CONTROL OF MOSAIC, LEAF-ROLL AND RELATED DISEASES OF POTATOES

(Experimental Farms Note)
 Diseases such as mosaic, leafroll and spindle tuber are frequently responsible for the so-called "running out" of potatoes usually attributed to weather conditions and various other assumed causes. These diseases unlike blight, which may destroy an entire crop in one season, act very slowly, but nevertheless cause enormous losses by reducing the yield from year to year until finally a strain so affected becomes entirely unproductive. Experiments conducted at the Dominion Field Laboratory of Plant Pathology, at Fredericton, N. B., reveal that these destructive diseases can be controlled to a considerable degree by removing all diseased vines and tubers as soon as they make their first appearance. In order to make a successful job of the roguing (removal of diseased plants) only 1 or 2 rows should be examined at one time. A cloudy day or during the morning or evening hours when the temperature is lower and the sun's rays somewhat subdued is best for this operation. The dazzling effect of bright sunlight renders detection of the mottling of mosaic in particular quite difficult and excessive heat may mask the symptoms of this disease sufficiently to allow them to be overlooked. Excessive heat also causes a temporary rolling of the lower leaves of potato plants similar in many respects to that characteristic of leaf-roll. It is quite advisable when removing diseased plants from the field particularly when aphids are present (which carry these diseases from plant to plant) to convey the diseased plants in some appropriate container in order to prevent aphids feeding on such plants from falling on healthy ones and infecting them. All diseased plants should be removed from the field immediately and destroyed, preferably by burning. One roguing of a field is not sufficient because symptoms may vary with different weather conditions and may be visible at one time while entirely absent at another. It is therefore, necessary to keep a led intended for certification under control observation to ensure detection of all diseased plants. If it is found that the diseased plants are too numerous to warrant removing them, the grower is advised to market the entire crop as table stock. The exclusive use of Dominion Government Extra No. 1 Certified Seed potatoes will reduce to a minimum the occurrence of these destructive diseases.

Telephone calls for aid brought the neighbors promptly to the scene and through their strenuous efforts surrounding buildings were saved. REVISITING HIS NATIVE PROVINCE—Mr. George W. MacPhee K. C., M. P., of Yorkton, Saskatchewan, and formerly one of the Liberal representatives in the Prince Edward Island Legislature for the Second District of Queen's, arrived on the island last week accompanied by his two sons, Fraser and Ian, to spend a short holiday on the island, at Mr. MacPhee's old home in West River. It has been ten years since he last visited his native province and he is being warmly welcomed on his return by many friends in city and country. Since leaving this province he located first at Saskatoon where he practised as a barrister for three years and then removed to Yorkton. In 1917 he ran his first election for the Federal House but was defeated. Subsequently he was elected for the same district in 1925 and was successful also in 1926 and 1930. On coming east he spent a short time at Ottawa during the closing days of the Imperial Conference. Mr. MacPhee was chairman of the Board of License Commissioners for the province of Saskatchewan for 1914-15 and Crown Prosecutor in the Yorkton Judicial District for 1915-16-17 and created a King's Counsel in 1920.

ROTARY—"Oratory in the Public Life of Canada," was the theme of an eloquent address at the Rotary luncheon yesterday afternoon by Mr. George W. MacPhee, K. C., M. P., of Yorkton, Sask., who is revisiting his native province. Mr. MacPhee stated that Canada is famed not only for her rich resources and the accomplishments of her sons and daughters, but for the high degree of excellence in English speaking which characterizes her public men, although the same perfection of speech may not be found in the orators of today as was found in the orators of a past generation. By way of illustration the speaker quoted from address given by the late Joseph Howe, Nicholas Davin, Sir Wilfred Laurier, and Sir George E. Foster representing the two great major political parties in Canada. Mr. Davin's speech was on the occasion of the death of Sir John Thompson, Sir Wilfred Laurier's was in praise of Prince Edward Island when he came here about forty years ago, and Sir George Foster's speech was his famed eulogy on Canada given at the time of Queen Victoria's jubilee. Rotarian T. B. Grady was in the chair and there was one guest, Prof. W. E. Fletcher, a former Charlottetown Rotarian. The musical program included a vocal solo by Mr. Leigh Dingwell, who was encored.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH—The Rev. C. R. Freeman, D. D., of Lawrencetown, N. S., a former Minister of this congregation, occupied the pulpit morning and evening Sunday. Dr. Freeman made graceful reference to his pleasure in speaking once more to his old congregation, speaking further in feeling terms of the changes wrought by death during the past 11 years. The morning sermon, based on John 3, 16; "The Providing Love of God" eloquently and thoughtfully set forth God's loving provision for mankind, physically, intellectually and in the realm of religion. The soloist at the morning service was Mrs. W. McL. Clark of Montreal whose delightful soprano found fitting expression in "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." Miss Margaret Stern took the solo at the evening service and her sweet and tuneful soprano gave much pleasure to her hearers in "Glory to Thee My God This Night."

P. E. I. Protestant Orphanage

For a time the work being done in the Protestant Orphanage has not been very extensively broadcast but the children are there, more than fifty of them, and they are being well cared for.

Numerous requests to receive more are coming in so that the Adoption Committee is seriously taxed, for in dealing with the lives of children their decisions reach far into the future.

Part of the purpose of the Institution is to place children in Foster Homes but in these so called distressful times, such homes are few, the result is that, with many coming and fewer going out, the inmates have greatly increased.

It will only take a moment's thought to realize how this acts on the finances as well as this committee also has a problem; even in looking over the acknowledgements of receipts in the press, anyone will recognize that they have seriously dwindled.

Our Endowment Fund has had some very excellent additions during the last few months, but as we are only to use the interest on all such amounts the actual present help is very small. To make this clear—a request placed in this fund is invested in a guaranteed security and the interest when due is used for running expenses. The management is practicing the strictest economy, without falling down on efficiency. The year's coal supply is now in our cellars and considerable saving in cost has been effected. Every committee is searching ways to economize and it is felt that the Protestant public, whose servants they are, will heartily approve and so assist and co-operate that this year as so many past will be pronounced another success.

Now, considering the work going on—the farm is again under rent and the large garden is already supplying many table vegetables in sufficient quantity. The grounds are being kept in splendid appearance and the barn in good repair.

With but few exceptions the staff has remained unchanged and the school teacher, who has given good satisfaction, will remain another term.

The children, in whose interest the Institution was built and for whom the public has so faithfully contributed, are there in all the smiles and rosy cheeks of abundant health, many of them are ready to go into foster homes when such can be found and would do much toward returning summer and sunshine into homes where the silver threads are premature.

The Institution welcomes inspection, visitors are always given the opportunity of seeing the children and their home and strangers are invited to include the Institution in their vacation plans.

Whose duty is it to aid children who are handicapped at the very doorway of life? Who can sit inside and order responsibility to pass on? Few realize by what a slender

Mrs. (Dr.) Harper and little daughter Isabel who have been visiting Mrs. Harper's mother, Mrs. D. Gordon, left yesterday for her home in Thelma, Alabama, after a delightful holiday.

Mrs. E. B. Lawrence and her two sons, James and Albert of South Boston, are visiting in the City; guests of Mrs. Lawrence's sister and brother, Mrs. James Lee, Cumberland Street and E. Toombs, Fitzroy Street. Their many friends and relatives are delighted to see them again.

Rev. and Mrs. John Skinner and sons, who spent the past few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Skinner, in New Glasgow, N. S., have returned to their home in Bell River. They were accompanied by Miss Isabel Skinner who will be their guest.

Mrs. A. N. Simpson of New Glasgow, has been spending a pleasant vacation with relatives and friends in Wilmet Valley and Summerside.

The potato inspector has made his usual rounds in this vicinity and reports that the potato crop is looking fine for the late summer and so much wet weather.

Mrs. William Bowness of Centreville Bedeque, has been spending a week's holiday in Victoria the welcome guest of Mrs. Donald Murchison.

A wedding of much interest to this community was solemnized at Summerside, at the residence of Rev. W. H. Harding, Belmont St., on Wednesday evening, August 10th, when Miss Leona MacNeil, of Summerside, became the happy bride of Clayton Blackmore of Ross's Corner. Rev. Mr. Hardy performed the ceremony. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony they left for their home at Ross's Corner. After their arrival the sound of horns and other instruments announced the happy arrival of a band of chavariers all of which extended their best wishes to the newly weds and that returned to their homes. Mr. and Mrs. Blackmore has the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Forbes of Melrose, Mass., have arrived home to spend a holiday with Mrs. Forbes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodside and other relatives.

The many friends of Mr. Leonard Cairns of Kinkora, will be pleased to hear that he is recovering nicely from his operation on Saturday at the Prince County Hospital.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute of Kinkora was held on Tuesday evening, August 3rd at the home of Mrs. Laura Hogg. The meeting opened with the Institute Ode and repeating the creed. Roll call was answered by "My favorite book and author" and was responded to by nineteen members and two visitors present. The reports of the different committees were given also a very interesting report of the annual convention held in Charlottetown. It was decided to hold a picnic at Staver's Shore, North Bedeque, on Friday. Miss Bertha Walker gave a reading which was very humorous and caused much laughter. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Staver, on September 6th. This very successful meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem. The hostess then served a delicious lunch.
