Many Reasons Why

The Fifth Victory Loan campaign will be launched locally today at a joint meeting of the Charlottetown Rotary Club and the National War Finance Committee.

The first reason given has been emphasized still more strongly in an editorial published in the Financial Post.

The German Air Force is today larger than in 1939.

Germany has 300 combat divisions, three times as many as when she attacked Poland.

The 20 German divisions wiped out last year at Stalingrad have all been replaced.

Hitler can meet attacks on Greater Germany with 10 times the number of troops that the two best armies of Great Britain and the United States took five weeks to beat in Sicily.

There are 2,000,000 Japanese men not yet called to the colors.

Japanese air strength is increasing. The Nazis now have 35 million factory workers compared with 23 millions in 1939.

Nazi food rations are higher in caloric content than a year ago.

These, says the Post, are just a few of the facts revealed at a series of Washington conferences.

Censorship permits publication of only the less unfavorable of the facts which were assembled by officialdom.

And add these facts: Renewal on a big scale of U-boat warfare on the Atlantic.

Use in that renewed ocean warfare of what are, to our forces, new weapons against which our previous defense weapons and techniques are apparently of little or no use.

German use of our most prized "secret" weapon, radar, basic information regarding it was turned over to our enemies by Vichy France.

Whether or not German development of it is as effective as ours is not revealed.

When and whether victory will be ours depends on the battles yet to be fought, where the full weight of our men and weapons will be brought to bear.

The question mark about the Fifth Victory Loan is not whether the money is available. Soaring store sales, entertainment receipts, wage bills, swollen bank accounts (near their all-time Canadian high) answer that.

The vital question is the courage, the foresight, the moral fibre and the intelligence of the mass of the Canadian people.

The New Order

The Canadian Forum, organ of the intellectual wing of the C.C.F., makes no bones about its preference for the totalitarian form of government.

Notes By The Way

A Missouri editor warns his readers that the war is not being run single-handed. Which may be a surprise to the ardent admirers of the arch-chair strategist in your house.

The editor of a western paper asks whether something could not be done to prevent young women from being lured on the streets late at night.

With the rubber lung, developed by the E. D. Bullard Company, no special training is required to administer artificial respiration to victims of shock, fumes or drowning.

Our forefathers did without sugar until the 13th century, without coal until the 15th century, without watches until the 16th century, without coffee, tea and eggs until the 17th century, without pudding until the 18th, without gas, matches and electricity until the 19th.

Young mothers in London who go out at night and leave children locked up in the house are causing great concern to the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Loneliness drives them out at night drinking and dancing. An inspector found the children of one such mother in a room where a fire was burning and a child of four, the eldest of three, was poking the fire with a stick.

The editor of the Times-Journal, of Port William, Ont., likes pie. In particular, he likes blueberry pie.

Why have sore feet? Just rub in Minard's Liniment.

ada they are to be called "corrective institutions." A rose by any other name...

And who will define the idlers, the shirkers and the obstructors? Who, of course, but the planners themselves. They alone know what the plan is.

This, of course, comments the Winnipeg Free Press, is the final mockery of the C.C.F. protestations of its democracy.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In Great Britain, the allowance per person of shell eggs over the year average approximately 1-2-egg per week.

India supplied 80,000 medical instruments, made in that country, to Russia during the first year that Russia was in the war.

Non-priority consumers in Great Britain can buy 2 1-2 pints of milk per week. The priority list, includes mothers, children, invalids and certain workers.

1,227 "Wings for Victory" Weeks were held in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland from March to June, this year, and raised £615,945,713,000 ($2,734,708,957,200) in savings to be used for the purchase of weapons and equipment for the air war.

A training school for Indian parachute troops was established early in 1942. The response of volunteers has been excellent, and both Indian and Gurkha soldiers make first class paratroopers.

British Ambassador Viscount Halifax expresses the belief that Britain, the United States, Russia and China are the countries which have the most to contribute in "getting the world on its feet again after the war."

Can M.P.'s who are not merely "yes" men and portfolio fillers, be effective in Parliament? Read this from an article in the Vancouver Sun.

Not long ago Mr. Diefenbaker found in a small matter how quickly Parliament can make a government move.

Unity For Democracy

(Halifax Chronicle) The Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature have come to a decision which many people will regard as most sensible, while others may see in it a portent of things to come in Canada.

At last there'll dawn the last of the long year that seemed to dream no end; Whose every dawn but turned the world more drear.

And slow some hope, or led away some friend; Or be you dark, or buffeting, or blind; We care not, Day, but leave not death behind.

For tiny hopes, like tiny flowers of spring; Will come, though death and ruin hold the land; Though storms may roar they may not break the wing.

Of the earliest lark whose song is ever blent; Fell year unfruitful, slow days of scorn; Your end shall die, and sweeter days be born.

ing ways and means of adapting crops to industrial uses, and has just turned up with some interesting information on the potato. It has found that you can eat a potato or you can eat off it.

After the war the demand for potatoes, as food, will probably diminish, but definitely the case after the last war. But if we are able to replace the diminished demand for potatoes for food with a new demand for potatoes for plastics, it might assure the continued prosperity of New Brunswick's great potato belt.

Two cases came before us with alarming force. One farmer is selling a pair of Holsteins, prize-winning animals which he bred during the past 20 years.

Another farmer on 100 acres had only 14 acres in crop. Still another had only 25 loads of 150 bushels of wheat to be threshed because it isn't worth threshing.
