factor which enters war service as well as the material side and pointed out the need of getting the younger people interested in this work.

She urged the various sub-divisions to see that reports of the work done be sent in thereby enabling the National effort to be made known. Last year only about 50 per cent of the amount of work done was credited to the League because the sub-division fell down on the job of reporting it.

Speaking of the league war effort, the National Convenor told the Island delegates that across Canada members had sold the creditable amount of $43,258. worth of War Savings Certificates. Added to this they had donated $10,780. to the Canadian Red Cross Society and had greatly aided the K. of C. Army Huts by supplying them with countless magazines and other reading material.

Strongly urging the women to prove openly what they mean by service to their country, Miss Haley said, "Give to the utmost of your mind, heart and soul." The war is to be won by ideals as well as materially.

Pointing to the bravery which is being displayed by the women of Great Britain in the face of heavy onslaughts by a ruthless enemy, she urged the women present to emulate this spirit and not to grumble when they are only giving their service and money.

Msgr. J. A. Murphy

Msgr. Murphy, addressing the delegates, told of the work being accomplished by Maritime summer schools. He stressed the need for education as a means of saving democracy. He advised the women to take an interest in the study of economical and social conditions. The women should form study clubs.

Not only must there be a democratic form of government but it must also be a Christian form of government. He pointed out the need of co-operation in the establishment of a new and better order after the war.

The Chairman, Mrs. P. A. MacDonald, Hostess President Souris Sub-Division, extended greetings to the visitors and they were welcomed by Rev. D. P. Croken, D.D., Diocesan Chaplain. Civic greetings were extended by Coun. A. T. MacDonald and Fraternal Greetings by Dr. A. A. MacDonald, Grand Knight of Souris Council, Knights of Columbus.

Miss Haley and Mrs. MacInnis were each presented with a bouquet of flowers by the Souris Sub-Division. The presentations were made by the Misses MacDonald.

Rev. Terrence Campbell St. Andrews and Mrs. W. J. MacIntyre, Charlottetown, Past National President, also spoke to the delegates. The diocesan report of the C.W.L. was submitted by Mrs. A. J. Howatt, Charlottetown.

Interpreting The War

Japanese war which pledged Russia free access from the Pacific to Vladivostok through the Japanese islands encircling the north Pacific port.

The non-aggression treaty which Tokyo signed with Moscow, apparently in ignorance of Hitler's intention to invade Russia, would then be scrapped.

Intereference would represent, obviously, a direct challenge to the coalition of powers aligned against Japan, inviting a tragic, unwanted war with Britain and the United States, as well as with Russia.

Under pressure from the Axis and Japanese extremists, Prince Konoye's government has been careful to keep open a way out of the dilemma. It has carefully refrained from filing a formal protest to the United States which could hardly be abandoned without loss of "face" at home and abroad. The objections to supplying Russia by way of the Pacific have been confined thus far to mere representations and the diplomatic conversations which State Secretary Hull described as exploratory.

Straws in the wind continue to blow meanwhile to encourage the hope that Japanese sentiment may be veering away from the belief that Nippon's destiny is bound up with an Axis triumph.

In Peiping the controlled press has just done an about-face in attitude by chorusing that Axis prospects of final victory were fading. In Tokyo the same view was presented repeatedly.

RED RESISTANCE

Other dispatches drew attention to the southeast, where the Russians still are opposing German efforts to cross the Dnieper River.

The Black Sea port of Odessa, west of the river, was described by the Germans as without a normal water supply as a result of Rumanian air force operations, and the population of 500,000 was said to be suffering from hunger as German and Rumanian forces prosecuted the siege.

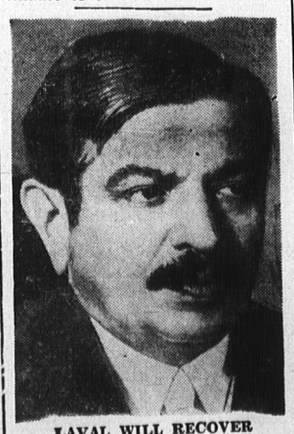
The German air force claimed to have been particularly active between the lower Dnieper and the Crimean peninsula, where German press dispatches claimed attacks were concentrated on every effort the Russians were making to strengthen the Dnieper river defences.

Another region of the concentrated air activity was Bryansk, in the central zone about 220 miles southwest of Moscow Marching Russian columns were machine-gunned there, the Nazis claimed while bombers blew up a munitions dump and hit numerous tanks.

In the far northern sector, Soviet anti-aircraft, artillery positions and encampments on the Rybachi peninsula were bombed "with good success," the German news and propaganda agency claimed.

In response to a question as to how German-occupied areas of Russia are being provisioned, authorized German sources said today: "Under no circumstances has Germany under international law any obligations to feed the population."

It is up to Britain and "a power having a great influence upon Britain" to permit grain ships for occupied areas to reach a Black Sea port, these sources declared, limiting German responsibility to maintenance of order.



LAVAL WILL RECOVER

Pro-Nazi Pierre Laval, former premier of France and one of the leaders of collaboration between France and Germany, was shot and seriously wounded when he attended a ceremony opening recruiting for war against Russia at Versailles. Laval will recover, according to physicians, but may carry one of assailants' bullets for the rest of his life.

Local teachers Convention at Summerside

Miss Estelle Bowness Elected President.

The Summerside fall convention of teachers of Prince County was held yesterday in the High School auditorium with a record attendance of 100 teachers. It was the largest attendance of any convention this year on the Island.

Miss Estelle Bowness, on the teaching staff of Summerside High School was elected president for the coming year. Other officers include: Vice president, Wendell Mayne, Freetown; Secretary, Alma Campbell, Margate.

The convention was very capably presided over by Mr. Heath MacQuarrie, Victoria, who was called to act as president owing to the absence of the executive. Mrs. Harold McIvor, Kensington was appointed secretary of the meeting. Committees appointed were: Nominating, Gwen MacLean, Mamie Mill, Davis Lidstone; Resolutions: Theo Ling, Muriel England, Wendell Mayne; Question Box: Mamie Conrad, Dolly Matthew; Press: Dorothy MacFarlane, Elizabeth MacKay.

The meetings were very interesting and many instructive discussions took place. Mr. Malcolm MacKenzie, supervisor gave a short address in which he explained the course of studies and pointed out some weaknesses as well as some good points he had observed in the classrooms.

Miss Jacqueline Macdonald, secretary treasurer of the P. E. I. T. F., gave a short talk and urged all members to join the Federation.

Miss Verna Darrach, director of Junior Red Cross work reviewed the work accomplished by the pupils. She congratulated them on their splendid contribution to the war effort, the juniors had contributed $2,375.00 during the year, an increase of eight hundred dollars over last year. This included the crippled children fund and war fund. The juniors of P. E. I. have sent a mobile kitchen to England. Miss Darrach demonstrated a parcel for prisoners of war. She urged the pupils to make more afghans and quilts.

The senior department of Victoria School, Mr. Heath MacQuarrie teacher, won the banner awarded by the Red Cross each year. An interesting discussion took place on some of the chief aims in teaching, points brought out were to teach pupils self expression, to become good citizens, to prepare them for complete living.

Another discussion was that of the larger unit of administration. It was explained that this idea is to have a group of schools with a central school board which would select the teachers for their area, placing the more experienced teachers in difficult schools and the younger teachers in easier or smaller schools. The idea was favorably received by the convention

Miss Olive Thompson, Kensington, gave an interesting paper on work in grade one.

The question box in charge of Miss Matthews brought out some interesting problems. These were capably dealt with by the supervisor, with the help of teachers present.

A pleasing feature of the convention was a sing song, with Miss Catherine MacCallum at the piano.

A resolution asking that the Board of Education pay those teachers under eighteen years who have been allowed to take schools brought out some interesting comments. It was felt by many that if any teacher was considered old enough to teach they should be considered old enough to receive their proper pay. The chairman gave an instance where he knew that owing to the shortage of teachers a man of 75 was teaching and receiving his pay, but a brilliant pupil who was a few months short of eighteen was allowed to teach but are not paid by the Department.

Resolutions

1. Be it resolved that all teachers attending this convention pledge their loyalty to their King and country.

2. Whereas a larger number of ratepayers are uninformed concerning the larger school unit be it resolved that the Island teachers Federations use some media for enlightening the people on this subject.

3. Whereas it has come to our notice that certain teachers under eighteen years of age have been given permission by the department to sign teaching contracts and whereas the teachers do not receive payment from the department this convention resolves that the teachers be paid by the department or else not be permitted to teach.

4. Be it resolved that teachers be paid according to their class of license regardless of the number of pupils enrolled in the school.

5. Resolved that married teachers whose licenses have expired because of inactivity from teaching be paid according to their original class of license.

6. It is hereby resolved that this convention extends its thanks to the Summerside High School Board for the use of its auditorium and that it also extends its thanks to all others who have helped in making this meeting a success.

Signed—Theo. Ling, Muriel England, Wendell Mayne.—S.

Duke of Kent Leaves Prov.

H. R. H. the Duke of Kent took off from the Charlottetown Airport at 10.15 yesterday morning for Dartmouth, N. S., after an overnight stay in the province. He arrived in the province about 4 p. m. on Tuesday and after inspecting No. 9 Service Flying Training School at Summerside Airport came to Charlottetown by motor and inspected No. 31 General Reconnaisance School, R. A. F., at the Charlottetown Airport.

After visiting the Confederation Chamber and attending a banquet at the Hotel Charlottetown he spent the night at historic old Government House the guest of His Honour Lieutenant Governor B. W. LePage.

Yesterday morning the Governor was host at breakfast for the Duke at which Premier Campbell, Mayor B. R. Holman, Group Captain E. A. Blake, R. A. F., Rev. Dr. J. S. Bonnell, members of the Duke's party and several others were present as invited guests. Fresh Island trout were on the menu.

Fine weather in contrast to the rain of the previous night, greeted His Royal Highness as he left Government House at 9.15 a. m. and accompanied by Lieutenant Governor LePage drove in an open car around Victoria Park, then via Euston Street and Longworth Avenue to the Experimental Farm where he planted a maple tree on the lawn. From there he went directly to the Charlottetown Airport where his plane awaited him. Provincial, civic, naval, army and air officials were present to bid him farewell. A large number of citizens watched as the three planes took off from the airport.

On his drive through the city and towards the airport yesterday morning the Duke made many inquiries about the province. He told Governor LePage that he thought the Island was lovely. He was heartily cheered by citizens as he passed through the streets.

MORE MEN OF

tish warships. Depth charges were dropped once but there was no evidence of submarines in the vicinity. The voyage was a foggy one.

The contingent included the west coast infantry battalion, a Western Canada regiment, a Quebec reconnaissance regiment, an engineers detachment, anti-aircraft units, an ambulance unit recruited mostly from Ontario and a mobile laundry detachment composed of French Canadians and Western Canadians who gave up all sorts of civilian jobs to keep army linen clean.

When the men arrived in camp they started right in to settle down. Trucks loaded with duffle bags and equipment trundled through the camp with groups of soldiers waiting to collect their belongings. The men soon were at home and it was not long until lines of laundry were hanging from the verandahs of the barracks, a thoroughly domestic scene.

Sgt. J. A. Croft, Vancouver, who was supervising the unloading of equipment said he thought the men were going to like Britain.

"It looks like a swell country so far and I haven't heard any squawks," he added.

Breakfast of cereal, baked ham, toast, jam and coffee was a good start for the day and the men were satisfied with the lunch as well—cold roast beef, potatoes, carrots, rice and tea.

Looking slightly weird were the members of one platoon who all had their heads shaved.

"We heard most of the Jerries cropped their hair so thought maybe we would get a chance to fool them someday if we did the same thing," laughed Pte. L. C. Buchanan of Vancouver.

A big crowd gathered around the telegraph office sending cables to the folks at home.

"They may read about our arrival in the paper first but I still would like them to get word direct," said Cpl. C. S. Wright, an Anglican clergyman who hopes to get a chaplain's commission. Born near Hamilton, Ont., Wright had a parish in the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia before joining the army.

With their Bren guns ready to repel air attacks, a group of 2nd. Division carriers of the Canadian Army Overseas mount a slope in a recent demonstration "somewhere in England."

AL CAPONE SUED

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—(AP)—The government sued Al Capone and 14 other men today for $119,367 in taxes on beer the Capone syndicate brewed and lost to federal agents during the prohibition era. The civil action demanded payment of that amount plus interest, penalties and court costs, to meet unpaid levies on 19,834 barrels of the bottled product manufactured and sold between Jan. 1 1921, and May 1, 1932.
