CLOSING COTTON LETTER.

(From F. B. McCurdy & Co's Private Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—The present selling movement appears to be based upon the unsatisfactory condition of local trade, the fact that the South has sold so freely around fifteen cents as to hold all the previous bull movements in check around these figures, and a feeling that general estimates of the crop will be increased after the publication of the census figures next Tuesday. It is reported we believe authentically that President Taylor of the National Ginners Association estimates the ginning for the last period will be increased by not less than 200,000 bales of threshed cotton. Owing to improved facilities for getting cotton out of the frozen bolls, the frost bitten product is said to be cleaner than during former years and while it does not amount to much in the way of staple, some of our correspondents report that it is being mixed with better cotton. Whatever value it may be to the spinner it will add to the commercial crop and it seems also to the ginning returns. The Southern spot situation will now be watched very carefully. Without weakness in that department declines must become more and more the result of speculative shortselling as the scattering long interests must be pretty well eliminated.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

(From F. B. McCurdy & Co's Private Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—Randolph says the market has fluctuated all today within narrow limits and the usually active issues wound up with practically no change with the exception of Reading, which showed a fair fractional advance on the day. There was at times an effort made by the professional element to force declines in prices and the market would sell off quite sharply ⅛ to ¼ of a point but on these declines no stock came out and in a short time the market would recover and range above the closing level of last night. In specialties there were numerous movements. The fractions were all strong. Consolidated Gas advanced over two points with a corresponding rise in Brooklyn, Union and sympathetic strength in Laclede. Philadelphia Company also advanced over two points as did National Railways of Mexico. On the other hand there was some selling of investment stock in sugar preferred, undoubtedly caused by the suits against the company and the news that Mr. Taft was very averse to making any compromise and on this selling the stock broke some three points. The money market opened 5½ per cent. but declined in the afternoon and many loans were made below 5 per cent. Trading largely confined to the professionals on the floor and at no time did commission houses have any orders to speak of. In the last few minutes a covering movement on the part of the professional traders caused a rally throughout list which left the active stocks as a rule slightly above last nights close.

Total sales, 414,000.

Today's issue contains twelve ages of interesting news matter. All hould see they get a complete pa- er.

J. E. Bell, city, returned yesterday from spending the holidays with his little daughter, Miss Nellie, of Westmont, Montreal.

L. H. D. Foster, Marshfield, has a splendid showing of fowl at the Poultry Show in this city. He has an exhibit of forty-three Plymouth Rock birds, which would do credit to any owner, besides a number of dressed poultry, including, twelve pairs chickens, two of fowl, one of ducks and two of geese. Mr. Foster deserves great credit for his energy in raising and preparing of such an exhibit.

The death occurred in this city yesterday morning of Miss Millicent Isabel Carter, only daughter of Isaac and Mrs. Carter, at the early age of twenty-two years. Miss Carter had been ill for some time past and during her illness had received every attention with a view to aiding her to recovery. She was greatly beloved and in her death an intelligent and loving young woman is removed to a higher sphere. The sympathy of all will be extended to the grieving parents.

In response to a number of requests we to-day publish, for the second time, results in our big word contest.

Prize Winners In Beer & Week's Word Contest

With a view to making their firm name still more well known throughout the Province, Beer & Weeks advertised some months ago, a Word Competition, announcing that they would give three prizes aggregating in value $100.00. This was no money making proposition, as no entrance fee was charged and the competition was open to all in Prince Edward Island, whether they were customers of the firm or not. The competition proved an unqualified success. Thousands of persons from every corner of the Island took part, and some day Beer & Weeks will show the volume of paper sent in, by a display in one of their windows. As soon as the competition closed on Nov. 30th papers were placed in the hands of a competent committee who found the task of awarding prizes, no easy one. The committee reports some very fine papers, carefully written, well arranged and numbered and showing good work by the competitors. Some however seemed to overlook the fact that only nine letters were to be used. By sticking closely to the rules the number of words cannot reach 100 while some made over 300. However after very careful correction and going over, the committee has made its award as follows:—

81, 1st Prize, Parlor Suite—Competitor No. 2705, Leigh Warren, North Rustico.

74, 3rd Prize, Bedroom Suite—Competitor No. 31, Miss Mabel Steeves, Summerside.

Leigh Warren of North Rustico, who wins first prize, had 81 words correct, and in every respect his paper was superior to any other sent in. Mr. Warren, who is 18 years of age, is a son of Mr. Archibald Warren, and, as he works on the farm, no doubt this is the beginning of his being a successful Islander at home.

Mrs. L. H. Douglas of Morell, winner of second prize, had a very good paper with 78 words correct. Mrs. Douglas is the wife of the station agent at Morell, and was formerly Miss McDonald of Georgetown, where she was at one time teacher in the Georgetown School.

Miss Mabel Steeves of Summerside, the third prize winner, had a carefully prepared paper with 74 words correct. Miss Mabel, who is only eleven years of age deserves special mention for having so successfully competed in such a large field.

And so the three Counties, Queen's, King's and Prince have each won a prize in one of the largest contested educational races ever held in Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Warren has named Rev. H. R. Bell, New Glasgow.

Mrs. Douglas has named Rev. R.P. Murray, Mt. Stewart.

Miss Steeves has named Miss Ethel Tanton, her teacher. All the above will receive suitable gifts.

When you are down town today call into E. A. Foster's drug store or at the Apothecaries Hall and buy a ticket for the dramatic entertainment in St. Peter's Schoolroom Tuesday evening. The cause is one worthy of your support. 1-5dtf.
