Saturday—8:30 a. m.—St. Dunstan's Basilica—Convention Mass. His Excellency Rt. Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, Celebrant.

Saturday, July 15th, 10 a. m.—K. of C. Hall—New Business; visit from His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan; Adjournment: Holy God we Praise Thy Name; God Save The King.

Following is the annual report presented by the president: The Diocesan sub division consists of twenty-two district sub-divisions with a total membership of about twelve hundred.

The sub-divisions are all in good standing, having paid Dominion and Diocesan taxes.

Through the efforts of the diocesan organizers nine new sub-divisions have been formed, and by the combined efforts of all the sub-divisions approximately $6,000.00 were realized during the year, through the usual channels, concerts, teas, cards, etc. Most of this money was disbursed locally for the needs of each Parish, such as the purchase of buildings to be used for meetings and social affairs in connection with the League, also for the furnishing of same and repairing of these buildings to make them suitable for the different activities.

Social Service—In Charlottetown the poor and needy are attended to by our efficient Social Service Nurse and by a committee from the Senior League who meet at the Charlottetown Hospital twice a week for the purpose of sewing, making layettes, crib blankets, repairing and making clothing and other necessities for those in need. In the rural districts committees are appointed by each sub-division to take care of this work. The sick poor are visited in their homes and receive every medical attention, the Charlottetown sub-division contributed $225.00 for this purpose. About $300.00 was given to the home for aged, towards the building fund; this money was raised by the ladies serving hot meals during Exhibition week.

In response to a call for relief from the Arch-Diocese of Regina, packages of clothing and bedding were sent, some sub-divisions contributing also by a donation of money.

The Provincial Institutions and the Sanatorium have been visited by Catholic Women League groups, who have sent hampers of good things and provided entertainments of various sorts for the enjoyment of the patients.

Milk was provided daily for all pupils in the three Catholic schools in Charlottetown, by the efforts of Monsignor Maurice McDonald, who was Chaplain of the League.

In Charlottetown, the St. Zita Society, with a membership of eighty, is comprised of girls employed as domestics in the city who meet every week in their hall and enjoy music and games; this is looked after and encouraged by the Senior League.

St. Vincent's Orphanage has been given material assistance from nearly every sub-division and at Christmas hampers of good things were sent to the little ones.

A Christmas tree was also provided for the poor children of Charlottetown, and they were made happy with gifts of candy, fruit, toys and clothing.

Education—Good work has been done along educational lines. The Collegiate Club with a membership of about one hundred members is comprised of girls and boys from Prince of Wales College and the Business Colleges. On Thursday afternoon of each week they conduct business meetings and debate on different subjects which is very helpful to them in their work. They carry on these meetings themselves and in this way become conversant with correct procedure. On Saturday they have a social evening, playing games, dancing, etc.; these are very much enjoyed and are chaperoned by members of the Education Committee.

The usual gold coins have been donated to St. Dunstan's University, Notre Dame Academy, Queen Square and Rochford Square Schools, as well as several other prizes donated in rural districts for school children, all of which need less to say, serve to encourage pupils to take a keener interest in their work. School books and other school necessities were provided by all sub-divisions where needed.

Catechism has been a very special work in the rural parishes, teaching and preparing children for their First Holy Communion.

Much of the success of the organization within the diocese during the past year is due to the kindly efforts of His Excellency—The Right Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, Bishop of Charlottetown, who wrote a special letter to each parish priest setting forth the advantages of the League, urging them to have a sub-division formed in their parish at the earliest possible date.

The sum of $37.00 was donated to the National Scholarship Fund, $74.00 to the Sisters of Service and $50.00 to the National Budget. All sub-divisions sending their usual contribution to these worthy funds.

The Juniors did good work during the past year contributing to the support of aged ladies in the Sacred Heart Home and fulfilling all other obligations. Charlottetown Junior sub-division has fifty paid-up members. The past winter they maintained ten bowling units and were interested in other sports, such as basketball, volleyball. At the present time they are planning a tennis club in conjunction with the Holy Name Club comprised of young men of the parish.

Plans are under way for the formation of a company of Girl Guides which will be under the Chaplaincy of the Redemptorists Fathers and sponsored by the Charlottetown Juniors.

In every way the Catholic Women's League of the Diocese of Charlottetown are working loyally to uphold the principles of the League and to be of service to the church and to the community, all of which is respectfully submitted.

"Viva" shouted the crowd, as General Balbo, General Adlo Pellegrini and Lieutenant Colonel Longo came ashore in a launch from the Canadian destroyer Saguenay. "The flight took five hours and 45 minutes," said General Balbo, speaking through Italian Consul General Louis Petrucci. He was evidently discounting the time spent between the first and last takeoff and the first and last landing.

International Event

"This is more than a trip by air, it's an international event," declared General Balbo at the public reception given before Shediac's one hotel an hour or more after the arrival. He was given a tremendous ovation at the start and finish of his brief address.

He was the last speaker. Lieutenant Governor Hugh H. McLean spoke for the Sovereign, declaring the flight aroused the admiration of men and women not only in Canada but in the whole world; Hon. Murray McLaren, Minister of Health, read the message from acting Premier Sir George Perley, congratulating the flyers for the Dominion.

Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, Premier of New Brunswick, attracted great interest and affection from the Italian officers by voicing the greetings of the Province in both English and Italian. "Very good," declared an interpreter. General Balbo appeared amused and delighted. It was the first time he had heard an address in his native tongue since leaving Orbetello on July 1.

SHEDIAC, N. S., July 13. — For the first time since he left Orbetello, Italy, on his epochal flight General Balbo, Minister of Aviation in Mussolini's cabinet, was today welcomed with an address delivered in his native tongue.

When Hon. Leonard P. D. Tilley, Prime Minister of New Brunswick, extended the official welcome of the province to the intrepid aviator, the Premier addressed General Balbo in Italian. The official welcome in Italian was not only a happy touch to the historic occasion, but it marked the first time that a dignitary from a European nation had been extended the felicitations of this province in a language other than English, by an English speaking Premier.

The address, artistically engrossed on parchment, and encased in rich, brown morocco, was presented to General Balbo by Premier Tilley as a memento of the air squadron's arrival at Shediac, their first Canadian landing place. The Premier read the address in Italian and then delivered the official welcome in English. General Balbo was visibly touched by the greeting in Italian.

The text of the English address of welcome given by Premier Tilley follows: General Balbo, Minister of Aviation, Officers and men of the Royal Italian Air Squadron: Your Squadron, representing a world-wide honoured and respected Country, has paid this Province, one of the nine Provinces of the Dominion of Canada, a distinct compliment in making your first stop-over in the Dominion within the territorial waters of New Brunswick.

This Province, a component part of this great Dominion, joins with all Canada in extending to you a cordial and whole-hearted welcome. We appreciate the great honour you have paid the Canadian people in visiting us on your goodwill journey to the great Nation to the south of us.

Representing as you do, one of the leading nations of the world in service, commerce and diplomacy, governed by a Prime Minister—Mussolini—who whose name will go down in history as a man whose outstanding ability and patriotism have brought his country to the forefront of the nations of the world.

I congratulate you, General Balbo, and your staff upon your successful crossing, and wish for you one and all in your epoch making voyage, a safe journey to your destination, and a happy and glorious return to your Native land. The citizens of New Brunswick say to you with all sincerity—Welcome,—thrice welcome, and Bon Voyage.

Leonard P. D. Tilley, Prime Minister of New Brunswick Dominion of Canada.

Pays Tribute to Il Duce—In the course of his brief speech, translated through microphones, General Balbo paid a loyal tribute to Benito Mussolini. "It is through his courage, his initiative, his ability, that Italy becomes a greater power," he declared, pointing to the present flight as exemplification.

The General spoke with many messages of welcome before his

General Balbo and his officers on land. General Balbo's nephew was one of the first to greet him on Canadian soil. He was with a number of newspapermen who had awaited the arrival of the Armada. Camera men took pictures of Balbo in every conceivable attitude and mood to be flashed to New York papers.

A guard of honour from H. M. C. S. Saguenay stood each side of the pier and saluted the airmen as they touched Canadian soil. They were officially welcomed by the Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, Hon. Col. Murray McLaren, Minister of Pensions; Hon. L. P. W. Tilley, Premier of New Brunswick; Brig. J. L. B. Parsons and the Mayor of Shediac, Dr. A. Sormany. The Italian Consul was there to welcome his countrymen.

Italian music was played during the landing. Mrs. Herridge, sister of Premier R. B. Bennett, motored in four hours from St. Andrews to welcome the airmen. General Balbo is 37 years of age and is a man who does not like a lot of fuss and asked to have the banquet which had been prepared for him cut out.

Senator McArthur in conversation with the airmen learned that since leaving Labrador atmospheric conditions were good, which accounted for their arrival much earlier than was announced in yesterday's press dispatches. The Italians expressed themselves as delighted with weather conditions and the wonderful reception given to them by the Canadian people. The Senator was struck with the perfect arrangements made for the machines. As they stepped into their moorings scores of boats hove into sight. They came up alongside of the seaplanes, each one was equipped with five gallon cans of standard aviation gasoline and each plane was refueled ready for the takeoff which is thought will take place about dawn.

Shediac is a wonderful natural port for seaplanes, and is equipped with moorings for 25 of the largest flying boats as well as small pontoons planes. Planes can light and depart at any stage of the tides.

Senator McArthur and Mr. Pope returned to Summerside by six p. m. taking the same route as the planes crossing in twenty minutes.

NEGRO ARTIST ENJOYABLE CONCERT

A very successful concert was given last evening in Heartz Memorial Hall by Mr. Arthur Holder, Barbados, Negro tenor. The concert, which was under the auspices of the Willing Circle of King's Daughters was heartily enjoyed by a large audience.

Mr. Holder possesses a rich powerful voice of unusual range and power. He was ably assisted by Mrs. Holder.

Following was the programme: 1. Steal Away to Jesus; Heav'n, Heav'n, Burleigh; Because, D'Hardelet.

Piano—Juba Dance, Nathaniel R. Dett. (A descriptive African dance by a Canadian-born Negro composer—one of the foremost contemporary composers).

2. You Better Min', Johnson; Mees, Rasbach; Exhortation, Willie Cook.

Piano—Rondo Capriccioso, Mendelssohn. 3. Unaccompanied numbers—Water Boy, Treat Me Nice, I'm Done, Arthur Holder. Piano—Impromptu (Op. 90), Schubert.

As duet with Mrs. Holder—Love, Come Back to Me (New Moon), Romberg; La Donna e Mobile (Rigoletto), Verdi.

INCREASING INTEREST IN FIELD DAYS

A very successful illustration station field day, the third of a series, was held yesterday at Iona on the farm of Mr. James Daley. Previous field days this year were held on the farms of Messrs Alex Matheson, Wood Islands, on July 5 and Clifford McEwen, St. Peters on July 7.

The same programme with slight variations has been carried out on all three occasions.

As one of the objectives of the field days is to demonstrate the work done by the stations, the programme includes inspection of station fields, of experiments, plot work, livestock and gardens. Of special interest this year is the elaborate experiment on Brown Heart in turnips. At each field the method of growing the crops is explained.

An hour and a half is spent on discussion of the Experimental Farm truck exhibit. The six topics discussed are the growing of timothy seed, a vegetable garden on every farm, the effect of nitrates on timothy and three on the breeding and feeding of poultry.

Dr. J. A. Clark, Mr. D. F. Timney, and Mr. R. G. Parent, Director of the Illustration Stations, were in attendance at each demonstration. Mr. S. G. Peppin was present at Wood Islands, and Mr. Stewart Irvin was present at St. Peter's where he put on a sheep drenching demonstration.

The field days at Iona and St. Peter's were much more largely attended than those at the same places last year. The attendance eyes. Telegrams flowed in from all parts of the continent, and Shediac was plastered with "Ben Venuti" and "Ben Venue."

Other speakers were Brigadier J. T. R. Parsons, officer commanding Military District No. 7, representing the Department of National Defence, and Mayor Alphonse Sormany. Dr. J. Clarence Webster, Chairman of the Welcoming Committee, reviewed the history of Shediac, one of the oldest settlements in the Acadian country.

At the close of the reception the crowd gave three rousing cheers for Balbo and his flyers, and the Italians responded with the Fascist salute.

Plan Morning Take-off

It was still uncertain tonight when the squadron would take off for Montreal and by what route they would fly. It was generally understood they would take off in the morning and travel to Montreal by the Maine route, over Megantic. But no one was taking anything for granted. It was definitely announced at the base here last night that the flyers would not take off from Cartwright until Friday at least, yet they were in the air this morning.

"It was a very good trip indeed," the General said as he came ashore. "We had a bit of fog, but not very much. Both take off and landing were accomplished without a hitch," he said, as he lit a cigarette and adjusted his garters—his pleasant brown eyes twinkled in his bearded face. Grey haired General Aldo Pellegrini, who with Lieutenant Colonel Longo came ashore with the leader, leaned against a piling and said nothing.
