were attempting to break the flight record from England to Australia.

Hours passed without word of the celebrated long distance pilot, whose monoplanes were equipped with a wireless.

Ships at sea were warned to keep a sharp lookout. Aviation officials here pointed out that if the veteran pilot landed in water without crashing he might be able to lighten his plane sufficiently to remain afloat for at least two days.

James Melrose, who was flying from England to Australia, said he had flown above Kingsford-Smith's plane over the Bay of Bengal.

(The Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Singapore reported to London that Melrose said Kingsford-Smith and Pellybridge were battling a raging monsoon. (Flames appeared to be shooting from the exhaust of the ship, the correspondent reported. The pilots were said to be about 150 miles from shore and flying at an altitude of 200 feet.)

B. C. Root Crops Suffer Heavy Frost Damage

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

VICTORIA, Nov. 8.—J. A. Grant, markets official, prepared today to start an inspection of British Columbia root crops with reports here placing frost damage as high as $2,000,000 and hinting high prices for potatoes.

Mr. Grant will start his tour at the end of this week and his job will be to measure the damage which reports here said was extensive.

Potatoes suffered the worst although other crops were affected also. The damage is expected to turn a surplus of potatoes into a shortage.

Prominent Resident Of Albany Dies

The community of Albany learned with sincere regret of the sudden death on Wednesday evening of Mr. John W. Muttart, a prominent farmer of Albany. Mr. Muttart was only 45 years of age and had been ill with pneumonia. He was feeling better and had intended to get up when he took a sudden weak turn and passed away.

Mr. Muttart lived on the old Muttart homestead owned by his father the late Alexander Muttart, whose death occurred only two or three months ago.

He was a highly respected citizen and a prominent Conservative. He was always ready to support any movement for the benefit of the community. He was a successful farmer.

Mr. Muttart was a member of Seven Mile Bay Church and very active in the welfare of the parish. He leaves to cherish his memory, his widow, formerly Miss Lena McVarish of Morell, Lot 40, five little daughters Hilda, Helen, Doris, Elsie and Freda. Also two brothers, James in Calgary and George in Seven Mile Bay; and two sisters, Mrs. John P. Shields and Mrs. J. P. Goodwin of Boston, Mass. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.—S

French Deputy On Stand In Swindle Case

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Deputy Henry Garat defended himself today against charges of complicity in the notorious Stavisky swindles by asserting persons in high places had deceived him into trusting Serge Stavisky.

Garat, former Mayor and political leader of Bayonne, testified in the trial in which he and 19 other alleged associates of Stavisky are accused of complicity in financial misdealings which shook all France and which were followed by Stavisky's death in an Alpine villa.

He declared he had permitted Stavisky to organize the Bayonne official pawnshop on recommendation of highly-placed acquaintances of the swindler.

Garat accused employees of the pawnshop, whose operations the prosecution charges were fraudulent, of misinformation, in connecting him with illegal dealings. Gustave Tissier, manager of the pawnshop, had testified that Garat directed his actions and that Garat concealed the unlawful operations of the pawnshop.

Presented With Life Membership

At the regular meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of Trinity United Church, held recently, Miss Mildred Slackford was presented with a life membership certificate.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Boundy. The President, Miss Zilpha MacQuarrie presided. After the devotional period, a pageant was put on by ten young ladies. The pageant was very well put on, and cleverly presented. The title was "The Voices of Women."

Mrs. (Rev.) Davies conducted the Study hour. Letters were read from Miss Louise Calbeck, formerly of Bedouin and now a missionary in Japan; and from Miss Alice Gordon, working with the Home Missions in North Manitoba.

The evening was a very successful one and at the conclusion of the program a dainty lunch was served.—S

Restless Nights - Peppless Days Take the Joy Out of Life

The potent cause lies in the hurried life we lead, in the extreme nervous tension and fever heat with which we follow in the pursuit of wealth, position and pleasure.

Late hours, want of necessary rest, excessive mental or physical exertion all put a strain on the system it is unable to withstand. No wonder then you pass restless nights and get up in the morning with no ambition to go about your daily tasks.

TRADE MATTERS DISCUSSED AT WASHINGTON

Premier King And Secretary Of State Hull Hold Conversation.

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt today gave his blessing to the trade negotiations progressing between Canada and the United States, and expressed the hope that a treaty on as broad a basis as possible would be completed at an early date.

Canadian trade matters held the spotlight at the White House press conference this afternoon, because of the interest aroused over the presence in Washington of Prime Minister Mackenzie King who went to the White House late this afternoon for an overnight visit.

When President Roosevelt met close to 100 Washington correspondents in the executive mansion this afternoon he had not yet talked to Mr. King but he had discussed the proposed treaty with Secretary Hull and other state department officials during the morning.

Mr. Roosevelt said there had been a long list of commodities thrown upon the conference table where Canadian and United States experts have been struggling since last Monday to reach a treaty basis, but he was not prepared to discuss the negotiations in any detail.

The whole aim was to increase the volume of trade between the two countries and the President said he hopes to see some arrangement completed soon to achieve that end.

Earlier today Mr. King visited the state department and spent an hour with Secretary Hull after which Mr. Hull met the correspondents. But there was little definite news of the negotiations.

Secretary Hull said his talk with the Prime Minister was entirely general, dealing with domestic economic conditions in each country and the international economic phases as each country would be interested. No attempt was made to discuss any particular item on the tariff schedule and no concrete reference was made, the Secretary said, to the Ottawa trade agreements in their relation to the proposed Canada-United States Pact.

When Mr. King left the State Department after his talk with Secretary Hull he told questioning reporters "it would not be safe to assume anything" in respect to the nature of his discussions. The Prime Minister steadfastly maintained that his visit to Washington is not of an official nature but only a matter of paying his respects to the United States President before proceeding farther south to spend a holiday.

Other encore numbers which were enthusiastically acclaimed included Massfield's popular "Pirate" ballad, "An Old, Bold Mate of Henry Morgan," also "The Old Black Mare," "An American Lullaby" and "Old Man River."

Following was the programme:

With Thine Eyes" set to a new and interesting arrangement by Roger Quilter. These numbers, supplemented by a selection from Massfield's opera "Heloise", sung as a final encore piece, were received with particular appreciation.

A stirring favorite, "The Trumpeter", was given as an encore dedicated by the singer to the memory of Canadian soldiers who died in the Great War.

Other encore numbers which were enthusiastically acclaimed included Massfield's popular "Pirate" ballad, "An Old, Bold Mate of Henry Morgan," also "The Old Black Mare," "An American Lullaby" and "Old Man River."

nel, important "gateway to Harar."

Native runners from General Pietro Maravignani's column of the right raced into field headquarters to report the western commander had sent "raking squadrons" far into the Adi Abo territory which leads to Lake Tana.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 8.—(C. P. Havas)—A clash was reported tonight at Dagabur, Ethiopian stronghold in the southeast sector on the Jerrer River. Tribesmen commanded by Ras Nasibu and General Wahib Fasala were fighting with General Rodolfo Graziani's Italian forces, according to dispatches from Harar.

Fascist planes were reported engaged in violent bombardment of Dagabur, which lies 140 miles southeast of Harar.

At the same time Emperor Haile Selassie's lieutenants at Harar informed the government that their evacuation of Gorrabel, 125 miles south of Dagabur on the Pafan River, had been ordered.

(Dispatches from Rome quoted Italian sources as announcing the capture of Gorrabel.)

Official circles here declared 700,000 Ethiopians on the northern and southeastern fronts were ready to fight. Half a million men have been assembled along a vast front south of Makale to stem the Italian march toward Dessye, while 200,000 warriors under Ras Destia Demtu are pushing toward Italian strongholds in Ogaden Province, it was stated.

ROME, Nov. 8.—Gorrabel, "gateway" to Harar and interior Ethiopia from Italian Somaliland, was stormed and taken today by native troops of Italy's southern army.

The fortified post for weeks has been a coveted Italian objective. It commands caravan trails of southeastern Ethiopia and dominates the water supply of the region. Its capture was Italy's second major triumph of the day. The northern army occupied Makale without the firing of a shot, an official communique disclosed.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 8.—Senator A. D. McRae of Vancouver predicted today another war involving Great Britain within five years, and said he would be willing to organize an army to keep Canada out of it.

"Although I can evade army service through the age limit, I am willing to organize my own private army to fight against Canadian participation in a war,"

When the easiest way is the best way . . .

There are no two ways about it! Certainly the easiest way to get the most for every dollar you spend is to buy products that you know about through the advertisements in your daily paper. You don't have to go out and look for buying opportunities. The advertisements bring them to you. And all you need do is consider the facts, compare values and decide on the soap or the sedan that best fits your judgment and your pocketbook.

Certainly the best way of making your money go farthest is to buy merchandise of proved value. Advertised merchandise. Merchandise that is bought and used by many people. Merchandise that must be superlatively good enough for its maker to keep calling it to the attention of people day after day and year after year.

This is the service—of convenience and profit—that the advertisements offer you every day. It will pay you to read them regularly and take advantage of everything they can do for you.

General McRae declared, "They should start in at the cradle and train European races out of the prejudices that start these conflicts," declared the General. "Let the Europeans murder themselves in the war that is inevitable."

General McRae praised President Roosevelt and the new deal. "Criticism of Roosevelt," he said, "is too strong. Something had to be done, and he was the man willing to do it. The President and all America are popular with Canadians at this time, because we are socially and economically intertwined."

General McRae's remarks were made during a discussion at his hotel suite with General Donald Hogarth, a former Canadian quartermaster-general, and Col. Victor Spencer, who commanded infantry troops during the Boer and Great Wars. They are here inspecting oil holdings.
