GERMAN CRUISER NURNBERG SUNK

The Fourth Cruiser of German Squadron Succumbs to British Guns and the Fifth, the Dresden, Said to be Cornered. Admiral Von Spee Went Down With Ship.

(Special to the Guardian.)
BUENOS AYRES, Dec. 10.—The British fleet of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee is reported to have completed its victory over German cruisers Neurnberg and Dresden. The report of the overtaking and destruction of the two remaining vessels of the German fleet was received here today by wireless from Fort Stanley. All attempts to get further details of the engagement Tuesday morning through Montevideo wireless station failed. According to information received here six British cruisers engaged with the Germans, but nothing is known as to make-up of British squadron, except what was accompanied by one transport.

The battle, which resulted in sinking the German cruisers Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Leipzig, started in Argentine waters, but developed into a running fight, which was carried into the high seas and ended. The British vessels are reported to have gone down off the Falkland Islands. The German Admiral Von Spee went down with his flagship, Scharnhorst.

The British losses, according to wireless report, amounted to less than one hundred killed and wounded. The German vessels are but slightly damaged. It was a miscalculation of the Germans as to the route the British would take, coupled with the rare

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM ROULERS AND ARMENTIERS

(Special to the Guardian.)
AMSTERDAM, Dec. 10.—The Allies have entered Roulers, in West Flanders, 12 miles north-east of Ypres, according to the Stutis correspondent at Haudelebald. A despatch to London from the Belgian frontier on Wednesday said German divisional headquarters had been removed from Roulers when the shells began to fall in the town after the British had captured Paschendale, a short distance to the west.

Reuter's Boulogne correspondent, who has just returned to Boulogne from Armentiers, says the Germans on Tuesday were driven out of Armentiers by the British and hurled back beyond artillery range. Armentiers is nine miles north-west of Lille.

SUMMARY OF THE SITUATION

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Dec. 10.—While the defeat of the German squadron in the South Atlantic has evinced the liveliest satisfaction throughout Great Britain there has been no celebration such as marked the victories of the South African war. The British people are too much wrapped up in the operations of the Allied armies on the continent. Lack of news from Poland causes some uneasiness regarding the result of the prolonged battle between the Russians and Germans but reports from France are considered most favorable to the Allies.

Daily communication from Paris shows that the French are making slow progress at many points during the past fortnight and the review sent by a French eye-witness from Nov. 12 to Dec. 5 claims that the ascendancy of the French infantry artillery over the Germans has been established and while the infantry has advanced the artillery has mastered the German batteries.

GERMAN SUBMARIENS REPORTED SUNK

(Special to the Guardian.)
LONDON, Dec. 10.—It is unofficially reported half-dozen German submarines attempted to enter Admiralty harbour at Dover, but were detected and fired on by the forts and three sunk. The others made off before doing much damage.

The ships are notably the British battle cruisers Lion and Indefatigable. The Lion was built in 1910, has 26,350 tons displacement, is 680 feet long and 86 feet beam. She draws 30 feet and carries eight 13-inch guns, sixteen 4-inch guns and three 21-inch torpedo tubes and has a complement of 1000 men. She has a speed of 23 knots.

The Indefatigable is 576 feet long, 79½ feet beam and draws 27 feet, and has a speed of 26 knots. She carries eight 12-inch guns, sixteen 4-inch, three torpedo tubes and has a complement of 800 officers and men.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FOX BREEDERS

Large and Representative Meeting of Foxmen lay Plans for a Greater Business Than Ever Arranging for Incorporation and a Publicity Campaign. New Officers Elected

The annual meeting of the P.E. Island Fox Breeders' Association was held in St Paul's Hall yesterday, the first session opening at 10.30 a.m., and the afternoon session at 1.30.

There was a very large representation of fox men from all parts of the province, and the meeting was characterized by harmony, earnestness and optimism.

The President, Mr Fred L. Rogers, briefly outlined the main purpose for which the meeting had been called—namely, to unify and solidify the Association and to make arrangements for incorporation on a basis that would ensure the best results for the industry. Conferences, he said, had been held with the Premier, who expressed the fullest sympathy with the work of the Association and the willingness of the Government to do all in its power to assist the industry.

Mr John Anderson by invitation explained the manner in which the P.E. Island Dairymen's Association had been formed and the steps taken to ensure the co-operation of all dairymen in the province. He suggested that the fox breeders adopt a similar course—namely, to call conventions in each of the counties and have each convention appoint competent delegates in whom they could place implicit confidence, to attend a Central Convention at which, after mature deliberation, a working basis could be agreed upon.

Major A. A. Bartlett concurred in the suggestion. He referred to the benefits secured by the apple growers of Nova Scotia and the orange growers of California by their co-operative system and believed that similar good results would accrue to the fox breeders.

Dr Johnston, of Tignish, followed in the same strain. He had for a long time been trying to solve the problems confronting the fox industry, the registration, classification and sale of foxes, the protection of the investors and the general safeguarding of the industry, and he believed that he had almost despaired of ever reaching a satisfactory conclusion. The method proposed was, he believed, the only solution, and he would heartily support it.

Hon. A. E. Arsenault, on being called, stated that several conferences had been discussed with the Premier. The Premier had suggested such a conference as had been referred to, of representative men from each county. The Government would place the Assembly Room at their disposal and would render them every assistance possible.

Mr W. H. Frowse, Murray Harbour, said the proposition appealed to him. He believed it would solve the problem. If all moved unitedly a plan would be evolved which would place the industry on a firm footing. The province had the best business in the world and it should take all possible precautions for its conservation.

Mr J. W. Calbeck approved of the proposition. The business must be placed, he said, on a basis that would appeal to the general public, and he believed the plan proposed would meet the case.

Mr W. E. Cameron proposed the following resolution, which was seconded by Dr Johnston: "Resolved that the President of the Association call, as soon as possible after due notice, meetings of the fox breeders of the three counties, one at Summerside, one at Charlottetown and one at Georgetown, to appoint five delegates for each county, with three alternates, with full power to represent them at a Convention to be held in Charlottetown to draw up legislation to promote and safeguard the interests of the fox industry of P. E. Island."

Mr J. C. McKendrick, in supporting the resolution, suggested that a system of insurance should be adopted on similar lines to those of the Agricultural Fire Insurance Company.

Mr J. E. B. McCready, on being invited to address the meeting, referred to the necessity of a publicity campaign. He had received reports from different parts of the United States giving the most absurd and ridiculous versions of the fox industry. It was necessary that these reports be flatly contradicted and the facts of the business placed authoritatively and officially before people abroad. He expressed the fullest confidence in the future of the industry, and believed the plan proposed by the resolution just adopted would, if carried out, prove a great boon to the fox business.

The President appointed the following nominating committee to select names for officers for the ensuing year. He explained to the Committee that the Secretary, Mr D. K. Currie, had resigned his position, as he was unable on account of his duties to give the office the time and attention it needed.

While the committee was deliberating, Mr J. F. Whear submitted the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr James C. McKendrick: "Resolved that the Executive Committee take immediate steps to place before the public abroad, and correct false impressions regarding the existing conditions of the fox industry here;

THE EDISON FIRE

WEST ORANGE, N.J., Dec. 10.—In the fire at the Edison Plant 11 of the 18 buildings were destroyed. The loss is estimated between five and seven millions, with about two million insurance.

WEST ORANGE, Dec. 10.—At least one life was lost in the fire. The charred body was found. Two other workmen are missing.

DOROTHY ARNOLD CASE REVIVED

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 10.—The name "Dorothy Arnold," written on the flyleaf of a Bible in possession of a young woman arrested here last night, caused the police today to investigate whether the Bible had any connection with Dorothy Arnold, the long missing New York girl. A slip of paper had been pasted over the name.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—John S. Keith, counsellor of F. Arnold, father of the missing Dorothy, said today he placed no confidence whatever in the San Antonio clue.

"It is possible that the handwriting in the Bible is that of Miss Arnold if so, I can identify it in a minute. Even if it were it would not tend to prove very much."

SOLDIER SHOOT WIFE IN DREAM

CAMDEN, N.J., Dec. 10.—Dreaming that he was again in the army and in action, John Hoffman, formerly a soldier, jumped out of bed, seized a rifle and fired at the "enemy." The charge lodged in his wife's foot. The woman crawled toward her husband who was still asleep, and wrenched the rifle from his grasp. Then she shook him until he awoke.

When his wife informed him that he had shot her, Hoffman refused to believe her until he saw the wound. Then he ran from the house and summoned an ambulance.

WHAT A BELGIAN SAW IN MOTION PICTURE.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 10.—At a local motion picture theatre last night Joseph N. Nolt, Belgian, who had to the active service battalion in training here, recognised in a film depicting the German devastation of Belgium, his mother, little brother and sisters, with all their belongings huddled in a little cart and fleeing before the Germans in the vicinity of Ypres, his old home.

The man broke down completely, and sobbed like a baby. The sight but served to intensify his eagerness to get at the enemy, however, and today he got transferred to the machine gun section of the battalion, that he might stand a better chance of working great havoc among the Germans when he reached the firing line.

THE JAPANESE WILL NOT RETURN KIAO CHOW TO CHINA.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The statement by Baron Kato, the Japanese Foreign Minister, in the diet yesterday that Japan had made no promise to any country to return Kiao Chow to China, attracts much interest in official circles here, and has caused a general review of the various utterances of a more or less official character on the subject since Japan entered the war.

Secretary Bryan would not comment on it to-day, and referred inquiries to statements already made.

When Japan delivered her ultimatum to Germany, demanding evacuation of Kiao Chow, the statement was published that the territory would be returned to China. That it was later pointed out, was on the supposition that Germany would comply with the terms of the ultimatum and turn over the territory. However, as Japan was put to a general military campaign to get possession of Kiao Chow, one contention now in the Japanese mind is that the original pledge was not binding.

PREMIER SCOTT'S REPLY TO "BANISH THE BAR" APPEAL.

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 10.—Premier Scott, in replying to the request of a deputation from the "Banish the Bar" supporters in Saskatchewan, that all the bars of Saskatchewan should be closed for the period of the war in Europe, pointed out that the enforcement of a measure of that kind at the present moment would throw a number of people out of work at a most critical time and would intensify, rather than relieve the economic situation.

A NEW SYSTEM OF BELGIAN RELIEF

LONDON, Dec. 10.—An international system for feeding the Belgians has been formed in Belgium under the leadership of Herr Holvay and Ernest Solvay, says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Times. The committee is supplied with capital by the Belgian, French and British governments. Food to the value of 30,000,000 francs ($6,000,000) monthly will be distributed under American and Spanish control.

NEW YORK ELEVATED TRAINS IN COLLISION.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Two persons were killed and more than a score injured in a collision between crowded elevated railroad trains on upper Eighth avenue to-night. Fire followed and four cars were burned. Most of the passengers escaped over the ties along this, the highest part of the "L" structure, nearly 100 feet above the street.

KINGS MEET ON ROADSIDE.

LONDON, December 9.—The Daily Mail correspondent sends the following dispatch from Duinrik, the date being omitted: "There was a historic incident on the roadside in Flanders today, when King George met King Albert. The King of the Belgians as the host was first at the rendezvous. He was dressed in his usual quiet uniform of dark blue.

"As he alighted from his motor and walked toward some old cottages here he waited, and exchanged kindly words with some Belgian soldiers, who came out of a neighboring inn to touch their hats to their monarch.

"Noon struck from an old clock-tower near at hand, and a moment later a motor cyclist flying the Union Jack was buzzing along the road toward them. Behind were three black limousine cars, all flying Union Jacks, and behind them was a second motor cyclist.

"The cars and cyclists stopped and from the first motor came King George and the Prince of Wales with him. He wore a khaki uniform, with a scarlet band round his hat. He looked fit and well.

"The two Kings moved forward with outstretched hands to greet each other there in the muddy road with none but a few officers, a few soldiers and simple villagers looking on.

"Upon a canal barge on the water alongside the road, a woman was hanging out her washing on the main mast and boom. All she saw was two men shaking hands but there was quiet earnestness about that greeting. The handshake was long and firm and the accompanying smiles like those of men, who meet on serious occasions.

"Their first talk was not long. After returning the salute of a soldier who had come up close to look on, they entered King Albert's motor car and passed on over the frontier into the little remnant of Belgium that still remains out of the enemy's clutches.

"The two Kings stayed a short time to review the troops, Belgian and others, drawn up in the village square, and then the monarchs drove on together to here. They dined and talked in friendly intimacy of the strange happenings that had befallen the kingdoms of both and of the great fights that have been fought."

IN DARKEST BELGIUM.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 9.—The situation in Belgium is becoming worse. There is a general scarcity of food and coal, and the condition of affairs in the Louvain, Turnhout and Liege districts is particularly bad. The German authorities in many towns and villages, including Antwerp, have prohibited the inhabitants from leaving, and the German rule is very severe. In some villages the Germans have taken away many young Belgians as they fear the young patriots will escape and join the Belgian army. North of Turnhout, four German soldiers have deserted.

At Antwerp the German Governor has issued a proclamation in which he bans all photographs illustrating the spoliation of places, and prohibits the distribution of postcards and illustrated periodicals containing such pictures, under a penalty of five thousand marks or imprisonment not exceeding one year.

GERMAN OFFICIAL

(Special to the Guardian.)
BERLIN, Dec. 10.—An official communication issued by the Admiralty today reproduces the statement of the British Admiralty regarding the wiping out of the squadron off Falkland Islands and adds: "Our losses seem to have been great. Concerning the strength of the enemy, whose losses are reported small, English despatches say nothing."

WANTS CANADA TO REMOVE BAN.

LONDON, December 10.—The Morning Post's Sydney correspondent says Colonial Secretary Harcourt has sent various Australian governments a communication relating to the entrance of Indians in the British Dominions. The support offered by Princes and peoples of the Indian Empire, shows the strong war feeling in India and indicates that the embargo against immigration of Indian natives to Canada and Australia should be removed.

Among the papers forwarded is a statement by Lord Hardinge in opening the legislative council in September wherein it is stated that if it is decided to negotiate with Colonial governments they, with strong imperial instincts will meet us in no ingardly spirit, providing we on our side show readiness to meet them halfway.

TRENTINI GETS "LOCKJAW IN LEG."

PITTSBURG, Dec. 10.—Before leaving Detroit for Pittsburgh Emma Trentini, the prima donna, insisted that she be vaccinated and a physician did the job.

As the train on which she was riding neared Pittsburgh, Trentini gasped, fell back in her seat and yelled, "Oh, I have—I have—you what you call it?—lockjaw in the leg."

In the midst of much excitement a taxicab was called when the train reached here and she was hurried to Mercy Hospital, where, after a diagnosis, a smiling surgeon announced curtly, "No danger." Her leg was only "stuck."

"But," he added, questioning Manager Blumenthal of Trentini's company, "the vaccination doesn't seem to have taken."

TELEGRAPH POLE AS CHRISTMAS TREE.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Dec. 10.—Twin Falls is to have its second municipal Christmas tree this year.

The first was eleven years ago, when on the first Christmas on the tract, then nothing but a sagebrush plain, the residents secured the large tree, which they could find, about six feet high, and placed it in the biggest building they had, a kind of shed.

Being far from any mountains where real Christmas trees can be found, Twin Falls will have a made-to-order tree. The top will be a real tree perched on a telegraph pole. Smaller trees shipped in, will be stripped and the firemen will make a tree from these boughs, using the telegraph pole as a foundation.

A WOUNDED HIGHLANDER OFFICER ARRIVES IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Major Arthur A. Duff, of the Gordon Highlanders, who was wounded on August 26, at the battle of Cambrai, arrived here today on the steamer Orduna, on his way to Ottawa, where he is to become an aid to the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada.

Major Duff said that after he was wounded he was taken to the hospital at Cambrai, and on September 27, at the approach of the German troops, he escaped through a window, clad only in his hospital garb. Securing clothes from a French peasant, he wandered for over a week through France and Belgium, and part of the time he was delirious from the effects of his wound. Finally he made his way into Holland, and from there he was sent to England.

KENSINGTON NOW AN INCORPORATED TOWN

An Order-in-Council has been passed bringing into force and operation "The Kensington Incorporation Act, 1914," to take effect on the 9th Dec. inst. A Proclamation under the Great Seal of the Province has been issued and will appear in next Saturday's Gazette.

DISCOVERS STEEL THAT WILL END WAR.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—War may be ended, skyscrapers may pierce the clouds to heights never before attempted, and all manner of structures may be undertaken on a grander scale than ever before, by means of a new steel of tensile strength many times greater than that of the present product, it was said here today.

Prof. A. A. Michelson, winner in 1912 of the Nobel prize for physical research yesterday, exhibited before the National Academy of Sciences, in session here, a bar of the new steel, and subjected it to tension tests, which he said, proved that continuation of the treatment might produce a metal of unlimited cohesion.

Fortifications built of that metal, he said, might be made indestructible, so that it would be useless to bombard them, thus achieving a long step toward the elimination of warfare.

Peaceful projects might be carried far beyond the scope within which they are held now by the limit of the resistance of the steel.
