FUNERAL SERVICES—The funeral of Charles Fitzpatrick was held yesterday morning from his late residence Ten Mile House to Tracadie Church where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. K. McPherson who also conducted service at the grave. The pall bearers were: Ambrose Mitchell, Harry Foster, Leonard Court, J. J. Trainor, Peter McQuaid and William Mullin. Interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

WILL REQUEST TEMPERANCE SUPERVISOR—Dissatisfaction in the manner in which temperance education is being carried out in the public schools was expressed at an executive meeting of the Temperance Federation yesterday. It was decided to ask the Government to appoint a supervisor of temperance education and thus follow the lead given by Nova Scotia. The executive approved a plan submitted by the Federation's finance committee for a Temperance Sunday, on which there might be a general exchange of pulpits among Protestant ministers, and offerings taken for the support of the temperance cause. Inquiry was to be made by the executive as to whether the beer ration applied to the reserve army in this Province. By resolution the Federation protested the recent government order allowing a special beer ration for the armed forces. It was decided to protest the publication of advertisements in the local press by liquor firms who have been compelled by the government to produce industrial alcohol.

SMITH-CARRAGHER—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's church, Kelly's Cross, on June 28, 1943, when Miss Mildred Catherine Carragher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Carragher of Kelly's Cross, became the bride of Mr. Stephen P. Smith, son of the late Mark A. Smith and Mrs. Smith of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. M. J. Smith, uncle of the groom. He was assisted by the pastor Rev. W. Keefe. The bride wore a white dress and veil and carried a bouquet of snap dragons. She was attended by her sister, Miss Bernadette Carragher who wore a blue dress and accessories to match. Mr. Russell Smith, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary P. McKenna while the bride and groom marched to the altar. Mr. Flood sang appropriate hymns in his usual good style during the ceremony. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome white leather suitcase. The bride's gift to the groom was a signet ring. Immediately after the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents and music and dancing until the wee hours of the morning. The bride, a very popular young lady of the community, previous to her marriage, was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. W. Keefe, her mother, where she received many beautiful and useful gifts. Private Smith, who has been in the army for several months, has since his marriage left

Hot weather days are here, and with them the danger of heat exhaustion and sunstroke, both of which may result from prolonged exposure to sun or intense heat, indoors or out. Aged persons and young infants, particularly, suffer during heat waves and the mortality resulting is chiefly among them. Persons with high blood pressure or diseases of the heart or kidneys are more likely to suffer from such prolonged exposure and heat than those who have good health. It has been found also that the mortality is higher among males than females, possibly due to greater exposure of men in their work.

A factor in heat exhaustion is the loss of salt from the body due to excessive perspiration, and replacement of the salt will do much to keep the body in good condition. Commercially prepared salt tablets are available from drug stores; many industrial plants now make them available for their employees.

In heat exhaustion the patient usually remains conscious but shows pallor, feels cold, while the skin is moist. The respiration is rapid, the pulse weak, and the temperature is below normal. A doctor should be called and the patient should be put in a cool, quiet place, in a reclining position. He should be kept warm by means of a blanket or hot water bottle, and if conscious should be given a stimulant such as tea, coffee, or aromatic spirits of ammonia (one teaspoon in a half glass of water).

Sunstroke victims suffer from dizziness, sometimes nausea, acute headache, and in true sunstroke these symptoms are followed quickly by unconsciousness. The skin is dry and hot, the face red or purple, breathing difficult, fast pulse, and high temperature. A doctor should be called and the patient should be placed on his back in a cool place. A much clothing as possible should be removed. Temperature should be reduced by sponging the body with cold water. Ice in bags or cold cloths, should be applied to the head. Circulation may be induced by rubbing the hands and trunk toward the heart. No stimulants should be given.

WITH MONEY WOMAN CAN HAVE HAPPY LIFE
ANSWER—My idea of a suitable marriage is one in which a husband and wife marry for love and then have enough sportmanship to take the consequences and play the game. No marriage, whether you marry for love or for money, ever comes up to expectations, or brings all the happiness that the fatuous lovers expected of it. No woman is an angel in private life, no man a romantic hero. Every married couple is composed of just two faulty, selfish, irritable human beings who look at every subject in life from a different standpoint, and who cannot avoid getting on each other's nerves at times.

And the only secret of even being reasonably happy though married is to have enough common sense to make the best of the man to whom you are married and with whom you must live, and to adjust yourself to his or her as well as you can, and to keep your thoughts focused on his or her good points instead of the bad ones.

You married for money and the things that money gives you. Well, you can buy a lot of pleasures with money. You get the comforts of life, good food, beautiful surroundings, ease, pretty clothes, amusements, travel. You are able to help people less fortunate than you. Avenues of culture open up for you. Surely a woman might content herself with these, even if she does not feel any romantic yearnings towards her husband.

Many a poor woman, overworked, shabby, harassed by bills and wondering how she is going to pay the rent, would gladly trade what's left of her love life for your security.

Being bored is something that depends upon you, not your surroundings. We must make our interests, our enthusiasms, our pleasures for ourselves. They are not handed to us on a silver tray. You can be bored, as you say, with your domestic duties, or you can find an exciting and absorbing occupation in making a home. You can be bored with your children, or you can find in them a never-ending interest. It is up to you.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 43. I go with a girl who has just turned 17. I am settled in my habits. Naturally she still likes good times and fun. I want her to marry me now. She insists on our waiting until after the duration. I know another girl who is more my own age for whom I could learn to care. Do you think I should try to forget the young girl and concentrate all of my affection on the elderly lady who is much more settled?
MAHONEY.

ANSWER—I certainly do, Mahoney. There is no mistake greater than for a settled man to marry a flighty young girl. Stick to your own age class.

Having completed their spring seeding in the west, prairie farmers have come to help out Ontario farmers in a number of districts. They will complete work in this eastern area in time to provide a bountiful crop here and return to the west to reap their own harvests. In Ottawa they were welcomed by Department of Labour and Department of Agriculture heads. The picture shows (left to right) Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour; W. M. Crookery, Ontario Department of Agriculture representative for Carleton County; and the farmers of St. Lawrence who are going to help in the Ottawa area: G. Gilbard, Prudhomme; R. McDonald, Tisdale; P. MacMullen, Paddockwood; L. Henderson, Prince Albert; A. Smith, Biggar, and G. Rousson, Prudhomme.

Altogether about 1,000 men are coming east to Toronto and Ottawa, where they will be assigned to farms. An interesting sidelight on the movement is that it reverses the harvest excursions of the 1920's, when thousands of men journeyed from the east to help the prairie farmers bring in their crops. Last year many university students went west to lend a hand with the harvest.
