Trinity United Church

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22
7.30--Prayer Meeting.
FREETOWN W. L.

Fifteen members of the Birch Grove Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Campbell on June 15. The president occupied the chair and the meeting opened with the Ode. After reading and adoption of the minutes, delegates to the annual convention were appointed. Convoys for Red Cross funds reported several donations to date but that the canvas had not been completed. Sick and school committees then gave their reports. It was decided to engage someone to clean the school before the end of the month. Nothing definite was decided upon in regard to the holding of an ice-cream social and bazaar. The treasurer reported a tidy sum on hand and a generous donation to the Red Cross fund was made. Correspondence was read and collection was taken. For the July meeting, at the home of Mrs. Brewer Auld, the following committees were appointed: Lunch, Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. Albert Campbell, Mrs. Auld; program, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Schurman. A program consisting of contests, was taken part in during the meeting and much enjoyed. The hostess and her assistants served ice-cream and cake. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

DOCTOR EXTOLS HONEY VIRTUES

NEW YORK, June 20--(CP) — Honey is "Nature's own sweet, unctuous, and human art" according to Dr. Bogdan Beck, writing in his book "Honey and Health."
"Honey and other simple and natural sugars, like that in dates, figs, raisins, etc., are live physiological sugars which contain the germs of life, while industrial sugars are anti-physiological, dead, or, as a matter of fact, murdered sweets," he writes.
Pursuing this line of thought, Dr. Beck deems honey in hot water better than alcohol in hot water. He says that the ancient Greek athletes and "the modern sprinters of the Toronto Y.M.C.A.," wisely used it before entering the arena; that it prolongs life, being responsible for the longevity of living to the age of 115; Pythagoras to 90 and probably for long life of Moses and Methuselah, while Thomas Parr, who died in 1635, at the age of 152, was devoted to a honey drink known as "mead."
It is a good expectorant, according to Hippocrates; a diuretic, according to the Koran; an aphrodisiac according to Norman Douglas, an anti-rheumatic, according to Dr. Beck's correspondent; an anti-diabetic, according to Dr. A. Y. Davidov, of Russia; a bactericide, according to the Chinese and the Hindus and a New York State subscriber to "The American Bee Journal." It is also an excellent preservative and one of the finest cosmetics. And the date is the only edible substance which surpasses honey in calories.

FAMILY TREE

The asylum inmate was forever looking in the mirror addressing his image as "Grandfather" and speaking of himself as the image's grandson. A fellow resident asked him how it came about, and received this reply:
"I married a widow with a grown daughter. My father soon fell in love with my step-daughter and married her, thus becoming my son-in-law. And my step-daughter became my step-mother because she was my father's wife.
"My wife had a son, who was, of course, my father's brother-in-law, and also my uncle, for he was the brother of my step-mother. My father's wife became the mother of a son, who was my brother and also my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter.
"Accordingly, my wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time, and as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grand father, I am my own grandfather!"

DIVIDES LIFE IN FOUR AGES

LONDON, June 21--(CP) — W. Monk Gibbon, English master at the Oldfield Co-educational School, Strang, Dorset, points a gloomy picture of man's quest for knowledge and the use he makes of it. In a speech here he said he sometimes divided man's life into four ages.
"Childhood, when he knows a lot but is unaware that he knows anything. Youth, when he knows nothing but is under the impression that he knows everything. Middle age, when he begins patiently to acquire a little knowledge and understanding of what should have been obvious to him long ago. Old age, when he really has learned something but has either forgotten it or else is unable to find anyone to whom to impart it."

SHE MAKES FACES TO PLEASE FOLKS

BOSTON, June 21--(CP) —Miss Meta K. Hanney loves to make faces she had made 37 so far and could, as she says, go on "making them forever."
Her faces are not mere contortions of the face, but, however, workable stage in a few minutes. She saves old sheets and dyes them in pastel colors for curtains painted by hand. Although no two are alike, each set is interchangeable. For example, the same face will serve for a string of Christmas tree bulbs. She is ever iconoclastic enough to dispense with the wooden "control" to which the marionette's strings are usually attached.
Miss Hanney also makes "flat puppets," which are worked by the fingers. She has a complete Punch and Judy show of this sort, with cases and hoods made from old socks collected from neighbors.
