THE EVER POPULAR BLOUSE.

With Some New Ideas in the Trimming of Same.

No matter what the season, the separate blouse is always in favor, and for certain occasions it really is indispensable. These lingerie blouses may be as simple or as elaborate as one pleases, but the outline is invariably the same, and always on the plainest of shirt waist models. Yoke effects are very much liked, and the best styles show a great deal of fullness in the back as well as in front.

I have tried to make the design for the embroidery as distinct as possible, so that it could be easily copied in the correct size on paper, and then traced on the material. The waist from which the design was sketched was of white French nainsook, the kind that comes slightly stiffened, although of transparent texture. French mullin is also a very popular material for the washable blouse.

In the models shown among the drawings, I have shown the styles requiring hand work and embroidery, in preference to the simpler machine-made bodices, which are usually simply tucked or else trimmed with embroidery or lace bands.

For instance, in the first figure in the larger drawing, the original garment was in pale blue surah, with the open work design on the yoke and sleeve cuffs done in embroidery silk to match. The edging to match knife plaited in a little

Small velvet or silk bows placed down the center of a lace yoke, with small rhinestone or cut steel buttons in the center of each.

The third design shows a pretty method of joining the edges of lace or embroidery if a wide edging is used for the purpose. The scalloped edge of the lace is also utilized with excellent effect about the top of the collar, a straight band of the gown material or of white mousseline or mull being fastened to the edge of the face.

In the lower left corner is also sketched a belt of skeleton variety, made of tape and whalebone, covered with the material desired. These girdele forms can be very easily made at home, half-inch wide white cotton tape and covered whalebone being used. The model is black satin, the cross-wise pieces of whalebone indicated by the dotted lines being covered with black crepe like the waist. Three bows of the satin are placed up the center of the back, and a pointed shield-shaped piece of stiffening covered with satin hides the closing in front.

Shadow embroidery, which is still more or less a novelty, is an extremely simple and effective trimming for these slender blouses, one of these models being shown in the third figure in the larger drawing.

In the blouse sketch this embroidery was seen on the upper parts of the sleeves and on the collar and cuffs, as well as on the front and back of the blouse, and a three inch band of real Irish lace was set in about the base of the collar, forming a little rounded yoke, below which the blouse was tucked in a series of very small tucks by hand.

With the light blue, mauve, violet and pink crepe and silk blouses, simply made of broadcloth, henriette cloth or cashmere are also very satisfactory, and with the dark cloth skirts crepe of the same shade, accordion plaited and ornamented by a transparent lace yoke and collar, are useful for various occasions.

In this same plate is sketched another design for a wash blouse trimming, Valenciennes lace, about a half inch in width, had embroidered batiste applications, being used. The little circles shown in the sketch were made of the Val. insertion, one edge being gathered and drawn up to form a round disc, the oval medallions shown in the drawing being outlined by the Val. lace also.

The first sketch among the designs for neckwear shows a pretty stock to wear with a tailor's suit. The collar was of entre deux, fastened together in rows and about the center was an inch and a quarter wide band of velvet ribbon, held in place by strips of Irish lace. Two strips of the velvet ribbon extended down the front, being passed under a strip of the Irish lace, with a plaited jabot of three inch wide Valenciennes at each side. The next drawing, which has already been partially described, shows

HOUSEFURNISHING SUGGESTIONS.

Helpful Hints for Making the Home Attractive.

In the sales which take place in the larger shops after the Christmas season is over there are excellent opportunities for buying lengths of material for covering furniture, sofa cushions, etc., at astonishingly small prices, but in this hurried bargain sale buying there is always the danger of a mistaken selection.

As a rule the large patterned flowered materials are to be avoided, especially in the inexpensive fabrics, although for a bedroom or an apartment of like character the flowered chintzes and such stuffs are charming, in the French and English designs. But for the living room, or the downstairs rooms, it is much safer to choose soft colorings without too much "pattern" for one's draperies, chair and lounge covering and so on. The wall paper on the room to be furnished should be taken into account, and also the rug or carpet used.

It really costs no more to achieve an artistic room than to furnish a cheap-looking, inartistic one if a few rules which are easily followed are adhered to.

Have rugs, whenever possible, in place of the carpet-covered floor, and if a carpet is used, have it made as a large rug, and as much of the rug effect as possible.

For the spaces about the edge of the rooms the wood flooring can be stained and varnished with excellent effect, although in building or refitting a room it is always advisable to have a hard-wood flooring put down; it costs only a few cents more, but it is a saving in the long run. Another rule is: Do not choose a wall covering with a set pattern at spaced intervals, the effect is apt to be "spotty" at a little distance, and consider the light and location of a room in selecting the color for your wall paper. Green is either in the plain cartridge paper or in the soft-toned leaf and fern-covered patterns. In two or three different tones of the same color, are very good as a rule, and soft reds are excellent for a room that does not get a great deal of sunlight. Blue rooms are more difficult, and, though in some instances, some charming rooms done in the blue tones are seen, the blue-tinted wall covering is best in a bedroom, where the wood-work is all in white enamel and where there is a great deal of light.

It is an excellent plan in selecting wall papers to pin up the samples of the places under consideration on the wall to be covered and study them for a day or two before deciding.

Cured her Father's Drunkenness by a Simple Remedy.

Save her father from a drunkard's grave. Free sample of Samaria Tasteless Prescription checks his drinking and leads to a complete cure.

"It seemed hopeless to keep father from drinking, and we all felt the disgrace. When things were at their worst, a friend advised me to try Samaria. I saw that you offered a free sample treatment, and that the remedy was tasteless and could be given secretly. I determined to try it, and have been glad every day since. The full treatment which I gave him in his tea, cured him, and I am pleased to say he never touches whiskey now. How glad I am that I wrote you and how happy we all are together. Father says that he could never have stopped drinking of his own accord."

Weak Kidneys P. E. ISLAND LOCAL MARKETS

It is of but little use to try to doctor the kidneys themselves. Such treatment is wrong. The kidneys are not usually to blame for their weaknesses or irregularities. They have no power—no self-control. They are operated and actuated by a tiny shred of matter which is largely responsible for their condition. If the kidney nerve is strong and healthy the kidneys are strong and healthy. If the kidney nerve goes wrong you know it by the inevitable result—kidney trouble.

This tender nerve is only one of a great system of nerves which is largely responsible for the health of the body, not only the kidneys, but the heart and the liver, and the stomach. For simplicity's sake Dr. Shoop has called this great nerve system the "Inside Nerves." They are not the nerves of feeling—not the nerves that enable you to walk, to talk, to see, to think. They are the master nerves and every vital organ is their slave. The common name for these nerves is the "sympathetic nerves"—because each set is in such close sympathy with the others, that weakness anywhere results in weakness everywhere.

The one remedy which aims to treat, not the kidneys themselves, but the nerves which are to blame, is known by physicians and druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative (Tablets or Liquid). It is strictly a cause remedy. While it usually brings speedy relief, its effects are also lasting.

If you would like to read an interesting book on inside nerve diseases, write Dr. Shoop. With the book he will also send the "Health Token"—an intended passport to good health. Both the book and the "Health Token" are free.
