U.S. Supreme Court Ruling Re Saluting Flag

WASHINGTON, June 14 — (AP) Speaking out against the use of coercion to weld national unity, the United States Supreme Court held today that states can not compel school children to salute the American flag.

"Compulsory unification of opinion achieves only the unanimity of the graveyard," said court's 6-3 opinion by Justice Robert Jackson, handed down as the United States observed flag day.

"To believe that patriotism will not flourish if patriotic ceremonies are voluntary and spontaneous instead of a compulsory routine is to make an unflattering estimate of the appeal of our institutions to free minds.

"If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein. If there are any circumstances which permit an exception, they do not now occur to us."

The court thus overruled its 1940 decision upholding the constitutionality of the flag salute. It outlawed, in the case before the court, a flag-salute requirement of the West Virginia board of education. In both cases, the flag salute rule was challenged by members of Jehovah's witnesses on grounds of religious freedom.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, who wrote the majority opinion in 1940, dissented today. Frankfurter asserted that an act promoting good citizenship and national allegiance is "within the domain of government authority and is therefore to be judged by the same considerations of power and of constitutionality as those involved in the many claims of immunity from civil obedience because of religious scruples."

AERIAL DEFENSIVE DRIVE OFF RAIDERS

LONDON, June 14 —(CP Cable) — With the moon approaching the full the Germans sent over a few more raiders than usual during last night, it was revealed today and 12 civilian deaths were reported after the debris had been cleared away. In one town a hosital was damaged. None of the patients was among those killed.

The raiders arrived in two waves, one over the southeast coast and another later one over the east coast. Two were destroyed. A school and houses in the residential part of an east coast town were set afire when enemy aircraft dropped hundreds of incendiaries early this morning.

Fire watchers extinguished many of the incendiaries, but the fires which broke out were said to have reached "considerable proportions." In one street almost every store front was shattered.

Casualties and damage were caused at three separate places in Eastern England.

Holidaymakers who had arrived for the Whitsuntide weekend were forced to leave their beds and go into the streets scantily clad when a large number of delayed action anti-personnel bombs were discovered to have been dropped, necessitating the closing of several streets.

Among those killed was the father of seven children who found an unexploded bomb in the kitchen of his home. He was carrying it from the house when it exploded.

Soldier volunteers in the town where the hospital was burned rushed into the building and carried patients out in their beds.

Good Shooting Important In Fighter Command

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN FIGHTER COMMAND, Somewhere in England, June 14 (CP)—In fighter command good shooting is nearly—but not quite, of course—as important as flying itself and fighter pilots with scores to their credit are those who hold their fire.

The knack, say old timers with Canada's Wolf Squadron, comes with experience.

In this respect the Wolf Squadron has done all right with 16 enemy planes destroyed and five damaged in little more than 10 weeks, for loss of six. Their motto is "stalk and strike" which is about as simple a way as any of describing the manner of their "kills."

If you handle it properly, and have a bit of luck, it only takes half a second to blow an enemy plane right out of the air. But you should get in cloise.

"I like to get well in before firing," said Sqdn. Ldr. Chuck Magwood of Toronto. "You're positively lethal then—but at 400 yards, just because you can see a Jerry plainly, it's silly to shoot. He'll only take evasive action because you've telegraphed your punch and then you'll never get a sucker shot at him."

"It is a bit different for a bomber gunner. The bomber's job is to get to the target and get back. If the crew knock down a fighter all to the good but the main thing is to safeguard the bomber, keep the fighters away. So a bomber gunner can fire any time there's any chance at all of hitting the opposition.

"But a fighter is out there for just one thing—to get the enemy—and it's done best from close in.

"This business of holding fire is something green pilots have to learn from experience. It is natural of course, to shoot early the first few times an enemy is sighted but," said Magwood, "chances are a green pilot seldom works himself into a position where shooting is worthwhile anyway."

Nazis Aided Japs At Pearl Harbor

WASHINGTON, June 14 —(AP) —A report declaring that German spies collaborated with Japanese in preparing the way for the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, was made public today by the office of War Information, which said that one of them was given a death sentence, later commuted to 50 years at hard labor.

The man was identified as Bernard Julius Otto Kuehn, 47, native of Berlin and veteran of the German army. The O W I. made public reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation which said Kuehn admitted preparing a set of signals, to be flashed from windows in his two Hawaiian homes, for disclosing the types and number of American warships in Pearl Harbor and that he received more than $100,000 from German and Japanese sources during his years in Hawaii.

The F.B.I. records said Kuehn reached Hawaii Aug. 15, 1935, ostensibly to study the Japanese language. He made two trips to Japan but never returned to Germany. More than $70,000 was deposited in a Honolulu bank to the credit of Mr. and Mrs. Kuehn by the Rotterdam Bank Association between May 14, 1936, and Feb. 7, 1939, the report said, and in 1940, it added, Mrs. Kuehn returned from a visit to Japan with $16,000. Six weeks before the attack on Pearl Harbor, it said, Tadsi Morimura, fourth secretary at the Japanese consulate, delivered $14,000 to the Kuehn home at Kai Lua, a small community on Oahu.

Prime Minister MakesStatement On Food Parley

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, June 14—(CP)—Canada today was associated with the declaration of the United Nations food conference that every nation should assume the responsibility, in collaboration with others, of providing adequate food for its own people.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King formally associated Canada with the declaration in a statement to the House of Commons in which he reviewed the work and conclusions of the conference in which 41 nations participated.

The conference envisioned a world situation in which all people would have a sufficiency of the right kind of food to maintain health.

Mr. King commented that President Roosevelt had accepted a suggestion that he call together an interim commission which would prepare a special plan for a permanent international organization on food and agriculture.

The conference, held at Hot Springs, Va., recognized there had never been enough food produced in the world to maintain the health of all its people. A basic conclusion was that food production must be increased if freedom from want is to be achieved, and the conference gave attention to means of increasing food supplies, said Mr. King.

It was recognized that if markets were to be opened for any expanded food production, and if people were to be able to buy the food they needed, poverty must be made to disappear.

The conference was concerned with the intermediate period between the present and the time when the long-term goals could be pursued and achieved, after the war. But, said the Prime Minister, free countries already were able to take steps toward the desired goals, and as other countries were freed they would participate.

"The immediate aim must be the abolition of hunger as a first step towards freedom from want," he continued.

As a separate examination, the question of relief, on an international scale, would be the subject of an early conference.

The primary concern of the conference was agriculture, Mr. King said, but it did not overlook the value as foodstuffs of fish and marine products and recommended that its general conclusions—wherever appropriate—should apply to such products.

The Canadian delegation to the conference, which lasted from May 18 to June 3, was headed by Dr. G. S H Barton, Deputy Agriculture Minister.

Details of what food is needed and where it can be produced will be worked out by the interim commission, which will be followed by a permanent board, probably with its offices in Washington, it was learned.

The conference emphasized that never again should food be destroyed as was done during the last depression when not enough people had money to buy it.

Mr. King said the conference resolutions contained statements of principles and recommendation of policy for the short-term and long-term period.

They also dealt with the opening up of undeveloped areas suitable for settlement and food production, the fostering of desirable changes in the pattern of production designed to give greater emphasis to "protective foods," the provision of agricultural credit, the advancement of co-operative societies, and improvement of marketing facilities.

Censors Copy Extracts From Private Letters

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—Private letters critical of Government policy are copied by censorship officials under certain circumstances, it was said in a return tabled today in the House of Commons.

In asking for the return M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, asked: "Are private letters critical of government policy copied in whole or in part, and forwarded systematically or otherwise to the department concerned?"

The war services department replied: "Only when detrimental or significant to the war effort."

The reply said letters or telegrams to or from members of parliament had only twice been dealt with in this manner "inadvertently and contrary to instructions."

The return said censors have authority to withhold letters posted at Halifax or other defence areas and addressed to points within Canada. Censorship did not include investigation by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police of personal opinions between friends expressing disagreement with North African policies of the United States State Department in its recognition of former supporters or members of the Vichy regime, the return said in answer to another of Mr. Coldwell's questions.

City Council Monthly Meeting

Following is a continuation of the report, of Monday's meeting of the City Council.

Coun. Dougan, reporting for the street committee, stated that repair work had been done on wooden sidewalks, and ash walks. The government graders had been out two or three times on the clay streets, which had been scarified, graded and rolled. Street repairs are being held up for stone dust, he said. Ashes have been removed from 100 residences, the fish market has been redecorated and a bathing house rebuilt.

Councillors Blanchard and Butler complained of the improper cleaning of the streets in the east end of the city and in Ward one. The former said he saw the same two milk bottles on the street for the last two weeks.

Coun. Dougan explained that since the new flusher was bought the street committee had been asked not to replace any street sweepers who dropped out. Their territory was now too large to clean properly, he believed.

Coun. MacDonald suggested that a member of the street department be sent around to pick up all bottles. Otherwise, he considered the streets were in good condition at present.

Coun. Blanchard, said the park had been cleaned up and a new bathing house built. He advocated employing a swimming instructress to teach the young children.

A delegation of city truckmen waited on the council asking for an increase in trucking rates of ten cents per load. A change in the city by law providing for this request was given first and second reading last night and will be given third reading this afternoon.

Redecorating Library

Coun. MacKinnon, reporting for the Tender committee, recommended that the tender of Mr. Elmer Rice, for the redecorating of the interior of the library as per specifications be accepted at the price of $775.00; and that the tender of J. L. Kelly, Electrician, for supplying and installing the lights in the Provincial Library, Charlottetown, as per advertised tender, be accepted, at a price of $375.00.

The acceptance of these tenders was passed by resolution with the understanding that the provincial government bear half the expense of these projects and that the city's share be charged to maintenance rather than capital expenditures.

Other Resolutions

Resolutions were also passed granting $10 to the Holy Name Club, Holy Redeemer Club, and Y. M.C.A. in lieu of amount paid for license; $50 was donated to the Greek War Relief Fund; Mr. Gordon Stewart, accountant, was granted leave of absence without pay while serving in the armed forces; Mr. I. Y. Reddin, city foreman and timekeeper, was granted three months leave of absence without pay to help carry on a vital war project; Mr. Avie MacDonald was appointed acting accountant at a salary of $1200 per annum; tenders are to called for supplying 125 tons coal to market Bldg. and 125 tons to city building; the employment of a dog catcher is to be left with the S.P.C.A., his salary to be paid by the city. A claim for damages caused by water which backed up into Miss Laura Cox's cellar last September was referred to the city recorder.

A request from Canon Malone for aid for a needy family was referred to the Children's Aid Society.

• The annual wage bill is now twice what it was in 1939. This is partly because of the increase in the amount of employment but also because the average hourly earnings of plant employees (cost of living bonus included) have increased 42.2% since the outbreak of the war.

• Income taxes today are more than 3,000% above 1939. But the company's 3,188 shareholders get the same dividends as at the start of the war.
