SUCCESSFUL MOTION PICTURE LEADING LADY APPEARS ON LOCAL STAGE IN PERSON

Relates Hollywood Experiences When She Played Role Opposite The Late Rudolph Valentino.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week will be red letter days in the theatrical history of Charlottetown, Miss Agnes Ayres, beautiful blonde movie actress will make a personal appearance on the stage of the Prince Edward Theatre in a cycle of songs, comedy sketches, talks on her Hollywood experiences, and wearing at each appearance gorgeous gowns selected from her travelling wardrobe.

Although Miss Ayres has not made any pictures during the last two years, she has been engaged in presenting a popular production on Broadway, which a few weeks ago finished its engagement. Before completing her Broadway presentation Miss Ayres signed a contract with a Hollywood producer, the director of which is one of the most famous on the continent.

However, to satisfy the motion picture fans, who have been long waiting for such an opportunity, and to realize an early ambition to travel, Miss Ayres consented to make a tour of the leading theatres on the Continent in order to make herself personally known to many thousands before making any more pictures.

Even as a schoolgirl Miss Ayres had a great love for the stage and screen, but found it required a great deal of hard work and concentrated study in order to reach the top in stardom.

Starting in amateur productions, she worked her way through vaudeville shows to professional stage dramas and then as an extra in a Chicago moving picture studio, by her forceful, realistic acting, she gained her first contract with Vitagraph who was producing pictures based upon the short stories of William Sidney Porter (O Henry) whose famous short stories were admirably suited to the needs of the motion pictures.

"The Sheik" and the "Son of the Sheik" are probably her best known pictures. Other outstanding successes are "Forbidden Fruit," "The Affairs of Anatole," "The Ten Commandments." Besides being a brilliant character actress, Miss Ayres is the possessor of a well cultivated voice, which critics everywhere are praising.

In the period of five years in which she produced most of her pictures she received on an average one hundred letters a day from fans all over the world and has mailed more than one and one half million photographs of herself to her fans.

Her popularity with the public was so great that Paramount signed her for a long term contract which proved very profitable to them, as she was a box-office attraction that every theatre manager throughout the world was always anxious to get. Paramount, appreciating her talent and popularity, featured her as leading lady in a great many of their road show attractions. Arrangements are now being made for her appearance in a big talking picture the details of which are soon to be made known.

Audiences everywhere have been highly pleased by this charming star, who is a vivid example of cultured and beautiful womanhood with a personality that combines true artistry with exceptional poise.
