A VISITOR to the Young Men's Christian Association would be at once struck by the marked change in the appearance of the interior. For several days the Association parlor has been in use as a reading room—somewhat limited quarters for the large number who take advantage of the magazines and papers to be found there. Last night, however, the reading room was transferred to its old quarters, and expressions of delight were heard on every side on its improved appearance. The walls were freshened by a coat of white, as were the pillars and woodwork. Arm chairs had taken the place of the old and smaller chairs, and on the floor was a handsome inlaid linoleum of tile pattern, presented to the Association by the Ladies Auxiliary. The Secretary's office had also come in for a share of the improvements, and with its coat of white and linoleum-covered floor was transformed. The management of the Association is to be congratulated on this added advancement, and the Reading Room, which is now without doubt the most attractive and best equipped among the Associations in the Maritime Provinces, should be more than ever patronized by the citizens of Charlottetown.

"THE TWO MACS"

MacDonald & MacKinnon,
DRUGGISTS,
Cor. Gt. George and Keat Sts.

Rev. A. McLennan Sinclair formerly of Springville and now of Eldon, Belfast called on the Editor yesterday. Mr. Sinclair is looking well. He was on his way to a meeting of the College Board of the Presbyterian Church in Halifax. He is a man with a big warm heart and it does one good to meet him. He has been a frequent contributor to the columns and always a welcome one.—New Gl's row Chronicle.

LAST NIGHT'S RECITAL—Miss Comstock and Lefursey will carry pleasant recollections of their last entertainment here. A goodly sized and most enthusiastic audience enjoyed the excellent program. Determined to make the most of this last opportunity the audience encouraged the who's program saving the orchestral numbers. Misses Edith Weeks and Mollie Warburton despatched the favorable impression already created. They are the both prominent soloists, sing intelligently and with good enunciation. The surprise of the evening was Mr. Chas. P. Clark. His habitant readings scored a double encore. Resonant voice, facile in facial expression with just the roguery for the humorous and pathos for the grave readings—he has come to stay in our memories and if he awaits visits us, our affections. Miss Comstock sang no less sympathetically than of yore and has the art of communicating to her pupils her easy, unaffected yet effective method. Miss Lefursey will be greatly missed. Singers of merit come and go but it is rare that a reader of Miss Lefursey's ability makes her stay with us. Declamation is the first step to good singing. Most of our singers fall here—they never read over their songs, elide or pass slurringly over syllables and leave ellipses that a good voice does not make atoneout for. Bon voyage and grand success attend you mesdemoiselles. We will not say Adieu, seulement Au Revoir. The Orchestra did good and for once well appreciated work. The accompaniments were ably handled by Mr. Watts.

Back of Ames Holden's shoes are fifty years of constant study, progress and success. No jumps or bounds about it, simply better and more stylish shoes every season.

Making Concrete Bricks Out of Waste Heaps.

An English inventor proposes to utilize waste heaps by making them into concrete bricks. His idea is to turn to account any sort of waste, even that from destructors, by mixing in certain proportions either destructor ashes, clinkers, shippings and dust from stone, hard sand, colliery clippings, or scavenger refuse, with blue lime or hydraulic lime. The mixture is shoveled into troughs divided into sections, and afterward passed through a brick press, or blocks may be made from the product in molds or jacks. These are stacked and dried in the open air. The more costly processes of ordinary brick-making, namely, the setting, burning and drawing, are avoided. The blocks or bricks usually harden in about two months, when they are ready for use.

An Economical Oat Clipper.

The high price which clipped oats bring in comparison with unclipped has led to the construction of a simple and light-weight clipper of great capacity. The machine is dustless, as all impurities are removed the instant they become loosened from the grain. Four distinct separations are made, first by screening or sieving, and afterward by successive strong air currents at different stages, the last occurring as the finished material leaves the machine. This improved clipper is built in nine sizes, from 50 to 100 bushels guaranteed hourly capacity.
