IMPROMPTU

Other places may boast of their wonders,
 Which the poets have pictured so fair;
 But I sing of a land more enchanting—
 Of an Isle that has scenery more rare.
 Its red colored bosom enchants me,
 And its streams sing sweet songs to my heart;
 The forests they whisper new secrets,
 Mother Nature alone can impart.
 The beauty of each fragrant blossom,
 That smile thro' the tears of the day,
 Can fill my sad heart with their sunshine,
 Dispersing the dark clouds away.

POWNAI NEWS

The meteorological station here registered twelve degrees below zero on Feb. first. This was accompanied by a hoar-frost which could be cut with a knife. We have abundance of snow here in dear old Pownal. The road winding in and out of the fields where it has not gone since some of the folk here were young, yet there is one auto seen daily on the roads, this one however is equipped with a set of runners and is owned and driven by the Jones Bros., Pownal's live wires. During the past season these chaps have done a flourishing business with their two trucks which are hard to beat.

Mr. Wilfred Lawton, Pownal Village, loaded several cars at Hazelbrook Station this week. A number of farmers here have been busy day and night shipping the humble turnip which seems to be leaving the spud in the background. However, it is gratifying to know in these days of depression that a good price is being realized for this line of produce.

The many friends of Mr. Clifford Jenkins will be glad to know he is recovering satisfactorily from a prolonged attack of blood poisoning.

Miss Florence Brown, city, spent the week end at her home here.

Miss Ruth Matheson, teacher at Bunbury, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Layton Jones.

Miss Mary Jenkins, who spent the last year visiting friends and relatives in U. S. A. is at present with her sister, Mrs. Lock Jones. P.

CANADA CUTS OFF STATE PASSPORTS

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—A long standing custom of the department of state in issuing certificates, or diplomatic passports to private citizens going abroad has been stopped on an order from Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, after consultation with the Prime Minister.
 The original object of these certificates was to identify travellers in foreign countries, especially those travelling on government business, or public service. The great number issued in recent years has considerably lessened their value, it is said. Henceforth these impressive identification papers will be issued only to those abroad on Government business.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Benjamin Gigli today found a hotel chef less responsive to his arias than the Metropolitan Opera audiences.
 In fact, the chef told the tenor to "Shut up that noise."
 Gigli, after a brief rehearsal in the garden of the Mayflower Hotel, was led by an assistant manager on a short cut through the kitchen to the ball-room for a concert.
 The tenor walked through the kitchen still singing the aria he shortly was to sing in public, all unaware of Chef Jacques Haeringer's ban forbidding his cooks to sing while working. Haeringer had been troubled recently by one dissenting tenor among his culinary experts and Gigli's swelling notes rising from among the ovens brought the irate chef on the scene with the curt command to "Shut up that noise."
 Mrs. Hoover was one of those who heard the tenor after the kitchen rehearsal.

this modern INHALER Ends CATARRH

A Never-Failing Comfort for Colds, Coughs, Catarrh, Has Been Discovered

Mrs. M. E. Walford writes from East Sheffield: "For three years I suffered, with a hard racking cough and bronchial irritation which annoyed me so much at night that my rest was disturbed. I tried catarrh tablets, sprays, syrups, etc., but they only helped me for a short time. Catarrhosone brought me wonderful comfort. I inhaled its balsamic fumes every hour or two, and am now free from any trace of cold, bronchitis and catarrh. I can go out in all kinds of weather and don't take cold."

Relief Comes Quickly

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhosone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitute. Large Catarrhosone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. All reliable druggists.

This Master Breeder's degree, which will be conferred upon him in absentia at the Holstein Breeders' banquet at the Royal York Hotel tonight, is given in recognition of the fact that Mr. Jones has bred the required quota of XX bulls, gold medal and excellent cows. He is the first individual to receive such an honor, although Colony Farm, B. C., a government institution, received it last year. Mr. Jones began breeding cattle in 1918 and testing in 1922. With the exception of two months he has continually milked his cows three times a day. His Holstein cattle hold the highest records in the Maritime Provinces and two of them have received international honors, one for production and the other for type.

MISS MARY MACDONALD
 The death occurred at Georgetown Tuesday evening of Miss Mary Macdonald, aged 89 years. She passed peacefully away after a short illness, at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. W. MacLaren.
 Miss Macdonald was a daughter of the late Joseph Macdonald, of Georgetown.
 More than half a century ago she was engaged in school teaching, in Georgetown and other places in King's County.
 For a time she was with her brother, the late James Macdonald of Charleston, Mass.
 Most of her life, however, was spent in Georgetown and at Burnt Point. She had resided for many years on a farm, in the latter place with her brother Robert, but for the past two years had been in Georgetown.
 The late Miss Macdonald was a very intelligent woman, was fond of reading, and up to the very last, took a keen interest in the happenings of the day. She was kind and sympathetic, but always stood firmly by what she believed to be right, and she possessed admirable qualities of mind and heart, which won for her, the esteem of all who knew her.
 Surviving her are one brother, Robert, at Burnt Point; also nephews and nieces in this province and in the United States, including Mr. Reuben Macdonald, of Charlottetown, Mrs. L. H. Douglas and Mrs. W. W. MacLaren, of Georgetown, Mr. William Macdonald, New York, and Mrs. D. M. Scannell, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.
 She will be laid to rest this Thursday, afternoon in the United Church cemetery at Georgetown.

May Discard Huge Quantity Of Vegetables

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—Hundreds of tons of Canadian cabbage and tons of the best carrots in the world, are slated for the "dump" this spring unless there is a much better movement during the next few weeks.
 Imported cabbages from the United States cost five times as much as the beautiful hard white heads grown in Ontario. American cabbage sells for about 5 cents a pound and Ontario cabbage at 1 cent a pound.
 One local dealer stated today that during last week he had sold 15 barrels of Ontario cabbage and 75 cases of cabbage imported from American points. The only difference is the United States cabbage is greener. For salads or soups, corn-beef and cabbage, the Ontario product is much better.
 "Home grown carrots, large, sweet, red and tender are offered wholesale at 60 to 65 cents for a 90-pound bag. American carrots coming in hampers from the southern states, have made such inroads and hundreds of tons of the finest carrots will be thrown away this spring unless there is a general demand created for Ontario products.
 A local merchant stated today that in five days last week he had sold six bags of Ontario carrots at 65 cents and 300 hampers of American carrots. The Ontario carrot, he said, was unwashed and without tops, while American carrots carried the green tops and were washed clean, giving them a nice appearance. At 60 cents a bag Ontario carrots figure out at 1 1/2 cents a pound against 4 American carrots to the bunch at 2 1/2 cents each. American carrots run about 16 to 20 to the pound and cost the consumer about 40 cents a pound.

Want Embargo
 Commission men have asked the Government to place an embargo on American vegetables, like green onions, celery, lettuce, beets, carrots and cabbages, in order to give the Canadian grower a chance in his native market and keep at home a very large amount of money, to say nothing of the employment it would give.
 Just what effect an embargo on these vegetables would have is not known. Commission men are a unit in the opinion that the recent increase in duties on American products has not lessened the business any, but has increased the price of certain commodities to the consumer. What is required, they say, is a duty that is sufficiently high to protect the Canadian growers and invite investments in the business. Commission men also say that if the Ontario grower is not to be protected he will refrain from growing these vegetables, rather than grow them and get nothing for them.
 It is a long time, merchants say,

 More than half a century ago she was engaged in school teaching, in Georgetown and other places in King's County.
 For a time she was with her brother, the late James Macdonald of Charleston, Mass.
 Most of her life, however, was spent in Georgetown and at Burnt Point. She had resided for many years on a farm, in the latter place with her brother Robert, but for the past two years had been in Georgetown.
 The late Miss Macdonald was a very intelligent woman, was fond of reading, and up to the very last, took a keen interest in the happenings of the day. She was kind and sympathetic, but always stood firmly by what she believed to be right, and she possessed admirable qualities of mind and heart, which won for her, the esteem of all who knew her.
 Surviving her are one brother, Robert, at Burnt Point; also nephews and nieces in this province and in the United States, including Mr. Reuben Macdonald, of Charlottetown, Mrs. L. H. Douglas and Mrs. W. W. MacLaren, of Georgetown, Mr. William Macdonald, New York, and Mrs. D. M. Scannell, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.
 She will be laid to rest this Thursday, afternoon in the United Church cemetery at Georgetown.
