D.W. GRIFFITH Presents SALLY OF THE SAWDUST with CAROL DEMPSTER

and W.C. FIELDS

Adapted by FORREST HALSEY from a story by DOROTHY DONNELLY

Sally
In circus togs,
Sally in silks,
She'll make you laugh; she'll also make you weep.
Sawdust or mansion,
poverty or wealth,
tatters or velvets,
all the same to her.
She's innocent, daring, care-free, child-like, but loyal, devoted, to that adorable rogue she calls
"Pop"

INSTITUTE MEETING.—The Annual Meeting of the Roseneath Woman's Institute was held on April 13th at the home of Mrs. Fado Gordon. Eight members and one visitor were present. The Secretary's annual report showed a balance in the treasury of seventy-five dollars. A vote of thanks was offered to the retiring President. The officers appointed for the coming year were: President, Mrs. Bann Gordon; Vice-President, Mrs. Fado Gordon; Sec'y-Treas., Dorothy Doyle; Directors, Mrs. Austin Dona-hoe, Mrs. John Donahoe, Mrs. Arthur Gordon; Delegates—Mrs. Bennet Gordon, Mrs. Albert Dewar.
Letters were read by the Secretary which had been received from Miss Matheson, Supervisor and W. R.
Tinne, Secretary of Tourist Association. After the business of the meeting was finished a lunch was served by the hostess and all spent a very pleasant social evening.

PLAY ENJOYED.—A very successful entertainment was held at Webster's Corner on the evening of Wednesday, April 14th when the presented their 3-Act Drama—"The Arm of the Law, before a large and appreciative audience. The plot centres around a peaceful New England Village and while the play is based on a quiet love scene nevertheless, it is so closely intermingled with thrills and laughter that the interest of the audience never slackens for a moment.
Alban Macdonald in the role of Dan Chamberlain gave a clever interpretation of a rising young lawyer. The role of Edith Hazelton, Dan's sweetheart, was ably rendered by Isabel Macdonald, while the part of Grace Evans, Edith's rival, was admirably taken by Mary Trainor. Fred McKenna as Squibs Evans, father of Grace, very ably portrayed the difficult role of villain. Ruben Hazelton, the victim of drink and father of Edith was cleverly taken by John A. Macdonald, while Mary V.
Macdonald as Mrs. Hazelton gave a good interpretation of a dignified country town woman. James L. Macdonald as Luke Higgins, sheriff, proved to be a competent officer of the law, while Walter Walker as Ezra Chapman, a village very satisfactory manner. The comedy roles of Abner Judkins, a tin-snag detective, and Sally Snodgrass, maid-of-all-work for the Hazeltons were exceptionally well taken by Charles Walker and Penzie Macdonald, respectively, and the amusing and clever work of Abner brings the plot to a surprising and satisfactory end. The specialties, consisting of comic sketch by Messrs. Callaghan and Connolly; Solo by Mrs. L. J. Macdonald; Step dance by Charles Walker; Duet by David and Wm.
F. Macdonald, an exhibition of Old Time Fiddling by Hilarie Gal-land were all of a high order and received repeated applause. Rev.
Wm. Mc Cabe capably presided

TREE-TOP STORIES

LOST
IT WAS early evening.
"Quack... quack... quack... quack..."
... "ck!"
"That sounds like a baby duck," said Johnny. He went around the corner of the barn, and saw one of the baby ducks running here and there, quacking excitedly.
"Poor little fellow! I'll take him to his mother," Johnny exclaimed.
He tried to catch the little duck, but it was afraid and ran around faster than ever. At last the old mother-duck came up the path.
"Little ducks are like babies," said Johnny. "They need their mothers at night."

FASHION FANCIES

By Marie Belmont

Navy blue reigns supreme for spring, and there is truly no compelling force in appearance as the simple frock or suit of navy blue.
Rep is the material used for the modish dress above. From the back, it gives the appearance of a long straight coat with separate skirt, but it is really all in one piece. Ball buttons of steel make a smart trimming treatment.
The little hat is navy grosgrain, with a band of red and a red ornament.
