Another Attempt Made to Burn City Hall. Losses Amount to $1,500,000. Fire Brigade Fired on.

(Special To The Guardian.) CORK, Dec. 1.—The odor of charred smouldering wood pervades Cork and Patrick Street and the principal thoroughfare of the city is unsightly with its bulging debris of fire wrecked houses. The estimated losses are placed at about $1,500,000. Early today a second unsuccessful attempt was made to burn city hall recently badly damaged by a bomb explosion and fire. No less than five Sinn

Fein Clubs have been destroyed. The fire brigade when responding to the alarm on Sunday night were fired upon by parties of masked uniformed men. Consequently firemen now fear to venture forth and when the Sinn Fein Club was set fire today they refused to leave their quarters until the protection of two lorries loaded with soldiers were afforded them.

A BRAW SCOTCH NIGHT AT THE DAVIES

Caledonians Celebrate St. Andrew's Day in Time-honored Fashion.

At the Caledonian Club St. Andrew's dinner in the Davies Hotel, as before recorded yesterday, President J. R. Burnett acted as chair. Vice-President J. H. Malcom, vice-chairman, Prof. Earle C. Earle, E. Saunders and Malcom were contributed by Messrs. Cosh, C. Earle, E. Saunders and Malcom. The first toast of the evening was "The King" at which the National Anthem was heartily sung. The President Mr. Burnett, then outlined the very successful work of the Club during the past year. The three celebrations held, (the Burns concert, the annual Scottish Gathering and the St. Andrew's Day dinner) had all been highly successful and the Society had been able to distribute among charities of the city $313.

Messages were read from other parts of the world where St. Andrew's Day is remembered. One from the North British Society, at Halifax; another from St. Andrew's St. John; a third from St. Andrew's Ottawa, a fourth from the Scottish Charitable Society, Boston. Two messages were received from Col. J. F. Irving, an old president and ex-chief of the Club and the other from Mr. Malcom, father of the present vice-president. The last message read was from the Scots Society at Fredericton. To all these genial messages fitting replies had been despatched.

The President concluding his address on the work of the Club during the past year, remarked upon one death among its members. This was the honored and distinguished clansman, Judge Melton, whose demise was the source of sincere regret to all. He then expressed his appreciation of the Club for the hostesses which Mr. Samuel Donaldson, Paisley, donated to them through ex-chief Paton and which he had sent for the past few years.

The next toast, "The Lieutenant Governor," was responded to by His Honor Murdoch MacKinnon. He said the success of the Scotch people was the largest to one thing and that was their faithfulness on all occasions. They were faithful to their laws. Though in their history they very often had had laws, they strove rather to amend them constitutionally than to rebel against them. There was perhaps one thing in which we, this province did not keep up to the standards of the Old Country. That was building up and improving along manufacturing lines. We had not followed them there, though undoubtedly this would come when our people realize more fully the conditions. We had good reason to be proud of the old stock. We had especially good reason to be proud of those who immigrated to this country.

Following the playing of "America" by Prof. Earle came the toast "The United States" to which Constable Livingston replied. His own ancestor could trace far back in Scotch history, so that he would might feel himself at home at St. Andrew's dinner. He referred to the splendid characteristics of the Scotch people, with their religious fervor, their love of home and their love of fair play, and he felt that such qualities in their descendants would ensure perpetuity of unity between Canada and the United States.

A song, "The March of the Cameron Men" was rendered by Mr. E. Saunders and heartily applauded. The next toast "Our Province" was answered by Premier Bell. He spoke of the special privileges we enjoy under the British flag. We were growing up into the position of an independent nation, in a sense. But we are growing at the same time closer to the Motherland than ever before. There was a time in the history of our Dominion, fifty or sixty years ago, when the sentiment of the people seemed in favor of separation. But that policy was dead now. It was gone, buried never to be resurrected.

Following the Premier's remarks came a song "Standard on the Braes of Mar" heartily sung by Mr. A. B. Cosh.

The next toast "The Day and A' Wha Honor It" was fittingly responded to by Rev. G. C. Taylor, whose amusing anecdotes of Scottish traits, and particularly that of humor of theirs, kept the tables in a roar.

Vice-President Malcom next proposed the toast of "The Navy and Army," responded to by Lt. Commander Lewin and Capt. (Dr.) A. Ross. Commander Lewin especially remarked upon the striking number of Scotchmen in high naval positions, from the Lord of the Admiralty down. Capt. Ross in responding to that portion of the toast referring to the army, gave an outline of military progress from the time of the origin of the armies. The arrival of the kilted Highlander into the wars marked an epoch. We had been thrilled by tales of their heroism at Balaclava, on the heights of Dargai,

Canon Simpson's Funeral Today

HUNDREDS OF CITIZENS VIEWED BODY AT CLOSE OF SERVICE LAST EVENING.

The body of the late Canon Simpson was removed from his home last evening and placed in the chapel of St. Peter's Cathedral where it was viewed by hundreds of citizens at the close of the service which was held.

The body was received at the door of the church by the choir and the sentences from the Book of the Dead, "I an beginning with the Resurrection and the Life of the Lord" being intoned as the choir proceeded to their place.

The Order of Service for the Burial was followed by the singing of the Office of the Dead, a service described as a funeral or on the anniversary of a death. This service consisted of the singing of the 116th, 120th, 121st, 130th and 138th Psalms, each preceded by and followed by the singing of an antiphon, this being a quotation or verse from the Psalm being sung. The service last evening concluded with the singing of the hymn "For all the Saints Who from their Labors Rest."

The remaining portion of the usual funeral service will be rendered this morning at 9.30. Prior to this a choral celebration of the Holy Communion will take place at 7.45.

The clergy who were present at last evening's service were as follows:—The Archbishop of Prince Edward Island, Rev. A. W. Watson; Rev. Canon V. E. Harris of Halifax; Rev. Dr. T. H. Hunt of King's College, Windsor, who officiated; Rev. C. de W. White, rector of St. Mary's Church, Summerside; Rev. S. Jeffrey of Georgetown; and the acting incumbent of St. Peter's, Rev. H. C. Light.

Citizens of all denominations gathered to view the body which was laid out in the deceased's canonical robes. Many remarked on the peaceful and natural appearance of the departed, all evidence of the suffering which he lately bore having been smoothed away by the kindly hand of death.

The honorary pall bearers at the funeral this morning will be Messrs W. L. Cotton, Fred B. Foster, John O. Hyndman, George V. Moore.

The active pall bearers will consist of young men of the congregation, as follows:—Messrs James E. Roth, L. Cotton, George Bins, Roy Bins, Harry C. Stewart and Perley Williams.

Alleged Murderer On Trial in N. B.

(Special To The Guardian.) ANDOVER, N. B., Dec. 1.—Presenting a picture of indifference to his surroundings Newman Clark sat in the prisoners dock here today to listen to the Crown's evidence against him for the murder of Miss Phoebe Bell at Grand Falls on March 25th The Crown produced witnesses who were virtually eye-witnesses of the tragedy. There was a birthday party at the home of Mrs. Ira Carney on March 24th last with Mr. Clark an uninvited guest and the evening was not very pleasant. Among those present were Phoebe Bell, Claude Murphy and two in the tragedy.

Next day the same quartette met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Woods Grand Falls. For a time Mrs. Carney said in her evidence, today the party played baseball in the yard. Then they went into the house to sing and dance. Phoebe Bell went into a bedroom to sweep it and Clark followed and some loud talking took place. Clark was heard to ask Miss Bell to marry him. "I will not," she replied. After the refusal to marry him, witness swore she heard three shots. With Claude Murphy she jumped to her feet and peeked into the room. The Bell girl was lying across the bed with a bullet hole through her head. Clark stood with his revolver in his hand. "Don't be afraid," witness swore he said, "see what I have done. I killed the girl because I could not have her as my wife. Now if you want to see me go look at me" then he rolled back his

Germany Capturing Canadian Trade

(Special To The Guardian.) TORONTO, Dec. 1.—The machinations of German industries to capture Canadian markets were related from first hand evidence by F. A. Hardy, a manufacturer of knitting machines at Georgetown in the continuation of the Tariff Commission in the City Hall Council Chamber this afternoon. Over 200,000 German latch needles had been unloaded at Montreal within the last two weeks, he declared, "unless this is stopped we shall simply have to close every shop. The Japanese needles are bad enough but we cannot stand up against these German needles, which are landed at $3 less than the manufactured cost here."

Youthful Murderer Is Located

(Special To The Guardian.) SHOWHEGAN, Dec. 1.—Admission that he had given an assumed name and that he was Homer Sturlock of Ashland, Kentucky, was made to Sheriff Mooerslake today by a youth arrested with two others awaiting trial for the murder of Asia Bientrekin, railroad station agent at Emden on November 4th. He had told the authorities who arrested him that he was Earl Morris of Ashland. After the Sheriff learned from Police in Kentucky, that Earl Morris was there, he confronted the prisoner with the information. Sturlock admitted his identity. He gave his age as 24. His father has written to the authorities that he is only 15. Bientrekin was robbed and beaten to death in the station.
