Tells How Nazi Putsch Was Blocked

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 13—(CP-Reuters) — A former German army officer tonight disclosed that officials of the Union of South Africa frustrated a Nazi Putsch in South West Africa last April by sending a police force to the former German territory.

"Gestapo officials in Germany believed that the people of South West Africa would wake up one morning and find their country in German hands," said the officer in an interview here. He asked that his name be kept secret to prevent possible reprisals.

The officer, who is a Jew, said that when the Nazis came into power he was given documents exempting him from the anti-Jewish boycott because of his military service to the Fatherland.

When he decided to leave Dresden, where he had resided for most of his life, he was summoned to the Dresden office of the Gestapo. Speaking to him "as a comrade" the Gestapo official in charge of the office advised him not to go to South Africa, at least not to South West Africa because, as a Jew, he would be no better off there

"South West Africa will soon be in our hands," the Gestapo official assertedly told the officer. "There will be a Putsch."

The ex-officer said he knew men who travelled between Berlin and South West Africa regularly making arrangements for the Putsch. He said he believed it was planned for about the time when General Juan Smuts, then Minister of Justice and now Premier, ordered police into the territory.

"Smuts acted too quickly for them," the former officer said.

General Smuts ordered 300 police from the Union of South Africa into South West Africa last April 17.

On the following day he told the House of Assembly that the dispatch of police forces "was in accordance with the government's opinion regarding the police requirements of the territory and for the preservation of law and order."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

Channel Tunnel Talk Revived

PARIS, Dec. 12 —(CP—Havas) — Construction of the long-discussed tunnel under the English Channel linking Great Britain and France is likely to be one of the first big allied post-war undertakings, the French public works minister, Anatole, De Monzie disclosed tonight.

Addressing the chamber of deputies during debate on his ministry's budget, De Monzie said the French government during recent days had obtained a promise of support "in principle" for the scheme from a "high British personage." He would not reveal who that person was.

He also announced that the French government was taking the first step toward building a railway across the Sahara Desert by constructing a trunk line to tap the Manzza mines in French North Africa.

"I cannot promise you that I am going to construct a tunnel under the channel and a trans-Sahara railway," the minister said. "However, I willingly concede that it is necessary to consider the post-war period and that there is sound reason for placing the tunnel at the top of the list of great works to be undertaken at that time. During recent days I received a promise of support in principle for this plan from a high British personage, who has cherished this idea.

"Regarding the trans-Sahara railway, my contribution can consist only in construction of the trunk destined to facilitate exploitation of the Manzza mines. However, this plan is in process of realization and will have favorable results in the economic development of our North African regions."

With British and French bond tightened by the stress of war, interest in the tunnel scheme has mounted on both sides of the channel during recent weeks.

Construction of such an underwater artery actually was started more than 60 years ago but was halted by the protests of Victorian isolationists who feared a French invasion.

FINNS APPEAL TO WORLD FOR HELP

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 13—(AP)—The parliament of embattled Finland today unanimously adopted an appeal that "as the outpost of western civilization" Finland has "the right to expect active help from other civilized nations" to resist the Soviet invasion.

The Finnish appeal declared the Finns are fighting not only for their fatherland but for "democratic institutions, religion, homes—everything which civilized peoples hold sacred."

Parliament, meeting while Finland's armed forces continued to resist Russia's invasion, said the Finns believed the rest of the world "cannot abandon us in the face of the enemy's overwhelming numbers."

The text of parliament's appeal was as follows:

"The Finnish nation, whose aims always have been to live on friendly terms with all peoples and with peaceful works to build its future, has become the object of its eastern neighbor's brutal attack inland without giving the slightest provocation.

"We have been forced into war and we have been given no alternative.

"The Finnish nation is fighting for independence, liberty and honor. We are defending our fatherland, democratic institutions, homes—everything which civilized peoples hold sacred.

"For the time being we are fighting alone against an enemy invading our country. Nevertheless our fight involves defence of a cause common to all humanity.

"We already have demonstrated we are doing our utmost in this battle, but we believe the whole civilized world, which already has shown great sympathy for our country, cannot abandon us in the face of the enemy's overwhelming numbers alone.

"As the outpost of western civilization our nation possesses the right to expect active help from other civilized nations. To all these nations the parliament of the Finnish nation adresses this appeal."

Heavy Fine For Discussing Secret Session

LONDON, Dec. 13—(CP)—It is taken for granted that no member of Parliament will discuss in any way the proceedings at Wednesday's secret session of Parliament. But should one feel tempted, there is a heavy fine and a maximum sentence of seven years' penal servitude for telling orally or in print.

The penalty applies to members of the House of Commons, peers who are permitted to stay in the galleries, and anyone clever enough to break through the elaborate precautions to prevent leakage.

The mother of Parliaments used to go into secret session automatically when, following ancient custom, some member rises and, turning toward the speaker cries: "Sir, I spy strangers!"

"Strangers" means anyone who is not a M. P.

Promptly newspapermen, officials attendants and visitors were "directed to withdraw."

But many years ago one member with a peculiar sense of humor suddenly popped up with "Sir, I spy strangers!" in the middle of a speech. Galleries were immediately cleared and a "secret session" was under way.

The jokester had seen King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, enter a gallery.

So the rules were altered and nowadays the house votes before a secret session is held. There have been none since the last war.

When the galleries have been cleared for such a session, big sound-proof doors are slipped into place. Policemen are posted outside every entrance. And blinds are drawn across any window through which the proceedings might be watched. This, it is supposed, is to prevent lip-reading a M. P's speech.

The suggestion for this secret session came from the leader of the (Labor) opposition, Clement Attlee, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader. It was made formally.

Historians will search in vain for an idea of the card placed on the table. Hansard will merely tell them that "strangers were directed to withdraw."

One Acclamation In Federal By - elections

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—Official nominations for four federal by-elections scheduled a week hence resulted today in an acclamation for A. L. Thompson as Liberal member of the House of Commons for Kent, Ont., two-way fights in Montreal St. James and Saskatoon and a three-cornered contest in Montreal Jacques-Cartier.

The by-elections were necessitated by the deaths of the sitting members, all Liberals. The Chatham by-election was necessitated by the death of Dr. J. W. Rutherford.

Mr. Thompson's acclamation brought Liberal representation in the House to 174 with Conservatives at 39; Social Credit 15; C. C. F., 7; Independent 2; U. F. O.-Labor 1; vacant 7; total 245.

In Montreal St. James, where the death of Hon. Fernand Rinfret, former Secretary of State, brought about the House vacancy, Eugene Durocher was nominated a Liberal candidate, opposed by Paul Bouchard, as a Nationalist.

In Saskatoon, previously represented by the late Dr. A. M. Young, official nominations left M. P. Hayes in the field as Liberal candidate, with Rev. W. G. Brown representing the United Reform movement.

Elphege Marrier of Montreal was nominated as Liberal candidate in Montreal Jacques-Cartier, opposed by Edgar Guerard of Montreal, as a Nationalist and Albert Lacombe of Ste. Genevieve, Que., as an Independent Liberal. The late Vital Mallette held the seat previously.

Conservatives nominated C. Earl Desmond of Morpeth, Ont., in the Kent riding but he did not contest the election. The Conservatives also had offered Finance Minister Ralston an acclamation in the riding. He did not accept the offer and it is expected he will be given an acclamation in a fifth by-election, set for Jan. 8, in Prince County, Prince Edward Island.

Date for a sixth by-election, in Kindersley, Sask., necessitated by the resignation of O. B. Elliott, Social Credit member of the House, has not been set. Hon. W. D. Herridge, leader of the New Democracy Movement, has received the only nomination there to date. Mr. Herridge's party is associated with the Social Credit Party.

Other by-elections pending are Bonaventure and Drummond-Arthabaska in Quebec, necessitated by the resignation of P. E. Cote and Wilfrid Girouard, as Liberal members of the Commons. They gave up their seats to contest the Quebec elections. Dates for these by-elections remain to be set.

Police Investigate Cattle Thieving

LUNDAR, Man., Dec. 13 —(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officals today said they are investigating complaints that cattle thieves are taking heavy toll from livestock producers in this district 75 miles north of Winnipeg.

According to complaints made to police, the modern rustlers are operating from trucks driven into pasturing ground far from highways. Farmers estimate they have lost 150 head of stock recently.

Harry Paulson, district cattle farmer who made a search for several stolen animals, reported he found the tracks of trucks far from any roadway. Paulson also discovered pits dug in the ground into which trucks may have been driven by the thieves to facilitate loading of stolen stock.

Soviets Meet Heavy Natural Obstacles In War

By Witt Hancock
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 13—(AP)—Evidence that Soviet troops were meeting heavy natural obstacles in Finland in addition to the stubborn resistance of the Finns was seen today by foreign neutral observers.

These sources said the Russians apparently realized now their mistake of trying to effect a mechanized advance over lakes and through rock and wooded terrain in their drive to cut in from the east and then attack the Mannerheim line from the rear.

The opinion was expressed that the Russians would advance faster as soon as they used cavalry and infantry more extensively.

Russian newspapers disclosed little actual news of the progress of the war but carried the usual stories of how the Finnish peasantry was welcoming their Russian "liberators."

A communique from headquarters of the Leningrad military area said Soviet troops "continued to advance in all directions" and had occupied the town of Pitkaranta.

Pitkaranta, about 60 miles from the Finnish frontier and on the north shore of Lake Ladoga, is the terminus of the railroad which circles the lake to the Gulf of Finland.

The villages of Muurila and Siprola, near the Gulf of Finland on the Karelian Isthmus, also were mentioned as having been occupied. The communique indicated troops taking these villages were moving in the direction of Viipuri, railroad centre and port and Finland's second largest city.

The communique said there was no air action, due to low clouds.

An indication that the territory taken already was being Sovietized was given in an article in the Red Star which described how a poor old peasant was told to take the cow of his landlord who had fled and also to occupy his house.

Nazis Support Russian March Into Finland

LONDON, Dec. 12 —(CP) —The British government tonight confirmed reports that Germany is supporting the Russian invasion of Finland by blocking shipments of war supplies to the forces of the little republic.

The official announcement coincided with reliable reports reaching diplomatic querters that Germany had adopted this course from the start of the Baltic hostilities and was the accomplice of Russia in its armed attack. These reports also claimed the Reich is considering eventual establishment of Soviet and German zones of influence in the Baltic and Scandinavia.

A few hours after Prime Minister Chamberlain had told the House of Commons he had no confirmation of reports that Germany and Italy had sent or sold war supplies to Finland, the ministry of information issued the following communique:—

'As was expected when the government granted licenses to British firms for export of war material to Finland, Germany has now come out openly on the side of the aggressor.

"It is confirmed in London today that the Nazi government is making full use of Germany's strategic position to prevent supplies from reaching Finland from other countries anxoius to prove their sympathy. Germany, indeed, is holding up orders placed in neutral countries before the war, and is proudly asserting the fact. The German propaganda machine ,which was among the first to tell the world of the glorious Soviet assault on evacuated Hogland Island, has suddenly ceased its sarcastic references to the prowess of the red armies."

New Industry For Eastern Canada Seen

HALIFAX, Dec. 12— (AP) — Eastern Canada is going to acquire a new industry —the export of pit props to Britain. In the past Britain depended upon Russia and the Baltic States to supply pit props, used for bracing cuttings in mines, but the war has seriously hampered the trade.

Two representatives of the British timber control board, T. L. Daniels and C. Harrison, are here making arrangements for the export of the pit props. They are accompanied by K. G. Fensom, timber trade commissioner in Britain for the three eastern Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Fensom believes the industry has "promising potentialities." In the present negotiations with the British Timber Control Board an effort is being made to build up the industry not only for war time but also as a permanent proposition.

Inspectors from the Old Country will be on hand to give advice and instruction regarding the method of preparation and standard of quality required by the British Mines. Conservation will be practised in order that cutting may be carried out without removing too much of the natural growth of the woodlands.

Pickets And R.C.M.P. Clash At Lockeport

LOCKEPORT, N. S., Dec. 11—(CP)—Pickets and Royal Canadian Mounted Police skirmished briefly here today as a crowd estimated by police at more than 600 blocked an attempt to move loaded railway cars from the plants of two fish companies engaged in a dispute with employees.

No one was seriously injured as the 40 R. C. M. P. officers attempted to move the crowd of men, women and children from the tracks where they stood or lay to bar the progress of a locomotive heading for the cars.

After struggling with the group for a half hour, the police halted the attempt to clear the tracks. R. C. M. P. officials said the police did not use weapons. They claimed several of those on the tracks, and in an aditional crowd of 600 lining the sides of the railway cutting, threw stones.

The clash came as a disagreement between two fish companies and their fishermen and fish-handlers reached its seventh week. Plants of Swimm Brothers and the Lockeport Company, Limited, had been closed down following a demand of two unions for recognition.

They reopened officially today, with about 25 men apart from maintainance employees going into the plants. These loaded the cars which the companies tried to have taken out. Several previous attempts at moving the cars had been made, all blocked by picketers.

No arrests were made today by the Mounted Police, brought here over the weekend at the request of the town council.

Blocking of the locomotive took place near a co-operative fish plant opened recently by the 600 men left idle through closing of the two commercial plants. The engine had to pass this spot to reach the other plants.

Some of the picketers carried Canadian and British flags. They sang "God Save The King" and "O Canada" before the police attempted to disperse them.

The squad of police remained in this little town of 1,200 tonight. Meanwhile Charles Murray, organizer for the Canadian Fishermen's Union, said that "if more police arrive, the union's answer will be to call in more men."

He said 800 union men through Shelburne County were available for picketing.
