COMMUNITY DANCE

The big Community Dance which was to be held during Old Home Week will take place tonight beginning at 8.30 with the Casino Orchestra in attendance. Market street will be prepared during the day. Special treatment should make it an ideal floor for the occasion.

A small fee is being charged for each dance and the proceeds will go towards the Firemen's Tournament to be held in conjunction with next year's Old Home Week. The firemen have taken full charge of the affair and as this is the first occasion on which Charlottetown has had this form of dancing it is highly popular with many American citizens, they should receive the patronage of every dancer in the city, thereby making the dance the success it deserves to be.

Former Deputy

Gave Police Slip.

Matthews was put under the surveillance of two police officers and for several days afterwards he was shadowed in Toronto wherever he went. Finally he escaped them by leaving his motor car standing in front of a Simcoe street printing office and leaving by the back door of the establishment. The officers watched the car most of the night, but Matthews never returned. This is the first word that has been heard of him or his whereabouts.

First intimation of the location of the long-wanted former deputy treasurer at the parliament buildings, the Globe continues, came to Commissioner of Provincial Police V. A. S. Williams yesterday afternoon in the form of a telegram from San Francisco man who stated that if a suitable reward were offered the address of Matthews would be disclosed.

Just what reply was sent to San Francisco is not known. Mr. Williams' reply to questions last night being: "I'm sorry; I cannot tell you anything."

Attorney-General Nickel was questioned on the same subject, his response being: "The Attorney-General has nothing whatever to say."

Population Is Returning

Shattered by Shells.

They found their magnificent Municipal Theatre, one of the finest buildings in the world, shattered by shellfire; great public buildings scarred by machine gun bullets and the huge red brick railway station in ruins.

Military patrols were still active and many of the refugees were questioned closely before being allowed to enter the districts in which they had lived before the rebellion.

Many of the people had undergone terrible hardships camping in the open after they were driven from their homes by the bombs of the Federal bombardment.

Meantime, private messages to newspapers here indicated that the strength of the rebellion is not yet completely broken, and that a considerable body of rebel troops which retreated from Sao Paulo City when the Federal advance became overwhelmingly strong on Monday have reformed in the interior of the State.

It was not believed, however, that the strong Federal forces will have much trouble in disposing of them.

Industrial Plants Intact.

While cable communication between Buenos Aires and Santos was restored today the consular office of the Government at the outbreak of the rebellion still was effective and a comprehensive outline of damage to the city could not be obtained.

Private messages said a score of the biggest buildings were damaged, including the Automobile Club which overlooks the beautiful park in the centre of the city.

The Luz military barracks, finest barracks in Brazil, was shattered by shell fire, and several bombs dropped by Federal aviators.

Industrial plants, which are concentrated on the flat plain that general remained intact.

For several days the rebels with great effect against the operations of the city, but they were unable to do so to meet this situation? The answer was to place a first grasp upon this new class of bourgeoisie before it became any stronger.

Examples of how the Soviet is combating the new bourgeoisie are being received in reports to Washington. About 7,000 of the so-called "newmen" have been expelled from Moscow and Leningrad. There also have been expulsions of Bourgeois university students. A new commissar of internal trade has been established to regulate "free trade" to accord to the plans of the Soviet.

C. B. C. Mid-Summer Examinations

In addition to the names already published, the following students have been successful in winning "The Underwood Initial Certificate of Proficiency" in typewriting. These certificates are issued to those who, on a fifteen minute test, are found competent to write correctly at the rate of thirty words per minute or over.

Miss Marjorie L. Cox, City.
Miss Mary Corcoran, City.
Miss Doris McKee, City.
Miss A. Pearl Happney, City.
Miss Ann's Smith, Bonshaw.
Miss Cox has also written the July Test for the Bronze Medal awarded by the Underwood Typewriter Co. to the student capable of writing over forty net words per minute on a fifteen minute test. The result of the above examination is not yet known.

Mr. Robert Sutherland, with A. Horne Co. and a son of George Sutherland, Esq., Elm Avenue, City has completed the business training course—with examinations, and has been granted the College certificate for that course.

C. G. I. T. Summer Camp at Waterside

Ten sleeping tents, one dining tent and one supplies tent, with forty girls and teachers and a staff of five, make up the C. G. I. T. camp at Waterside. With its background to evergreens and lovely Rowland Bay in front, the site has been happily chosen.

The fine new canvas tent of canvas, with its substantial wooden framework adds greatly to the convenience of the campers. Nearby the Union Jack is unfurled to the breeze and the salute to other colors at sundown is never omitted. The shore is near enough for the morning dip, and the daily swim and the deep divers make for the wharf near by.

The daily programme begins at six o'clock for those who care to take part in a bird hunt (when an endeavor is made to recognize and name as many birds as possible), and ends with "lights out" after camp fire and "taps." Daily tent inspection with a flag for superiors for neatness, same and at tractiveness, has developed some excellent and ingenious ideas in interior decorating.

The Camp Scream, an infant in journalism is read at the camp fire and is a very creditable production.

On Sunday morning Mrs. E. A. Westmoreland gave a very fine address on The Challenge of Life, and Sunday evening the entire camp attended service at the Methodist Church, Pownal.

Monday evening there was a shore supper when each tribe built its own fire and cooked its own bacon. Following the shore supper through the kindness of Mr. Gay and Mr. McTear an outing on the water was enjoyed Tuesday afternoon. Mr. J. A. Bayer, photographed the camp and campers, and copies may be obtained at his studio in Charlottetown.

Tuesday evening the campers were highly privileged in having Dr. Cyrus McMillan speak to them on Education and Citizenship—a talk long to be remembered.

Wednesday was Visitor's Day and the programme of sports presented in the afternoon and the dramatics in the evening work have been creditable after weeks of practice rather than a few days. The camp programme calls for: 7.00 a. m.—Ho, every sleeper awaken.
7.45 a. m.—Morning watch "Be still and know that I am God."
8.00 a. m.—Breakfast.
8.40 a. m.—Group Bible study.
10.00 a. m.—Fruits made ready for inspection.
10.30 a. m.—Free period.
11.00 a. m.—12.30 p. m.—Recreation, handcraft, Council hour (varied).
12.30 p. m.—Dinner.
1.00-2.00 p. m.—Rest hour.
Swimming, hikes, picnics, etc.
6.00 p. m.—Supper.
At sunset—Twilight service.
At dusk—Camp fires, songs, stories, stunts, camp paper.
10 p. m.—Lights out.

Miss May Gemmill Girl's Work secretary of the Presbyterian Board, Toronto is in charge of the camp as Great Chief and is known as Winona.

She has assisting her: Miss Lillian McKenzie (Tananita) chief of Twan-oka-ota tribe.
Miss Jessie Fullerton (Cola) of the Nin-dakis.
Miss Inman (Ikhana) of the Wappos.
Miss McQuarrie (Mea) of the Wapostas.
Miss McArthur (Shingabis) physical instructor.
Miss Beer (Gatin) nurse.
Miss Carvell (Wasta) business manager.
Mrs. R. H. Rogers (Ostawin) camp mother.

Miss Doris Tait is Great Brave of the camp and the camp cook is an important member of the staff.

The Girls' Work Board, under whose direction the camp is being held is also greatly indebted to Mrs. J. A. McMillan and Mr. Pendleton for valuable assistance.

The present C. G. I. T. camp is voted the best yet and next year's will probably be larger than ever. It is a delightful and profitable holiday for teen age girls.

Veteran Maintains Guard Over Site of Grant's First Camp

(United Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 31.—Eight miles west of Springfield, on the public highway to Jacksonville, Illinois, a veteran of the American Civil War, maintains a guard over the old camp ground and over "General Grant's tree," a large, peculiarly shaped black walnut tree, under which Grant wrote his orders.

Every morning at sunrise the tattered old flag belonging to Pearce is raised from a 30-foot flagpole near his house, and every evening at sundown the flag is lowered.

Pearce acts as a guardian for this historic spot and is glad to relate its history to passing tourists, although the historical connection is known to few people, and no marks, save the veteran's flag, are to be seen on the land.

"General Grant's tree," some three feet in diameter, stands near the house. Here, Pearce tells tourists, he saw Grant, sitting astride a peculiar limb growth, near the ground, writing out the first day's orders. Grant's tent was pitched a few feet from the tree, and he once addressed the regiment from a spot near where the tall flagpole now stands.

"The first day's march of the regiment, the 21st Illinois Infantry, was started from Camp Yates, in this city, about 11 a. m. and the first camp site was reached about 5 p. m." Pearce relates.

"The regiment was halted in columns of companies in the woods, arms were stacked and when wagon trains came into camp each company unloaded its wagon, arranged the tents by opening and spreading them on the ground, and at one sound of the drum the tents were raised; at two sounds ropes were stretched, and at the third sound, the stakes were driven and the regiment was under canvas in its first tented field.

"The first day's march was attended with hardships, and there were stragglers and absentees. The punishment given was extra guard duty both for officers and men. The men made camp fires and cooked their first meal in camp at this time.

"During the first evening, officers' call was sounded and Grant, then Colonel Grant, then talked to the men, emphasizing the absolute necessity of enforcing respect for the inhabitants of the country through which the regiment was passing. The captains of the companies were made personally responsible for the acts of the men."

Pearce was quartered both at Henry and Ford Denison, and on July 4, 1863, marched into Vicksburg with Grant and his army, just two years after the regiment left its first camp near the walnut tree.

From Vicksburg Pearce went with Sherman on his march to the sea, through the Carolinas and on to Washington. He participated in the grand review up Pennsylvania avenue at the close of the war.

Confessed Three Murders, Vindicated Coffee Queen

(United Press)

SÃO PAULO, Brazil July 31.—Joao Lourenco de Syllos has confessed to three murders and a series of other crimes. By his voluntary confession, he has cleared the name of Dona Iria Alves Ferreira Brazil's wealthiest widow, commonly called the "Coffee Queen."

De Syllos' confession came during investigation of the "Coffee Queen Crime." It was with this murder that the name of Brazil's wealthy woman coffee planter was connected. When the mutilated body of a workman from one of Dona Iria's many coffee plantations was found, it was rumored that the "Coffee Queen" had paid to get that particular workman Jose Antonio out of the way for fear he would tell police what he knew about an attack on Nene Romano, beautiful "Bohemian" woman of Sao Paulo, who had been the successful rival of one of the "Coffee Queen's" daughters in a love affair.

Dona Iria Alves Ferreira was questioned by police after the body was found, but police failed to find evidence against her. Despite her release, she was never able to clear her name until the confession of Joao de Syllos. She was ostracized and suffered isolation from the society in which she had a prominent place.

Joao Lourenco de Syllos told police that he alone was responsible for the murder of the workman, Jose Antonio as well as two other murders and a series of crimes. The reason for killing Jose Antonio, he said, was self defense, for Jose Antonio, hired by a man whose wife and three daughters de Syllos had dishonored, attempted to kill de Syllos and get a $250 fee.

De Syllos' confession reads like a chapter from a novel. At the age of 19 years he killed a man and was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment. After serving 22 years in the Sao Paulo state prison, de Syllos was released. Upon returning to his home town de Syllos found his father had died and had left his young sister to her fate, which was dishonor. De Syllos swore to revenge his sister and started private investigations. He was told by Antonio Ferreira, that it was his own father who brought shame to the young girl, but he found this information to be untrue and then swore that he would have revenge on the man who had led to him about his brother.

In this case revenge consisted of winning the affections of Ferreira's wife and after taking her and Ferreira's three daughters from the home town to the city of Sao Paulo, he obliged the daughters to contract common law marriages.

Antonio Ferreira then swore he'd have his revenge on the man who had stole his wife and enslaved his daughters, so he hired Jose Antonio to kill de Syllos.

Jose attempted the job, but things went against him and his grand review up Pennsylvania avenue at the close of the war.

U. S. Watches Russia

at least, as yet. But it is stated here that recent revolutionary utterances of the Soviet leaders and their failure to proceed along the road leading to normal international relationships make it seem less and less likely that there will be a settlement in the near future between the United States and Russia.

The theory is about as follows: One of the principal phases of the economic changes started in 1921 by Lenin was the freeing of trade within Russia to private gain. As the result of this another so-called class of bourgeoisie gradually grew up in Russia. These fortunate ones who profited by private trade were given the name of "newmen," or people with money.

The Soviet is against the bourgeoisie class generally, and gradually it seemed a new bourgeoisie was growing up in Russia to take the place of that which the Soviet had set out to destroy years before. What to do to meet this situation? The answer was to place a first grasp upon this new class of bourgeoisie before it became any stronger.

Examples of how the Soviet is combating the new bourgeoisie are being received in reports to Washington. About 7,000 of the so-called "newmen" have been expelled from Moscow and Leningrad. There also have been expulsions of Bourgeois university students. A new commissar of internal trade has been established to regulate "free trade" to accord to the plans of the Soviet.

Airplane Speed Of 1,200 Miles An Hour Predicted

STOCKHOLM, July 31.—Flights between Europe and America in two hours at an altitude of 10 miles and with 2,000 horsepower motors, are forecast by S. Lindquist, a well known Swedish airplane constructor, in a statement published by a leading Stockholm paper.

One of the greatest aims in aviation in the immediate future should be to cut down the flying time between continents, says Mr. Lindquist, and this probably can be done by flying at extremely high altitudes. The effect of gravitation decreases with the increase in altitude, as it has been estimated, he says, that a plane which has a speed of 100 miles an hour near the surface of the earth, can attain a speed of 1,200 miles an hour at an altitude of about 10 miles.

At such a height the rarity of the atmosphere would constitute a disadvantage both to the ordinary motor and ordinary propeller. But this difficulty can be overcome, declares Mr. Lindquist, by using a propeller with adjustable blades, so that the pitch of the blades could be altered with the density of the air, and by using special compressors for the motor which would compensate for the decrease in barometric pressure at high altitudes. Such a motor would probably have to develop about 2,000 horsepower. Mr. Lindquist declares that the problems of an adjustable propeller and aerial compression motor can be solved.

THAT CAR OF YOURS

BY HARRY E. PORTER

This is a series of articles pertaining to maintenance and repair of your Automobile. We will be glad to answer through this column, questions regarding your car or its mechanism. Send your inquiries to "Automobiles," The Guardian Publishing Co., Ltd., Charlottetown.

THE OILING SYSTEM

There are different types of oiling systems in modern automobiles but are contained in the following definitions:—Force, force and splash, splash system and spray. In the force system the crank shaft is drilled right along the centre and the oil is gathered by means of a centrifugal or suction pump and forced through the crank shaft at a high pressure. This lubricates main and connecting rod bearings and the spray that leaves the ends of the bearings lubricates pistons, camshaft, and all internal working parts of the motor.

The force and splash system is precisely the same except that troughs are used to facilitate the oiling of the connecting rods. Dippers are installed on bottoms of connecting rods which dip into the troughs of oil as the rods reciprocate.

The splash system is governed by a pump that simply pumps oil into those troughs and the lubrication is governed by the dipping of the connecting rods into the troughs and thrashing the oil into the different working parts of the motor.

The spray system is very similar to the force except that devices are used for atomizing the oil into almost a vapor.

The most common trouble in oiling systems are not in the systems themselves as much as in the oil itself.

Oil should be drained frequently and replaced with new oil, when very little trouble will be experienced with any oiling system, as manufacturers are very particular about the efficiency of the systems installed on their particular car.

Ques.—How can I stop my clutch from slipping without replacing it? M. M., Summerside

Ans.—It can be temporarily accomplished by inserting strips made of two inch strips of hacksaw blade or tin, between leather and the clutch cone, and turning up on the nuts of the governors to relieve the spring tension.

In closing I wish to quote the words of Mazzini in 1848 about the Austrians: "That you govern well is not what we desire, but that you depart."

Academy Of Criminology Organized in California

(United Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—Organization of the Southern California Academy of Criminology is announced here by Chief of Police August Vollmer, who is an authority on criminology. The organization has been perfected by Chief Vollmer and Dr. E. C. Moore, president of the University of California, Southern Branch, after many weeks of preparation and discussion in which scientists, educators and policemen collaborated with bootleggers, burglars and other more or less notorious members of the underworld.

The purpose of the academy is to give the "scientific compilation of community opinion on the cause and prevention of crime and the best methods of crime prevention."

Members of the academy include: Judge, university professors; county law enforcement officers; and police officials. Only men and women of recognized ability in the field of criminology and sociology will be admitted into the organization. It was stated.

One of the methods to be utilized in gaining first-hand knowledge of crime and criminals will be a series of lectures by law violators, and by leaders of such alleged anti-government organizations as the Industrial Workers of the World and the Communists.

Millions of Planes Soon, Ford Predicts

NEW YORK, July 31.—Henry Ford foresees the day when airplanes will be built in thousands and millions, according to an interview with the automobile manufacturer, written by Samuel Crowther and published in this week's issue of Collier's The National Weekly.

Mr. Ford said he thought that airplanes "can be commercially developed as soon as they (airplanes) are taken up in a commercial way." Ground at the Ford plant in Dearborn, Mich., has already been given over to an aviation field.

"As soon as we know as much about them as we do about automobiles—and that will not be long—they can be built by the thousands or by the millions," he said.

With Price On His Head Rebel Writes To Newspaper

(United Press)

BELGRADE, July 31.—While the Serbian government is offering a price for him dead or alive, Todor Alexandroff, the Macedonian rebel leader, entered into Serbian politics the other day with an article on the first page of the "Republika," which made Belgradians rub their eyes.

After pointing out that in his opinion Serbians mistakenly ascribe importance to Macedonia to the incompetent Pashtich administration to provocations from Bulgaria, to the "traitor" Raditch or to the "cruel" Alexandroff, Alexandroff writes, over his signature as a member of the Central Committee of the Internal Macedonian organization: "All oppressed nationalities who jealously guard their nationality are struggling shoulder to shoulder to attain their right to self determination. After they have won their autonomy, they will be in a position to organize a great federated state with equal rights for all nationalities.

"Neither a powerful government, able to repress the activities of revolutionary bands, nor a good administration, can prevent the dissolution of imperialistic Jugoslavia. USE DIFFERENT LIMES ON DIFFERENT SOILS

Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, in discussing the question as to whether lime or carbonate of lime is preferable, says the character of the soil and the desired rapidity of action should be considered. He then proceeds to say that, in account of their influence in hastening the decomposition of the humus, quick lime and slaked lime are not so desirable of use on light, sandy and gravelly loams as are ground lime (hydrated) lime. If quick or slaked lime is applied to these soils, it should be in small quantities (not more than 1,000 pounds per acre) and at long intervals. Carbonate of lime (limestone and marl) is much milder in its action, and an excess can do little or no harm, or heavy clays, or soils rich in organic matter, mucks and peaty loams, lime or slaked (hydrated) lime is to be preferred, and may be applied in fairly large amounts—say 1½ to 3 tons per acre.

to his discredit, de Syllos then killed a third man to cover up his second crime.

De Syllos is facing another 30-year term in the state prison and is not likely he'll come out unchanged in a few days after he attacked de Syllos 80 years have elapsed.
