COMPLIMENTS FROM THE FAR EAST.— The following reference is taken from the City Council report as published in the Kamloops, B. C., Sentinel. Mr. Jas. Paton, ex-Mayor of Charlottetown, P. E. I., was present, and was welcomed by the Mayor, who invited the visitor to give a little address if he felt so disposed. Mr. Paton briefly responded, offering congratulations on the bright and markedly attractive aspect of the city. It was, he said, his first trip to the West, and he found this a most delightful place, the splendid lighting system and other improvements being the subject of special praise, and everything here was two months ahead of things in Prince Edward Island, as regards Nature's display, the spring verdure and budding trees hardly being due there until late in May; still they regard it as the Garden of the Gulf and the prettiest place in Canada, with all due regard to the other claimants dut in this direction, and he should gladly welcome any visitor from the Kamloops audience present, and entertain them with the scenery and fishing on the first possible occasion.

JOSEPH J. STEELE.

A telegram on the 10th inst. from the Very Rev. Dr. Kirwin, President of St. Mary's Seminary, la Porte, Galveston, Texas, announced the death of Joseph J. Steele, Ecclesiastical student of the institution. Although his relatives here and in St. George's knew, through letters that an attack of grip had seized him some two months ago still they never for a moment suspected any serious consequences so that the message of death came as a distinct shock to them all.

The deceased was a son of the late Peter Steele and Christina McLellan of Little Pond, Kings County, and at the time of his death was in his 28th year. As a youth he gave promises of a splendid future. Joined to an amiable disposition was a bright intelligence and now his friends feelingly recall how popular he was among his companions and how easily he led in his classes in school. He was, besides, fortunate in having exceptionally fine home training to which he was indebted for that charming character for which he was so universally admired.

In due time he qualified as teacher and for a few years taught with marvellous success. With the experience thus gained his views of life broadened, opening up to him a vista of attractive possibilities. The church, however, seemed to appeal more forcibly to his gentle and noble character than aught else and now we find him listed in the roster of St. Dunstan's College.

Here his bright talents shone forth in all his classes and naturally enough he was easily singled out by Very Rev. Dr. Kelley of the Catholic Church Extension when he was on a visit to his homeland in search of suitable timber for Extension work. The adoption of young Steele cheered the Doctor's heart and arrangements were immediately made for the further prosecution of his studies in Rome. He left in October, 1909, and for three years distinguished himself among his peers until the Roman climate began to deal hard with him as it so frequently does with foreign students. He yielded reluctantly to his medical adviser who under the circumstances considered it advisable for him to try a more congenial climate. With a sad heart he leaves for Chicago, the headquarters of the Church Extension Society.

After spending a year or so there recuperating, he resumed his studies at La Porte, Galveston. All went well there till just on the eve of the completion of his studies, with the realization of his fondest hopes almost within his grasp, to the great disappointment of his friends, an illness extending over some two months suddenly closes his career as the telegram set forth.

Such are the ways of Providence. Man proposes, but God disposes. The Mission labors he was fitting himself to discharge will now be discharged by others—companions of his own — who will have his spirit of sacrifice, his thirst for souls, his love for the extension of God's kingdom on earth, and thus will he still live on through their lives, the while his spirit, his thirst, his love inspiring, energizing and spiritualiting their every missionary effort.—R.I.P.

BRITISH TRAWLERS FISHING IN THE GULF OF ALASKA.

SEWARD, Alaska, April 17.— Two British steam trowlers, driven from the fishing banks in the North Sea, by the menace of floating mines, are fishing in the Gulf of Alaska, according to officers of the United States coast guard cutter Manning, which arrived here yesterday from Sitka. The British trawlers are making their headquarters, at Prince Rupert, B. C., but are cruising far out in the Gulf of Alaska. The Manning's officers said the trawlers, which were sighted off Montague Island, at the entrance of Prince William Sound, are obeying the law, and fishing well outside the three mile limit.

KAISER VISITED AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

GENEVA, April 17.—via Jaris, April 14.—Information has reached Geneva tending to confirm the reports that Emperor William paid a visit late last month to Emperor Francis Joseph. According to this information, Emperor William hastily determined to visit Emperor Francis Joseph, upon receiving from Prince Von Buelow, German Ambassador to Italy, a message to the effect that negotiations between Austria and Italy concerning concessions by Austria as the price of Italy's neutrality had failed.

Emperor William at once ordered his special train to be prepared and, accompanied by two officers, he set forth to Vienna, travelling incognito, by way of Munich. The train was stopped near the castle of Schoenbrunn, on the outskirts of Vienna, to which Emperor William went by motor car.

With Francis Joseph were Baron Von Burian, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister and Count Tisza, the Hungarian Premier. Emperor William is said to have conversed with them for three hours. He returned to his waiting train and hurried back to Germany.
