Several of the streets on the outskirts of the City are in a disgraceful condition. In a bridge on Green Street, between Boyle's Tannery and the North River Road, there is a hole about two feet long and six inches wide which will probably be the means of breaking some horse's leg before the season closes.

There is also a hole about a foot deep in the wheel track on the same street which is dangerous enough at any time but especially so at night. Admiral street, parts of which are lower than the sidewalks thus forming pools of water for days after other parts of the city are dry, is also full of holes from six to nine inches deep. In justice to the many taxpayers who have occasion to travel on the above streets these dangers can't be remedied too quickly.

The Intercolonial Club of Boston, which has a high standing in that city of culture contains many natives of this Province. Recently the Club signalled its success by erecting a building for its own use. The Intercolonial Building, The magnificent building is situated a short distance from the Dudley street terminal station, almost in the centre of Boston has four stories and basement, finished in Western limestone and Philadelphia face brick, and is one of the most substantial and artistic structures of its kind in the city. The entire cost of land, buildings, appurtenances and complete equipments estimated at over $100,000, almost the entire amount of which is paid. The membership is large, and includes many business and professional men of the city of Boston and vicinity. The officers of the Intercolonial Club are as follows: President, John A. Campbell; vice-president, A. C. Chisholm; treasurer, W. J. O'Donnell; secretary, D. J. Chisholm; financial secretary, R. E. Johnston. Additional Directors: Neil McNeil, John P. Campbell, Thomas E. Johns, R. J. McCormack, M. D. Executive Committee: A. P. Chisholm, Neil McNeil, Joseph L. Stewart, H. Judson Smith, Thomas E. Johns. The Treasurer and the Financial Secretary are both well-known Islanders. They are genial, whole souled comrades who delight in extending a warm welcome to visiting Provincials. The Intercolonial Club is to be congratulated.

H. A. Molins, one of the brightest men who ever left the shores of this Province, is the editor and manager of The Maple Leaf, which he publishes at Oakland, California. This interesting monthly is a welcome visitor to wearers of the Maple Leaf both at home and abroad, and by its means the editor's light is prevented from shining under a bushel. He is a native of Summerside, and absence from his native Province has only made his heart grow fonder of it. Last summer he managed to get home for a holiday, and renewed old acquaintances and brought pleasure to his many friends. He is now, in the pages of The Maple Leaf, describing his visit which included besides this Province many of the interesting places of the Dominion. Of his trip home he says: "From Moncton to Point du Ours is a short ride on the train, and then a delightful sail of two and a half hours on the steamer Empress brought me to the town of Summerside, Prince Edward Island. When seen from the water as one approaches it the island presents a very pleasing and picturesque appearance, rising in gentle undulations from the water's edge, the land is beautifully diversified with woods and cultivated fields, while many windings of the shore go far to complete a landscape fair and attractive. No wonder, therefore, that the "Garden of the Gulf" has become such a favorite health resort. Hospitality in its purest state is to be found on Prince Edward Island—the little province by the sea that has neither millionaire nor pauper, and where the door is always open to the friend and stranger alike." There is extended reference made to Summerside and its people in the current issue of The Maple Leaf and many interesting incidents related.

This means a great loss in the athletic circles, as Mr. Gormley is one of the best hockey players in the Maritime Provinces and was captain of the Abegweit senior team champions 1906-07, and also captained the team which was successful in Newfoundland last season. He was also a member of the Abegweit senior football team, and was first baseman on their base ball team.

SAVING CHANCE IN SAMPLE FURS

The Saving Runs From a Quarter to a Third on Each Piece

A GREAT FUR HOUSE made us the offer. It included all their medium price samples and while it meant a big cash payment the saving was so good that we snapped it up, feeling confident that you would appreciate it.

The samples shown include scarfs, ruffs, thr wovers, muffs and so on, in pretty rich, stylish marmot, durable furs of cheaper quality and so on.

Had we bought the same furs under ordinary conditions, we should have had to pay 25 per cent to 33-1-3 per cent more—we make a big saving and we are passing it along.

Many of the handsome marmot and fitch furs that we are showing present almost as good an appearance as mink furs at six times their cost.

Now, please bear in mind—these furs are not going to be here many days—today is better than later—come in.

A very nice fur is a Marmot Stole, in a medium shade has four tails, satin lined.

Price $1.85

Another one is a Marmot Cravat, sixty-three inches long, medium shade of brown prettily marked, satin lined and presents a very handsome appearance.

Price $4.75

Sometimes altogether new is a rich brown Marmot Cravat, with touches of ermine, trimmed with heads and tails of self, sixty-three inches long.

Price $9.00
