Tourists Lament Bridge Improvements

By NORMAN CRIBBENS Canadian Press Staff Writer

SARK Channel Islands Sept. 16 (CP)—Creux Harbor, said to be the smallest in the world, is being replaced by a larger, more imposing waterway.

Thousands of visitors will be sorry for the old harbor, nestled at the foot of craggy and daisy-clad cliffs, the centre of mysterious caves and limpid pools, has a romantic quality. To the city dweller it is so novel—so theatrically pretty and unreal—that he cheerfully pays the ferryman a boatman's shilling to ferry him a few yards from ship to harbor steps—on top of the fare from Guernsey and the shilling toll-tax which every visitor must pay. From there he passes through a cliff tunnel, "retrogressively" littered with boats and "obster-pots" and ropes and spurs, and climbs the steep-winding lane through a wooded, flower-decked ravine. Now the German have gone, Sark is once more a happy playground. Its hills and lanes and cliffs ring with the laughter of children. Young men and women bathe in sea-battered coves and explore the caves at low tide.

Norman Taverns Their elders quaff strong ale and play darts or shove ha'penny with the fishermen, the carriers and the harbor hands. But Sark in winter is a different place. The gale-lashed breakers crash and thunder on its rock-bound coast and the savage wind sometimes blows a phenomenon known as the "souffleur" spouting sea-spray to a height of 100 feet. Then, but for "lephora" and radio Sark is cut off from the world, inaccessible from sea and air. On the cliffs above Gouby Bay stands a monument erected to the memory of five men, including the harbor engineer who was drowned while attempting to return to Guernsey in an open motor launch.

In the churchyard are numerous graves of Sark fishermen whose boats, for all their experience, were caught and overwhelmed by sudden squalls.

Sometimes in winter Sark is isolated for a week or end. Only recently, in mid-summer, no boats arrived here for four days. Food supplies ran low and visitors from London found themselves, once more, without beer.

That is the only disadvantage in coming to Sark for a holiday—you never know how long you may have to stay.

Efforts Fail To Find Mutual Understanding

(By The Canadian Press) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—This industrial city's crippling power strike was still on tonight, its effects sharpened by a shutdown of the street railway system, despite dissolution of an anti-strike bloc in the path of settlement. Initial efforts to find a mutual understanding in the power dispute failed in the day when a 2 1/2 hour conference between officials of the Duquesne Light Company and an independent union of employees ended with no agreement. The employees seek wage increases. A union spokesman said, however, the conference would be resumed, probably tomorrow. Meantime, a virtual "holiday" prevailed in business and industry. Many thousands of workers continued in idleness through the third day. The trolleys which carry 1,000,000 riders daily normally, were halted by order of the P. E. Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Workers. Business agent John T. Morgan said it was a "protective measure" for 3,500 Pittsburgh railway employees. George Mueller, president of the power workers, was absolved of nine other strike committee members of contempt of court charges at the same time the anti-strike injunction was dissolved at the city's request. Mr. Mueller had been sentenced Tuesday to a year in jail on the contempt charge. Wednesday night, the union membership rejected by an overwhelming vote a proposal from the management which contained a five per cent wage increase and revision of the pension and vacation plans among other adjustments. The union seeks a 20 per cent increase. This, the union said, would boost the present average hourly rate from $1.18 to $1.41.

Federal taxes have been paid and tax returns also have been filed in Georgia, the district of Columbia, the Dominion of Canada and the province of New Brunswick. P.Y.P.S. Rally

The twelfth Provincial Presbyterian Young People's Rally was held in the Presbyterian Church, Cardigan, Sept. 2. The theme of the Rally was "The Peace of the Lord Jesus Christ." The president, Miss Marion Lockhart, presided. The afternoon meeting opened with a song service led by Boyd Beairto, with Miss Mary Bell as organist. The devotional service was then conducted by Wood Islands P. Y. P. S.

Miss Marion MacEachern on behalf of the Cardigan-Lorne Valley Society, extended a hearty welcome to the Young People. This was fittingly responded to by Boyd Beairto. The president then gave a comprehensive report of the year's work. The president's address was followed by the Roll Call of Societies. This was responded to by four Societies, Cardigan, Montague, Kensington and Wood Islands.

Very encouraging reports of the local Rallies held in July were then given. Rev. T. A. Duke, Governor of Young People's work commented on the Rallies, expressing his approval of holding the rallies in one week with the same theme and speaker throughout. He also told the Young People that plans are being made for an Island Camp, and several of the Young People voiced their enthusiastic approval. The following committees were then appointed: Nominating, Resolutions, Cardigan, Banner and Press. The Treasurer's Report was then read and showed a substantial balance.

Miss Margaret MacDougall, on behalf of the Maritime P. Y. P. S. Conference, asked the Societies to support the conference, one Missionary project, the Sunday Fund. She also urged the Young People to make a special effort to attend the conference to be held Oct. 11th, 12th, and 13th in Sydney, C.B.

The Young People then divided into three groups for discussion with topics and leaders as follows: 1. The Peace of the Lord Jesus Christ in the Community with Mary MacNeill as leader. 2. The Peace of the Lord Jesus Christ in the Church, with Carl Currie as leader. 3. The Peace of the Lord Jesus Christ in the World, with Boyd Beairto as leader. After a delicious supper, a baseball game, under the capable director of the Rev. George Cunningham was enjoyed by all.

EVENING SESSION

The evening meeting opened by a devotional period led by Boyd Beairto. Reports of the discussion groups were then given, and commented on by Rev. Norman Young. The guest speaker for the evening was Rev. T. H. B. Somers, pastor of St. James Church, Charlottetown, who brought us a most inspiring and thoroughly challenging address, the topic being "The Importance of youth," based on the text "Thou art not yet fifty years old." St. John 8:57. The speaker said: "It is when we are young we decide what is going to be the set of our soul and that is the most important thing in life. So, being young, we should start now a rich, deep, worthwhile inner life that we may never live in a mean and measly world of small concerns. Our evening of life can be a glorious period full of rich friendships, happy memories, consciousness of good causes served and work well done, attaining within the realm of the sources of God's power and peace. That depends on whom we give ourselves to now. The report of the Nominating Committee was then brought in and approved. The following went to the officers for the coming year: President—Miss Marion Lockhart, Charlottetown. Past President—Miss Marion Lockhart, Kensington. Secretary—Miss Mary MacNeill, Belle River. Treasurer—Miss Jessie Ross—Ocean View (re-elected). Program Committee—Mr. Donald Macdonald, Mr. Gardiner Dalzell, Mr. Robert Jardine, and Miss Margaret Forsythe. Installation of officers then took place. The Banner was then awarded to Kensington for six months and to Wood Islands for the remainder of the year. After the singing of Hymn 571, the Rev. T. H. B. Somers pronounced the Benediction.
