FAREWELL PARTY — A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Jane Ballem, Cross Roads on Sept. 28th when the young people of the vicinity met to bid farewell to Miss Helen Wood, one of Cross Roads most popular young ladies who left shortly to attend Acadia University, Wolfville. In the midst of the gaiety, Mr. Wm. MacCallum called the happy group to order and in his very capable manner explained the meaning of the gathering, wishing Miss Wood the best success in her studies at college after which a travelling bag was presented by Miss Margaret Huntley, Helen, although taken entirely by surprise, marked all present in her usual charming manner. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by several young ladies. A most enjoyable time was spent in music,
games, etc.

Will Bank World Series Earnings

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23-(AP)— Joe DiMaggio ejaculated "Hot Dog!" and Tony Lazzeri said "Ho, Hum" when told today cheques for their shares of the world series money were in the mail.

The two New York Yankee stars tended to do the same thing with the $6,430 each will receive—put it in the bank.

"My bankers will provide a nice home for that money," laughed young DiMaggio. "Being on the mailman."

To Lazzeri, veteran of the baseball wars, it is an old story. He has participated in five world series pools.
"I'm socking it in the bank, just like I did before. You never can tell

DISPOSITIONS ARE CONTAGIOUS

Do you know that dispositions as well as faces and expressions are contagious?

Mrs. Jones was out of sorts because her husband had been sharp on the telephone. No doubt he had a bad day himself. Shortly after she went to the library and spoke to the very even-tempered man at the desk

CHILDREN CATCH MOOD

Husband's irritation had travelled its way from wife to clerk to woman to child. Like the arrow shot into the air, the word fell to earth somewhere. And no doubt the little fellow nursed his grudge and went home and kicked the cat. And the cat went out and fought another cat.

Disposition is the most contagious thing in the world. Sometimes it affects people by proxy. For example, if mother and father begin to heckle each other about house expenses, and the dinner table is anything but a Persian garden of peace, watch the youngsters go out and bicker about nothing.

This goes for fathers as well as mothers. It happens after a long day at the office, a ride in a crowded street car, and with a throbbing toe that someone stepped on, he goes home in a mood that would top the wheels of industry.

Of all nights it has to be kidney for supper, as the piece de resistance. So he sits down and becomes as pleasantly acid as Voltaire at his worst. The whole family senses it. He may swear, or holler or just be ghastly mean, but whatever he is, that arrow of humor will finish its course some way, be sure. The rest will be like him.

ENJOYABLE SHOWER — The home of Mrs. Jane Ballem, Cross Roads was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday night, Oct. 16th when over fifty friends and neighbors gathered to bestow their good wishes on Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Murphy on their recent marriage and to shower them with gifts.

About nine o'clock the guests assembled in the living room which had been prettily trimmed for the occasion. A daintily trimmed bassinet laden with gifts was then brought in. The gifts were opened by Miss Frances Reeves and Margaret Huntley, the accompanying verses read by Mrs. Earle Ballem. After the bassinet had been unloaded the groom in a few well chosen words thanked the guests for the lovely gifts which were both numerous and costly including silverware, table linen, glassware, money, chairs, etc. Then all joined in singing for they are "Jolly Good Fellows". Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by several of the ladies present. Dancing was indulged in and an enjoyable time was spent by all after which all departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Murphy many years of happy wedded life.

done slowly and that the types which stretch your body upward and backward are better than forward-bending ones.

For instance, one important figure expert lifts her eyebrows in disapproval whenever a customer wants to do that old exercise of touching floor with hands while keeping knees straight. She says it will keep knees from becoming stiff and that it stimulates sluggish circulation to some extent, but that it certainly won't slenderize the waistline.

Instead, she makes the client hold her body erect with hands high above the head, then stretch and bend backward as far as possible. This not only stretches the waistline muscles, but it elevates the chest and helps to reduce a double chin, too.

If you are trying to make your hips inches slimmer, do rolling exercises, and do them slowly, pressing your body hard against the floor as you roll.

Lie flat on your back, with hands clasped above your head and feet together. Keep upper half of your body on the floor and feet together, roll back and forth twenty times. Feel the way this massages the fat spots around hips and thighs and twists waist muscles.

Go back to the original position, then, crossing left leg over right, force it upward until it is perpendicular with your body, meanwhile keeping the right leg perfectly straight. This slenderizes hips and waistline and stretches leg muscles.

FORM OF SELF-INDULGENCE

The greatest indulgence we continue to preserve after we are old enough to know better, is our concession to moods. We are not allowed to kill people with guns or knives, but there is no law that prevents mayhem with tongues and frowns. So many families need a good big dose of bicarbonate of soda to sweeten up everybody. They aren't all our, but one cross member acts like poison and spreads his chemistry.

If parents find dissent among the children and suspect that one child is responsible, then say this: "Mary, you have to be more patient in this house. You can't go on expecting food and shelter and not pay for it in pleasantness." Or, "John, your unruly temper has to stop. I won't have it. You upset

BRIDE-TO-BE SHOWERED — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor MacWilliams, East Royalty, was filled to capacity, on Wednesday evening, October 7th when a large number of friends and neighbors gathered together to tender their daughter, Marion Irene, who is one of the season's brides, a miscellaneous shower. The winsome bride-to-be was escorted to the seat of honour by Miss Grace Harper, R.N. Miss Hilda Bradley and Miss Emma Holmes carried in a prettily decorated basket laden with many useful and lovely gifts, which were opened by Miss Jessie Harper, the accompanying verses being read by Miss Emma Holmes, some of which caused much merriment. After Miss

Veteran Of Riel Rebellion Dies

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Oct. 23—(C.P.)—Harry E. Ross, 77, who played a leading role in the 1885 Riel Rebellion, died here today.

Born in New Ross, N.S., Mr. Ross came west in 1879 as a member of the old Royal North West Mounted Police, from which he retired in 1884, four years after he came to Prince Albert.

When scouting near Duck Lake, Sask., on the morning of the first battle of the uprising, Mr. Ross was captured by Riel's forces. Held by the rebels until the movement collapsed, he was liberated after the battle of Batoche.
