Seeks U. S. Sanction On Dive'ion Scheme

(By The Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Feb. 28—Acquiescing in the request of Premier Hepburn, the Dominion Government has asked the United States Government to permit Ontario to retain ownership of water the province desires to divert into the Great Lakes system, correspondence tabled in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King revealed.

The request, compliance with which would be by a treaty separate from the St. Lawrence Deep Waterway Treaty of 1932, is still being considered by the cabinet.

Premier Hepburn's plan would divert 1,200 cubic feet of water a second from Long Lake into Lake Superior.

SOCKS COURT ATTENDANT

(By The Canadian Press) TORONTO, Feb. 28—Mrs. Lillian (One-Punch) Kenny, firebrand of the stork derby, transferred the drama of the final stages of the baby race today from Court Justice W. Middleton's courtroom to Ontario Supreme Court Justice where she socked an attendant.

Fighting for a chance to share the $50,000 Charles W. Kenny prize with four and possibly five other Toronto women, stocky Mrs. Kenny made a personal court appearance in mid-afternoon as the legal aspects of three of her still-born children were under discussion.

Muttering as she walked in, with one of her youngest children in tow, Mrs. Kenny, who had such a disturbance by addressing remarks to spectators around her that court officials persuaded her to leave quietly. Then the excitement started.

"To hell with the Judge," shouted Mrs. Kenny as she reached the corridor.

Attempts to quiet the 35-year-old candidate in the news more than once for punching her husband and throwing things at photographers were without avail.

First, however, Mrs. Kenny landed a couple of cuffs on court attendants who were doing the ejecting.

"They're dogs, that's what they are," she yelled.

After Mrs. Kenny's attorney had presented nine birth certificates to the court claiming that as nine registrations had been made in the 10-year period following Marjorie's death, she was entitled to share the prize with four mothers whose claims of nine children have been approved.

The question at stake was whether or not three of the Kenny children were stillborn.

Seek Relatives Of Alberta Man In This Province

Chief of Police A. Birtwistle yesterday received from A. F. Grady, registrar and coroner of the McLeod District, Alberta, a request for information concerning Charles Hart, who died unexpectedly while on his way home through a snow storm in the McLeod District.

Hart was believed to have relatives here with the name of Heartz and his father was said to have been prominent in this city.

Hart, the letter to the Chief said, died in the McLeod District "very suddenly" Thursday night, February 17th, 1938. Charlie Hart was the name he was known by here. He has been in this district for about 30 years farming and ranching.

"He was going home that night late, was caught in a blizzard and he and the young man who was with him had to shovel their way through snow drifts. He overtaxed himself and dropped dead from heart failure," the letter stated.

"H. has a small estate in land and stock. "I would like to get his age and real name with names of relatives which I am told was Heartz and his father was prominent in your city," and country."

Little Theatre Repeats Success

Again last night the Little Theatre major production was presented to a full house and was enthusiastically entertained.

There is little more can be added towards the writers who have given a play to the Little Theatre. But this can be added the show again last night portrayed what was to the writer a truly remarkable stage setting. This, it is understood, was due to the efforts of Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. Nash and it certainly was a very natural English home setting. The detail and small idiosyncracies of an English home are truly portrayed.

There is a department of Little Theatre which to the audience appears unimportant, but it is one which can make or break a show. This is the makeup.

To Mr. A. M. Douglas goes credit for the makeup of this show, and his efforts were rewarded by the many complimentary remarks of the audience. Mr. Douglas's efforts show the result of careful study and intensified effort on his part toward a perfect makeup.

For the smoothness of the performance the props must go to the stage hands and the person responsible for the explosion sound effect. The writer has seen professional shows many times but has not heard a more realistic explosion. In the common vernacular it was a "wow".

Again to Mr. Jock Lawson and Mrs. Nash the writer conveys his congratulations.

Lower Montague

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. D. P. Ross on Wednesday evening, with a good attendance of members and visitors.

Meeting opened by singing the In-imitable Ode followed by repeating the Creed in unison. The President Mrs. David Wright, was in the chair and presided in her usual gracious manner, and very pleasing programme was carried out.

During the evening the President read an article from the Family Herald and Weekly Star about Miss Jennie Pool of Montague, N. B., and formerly of Lower Montague. Miss Pool's skill in culinary art is well known throughout the Maritime. Her mother, Mrs. C. H. Poole is a sister member of the Lower Montague Institute. Needless to say the article was very interesting to all present.

The question at stake was whether or not three of the Kenny children were stillborn. Having heard all the evidence to be submitted on the births of the nine Kenny children, Judge Middleton tomorrow will hear evidence and argument as to the legitimacy of five of Mrs. Pauline MacClary's children.

A very enjoyable dance was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Aitken, on Friday evening. Music was furnished by the Kearney Brothers from Sturgis.

The Women's Institute held a dance in the Hall on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance. Mr. Alex McLeod, Valleyfield, presided over the dancing. Violin and Piano music was very much enjoyed.

The many friends here of Miss Catherine McKenna, of Summersville, P. E. I., are pleased to learn that she is able to return to her home after having been seriously ill with Pleurisy and Pneumonia.

Miss Greig Poole has returned to her home in Lower Montague having successfully completed the course in Business at the Business College in Summerside. Greig is being warmly welcomed back by her friends.

We are pleased to report that Master Eric Boudreau is out at a train having been confined to home for some time suffering from a severe abscess on his side.

Mr. John MacKenzie and daughter of Gasparville, were recent visitors to Lower Montague, attending the wedding of his son Anthony, whose marriage to Miss Catherine Boudreau took place at St. James Catholic Church, Georgetown, Wednesday, February 23rd.

Many friends here of Mrs. Robert Balcom of Orange, N. J., who is visiting Miss Amy Coward of Lower Montague will be pleased to learn that she is able to return to her home having successfully undergone an operation for appendicitis at the Orange Memorial Hospital, there.

The Stirling Y. P. S. held its week-end meeting in the class room on Tuesday evening. Eleven young people being present. At a recent meeting the Society decided to raise money for the purchase of a new piano for the church. The committee is now in the community after the meeting a short lesson in Music was taught by Rev. A. Long. This was the second lesson that has been given in music. Last week the first one was conducted by Miss Ames Amear.

"Change Of Heart" At Capitol

A jealous hubby, a golf crazy wife and a mad-about-u-o-m-e-n playboy start a three-act comedy to the finish in "Change of Heart" opening today at the Capitol Theatre—and what a furiously funny, fighting finish it is!

The production featuring Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen, is a great mirthful of fun, punctuated by conjugal warfare and comical reconciliation, set of all places on the links of a golf club.

Michael gives us a serious, if somewhat stubborn business man who champions the bit and writhes under the ignominy of golf-widowhood. Gloria, beautiful and equally stubborn, has one hobby—golf.

Just the situation in which a playboy who is enthusiastic about golf and Gloria, can weave his wiles without much difficulty.

Matrimonial bliss breaks down when a mad-about-u-o-m-e-n playboy starts a three-act comedy to the finish in "Change of Heart" opening today at the Capitol Theatre—and what a furiously funny, fighting finish it is!

World Consumption of Dairy Products

Official figures of these consumption in the countries of the world are scarce, while estimates are possible for only a few and are liable to considerable error, states the Imperial Economic Committee. Apparent consumption in the countries mentioned below showed variation in 1936 compared with 1935 but the aggregate was rather higher. In nearly every case consumption was higher than in 1936, the increase being particularly marked in the Netherlands, Belgium and the United Kingdom, where the apparent consumption of cheese has tended to diminish in recent years.

Consumption of cheese on a per head of population basis is high and apparently increasing in European countries, although the inclusion of large quantities of soured milk in the aggregate makes cheese tends to invalidate comparisons with countries where the bulk is consumed as hard cheese, for example, of the cheddar cheese type. Apparent consumption per head in the United Kingdom, although less than in European countries, is much higher than in the Dominions.

The latest official figures show the consumption of cheese per head of population in 1936—Canada 3.4 lb.; Australia (1935) 3.8 lb.; Union of South Africa (white population only) 4.8 lb.; Argentina 5.1 lb.; Southern Rhodesia (whites only) 5.3 lb.; United States 5.4 lb.; United Kingdom 8.8 lb.; France 12.3 lb.; Germany 12.3 lb.; Denmark 14.1 lb.; the Netherlands 16.7 lb.; and Switzerland 18.5 lb.

Consumption of butter appears to be higher in Empire countries, the latest available figures of the per head consumption of some of the principal countries of the world, estimated of population being as follows: Eire 41.9 lb.; New Zealand 11.8 lb.; Australia 12.3 lb.; United Kingdom 19.1 lb.; Southern Rhodesia (white population only) 22.7 lb.; Union of South Africa (white population only) 15.4 lb.; Denmark 20.0 lb.; Germany 19.1 lb.; United States 16.6 lb.; Switzerland 15.2 lb.; France 19.3 lb.; Netherlands 12.4 lb.; and Argentina 3.9 lb.

With regard to preserved milk, the varying proportions of the different commodities included under that heading and their different uses, for example, canned for direct industrial purposes, render international comparisons of consumption of doubtful value, states the Imperial Economic Committee. In the United States the population was estimated at 21.0 lb. in 1935, with evaporated milk accounting for four-fifths of the total; in the United Kingdom the consumption of condensed and sterilized milk was estimated at 12 lb. per head of population while in Canada it was approximately 8 lb. in 1936.

AN ISLAND A DAY

Bermuda, which has become an important junction for liners of the National Steamships making regular voyages between Canada and the British West Indies, consists of 365 coral islands—one for each day in the year.

About 3,500 acres of pulp wood are required to make one ton of paper for the United States newspapers, according to estimates made by authorities.

ton in winter, and from Montreal in the spring, summer and fall. King of Spain sent Ponce de Leon in 1512 to search for the fabled Fountain of Youth. It was supposed to be located on the island of Bimini, one of the 3,000 coral islands which make up the Bahamas group. Girl Guide News

Called to Higher Service Guide Lorraine Large of the Scarlet Tanager Patrol, 3rd Charlottetown Company.

To her sorrowing relatives, the guides extend sincere sympathy.

3rd CHARLOTTETOWN CO.

Before last Friday's meeting, a Court of Honour for the Guides, Patrol Leaders and Seconds was held in the Blue Room of Old Spain, after an enjoyable supper.

Following the above Court of Honour, the regular weekly meeting of the full Company took place at its headquarters, St. James Hall. The Patrol Leaders gained a useful experience at this meeting by being given the chance to take complete charge. They are: Marion Andrew of the Fuchsia Patrol, Margaret Martin of the Thrusies, Annabelle Lawson of the Swallows and Nan Reay of the Scarlet Tanagers. The last-named two acted as Captain and Lieutenant respectively.

The meeting began with a rigid inspection, followed by a lively backwards hopping relay. Then came our favourite brain-buster, a "Suggestion" test, which was a test by observation as well as in knowledge of the correct wearing of uniforms. "Fording the River" was the rather strenuous but exciting game which followed. The Thrusies, Annabelle Lawson of the Swallows and Nan Reay of the Scarlet Tanagers. The last-named two acted as Captain and Lieutenant respectively.

The prize for gaining the most marks during the meeting was won by the Fuchsia Patrol under the temporary leadership of Joan McIntyre—Well done, Fuchsias!

Owing to the West Kent sports on Friday, we were unable to be on hand as sharp as they are in charge of the opening service of the Sunday School next Sunday. The meeting will be only 45 minutes, so it not necessary to wear your uniforms.

Folks To Wear Less and Less

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—(CP)—Fashion experts who do not afraid to go out on a limb to forecast future clothing styles are predicting that:

1. Women will wear less and less of the simplicity and the comfort of sport apparel becoming more and more popular.

2. Men, too, will be wearing far fewer clothes 25 years hence. Baby-wear that town suit of 1963 may well be washable shorts, shirt and jacket like the Tyrolean mountaineer's costume.

3. Fanning collar and tie may be supplanted by less-binding, modernized tunic, with perhaps a soft neckerchief for prominent Adam's apple concealment.

4. Fabrics which resist rain, perspiration or spilled drinks, will be in common use.

5. Glass raincoats may serve also as protectors from lightning.

Style observers say Empress Eugenie may pop up here and there to put their fleeting stamp on the fashion world but it is the sports girl of the future who will set the pace.

Garments are becoming more streamlined. The slim silhouette dress is in vogue from bingouette to the classic, tailored, baby-wear that town suit of 1963 may well be washable shorts, shirt and jacket like the Tyrolean mountaineer's costume.

Although there have been gains along the comfort line the masculine attire has seen no great transition in a quarter-century.

Men, however, is becoming less

2000 Steel Sheathed C. N. R. Cars Ordered

MONTREAL, March 1—Two thousand steel-sheathed box cars with wood linings and ceilings have been ordered by the Canadian National Railways, according to announcement made here. They will be delivered in the spring. The Eastern Car Company of Trenton, N. S., and the National Steel Corporation of Hamilton, Ont., will each build 700, and the Canadian Car & Foundry Company of Montreal has a contract for 600.

Complying with the increased demand of freight shippers for greater cubic capacity, the cars will be wider and higher as were the 3,000 built on the railway last year. The cars will be the standard length of 40 feet six inches, but they will be eight inches wider than the former type—nine feet two inches instead of eight feet six inches. They will be 10 feet high as against the former nine feet. Cubic capacity will be more than 3,700 cubic feet, an increase of nearly 500 cubic feet. This will be of particular benefit to shippers of cereals, furniture, canned goods and other bulk products. The weight of the whole car will be approximately 1,700 pounds lighter. Load limit capacity will be more than 45 tons.

Ponce's Famous Fountain

Probably few Canadians realize that it was to the British West Indies, "Canada's neighboring island," that the garden and playground of the King of Spain sent Ponce de Leon in 1512 to search for the fabled Fountain of Youth. It was supposed to be located on the island of Bimini, one of the 3,000 coral islands which make up the Bahamas group. Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, lies along the Canadian National Steamships route sailing westward from Halifax via Boston.
