She was always a "spoiled child" petted and pampered, her every wish gratified.

Now she is broke, flat up against it. On one side are the creditors hounding her for their money. On the other side is a man who offers to pay her bills.

Its what she does to that fellow that makes you think "Men, Women and Money" is one of the best pictures you ever saw.

ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE WHILE LUXURIES IMPORTED
OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 20.—Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, stated today that citizens of the United States did not buy so many of Canada's Victory Bonds as commonly reported. A great deal of interest was taken in the flotation but just as they were beginning to purchase Victory Bonds Great Britain floated a loan of $4 per cent, and this higher rate made investors forget Canada's offerings. Asked what hopes the government had of Canada overtaking the unfavorable exchange situation, Sir Henry said that the government could do nothing to affect that situation. "So long as the people of Canada persist in importing expensive articles, so long will we have an adverse trade balance," he said. "If that could be wiped out the exchange situation would take care of itself." "Will American investors get any advantage from the five per cent exchange charged against Canadian money?" he was asked. "The interest of Victory Loan bonds is payable in Ottawa so that we will

A lot of dirty faced girls are happier than clean ones.

A heavy purse doesn't make a happy home.

A real sleeping baby is more wonderful and beautiful than a thousand dollar French doll.

Shooting craps in the gutter is more fun than a tea party with silk clad snobs.

That a hurdy-gurdy makes jollier dance music than a jazz band.

That a fire-escape is an airier lounging place than a marble veranda.

That her great wealth had been robbing her of most of the joys of life.

It is stated here that it is impossible to float a loan in the United States to stabilize the situation. Sir Thomas White said before the parliamentary committees on soldiers' civil re-establishment at the last session of parliament, that the $75,000,000 loan negotiated in New York last summer represented about as heavy a loan as Canada could raise there; if the amount had been $100,000,000 he doubted if it could have been negotiated.
