at his home in Eureka, Pictou County, N. S., at the age of ninety-five years. Dr. Maclean was probably the oldest Presbyterian minister in Nova Scotia, if not in the whole of Canada. He was a man of splendid physique commanding and stately in his figure and bearing, and proved almost to the end his full mental and intellectual qualities. A week ago he was stricken with paralysis and it became evident to his friends that the end was near.

Dr. Maclean was born at Upper Hopewell, N. S., and received his university education in Scotland. He was one of the first Nova Scotians to go to the Old Country to study for the ministry. He and the late Alexander Mackay, both of whom were sent to Scotland by the Church of Scotland congregations of Pictou County, completed their courses and returned to Nova Scotia. Dr. Maclean's first charge was at Gairloch, Pictou County, where he was called to Peggwash. Subsequently he ministered for many years to the Presbyterians of Belfast, P. E. I. He retired from the active work of the ministry about twenty years ago, and during the most of that time has been living quietly at Eureka.

The Halifax Chronicle says truly that though he has lived to a great age, and has been hidden for some time from the public eye, there are many who will read the notice of his death with genuine sorrow. It seems to cut a cord that connects the present generation with the past. It turns looks back to a former age, it is hardly possible to realize the brightness, spirit and power of Dr. Maclean as a preacher. He showed the same qualities in private conversation. As head of a Christian congregation, he was an admirable administrator. His tact and address in dealing with men were wonderful. In the visitation of the sick he had a special gift and very great skill and sympathy. With his help, his relatives and friends in their bereavement.

At last I put my faith in Nerviline; I read of the wonderful pain-subduing power it possesses and made up my mind to prove it valuable or useless. Mrs. Pickard's many Charlottetown friends will join in heartfelt congratulations.

St. Peter's Cathedral Charlottetown, death has deprived this church of the services of a very valuable officer, in the person of Albert A. Mills, at the early age of 38 years. He was baptized and brought up in this church, and has been a member of the choir since boyhood. For the last five years he was sexton, and always justified his duties with loving care and devotion, keeping everything about the church sumptuously bright and clean, and taking an honest pride about his work. With all his various Sunday duties, beginning in winter at 5 a. m., he would rarely miss being in his place in the choir, and he might truly have said, "Lord I have loved the habitation of Thy House, and the place where Thine honor dwelleth." Suffering from appendicitis, he went to the hospital for an operation on Tuesday, having first made his communion that morning, but the case was so severe that he never rallied, but passed peacefully beyond the veil. He was laid out in his cassock and surplice. The funeral took place on Saturday, there being a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7.45 a. m., and the burial service at 9 a. m. His stall in the choir was draped with cassock and surplice, and his Hymn Book and Psalter were placed on the casket. Psalms 39 and 130, and Hymn 592 were reverently sung. Canon Simpson officiating. He was afterwards taken to his grave in St. Peter's Cemetery, his fellow choirsters acting his pall bearers, and a large number of mourners followed. The many floral tributes sent, showed the respect in which he was held by the community, and were received from the following: Miss Fairclough, Mrs. Peter Weatherly and family, Miss DeBrisay, and Miss DeBlais, Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Reddin, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Dims, Laborers' Protective Union, The Choir of St. Peter's Cathedral, Mr. John Crockett and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams and family, Mrs. J. Gillis, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Watson, Mrs. G. F. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rice, Jack and Annie, Mrs. Tomlin and boys, Mr. and Mrs. D. Livingstone, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Toombs, Irene Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Shepherd and family, and Mrs. Bridges. Deep covers had been laid, and about eighty of these were taken up. The banquet proved a very enjoyable affair. It was marked by a pleasing incident. This was a presentation of a case of silver to Mr. and Mrs. John Snow, in remembrance of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding this December. The case of silver was the gift of the members of the Nova Scotia Funeral Directors' Association, of which Mr. Snow is one of its oldest members. A number of toasts were honored.
