

Was So Nervous The Least Noise Made Her Jump

Mrs. W. H. Yates, Ashera, Man., writes: "I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves, and the least noise would make me jump and almost stop my heart beating."

When I had taken the one box I felt quite a lot better and by the time I had taken three boxes I got cured."

CHAPTER LI Homecoming

Slowly the liner steamed up the Hudson.

Lights were flaming in the tall buildings. As she stared at them she thought of a word to describe the sky. Sapphires, that was it.

And so beautiful with the buildings etched against it.

They were to dock in Hoboken, and slowly the little tug maneuvered the huge liner. They would near the ship and then move out again.

Sally began to get a little excited.

Myra turned to her suddenly. "Isn't it thrilling?"

Sally nodded, and found herself swallowing. Then they were moving slowly, majestically into the wharf, they were sliding against it. Faces began to loom up from below.

She found herself straining her eyes into space. The people on the wharf seemed so small—and then suddenly she saw them. Tom, his face young, eager, alive, as she had seen it on that day long ago—and small Marjorie, perched upon his shoulder.

Dimly she was aware of the fact that Myra was saying things to her. Dimly she saw Bill, his face an open book for any one to read. But she was looking at Tom and Marjorie, Marjorie and Tom!

She saw their lips together in his face. Their struggles to keep his beautiful in spite of limited means, the coming of Marjorie. Their small unpretentious house in Center Valley—everything!

"Tom!" Her lips framed the word, but she did not speak it aloud. It was really a cry from her heart.

And then he saw her. Slim, aristocratic, lovely, and with something in her face that he had never seen there before. Had she grown away from him? Was she different? He had known when she had left him that he had taken this chance. He had realized only too well, what she was and what other men would think of her.

Then he saw the tears streaming down her face. She was waving to him. Sally? Fancy having her back.

She turned to Myra, grasping feverishly at her arm. "Oh, Myra."

"Yes, lamb."

"We're home."

"Yes, isn't it grand and gorgeous? Bill looks well, too."

"And Tom looks well—and Marjorie."

She couldn't complain of not having any feeling now. The blood was rushing through her veins in a flaming torrent.

At the gang-plank she waited impatiently while it was adjusted. She wanted to be off the ship. She wanted to be back with Tom in Center Valley. She wanted to hold small Marjorie in her arms. Myra went first.

She saw Myra's arms go up around Bill's neck, and even in that moment before her own reunion she couldn't help wondering. When had she seen Myra fling her self at Bill in such a demonstrative fashion? And Bill's face! It wore an awed expression.

Then she was stumbling down over the uneven gang-plank. Tom's arms were closing around her.

"Sweetheart, sweetheart, you have come back to me!"

And she was clinging to him. Here were safety, security, everything in the world that she wanted.

She gathered Marjorie up. Marjorie with her baby eyes wide with unaccustomed excitement. Marjorie, who couldn't quite understand what it all meant.

Suppose—just suppose she had come back to Tom with the plea that he would divorce her! Life wasn't romance after all. It was reality. But suppose she hadn't discovered it in time!

Topic for the week

Tuesday

"At heart the struggle is spiritual."

SCRIPTURE: Read—Luke 14: 25-35.

For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; that ye may not do the things that ye would" (Gal. 5:17).

"Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good" (Rom. 12: 21).

"For the mind of the flesh is death; but the mind of the Spirit is life and peace" (Rom. 8:6).

"Strive to enter in by the narrow door" (Lk. 13:24).

See—Luke 9:57-62; Romans 3:10, 23.

MEDITATION: It is not a question of how great the opposition is, but of how strong the spirit within me is. Given vigor or spirit, the greater the struggle the larger the life. When goodness overcomes evil, grave grows within. The season that brings us to the study of Christ's temptation and ours reveals to us the reality of spiritual experience. Intelligence, backed by spiritual earnestness, would solve the problems of the race—industrial problems, war problems, personal problems.

"There is nothing but inward rest that can stand the outward fight."

HYMN: Immortal Love, forever full, Forever flowing free, Forever shared, forever whole, A never ebbing sea!

We may not climb the heavenly steeps To bring the Lord Christ down; In vain we search the lowest deeps For him no depths can drown.

But warm, sweet, tender, even yet, A present help is He; And faith has still its Olivet, And love its Galilee.

—John G. Whittier, 1866.

PRAYER: Thanks for battles to fight. Pray for—faithfulness; spiritual courage.

Collect—Lord of all truth, whose mind is quick and powerful, we praise Thee for the Universe, so vast, so orderly, so dependable. We bless Thee for the persons of men and the powers of friendship in them and us, but yet more, for friendship with Thyself, for fellowship with Thy Son, and for Thy pervading presence with us in the Holy Spirit. Precious are the moments of intimate intercourse with Thee. Reprove us, we entreat Thee for the pursuit of things to be forgetting of friendships human and divine, give us the discriminating mind which detects the subtiles of sin and the beauty of holiness. So shall we know victory in the conflict. Therefore, we commend with Thee to our first things first by the Grace of Christ. Amen.

20 Years of Catarrh Ended In One Week

Here is the Proof!

Many a Catarrh sufferer wants to get well quickly. J. D. Davison of Bridgetown can tell how it can be done. "For twenty years I suffered with Nasal Catarrh. My nose was always stuffed up, and I was sneezing, coughing and spitting half the time. At Collins Drug Store they showed me a Catarrhzone Inhaler. It proved a life-saver to me. Catarrhzone destroyed all the terms of Catarrh, cleared out my throat and nose, and now I am perfectly well. I urge every one with a cough, cold, sore throat or Catarrh to use CATARRHZONE."
