WEDDING BELLS—A marriage of more than usual interest was solemnized in St. Paul's Church, Sturgeon, at eight o'clock the morning of Nov. 6th when Mary Cecilia McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McDonald of Pannure, and Edward Daley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Daley of St. Mary's, were united in holy wedlock by their pastor, Reverend William McCabe. The bride was charming, attired in a powder blue dress of crepe, blue hat and coat with matching accessories and wore a corsage bouquet, as did also her matron of honor, Miss Perthie Smith of Georgetown, who was becomingly dressed in yellow crepe, with coat and hat in brown. The proud and fortunate groom, who is highly esteemed by all who know him, was attended by Mr. Aloysius McDonald of Pannure. Reverend Father McCabe was celebrant of the Nuptial Mass, at which the men's choir and choir of the Children of Mary Sodality sang beautifully in unison. After the happy ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of the bride where they and their immediate relatives enjoyed a delicious wedding breakfast and later a dinner served by Mrs. William and Edwin McDonald in their own inimitable manner. The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion with red flowers, the centre of attraction being the "Bride's Cake," artistically trimmed with pink rosebuds and silver leaves and the beautiful "Wedding Cake," tastefully iced with decorations of silver leaves and beads. In the early afternoon the newly married couple left to spend their honeymoon on a motor trip to Charlottetown and points west, returning to their new home at St. Mary's on Saturday. Previous to her marriage the bride, who was a well known and successful teacher, was tendered a miscellaneous shower by her girl friends and a purse and address from the Women's Institute Branch of Pannure, besides being the recipient of gifts and good wishes from her many other friends, a 1 of whom wish Mr. and Mrs. Daley many years of happy wedded life.

WOMAN-WATER CHANGES HIS MIND—TOO LATE

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—At 72 John Paul Duff apparently has changed his mind about women. About 45 years ago he wrote a book about them, called "The Duplicity of Women." Today he lay dangerously wounded, his throat cut presumably with a razor that lay nearby. Just before he was found his landlady quoted him as saying: "Every man ought to get married. It's too lonesome in the world otherwise."

HOW BATTLE CREEK WAS NAMED

Many travellers wonder as to the origin of the warlike name of this important centre on Canadian National lines, today so busy and thriving on a peaceful industry. Some one recently delved into the archives and unearthed a letter from Col. John Mullet, who directed a survey of Calhoun County in 1825, and whose staff named the creek. "While making the survey we were bothered by begging Indians. Our party was camped upon a creek in Fenfield Township in Calhoun County with two men left in charge of the camp. They had been instructed not to give the Indians anything. Two Indians appeared and, when refused food, tried to help themselves. In the fight which followed one of the Indians was knocked down and both fled. That night, as an account of the fight was given, one surveyor suggested that the creek be called Battle Creek. It was given that name and later when Battle Creek was settled it took the name." Col. Mullet wrote.—Canadian National Railways Magazine.

NEW CANCER SERUM BEING GIVEN TRIAL

LONDON, Nov. 30.—In the course of the current annual British Empire cancer campaign the information is given that moving pictures taken have proved that immunized serum used on rodents kills the cancer cells in a few minutes and leaves the normal cells unaffected. The discovery is hopeful; but it is not yet definitely claimed that a cure for cancer in human beings has been found.

Celebrate 329th Anniversary of New World Drama

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N.S., Nov. 30.—(C.P.)—North American Drama has just been accorded a 329th anniversary celebration near here, close by the spot where the French pioneers of 1606 paused in the making of a nation to entertain a returning voyage with the continent's first stage production. By the ruins of Champlain's Habitation on the shore of the Annapolis Basin, descendants of these Nova Scotia settlers heard a revival of "Neptune's Theatre," the hurriedly-written masque produced in honor of the homecoming of Seigneur de Poutincourt to Port Royal after a dangerous voyage of exploration along the Nova Scotia coast. Marc Lescaillot, a brilliant young French lawyer who was Poutincourt's right-hand man in the early days of Acadie, was the masque's author. He composed it, as he said in a letter account of his adventures in the new world, to "show some jollity" in meeting Poutincourt.

It was a happy thought; for Poutincourt and his party sorely needed cheers. Storms and other misadventures had beset them on their trip. The commander had met with near-mutiny on the part of some of his men. Indians had attacked them and killed some of their number. And the survivors were a dejected lot when they finally got home to Port Royal. It was amid these unpromising circumstances that the drama, as the white man knew it, made its debut to the Nova Scotians. For a stage, the actors had a ship swinging gently on the sparkling blue of the Annapolis Basin; for a backdrop, there were the rolling green hills of the Acadian shore. And for an audience, there were a few French settlers and a handful of gaping Indians.

Overcomes Poor Luck on Voyage

HALIFAX, Nov. 30.—(C.P.)—Hard luck sailed with the British frigate Inverbank on her last voyage around the world, but she finished it despite storm and stranding, desertion and death, and the loss of her skipper. The series of mishaps that was to trail her around the globe began at Baltimore, where eight Chinese crewmen made a dash for shore. One drowned while six of his companions were being rounded up. A quiet voyage then as far as the Red Sea, where spontaneous combustion started a fire in No. 6 hold with a cargo of ammunition up forward. It was put out after an anxious hour of fire-fighting. At Aden, as the freighter lay at her berth, a terrific sandstorm drove her ashore. She was refloated and sailed on to Ca cutta. There, this fortune again struck as Captain William Forsythe was carried off to hospital with an infected hand. The mate had to take command as the voyage went on. All went well for weeks then, and it was not until the Inverbank was nearing Halifax that her ill luck had its final fling. Heavy seas sent the Chinese cook spinning against a steel object in the galley, and he went out with a split head.

"KUCHEON" TO BE THE FIRST CONSIDERATION

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—German girls who don't know how to cook won't be admitted to colleges and universities, Bernhard Rust, Minister of Education, decreed yesterday. After the spring of 1937 sixteen-year-old girl students must pass an examination in the fundamental duties of housewives before being accepted, he ruled, and since there was not enough room in the schools for such lectures, their mothers must teach them.

Income And Taxes

Herewith is the first of a series of articles by Major A. R. Lawrence, author of "The Canadian Income," the first complete analysis of the money income and purchasing power of the Canadian people by counties and census divisions. Major Lawrence has had extensive experience in uncovering facts which can be used to practical advantage in examining economic problems, and recently was engaged in market research by several large power corporations and industrial commissions. In his initial article Major Lawrence takes up the question of Income and Taxation.

We have heard a great deal about the "Forgotten Man" and the "Forgotten Consumer," and nothing particularly about the "Forgotten Taxpayer." Well, he deserves some consideration because for a long time he has been "taking it on the chin." His real burden of taxation can only be gauged by the income from which it is subtracted. The above chart shows the fluctuations of the Canadian income and the bonded debt from 1926 to 1935. In 1926 the combined individual money income was approximately 5,000 million dollars. Considering this sum as 100 per cent the chart shows that our 1935 income has dropped to 75 per cent or to the level of 3,750 million dollars per year. On the other hand the total gard to the possibilities of (1) reducing the interest on the bonded debt by conversion issues at lower rates of interest, (2) reducing current operating costs of government, (3) creating employment and, in consequence, reducing the cost of unemployment relief. Of the three possibilities there is no question that the greatest and quickest relief to the taxpayer would occur by creating work for the unemployed. Increased employment not only lifts the burden of relief costs from the shoulders of the taxpayer, but distributes the remainder. For it may be emphasized that, whether we own property or not, the moment we earn an income, buy food, clothing or coal, rent a house or operate a car, we become directly or indirectly, taxpayers.

Could Hardly Move About

Took Dodd's And Seen Was Well "Some 18 years ago I was taken down with kidney trouble so bad I could hardly move about," writes Mr. H. M. Stewart, Castle Bridge, N.B. "A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had only taken a few doses when I found I was getting better. Before two boxes were used I was doing my work—and was completely relieved. I have never had any trouble with my kidneys since." D-51 Dodd's Kidney Pills
