A working arrangement will be sought with the Maritime Co-operative Egg and Poultry Exchange by representatives of the Prince Edward Island Co-operative Egg and Poultry Association who, it was decided at a directors' meeting here last evening, will meet representatives of the Maritime Exchange at Sackville on March 29 to discuss joint efforts to obtain better prices and reduction in overhead expenses.
Authority was given at the annual meeting of the Island Association on March 8 to seek such arrangement, which however would not involve financial union with the Maritime organization, against which there was a strong consensus of opinion.

British Subjects Are To Face Criminal Charge

Despite Protest By British Gov. Accused Men Will Stand Trial Along With Russians Sometime Within A Month.

MOSCOW, March 17.—(A.P.)—Overriding protests by the British Government, the Soviet authorities announced tonight that four British subjects, accused of sabotage in connection with their work for a British Electrical Machinery Company which has been doing business here for 10 years, would be placed on criminal trial.
"No pressure or menace will be able to induce the Soviet Government to refrain from keeping its laws in relation to British subjects," Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff said in an official communique.
The accused men were arrested last week end, along with 36 Russian employees of the Metropolitan Vickers Company, simultaneously with raids on the company's offices in Moscow and Leningrad. Six Britons were arrested but two have been released.
The Communique announced that the Britons and Russians would be tried together and that the proceedings would be public. The trial is expected to be held within a month.
The Soviet Government's action was in answer to protests by Britain and to a declaration by Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, in the House of Commons to the effect that the British Government was convinced the charges were unjustified. The details of the accusations have not been published.
Mr. Litvinoff said that the Baldwin declaration and the verbal protests made by the British Ambassador yesterday were tantamount to asking that the action be withdrawn so far as the British subjects are concerned.
"The British Government expressed conviction that they are innocent," the Foreign Minister said. "Such a proposal is quite inadmissible and cannot be discussed by any Government of an independent country."
"Having proof and information about crimes, the Law Enforcement Agencies of the Soviet Government are compelled to adopt measures to deal with them, and such is the accepted order in all countries. As to such measures as arrest and prosecution, our authorities have recourse to them only when there are serious reasons and when it is demanded by the safety of the state and its peace."
The men to be tried are L. C. Thornton, chief erecting engineer; W. H. MacDonald, engineer; John Cushman, an engineer; and a fitter named Gregor. Allan Monkhouse, Director of the Company, and Charles Nordwell, another official, were arrested and subsequently released.
Mr. Litvinoff prefaced his assertion that no pressure could induce the government to refrain from carrying out its laws by saying that "it would be wrong if the episode should have any effect on political and trade relations between the U. S. S. R. and Great Britain, which of course would be bad for both countries."
In his statement to the House of Commons Wednesday, Mr. Baldwin said the British Ambassador at Moscow had been instructed "to represent in strong terms the grave view the Government takes in these proceedings against British subjects of high standing engaged in normal work for the benefit of both countries, and the unfortunate consequences to Anglo-Soviet relations which may follow."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVED AS USUAL

Unusually Large Parade Of Benevolent Irish Society Was A Striking Feature
St. Patrick's Day was observed in the time honored manner yesterday by the members of the Benevolent Irish Society, who, in a large and colorful parade, marched to St. Dunstan's Basilica, where solem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Louis Dougan, and an inspiring sermon on St. Patrick preached by Rev. Francis Lyons. The parade left the B. I. S. Hall at 10 o'clock, and proceeded to St. Basilica by way of Queen, Water and Great George Streets, and after the service returned to the hall by way of Great George, Water, Weymouth and Grafton Streets. The League of the Cross Band directed by Mr. W. J. Brawders and the Legion Band, directed by Mr. Thomas MacFarlane were in attendance.
The deacon of the Mass was Rev. George MacDonald, the sub-deacon Rev. Wm. Emhardt, C. S. S. R., and the Master of Ceremonies, Stephen MacMillan. The choir under the direction of Mr. W. J. Brown rendered Leonard's Mass.
Sermon
Following is a synopsis of the sermon preached by Father Lyons: Some years ago a book was published bearing the title "Reputations Ten Years Afterwards" and dealing with the generals who had won such prominence during the Great War. The author had no difficulty in showing how much their fame had shrunk, how quickly the bubble of their prominence had burst. How different it all is with the man whom we honor today, whose fame has stood the test of 1500 years of investigation and criticism, whose work has proved permanent in the nation which he evangelized and whose influence has spread to every corner of the globe.
St. Patrick was prepared by a two fold novitiate, one of slavery and solitary prayer upon the hills of Slieve Donard, and from the cruelty of the pagans learned their need of the true religion. The second consisted of eighteen years of monastic life in Southern France, in the great monastery of Lerins, the centre of the intellectual and spiritual life of that country. From it he was drawn by the voice of the men of Facluth, calling him like the Macedonian who summoned St. Paul to come over and help them.
St. Germanus of Auxerre started to take Patrick with him on a mission to Ireland just after Pope Celestine I had given him the name of Patrick, meaning Pater civium—the father of his people. On the way Patrick learned of the death of Palladius, turned aside to be consecrated bishop, and, thus blessed with the authority of the Church, he landed in 432, for his great and difficult mission. What a difficult mission it was he saw on his first public appearance when he lighted the Easter fire in the hills of Tara in defiance of a King's edict. His Druid opponents understood the importance of his

INCENDIARISM SUSPECTED IN COLLEGE LOSS

Mount Allison Loses Old Science Building And Centennial Hall. Loss Estimated At $130,000, Insurance $83,000.
SACKVILLE, N. B., March 17.—Before the ashes of two Mount Allison University buildings were cold today, investigations were underway into what seemed to be the probability of incendiarism. University authorities, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and the town Marshal were inquiring into this angle of the $130,000 loss. H. H. McLeellan, Fire Marshal for New Brunswick, will arrive here tomorrow to join in the investigation.
The fires broke out almost simultaneously in two of the oldest buildings on the campus appeared tonight to be the principal circumstance pointing to an incendiarist. Rumors regarding the presence of oil soaked rags and waste in the destroyed buildings could not be corroborated as the fires, when discovered, would have eliminated traces of any such materials. The AMHERST, N. S., March 17.—Prosperity must be coming back, for the Spanish prisoner is with us again.

During the depression he languished, silent, in a jail in Spain while two cheques for $300,000 lay in his trunks. Now all he needs to get out of prison is some kind benefactor to put up a few thousand dollars to clear up the bankruptcy proceedings brought against him by a wicked cousin.
Then the old Grandee and his new friend can locate the trunks and divide up the $300,000. The role of benefactor in the latest application of the well known confidence game has fallen to Town Councillor A. W. Moffatt, of Amherst.
Councillor Moffatt has decided to let the Spanish authorities go to the rescue of the prisoner and has turned the letter over to the local con-

It will be the first meeting of two Premiers who once fought in the ranks of Socialism, from which both of them eventually broke. And it will be Mr. MacDonald's first visit to Rome since 1920.

An elaborate programme of entertainment, covering tomorrow and Sunday, has been arranged by the Government. The Premier plans to open the Medieval Venezia Palace, where he has his offices, for a state dinner tomorrow night, to be attended by about 200 persons. It will be the first time the Palace has been used for such an occasion since the interior was remodelled two years ago. The British Embassy will return the dinner Sunday night.
Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italy's delegate to the League of Nations will participate in the discussions between Premier Mussolini and the British representatives.

MAY YIELD ADDITIONAL REVENUE

Opposition Member And Government In Agreement Re Revenue From Insurance Companies
The Provincial Government is considering the question of obtaining increased revenue from Insurance Companies operating in the Province. This was intimated in the Legislature yesterday by Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, acting Government leader, in reply to a query from Mr. LePage during committee reading of The Insurance Act.
Mr. LePage had expressed the opinion that the Province should receive more revenue from insurance companies. He assumed there would be sufficient extra revenue to meet the cost of administering the new Act but this amount could be further increased without undue hardship on the companies operating here, he believed.
Hon. Dr. MacMillan expressed agreement with Mr. LePage and said this matter was now under consideration. So far as the general administration of the Insurance Act was concerned it was not anticipated that under present conditions there would be any additional expense to the Province. If additional expense was incurred it should certainly come out of revenues derived under the Act, he said.
