IT RAINS to-day in this Province.

RETREAT—The annual retreat for the students of St. Dunstan's University is now being held.

MAY NUMBER of Woman's Home Companion may now be had at the News and Variety Store, 70 Great George Street. 4702-423M21.

THE WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION for May is now for sale at the News and Variety Store, 70 Great George Street. 4702-4M21.

A SLIGHT MISHAP—The train from Murray Harbor was delayed for a short time yesterday by an accident which fortunately did not prove serious. The forward wheels of one of the trucks left the track when approaching the South end of the Hillsborough Bridge, but were replaced in about twenty minutes without much difficulty.

RELIEF FOR BEREAVED—The amount of $41,800 was voted by the House of Commons last week to pay allowances to the widows, fathers and mothers or dependents of the crew of the government steamer Simcoe, who lost their lives when that vessel foundered in the Gulf of St. Lawrence last December. Capt. Dalton and sixteen of the officers and crew were taken to St. John and vicinity. Capt. Will Semple, of P. E. Island, it will be remembered was among those who lost their life on this ship.

VISITOR FROM NEW ZEALAND—A fond and friendly greeting was given at the home of Mrs. and Mr. John Yeo, Fitzroy St., City on Friday 19th inst., to Miss Martha McKinnon, daughter of Mr. Charles McKinnon, son of the late Mr. Cowan McKinnon of Argyle. Her father, Mr. Charles McKinnon, brother of Mr. Angus C. McKinnon of this City, left the province some fifty five years ago in a ship built by the family at Argyle. He afterwards settled in New Zealand where he became interested in gold mines and became a wealthy man. He married an English lady and their daughter, now here, is the only member of the family who has ever seen an Island relative. Miss McKinnon is receiving a warm welcome from the many friends and associates of her father.

Lemons Beautify!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness of which it has been robbed by trying atmospheric conditions. Wind chafe, roughness, tan and redness are warded off and those tell-tale lines of care or of age are softened away.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white make a whole quater pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness, and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

Proceedings in Provincial Legislature

The Department had not taken the matter up, tested it, and assisted them in establishing themselves there. I think it must be a good thing for Prince County, and I can assure hon. members that there are other parts of the province who are anxious to have the ditchers.

SEED GRAIN

The Commissioner of Agriculture then dealt with the matter of seed grain and the statements of Opposition members as to what New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were doing in this respect. This matter he said, was so plainly dealt with in a previous debate that there was no necessity to go over it again. The House knew what Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were doing; but those provinces were not selling seed to the farms direct as the House was given to understand. They were selling to associations. That hon. gentleman (Mr. Saunders) had also made the statement that Dr. Robertson had provided fifty thousand bushels of seed barley for this province, and that Dr. Robertson was to get credit and not the Department. "Well," said Mr. McKinnon, "we think Dr. Robertson is a sane man, and 50,000 bushels would mean one hundred car loads, and if you put 1000 bushels in each car, then you would have 50 cars. It is statements of this kind that we have to meet every hour of the day in this House. When the finances of the country are discussed it is wild statements of this kind that we have to deal with. We would not complain if they did not carry the same extravagance into every other calculation. The hon. member stated further that there were hundreds of farmers without seed and the Government did nothing. The member from Lot 16 said that in this matter the Commissioner did not take the House into his confidence regarding the conclusion of Dr. Robertson's visit. I am going to bring something to his attention which he knows very well. A week ago, or perhaps little more than a week ago, this House met and spent an evening's session behind closed doors. I would ask the hon. member from Lot 16, what were we doing during that session? Does he remember? Does the hon. member from Lot 16 remember that during that session we discussed the agreement that was signed by Dr. Robertson on behalf of the Dominion Government, showing what was intended to be done from beginning to end? Does he not remember the discussion that took place at that time? He remembers it. He cannot help remembering it. Still, in the face of that he will get up in the House and say that I did not take the House into my confidence. How can you deal with a man of that kind? I am going to point out something further, the most discreditable thing that ever happened in this House, something even worse than took place last year when the confidence of the House was betrayed. I will point you to a question asked here, a very innocent looking question on the surface: "Has the Government paid out any money or incurred any liability in respect to importations? If so, to what extent?" It is a very innocent looking question, as I say; but why did we meet behind closed doors? Simply because part of the arrangement made with Dr. Robertson and part of the arrangement made in regard to seed was such an arrangement that it was thought advisable not to publish it too widely. It was put before the members of the House, and every member thought it was better not to publish these things too widely. The attempt was made by asking this question, to get me to answer it and say whether or not there was a certain responsibility incurred. I can say that I was able to answer that question just as far as the members of this House wanted me to answer it, and that is, in so far as it was a public question;

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

War has made Economy the National Buy-Word

TO-DAY each one must decide for himself what economy means. It doesn't mean to stop buying the things you need. It means getting full value for each expenditure so that your money will go as far as possible. It means saving that margin we used to spend thoughtlessly for the "highest-priced" things—imagining that they were necessarily the best. In fact, the Economy of to-day really means Thrift.

Take the matter of shoes. The money you spend on shoes is a very important item. You may be paying too much for your shoes.

You know, of course, that shoes, like everything else, have gone up in price. But there is a limit to the price which it is necessary to pay for good shoes.

For example: If you are paying a certain price for shoes and can get the same wear and appearance in a shoe for a dollar or two less, you want to know it.

It is not easy, even for a man in the shoe business, to judge the exact value of a shoe from its appearance. You may think, therefore, that it is necessary to pay the highest price always in order to get good shoes. That is not so.

For instance: Ames Holden McCready Men's fine Shoes are being made today to retail from $6 to $10. There are more expensive shoes on the market, but it is not necessary to pay over $10 for good shoes, and $6 will buy shoes that will give good service for the price.

There is quite a difference between $6 and $10, but shoes at both these prices are very similar in appearance.

The difference is due to the grade of material used and to a certain extent extra trimmings and workmanship, which increases cost but adds very little to the wear or appearance.

For example: our men's shoes retailing at $8, $9, or $10 are made of genuine calf skin and first-class materials throughout, but you can buy shoes for $6 or $7 that are made of the skin of a large calf or a cow. This leather does not command such high prices because it is heavier in weight and not quite so fine in texture, but it will wear as well and only experienced shoe and leather men can appreciate any difference in its appearance.

Differences in price you will see do not necessarily affect the actual wear or stylish appearance of the shoe, but are mostly due to certain little luxuries and extravagancies which may be desirable in normal times but not justifiable now.

Therefore, if you want to economize in footwear, ask your dealer to show you Ames Holden McCready shoes that retail at the price you can afford to pay.

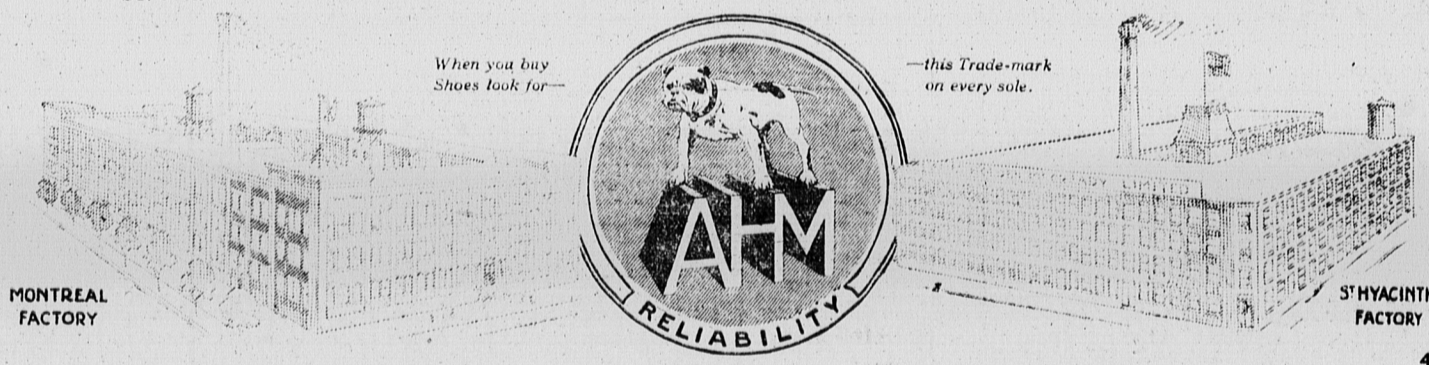

Ames Holden McCready make all kinds of footwear for men, women and children.

The next time you purchase shoes, look for the A. H. M. trade-mark. It is a guide to good values, because it is found only on shoes of good appearance which give excellent wear and satisfaction for the price. When you buy A. H. M. shoes you can always be sure that you have got full value. That's genuine economy.

but I don't believe that the members of the House wanted me to give to the public what they in session did not want to give. The matter was discussed at that session and the decision was made that no acre of the province should be left without seed on account of any man not having money to buy it. We went a little further behind closed doors and I will not say what we did; but when these statements were made in the House last night they were made with the intention that I should reply by giving out what was decided by the members of the House behind closed doors, not intended for the public. There is not a member on the other side who, when he says that the Government had done nothing and are not doing anything and do not intend to do anything,—there is not a member who does not know what took place at that session and what the Government is committed to and what is taking place; and they are therefore making very unfair charges.

MR. McLEAN: You should have given us the information. MR. McKINNON: Haven't you got it? MR. McLEAN: We have just got it now. MR. McKINNON: If the hon. gentleman, who ought to know all about the subject, had applied to his district two or three days ago he would have found out there. MR. McLEAN: Possibly. MR. McKINNON: Yes, "possibly." But the hon. member should be able to give them the information instead of their giving it to him. We know that this work has been undertaken. It is not necessary to say what part the Government has to do with it for every hon. gentleman in the House knows what part the Government has taken, and has an idea, too, how much could be done if the Government had not taken that part.

MR. BELL: That was abandoned, but what was the scheme agreed on? MR. McKINNON: Does the hon. gentleman not remember that in the event of this not being done by the members in their own districts, that the other way was the only alternative? The first course was not followed, and we took the other. MR. BELL: What was the other? MR. McKINNON: The egg circle and the farmers' institutes. MR. BELL: That was suggested, but there was nothing agreed on that I remember. MR. McKINNON: Was it not agreed that if the members could not see their way clear to go and organize their districts, the other was the only alternative? THE PREMIER: Did I not discuss the matter with the Leader of the Opposition, and tell him that that was the idea? I told the Leader of the Opposition the Egg and Poultry Association were taking charge of this. MR. BELL: I know that suggestion was made, but I understood we were to have a subsequent meeting to agree upon a certain method.

DAIRYING HON. MR. McKINNON went on to speak of dairying. The hon. member from the Second District of Prince had made the statement that dairying had gone down every year since the present Government came into power. Mr. McKinnon answered this allegation. He pointed out that dairying was advancing right along in one form or another. While it was going down in cheese in some places it was going up in butter. The member from Lot 16 also blamed the Government for "the fact that the dairy association is going down." The Association was established 25 or 27 years ago. It was a flourishing association, doing very good, sending out products of very considerable value. They are doing that still. The hon. gentleman's complaint was that at one time they taxed themselves and ceased to do that, expecting that the Government would pay them all the money they required, and it was not forthcoming. The association placed a small tax on themselves from the start, after running 25 years. If they saw they could do without it, that was a matter of their own concern. The Government had nothing to do with it; they were an independent association. But there was one thing this gentleman neglected to tell the House, and that is, that while the Government, during all the time that he and his friends were in power, were only paying the sum of $450 towards that association the Government is paying something over $2200.00. The hon. gentleman is interested in dairying, and the dairy association, and therefore how could it be possible for him to be ignorant of that fact? Still it appears he is!

doing splendid work "Will the hon. gentleman say they are not doing good work in this province today?" MR. McKINNON asked. MR. McLEAN: What about Charlottetown? MR. McKINNON: Charlottetown can speak for itself. That is the only fair that was not held in the province, and if the hon. gentleman will go back to the records he will find the party he supports, and while he supported it, did not hold very many seed fairs in Charlottetown, and had some difficulty while they did. The hon. gentleman ought to know that during all the time his party were in power they did not hold any more than two fairs in this province in any one year, and it was only one or two years they held more than one. Can he tell the House how many are held here this year? He should be able to tell the House there were no fewer than four successful seed fairs held in this province this year, and not only this year but every other year since this Government came into power. Pills of attested value.—Parnell's Vegetable Pills are the result of careful study of the properties of certain roots and herbs, and the action of such as sedatives and laxatives on the digestive apparatus. The success the compounders have met with attests the value of their work. These pills have been recognized for many years as the best cleansers of the system that can be got. Their excellence was recognized from the first and they grow more popular daily. A thousand pounds of milk worth say twenty dollars may effect your decision in selling or keeping a cow. The good herd that you have in your mind's eye can be built up by giving each producer due credit. Don't sell a good cow not knowing her real value and so sacrifice twenty dollars worth of milk for the sake of a one dollar scale.
