Order Doctor's Salary Increased

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 8 (CP)—North Himsforth township's attempt to reduce the salary of Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, medical health officer, rebounded today when Judge J. A. S. Plouffe ordered the salary raised from $75 to $150 for 1937. The Township Council proposed to reduce the doctor's remuneration to $40. In making the order for one year, Judge Plouffe said $150 did not represent the value of Dr. Dafeo's services to the municipality, but he thought it was all the township finances would permit as a fee.

New Strikes Dot Automotive Industry

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) CHICAGO, March 8—New strikes crippled the booming United States automotive industry today as the United Automobile Workers called out members in the Chrysler Motor Company plants in Detroit and in the Hudson Motors Company plant.

Meanwhile, General Motors Corporation, still negotiating final terms in its costly 44-day strike ended Feb. 11, had two new disputes on its hands at Flint, Mich. Workers quit in four plants for several hours, but agreed to resume pending negotiations. About that time a new strike in Fisher Body plant no. 1 began over a demand for immediate wage increases. Tonight however, the strikers agreed to evacuate the plant and return to work tomorrow.

Trade Talks End

SYDNEY, March 8—(CP Cable) The Australian-Canadian trade talks at Canberra ended without official hints as to their outcome. No statement was issued.

W. D. Euler, before sailing here for Canada, said the talks had been "quite successful" and that he would submit the results to the Canadian Government.

It was understood unofficially that the main objectives of the talks had not been achieved and that only minor concessions had been granted both ways.

Woman's Identity Puzzles Police

MOUTH, England, March 8—Police stated tonight exact identity of the woman found near Constable Serge Zolotoh after both were rescued from his small schooner named a mystery.

They said his relatives, including Russian adventurer's mother, identified the young woman as wife but added definite proof of identity was lacking.

Police denied the young woman was Phyllis Durant of Montreal, as reported as a possibility by her stepfather in New York.

The body of the young woman was found today at the mouth of the river Exe, a short distance from Zolotoh's boat was picked yesterday after the schooner wrecked.

British Delegate To League Conference Explodes German Theory.

GENEVA, March 8—(CP)—Great Britain, through Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, her delegate, attacked today the German theory that possession of colonies solves the problem of raw materials.

Addressing the League of Nations Conference which is studying the problem of more equitable distribution of raw materials to all nations, Sir Frederick stated that in certain cases Britain has paid more for colonial supplies than the price obtaining in the world market.

He argued that food supplies were more vital to a nation than industrial resources and announced that Britain was ready to encourage production within its colonial dependencies of raw materials desired by consumers throughout the world.

"But it would be difficult for my Government to go further," he cautioned in what some regarded as an allusion to the question of returning former colonies to Germany.

The question of raw materials cannot be settled by any transfer of territory, the British delegate stated, "even if it were decided to transfer whole continents."

In an apparent reference to Germany and Italy, he asked whether difficulties of some countries in securing industrial supplies was not due "to their own economic and monetary policy which put them in an inferior position. (Both nations exercise rigid control of foreign exchange and their national currency)."

Leith-Ross condemned a policy of producing artificial substitutes (fostered by Germany under its four-year plan of self-sufficiency) as a heavy burden upon natural economy and inevitably lowering the standards of life of the people.

Japan demanded the right to send her excess population to all undeveloped territories of the earth.

Delegate Yuko Shudo, complained to the conference that "foreign nations were closed to emigrants from crowded Japan."

An essential question for Japan, he continued, is that of industrial raw materials because his nation possesses only raw silk in this category. Further, he asserted, "export restrictions have hampered a continued supply of materials for industry."

"Countries like Japan, being apprehensive, seek to save themselves by self sufficiency, although we realize such attempts disturb world economy," he said.

He urged abolishment of all restrictions on export of raw materials and contended that immigration of all countries and all races into undeveloped countries must be permitted.

Charge Discrimination Against Western Farmers In Substantive Budget Amendment.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, March 8—Social Credit members proposed an amendment to the budget motion in the House of Commons today expressing regret at the action of the King Government in denying to Western farmers the privilege of selling wheat to the Canadian Wheat Board unless the price fell below 90 cents a bushel.

John Blackmore, Social Credit House Leader, brought forward the proposition as a sub-amendment to the Conservative amendment regretting the Government's failure to take adequate measures to deal with unemployment but its status as a sub-amendment was immediately questioned.

Speaker Pierre Casgrain ruled the motion out of order as a sub-amendment. This will not prevent its being advanced later as a substantive amendment after the Conservative amendment has been voted upon. Conservative Leader Bennett suggested the latter was the proper course as wheat had no relation to unemployment and a sub-amendment should be an alteration or a change in the amendment.

Justice Minister Lapointe took the same view and asked the Speaker to consider the matter and give a ruling later.

Whether the Blackmore motion stands as a sub-amendment or as an amendment it is likely to draw support from all opposition groups just as the Conservative amendment on unemployment won the support of Social Crediters and the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation.

JAPAN SEEKS FRESH START IN CHINA

Would Re-establish Relations On Basis Of Equality. Renounces Territorial Ambitions.

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) TOKYO, March 8—Japan, seeking to court the favor of Great Britain and bolster her economic position, renounced territorial ambitions in China today and extended to her neighbor an offer of friendly dealings on a basis of equality.

Taking cognizance of suspicious watching by China, where extreme elements have demanded war against Japan, and economic clashes with other nations, Foreign Minister Naotake Sato enunciated this policy in his inaugural address to parliament.

"A fresh start on the basis of equality" in dealing with China (with whom relations have been strained by reports of Japanese incursions in North China and Japanese protests against Chinese demonstrations against Japanese Nationalism).

"Economic friendliness, to permit Japanese trade expansion. Reassurance to other world powers, particularly Britain, who have watched Japanese development in North China with growing concern.

"Japan respects Chinese interests and wishes to shake hands with them economically. That is the only way Japan can expand there.

"We must do something definite to improve our present unfavorable relations with China, which are highly disadvantageous to both countries."

The former policy of infiltration has failed, he continued, and aroused other world powers to anxious watch.

"Recently," he cited as an example, "Japan has clashed with British economic and trade interests in China. It is unwise for Japan to cause anxiety to other powers with interests in China and it will be best for Japan to follow a peaceful course of cooperation with other nations."

That Japan had any plan to "go beyond the Great Wall and extend her influence to Central or South China" is purely imaginary, the Foreign Minister proclaimed.

NEWLY ELECTED COUNCIL HOLD FIRST MEETING

The first meeting of the Summerside Town Council was held last night in the council chamber. Mayor Robinson, presiding, newly elected Councillors, A. S. MacKay, J. M. Nicholson and D. F. MacNeil were present.

The town bills were passed as follows, paid bills $1683.97, unpaid bills $2,022.21. Electric light paid bills $382.33, unpaid bills $1472.27. Councillor J. M. Nicholson, chairman of the Finance Committee reporting on a conference dealing with the equitable distribution of fire insurance on all town properties at lower premium rates, moved a resolution that the town between the resident fire insurance agents and the various fire insurance companies paying license on the basis of 50 per cent of premiums to the resident agents and 50 per cent to the companies. The resolution was passed, moved by Councillor Nicholson, seconded by Councillor MacNeil.

Resolutions were presented and discussed with regard to certain amendments to the Act of Incorporation of the Town of Summerside. The matter was discussed in detail and at some length and will be presented at the opening of the Provincial Legislature.

Councillor MacKay presented a framed picture of Dr. Jardine, Mayor of the town in 1916. Mayor Robinson in acknowledging the picture said he was pleased to see an interest in the past history of the Council Board. Councillor MacKay also moved a resolution to send congratulations to Most Rev. J. T. MacNally, newly elected Archbishop of Halifax, a former resident of Summerside and a graduate of the High School.

Hepburn Charges To Be Investigated

TORONTO, March 8—(CP)—Ontario legislature today by unanimous vote authorized its committee on privileges and elections to investigate charges made Friday and reported today against Dr. A. Duncan Roberts, St. Marie, Liberal, by Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

Dr. Roberts characterized some of the charges made in telegrams read by the Premier as "nothing but downright deliberate lies on somebody's part" and expressed the belief telephone records would show the "base, despicable and contemptible lie" in Sir James Dunn's assertion that Dr. Roberts had impersonated him for the Algoma Steel Company medical work.

George S. Henry, Conservative House leader, saw an "adroit political move" being made.

"In my belief the reason the honorable member for the Soo was read out of the party Friday by the Prime Minister was because of the speech made the day previously and had no reference whatever to conditions that had obtained previously," said Mr. Henry.

Behind The Headlines At Ottawa

By Dean Wilson

Although the steady improvement in Canada's economic life is admitted by everyone yet, well-known financial experts in the Capital do not agree that the Canadian budget will be balanced within the next twelve months, unless two of the Dominion's outstanding problems are solved within that period.

Wherever an informal gathering of Members of the House of Commons takes place outside of the House itself, economists are still being discussed in a serious manner, and the general indications are that the main causes for an unbalanced budget are the losses incurred by the operations of the Canadian National Railways and the drought.

It is no secret now that the Canadian National Railways had a deficit of over $47,000,000 last year, although everything possible was done to adhere to a strict policy of economy, and the drought conditions cost the Dominion Government no less than $20,000,000 in direct expenditure and over $25,000,000 more was written-off from the active assets of the company.

Therefore, if the dream of the past few years is to be realized, these facts must be faced and a solution must be found to remove these losses, according to the general opinion of the best known financial experts in the Capital.

Within recent days there has appeared in Ottawa certain signs that the Government plans to carry out probes into Canadian affairs, and that Royal Commissions will be named to investigate certain domestic problems for the future legislation of Parliament.

That in itself is nothing new, but it raises a delicate point which has disturbed the peace and quiet of all political parties of sections of the Dominion, whose representatives have divided in from the factions, one favouring the importation of foreign experts to head these probes, and the other strenuously objecting to such tactics. The chief argument against the importation of foreign experts is that they are not thoroughly familiar with the Canadian mentality, atmosphere, and local conditions, and that it is quite possible to obtain such experts from within the Canadian ranks. Those who favour the appointment of experts from the United States or Britain here all probe into legal, economic or constitutional problems, claim that such a policy cannot be free from sectional or party prejudice. Hence, the battle is on.

There is no subject which is more carefully guarded in the Capital now than that of Canada's foreign policy, because any pronouncement may have not only a national repercussion, but it may bring about serious effects in Imperial or international politics. Consequently, any Governmental statement, or any official or unofficial information on this subject, is usually one that has been prepared with great care, and in general it is almost impossible to obtain definite news on this subject.

But an experienced and expert observation of the manoeuvres and tactics of the Government, and its departmental authorities, indicates certain facts, although no official commitments are made.

It appears that Canada will play a far greater role in any future war involving the British Empire than any statements or official interviews can disclose, and this role will involve more economical assistance than military to the Motherland.

World rearmament was started by Germany, Italy, and Japan, and this has forced Great Britain to do likewise. The British Government announced that it plans to spend over seven and a half billion dollars for rearmament purposes, which experts consider a "defence estimate" since Germany alone has spent over thirty-one billion marks (twelve billion dollars) within the past four years for the same object. Steel, copper, lead, zinc, and other such stocks have been steadily rising in price. In many other ways there are a vast number of signs of the mad rearmament race amongst the nations of the world.

Then again, all these preparations for the future annihilation of men by men show that the modern armies and means of warfare on land, sea, or in the air are mechanized, and this requires the most expensive equipment in the history of mankind. Huge sums of money are necessary to purchase raw materials and to manufacture trucks, tanks, tractors, ammunition, gas, and the many other articles or instruments of property and human destruction, with the costs of maintaining an air force this most expensive on this list since this sort of modern equipment requires constant changes and replacements in order to keep up with the progress of time and to render this fighting force equal to the kind employed by potential enemies.

It is quite obvious from all these facts that Canada's assistance to the British Empire will concentrate more and more in supplying economic help to the Motherland in the event of any future war, and instead of military aid, our country

HAZARDOUS ICE CROSSING

Party Crosses From Pictou Island To Mainland.

(By George C. Murray) (Canadian Press Correspondent) (C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) PICTOU, N. S., March 8—Because she was determined to attend the funeral of her brother in Truro, N. S., tomorrow, Mrs. William MacDonald today became the first woman in many years to make the hazardous trip across the ice between Pictou Island and the mainland.

Mrs. MacDonald, her husband, her brother, Dan McCallum and two other men, William McLean and Kenzie McCallum, made the trip in a boat with runners, rowing in clear water and hauling their craft over the ice floes in between. The dangerous trip is usually undertaken only by men.

Her brother, Victor McCallum, died in Halifax Saturday and funeral is to be held in Truro tomorrow. Mrs. MacDonald attempted to charter an airplane from Halifax but found herself foiled when it was learned there was no snow around Truro while a heavy fall on the island made a ski-equipped plane essential for a take-off.

Only other alternative was the runner-equipped row-boat that makes a weekly trip with mail across the five miles of floe-dotted water between the Island and the mainland. Mrs. MacDonald decided to make the attempt.

The four men and woman took nearly six hours in the hazardous crossing. At all times they faced a double danger of having their craft crushed by heavy ice or being carried down the channel and out into Northumberland Strait. But the crossing was accomplished and the journey continued by car to Truro.

C.P.R. Surplus Increased By Three Million

MONTREAL, March 8—(CP)—An increase of more than $3,000,000 in the Canadian Pacific Railway's surplus was reported today by the railway in a preliminary statement on its combined operations for 1936.

The report, issued after a directors' meeting, showed the balance transferred to profit and loss account for the year ending Dec. 31 was $5,928,184, a rise of $1,197,106 over the 1935 figure.

Gross earnings for the year, the preliminary report stated, increased by $8,883,858. The 1936 gross was $138,562,703 as against $129,678,904. Net earnings were up by $913,587. Deduction of working expenses including taxes from the gross left $23,311,111 as net, compared with $22,397,514 for the previous year.
