THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

It pays to buy in this Province.

IMPORTANT TO FOX MEN.—The demand for the Guardian of Sept. 29, containing Mr. McCready's History and Review of the Fox Ranching Industry has been so great that the second edition has been completely sold out. At the request of several important companies the article has been reprinted in pamphlet form, and may be obtained at the Guardian office at $5.50 per thousand.

CHARLOTTETONIAN FOR MANAGER.—Harry Ford, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., late of Exeter, Devonshire, England, has been engaged as keeper of the Miramichi Black Fox Co's, new ranch at Douglastown, says a New Castle exchange, into which the first pair of foxes were introduced Monday evening, two more pairs will follow this week. The first three pairs come from P. E. I., and cost over $50,000. The company has six acres, within a half mile of Douglaston post office, three of which will be fenced in and three for the keeper. There are three fox runs finished, each of which is 30 x 100 feet —70 x 70 for the females and 30 x 30 for the male. Several more runs are laid off and will be finished later. A fine new cottage has been built for the keepwr in a pleasant site overlooking the certre of the village. The company is capitalized at $[illegible],000.

From Yesterday's Evening Guardian.

WON RACE.—The following news has been received in Charlottetown and will be intensely interesting to Island horsemen:—Frank Patch, 2.13¼, owned by Mr. J. B. Mitchell, Halifax, won first place in the 2.14 class at Brockton, Mass. yesterday, best time being 2.11¼.

PROGRESS OF DAIRYING.—Conditions affecting the marketing end of the dairy industry in Canada have undergone rapid changes during recent years. In the past it has been the custom to estimate the growth of the industry on the export trade. This however has become an entirely unreliable guide, because Canada no longer has butter to spare but, on the other hand, finds it necessary to import from other countries. Cheese exports too have greatly decreased. These facts were brought to the attention of the Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization during the past session of Parliament by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, who showed very clearly that the industry is not loosing ground but is making steady progress. It was brought out that Canadian people are consuming relatively more milk and milk products than heretofore and that an increasing quantity of milk is being manufactured into condensed milk, casein and other products. During the course of Mr. Rudderick's evidence he gave out a great deal of interesting information concerning the tendency of the industry. This has now been printed in a pamphlet of fourteen pages for free distribution to all who apply for it to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

EVANGELINE—The S. S. Evangeline, of the Plant Line, docked at Charlottetown last evening at 6.30 with the following passengers:—D. J. McDonald, Miss T. McEachern, Miss E. Doyle, J. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sencabaugh, Miss F. McDonald, Miss E. McLellan, H. Read, Miss A. Clarke, W. T. Hopkins, H. Campbell, A. G. Robinson. She sails again at noon today.

J. G. SCHURMAN PROPOSES.—Jacob G. Schurmann, president of Cornell University, as temporary Chairman of the Republican State Convention, denounces all theories of judical intimidation, says a contemporary, and proposes instead of the recall of judical decisions a system of appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States on questions which cannot now be carried so high or an amendment in dispute cases of the state constitution, such as in the instance of the recent Workmen's Compensation Act. His compromise for the radical stand of the Progressivs on the recall that was not adopted by the convention, however, the plant form standing strongly for the independence of the judiciary.

THE LIGHTING PLANT.— Mr. Burrel,, who completed the purchase of the Charlottetown Light and Power Company's plant on behalf of the Maritime Trust Company, of Halifax, is expected here in the next few days in order to take formal possession of the business for the new owners. Meanwhile the previous management is conducting the business. As stated in yesterday's Guardian, the shares have all been deposited by the various holders in the old company with the new company's bankers, who are now paying out the cheques. In fact, yesterday a large number of the shareholders drew their cheques for their shares. It is pleasing to note that the new company will not make any changes in the clerical staff of employes at present engaged in the business, but intend to let things in this regard continue as they were before the purchase.

ENCOURAGING YOUNG SHOTS—There are at present on exhibit in the show window of Mr. G. F. Hutcheson the three shields which have been presented by the local Committee of the Strathcona Trust Fund with the object of encouraging shooting among the cadets of this province. These trophies, which are for team competition, were shot for the first time when the cadets were in camp in the city a few weeks ago. As a result of that competiti match, the West Kent school's company came out on top, with the Summerside company second, and the Queen's Square school's company, third. The shields are to be competed for annually, and are to be held by the winning company for a year. They are excellent little trophies, being in each case a handsomely designed oxidised silver centre on an oak shield. The trophy intended for the first prize is larger and better designed than the others; the centre-piece consisting of rifleman prone position in the act of aiming, while maple leaves and a laurel wreath are other features of the embosa work of the silver centre, over which there is a silver scroll with the inscription, "Strathcona Trust Trophy," "for rifle shooting." The two smaller shields are of the same size, but differently designed as regards the silver work, one bearing also the embossed figure of a prone rifleman, in the other, the silver centre is surmounted by the figure of a cherub; both having appropriately inscribed silver scrolls.

LABOR UNIONS RECOGNIZED BY BRITISH ADMIRALTY.

LONDON, Oct. 1—The very important concession was made by the British Admiralty today of officially recognizing trades unions. In reply to the demands of the dockyard men the Admiralty agreed hereafter, in the event of the disputes, to meet deputations of the workmen either in London or at the dockyards. It also not only accorded permission to the men in government to select their representatives from dockyards but will allow them to be accompanied by trades union leaders not employed in the dockyards.

WOMEN IN ALBANIA DISPLAY WARLIKE SPIRIT.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—Women are taking an active part in the fighting in Albania, according to despatches received here from Avlona, the Albanian capital. Many Albania Amazons, armed with hatchets, fought heroically shoulder to shoulder with their husbands, sons and brothers during the street fighting at Dibra on September 23, when 1,200 Servians were killed and 300 taken as prisoners of war and the town fell into the hands of the Albanians.

The prisoners were sent under escort to Tiranna.

The battle in the vicinity of Dibra, both before and after its fall, was of the most desperate character.

The women of the Greek race in southern Albania are also displaying a very warlike spirit. At Koritza which is held by the Greek troops, sixty girls have formed themselves into a company, which is drilled by Greek non-commissioned officers. The women declare they would sooner die fighting than permit Koritza to be incorporated in the state of Albania.

QUEER WAY TO SHOW GRATITUDE TO NURSES.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 1.—Nursed back to temporary health after a severe illness, said to have been brought on from over-indulgence in drugs, John J. Murray of Belleville, Ont., aged thirty-two, showed his gratitude to nurses in the Hotel Dieu where he was confined for two weeks, by passing, it is alleged, a worthless cheque in payment of his bill, and accepting $18 in change, with which he departed, according to complainants.

The cheque, which was drawn on Molsons Bank, Toronto, was accepted by the hospital authorities, but several days later, giving Murray a chance to get away.

The police say thay have evidence that another cheque for the same amount was passed on a local bank. Miss Louise Vanderlinder, clerk at the Hotel Dieu, who procured the warrant for Murray, says the accused attempted to collect money on a second cheque before he left the hospital but was refused.

CLAUDE WHITE TO ATTEMPT ATLANTIC FLIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—A cable to the Herald from London says:

Claude Graham White is making serious preparations for an aeroplane flight across the Atlantic. He has designed a biplane which he believes can undertake the flight safely, and he estimated that the full equipment for the trip will not cost more than $30,000.

"The first flight across the Atlantic will mark an epoch in aviation," he said yesterday, "and my ambition is to be the first to reach America from Europe by the aeroplane route. There is no doubt whatever in my mind that the trans-Atlantic flight will be made before long by some one, and it is only a question of who the first shall be. At present I am trying to interest friends and supporters of aviation here in my prospective venture, and feel that with any kind of support the great flight will soon be a reality."

LAW GETS MAN AFTER LONG WAIT

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—With all the appearance af a man who had retired from business after a successful career, Walter G. Furnald appeared as a prisoner before United States Commissioner Hitchcock today for a preliminary examination on an indictment charging him with swindling through the mails. A decade ago Furnald was widely known as the guiding spirit of two promoting companies in Jersey City. Complaints were made that the companies were doing a fradulent business and indictments were returned against their officers. Furnald escaped arrest and fled to Europe. For seven years he enjoyed himself in perfect safety in Paris, as the offence witn which he was charged was not extraditable. Then came a desire to see old Broadway once more and he sailed for New York, evidently figuring that he and his case had been forgotten by the authorities. But post office inspectors with long memories were on hand to greet him and he was promptly arrested as he stepped down the gangplank.

READY FOR KNABE MURDER TRIAL

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 2.—Everything is said to be in readiness for the trial before the present term of the Criminal Court of Dr. Willia B. Craig, dean of the Indiana Veterinary College and Alonzo M. Ragsdale, a local undertaker, jointly indicted by the Marion county grand jury on the chgrge of having murdered Dr. Helene Knabe during the night of October 23, 1911. The case had originally been set for June 23, but went over because the lawyers for the defense had appealed to Judge Markey for more time to prepare the fense. The prosecution has been ready for a long time and it is not believed that the court will grant any further delays upon the request of the defense unless some good reason is shown.

The trial will, undoubtedly, attract a great deal of attention, partly on account of the social prominence of the two accused men, partly owing to the mysterious circumstances surrounding the crime. Both Dr. Craig and Mr. Ragsdale are wealthy men, have been well known and respected in social circles throughout the city for many years and are well connected. Their indictment on December 30, 1912, by the grand jury on the charge of murder created a tremendous sensation.

Dr. Helene Knabe, the victim of the murder, was a handsome Roman of thirty-five years, highly respected as a Roman and as a scientist of great promise. She was born in Germany, the daughter of an engineer in the German army and came to America when quite young. She graduated from the Indiana College of Medicine and, having specialized in bacteriology, became bacteriologist in the State laboratory of the Indiana Board of Health. A few years ago she resigned to devote herself to the study of hygiene and the pathology of child birth. She lived alone in an apartment on the groundfloor of an apartment building not far from the business section of the city and devoted most of her time to study. Her private life was always believed to be above suspicion.

When Miss Katherine McPherson, Dr. Knabe's assistant, entered the apartment of her employer on the morning of October 24, 1911, she found Dr. Knabe dead upon her bed, with her head almost severed from the body. Her body was naked, her night robe rolled up under her arms and a pillow upon her throat. Miss McPherson called a physician, who decided that Dr. Knabe had been dead for at least six hours. The police authorities were notified, but were unable to solve the mystery of the case. No knife or any other sharp instrument was found in the bed room and most surprising of all, with the exception of a few drops on the sheet no blood was found on the bed or anywhere in the apartment. There was no evidence of any struggle and the police authorities finally gave out the rather absurd statement that it was a case of suicide.

The Indianapolis Council of Women, composed of many prominent women, was not satisfied with the explanation given by the police and employed H. C. Webster, a private detective, to investigate the case. It was upon the information submitted by Webster that the grand jury took up the case and indicted Dr. Craig and Mr. Ragsdale. It was ascertained by the detective that Dr. Craig, a widower with several children, was an intimate friend of Dr. Knabe and a frequent visitor at her apartment. She also frequently visited him at his home. It is alleged that Dr. Knabe wished Dr. Craig to marry her, but that he did not want to do so. It was further ascertained that Dr. Knabe visited the Craig home on the evening before her death under the pretext to return a book she had borrowed. It is not positively known what took place in Dr. Knabe's apartment on the night of the murder, but the prosecution is confident to be able to connect Dr. Craig with the crime. Mr. Ragsdale, it is believed, was only an accessory after the fact.
