AIRPORT WORK TO BEGIN-Harold B. Schurman of the firm of M.F. Schurman and Company, wood workers at Summerside said after his return from Ottawa Monday his firm will begin work on construction of a half dozen buildings at the Charlottetown airport at once.

PERSONALS-Lieut. W. D. Sherrin, R. C. A., left Monday morning for Petawawa after spending a short furlough with his wife in Charlottetown.

MISS IDA GILLIS who spent a few days with relatives in Summerside, E. I., returned to her home in Trenton, N. S.-New Glasgow, Evening News.

THE MISSES Mary Andrews and Kay Gillis, accompanied by Messrs. Brown and Francis Cameron, all of New Waterford, who left here a few days ago, by motor on a trip to Charlottetown, P. E. I., arrived in town yesterday and were overnight guests of Mrs. John MacEachern and daughter, Miss Frances, leaving today on return to their home in New Waterford, after an enjoyable trip.-New Glasgow Evening News.

MANY other institutions were closed, orders were reported for bonds worth $33,674,700-above the $33,000,000 average needed to put the loan over.

WINNIPEG was listed well in the lead among larger cities with subscriptions totalling $19,875,750 or 82 per cent of its quota.

AMONG the smaller centres, Summerside was leading with subscriptions of $206,750 or 91.4 per cent, followed by Moncton with $677,050 or 90.2 per cent; Moose Jaw, Sask., $251,050 or 99 per cent; Charlottetown, $320,950 or 58.3 per cent; Glace Bay, $228,150 or 45.8 per cent; Brandon, $252,750 or 43 per cent; Sydney, $486,950 or 24.3 per cent and Sherbrooke, Que., $417,100 or 14 per cent.

A curious thing happened yesterday and something which many consider a very peculiar coincidence. The large Victory Loan thermometer which is set up on the Weight scales in this City, which is used to indicate the total subscriptions at the end of each day and is operated by "the pull of a rope" was found at noon yesterday to be registering total subscriptions of $350,000. The discoverer got quite excited and rushed up to Victory Loan Headquarters to find out the amount showing was correct. He was told that there must be some mistake as the total had not been changed from the previous day when $320,950 was registered and had not been changed. Speculation as to what had been the cause of the phenomena finally arrived at the correct conclusion which was that the rope had tightened the scale causing the thermometer to soar to $350,000 which curiously enough was very little above the total achieved when the shades of night arrived and the staff issued the grand total of $348,300.

OTTAWA, June 10-(CP)-Continued strong support by the investor for Canada's $600,000,000 Victory Loan 1941 was reported tonight by national loan headquarters.

No new figures were available tonight, but officials said "there is little doubt the man in the street is carrying the torch for 292,566 individuals already have subscribed."

Latest total of subscriptions was reported this morning at $309,897,400, past the half-way mark in the campaign. On the King's Birthday, despite the fact banks and

Anti-aircraft Battery filling Up rapidly

Yesterday applications for the 8th Heavy (Mobile) anti-aircraft battery were received to the number of 20 and almost all of them were passed as A's. They were a splendid type of young, healthy and intelligent Islanders-just the kind required for the exciting and accurate work they will undertake.

Of them were from the trainees of 21 years of age at Beach Grove Inn and two were from the C.O.T.C. of St. Dunstan's University.

The next few days will see this unit completed and shortly in training at Petawawa. 110 of the 155 N. C. O's and gunners will be from Prince Edward Island and 45 from Sydney, N. S. The other 15 officers are from Prince Edward Island.

Quick work on the part of intending recruits can secure a place in what will be a unit of the first class and one unequalled from the soldiers' standpoint.

Healthy, intelligent young men of Prince Edward Island, don't pass up this opportunity to enlist today or tomorrow. If you join you will never regret it.

U. S. PROBING

At the same time, the state department had received from Jefferson Caffrey, American ambassador to Brazil an assertion that the ship was sunk, but no further details. This was the only official information in the possession of the government.

Through commercial radio channels the United States received a message saying the Robin Moor was "torpedoed by a German submarine."

The Robin Moor, a craft of 5,000 tons, sailed from New York on May 6 for Cape Town, South Africa via a general cargo ship. A maritime commission said its information was that this included no munitions.

On May 21, the ship sank at longitude 615 north, latitude 25.30 south, position some 700 miles south of the Cape Verde Islands, and a similar distance from Dakar, French West Africa. The crew and passengers took to the sea in four lifeboats.

On Sunday, the Osirio, plying from Norfolk, Va., to Rio De Janeiro came upon one of the boats, a few hundred miles north of the easternmost protrusion of South America, 600 miles from the position of the sinking. Captain Lucio sent the Associated Press the following message at midnight last night.

"On June 8, at 9 o'clock in the evening, in latitude 0.46 north and longitude 37.37 west, I rescued 11 survivors in one lifeboat, 11 from the North American ship Robin Moor, which was torpedoed May 21 at the position latitude 65 north, longitude 25.30 west.

"Their names are John J. Baniagay, Karl Nilson, Virgil Sandberg, William B. Barry, Robert Butts, Donald Schabliess, H.O. Rice, R. Carlisle, Antonio Santos, Hugh Murphy, and P. C. Eccles.

"The saved members of the crew declared there were three more lifeboats, with 26 members of the crew and seven passengers, including three women and one child.

"The commander of the Brazilian ship Tamandare, which I also requested to investigate, said that about 1 p. m. yesterday I found pieces of baggage containing one suitcase and children's toys.

"Unfortunately nothing more has been found up to now.

"Among the 11 rescued are three officers.

"We are continuing to receive (Perambuco) Brazil, where we expect to arrive tomorrow night."

Word of the sinking of the Robin Moor and the attendant circumstances brought unforgotten concern to Washington officialdom, concerning the possibility of a significant proportion of significant munitions. Speculation was rife, and included the possibility that Germany was using Dakar as a submarine base, which has been unofficially reported to be the case several times.

Annual meeting Of registered Nurses Assn.

The Annual Meeting of the Prince Edward Island Registered Nurses Association was held at the Charlottetown Hotel, Tuesday afternoon and evening, June 10, 1941, with the President, Mrs. C. H. Beer, R.N., in the chair.

In her report, Mrs. Beer outlined the work of the Association for the last year, referring especially to the war work which has been covered in weekly meetings at the hospitals.

Last fall 42 graduate nurses completed the St. John's Ambulance Course and received their vouchers.

Up to the present time 29 nurses have been called for military duty, thus entailing a serious shortage of qualified institutions in the hospital and general duty nurses.

She went on to urge the hospital superintendents to maintain their standards of entrance to schools of nursing. This is not acceptable in a few years the profession will be overcrowded with nurses who have low educational standards and who will not be able to take their places in the Canadian Nurses' Association.

She urged the young graduates to take, whenever possible, university courses or post-graduate experience in large hospitals.

During the year, the Association voted the sum of $7200 for the Civilian Nurses Air Raid Victims' Fund and the president encouraged all nurses to contribute a systematic gift to this fund.

In conclusion she said "it is difficult to surmise what may be before us, but whatever it is, nurses stand together and do their bit. This is the day of battle on the home front as well as abroad and every one of us old and young, must rally to the colors."

Following the reports were received from all three sections, standing committees and special committees, all of which showed satisfactory progress.

Miss G. Brown, R.N., Convenor of Hospital and School of Nursing section, reported the addition of two subjects to the nurses' registration examinations. The three general subjects in Prince Edward Island now have twelve-hour duty for private duty nurses. Alumnae associations are well organized and are doing much to further nursing education.

Miss Ora Proffitt, R.N., chairman of the Nursing Service, Disaster Relief Committee, spoke briefly on this work and demonstrated the first aid kit in use in the various emergency centres throughout the city.

Dr. Joseph MacMillan followed with a very interesting address on blood transfusions, especially the value of transfusions of whole blood or plasma and outlined the uses of deoxygenated blood in emergencies.

Miss Jean Wilson, R.N., Executive Secretary of the Canadian Nurses Association, took part in the afternoon discussions and was guest speaker at the dinner meeting during the adjournment.

The National and Provincial Organizations stating that in the former there are now 17,724 members in good standing. She also outlined the co-operation of the National and Provincial Organizations in the maintenance of their professional education and to assume their responsibilities in answer to the challenge of overseas nurses in the work they are doing.

Now that many of the old, well recognized hospitals in the British Isles have been destroyed, Canada must be prepared to carry on the great work of furthering nursing education.

"There is nothing that nurses and nursing in Canada cannot accomplish.

During the dinner members were delightfully entertained with duets and solos by Mrs. J. A. Lawson and Mrs. N. D. MacLean, R.N., with Miss Audrey Gillis accompanist.

The following slate of officers were elected. President, Miss Katharine MacLennan, B.A., R.N. Vice-President, Miss Mary Devaney, R.N. Secretary, Miss Anna Blair, R.N. Treasurer-Registrar, Sister Mary Magdalen, R.N. Chairman Hospital and School of Nursing section, Miss George Brown, R.N. Chairman General Duty Section, Miss Dorothy Hennessey, R.N. Chairman Public Health, Miss Margaret Darling, P.H.N.

Receive Red Cross prisoners Of war parcels

The first postcards from British Prisoners of War in Germany acknowledging receipt of Canadian Red Cross Food Parcels packed at Chorley Park Toronto, were received at the Society's National Headquarters, Dr. F. W. Routley, National Commissioner announced. The cards of which there were eight, give positive proof that Prisoners of War Parcels sent from Canada are reaching German camps and being given to British soldiers.

Dr. Routley pointed out. The parcels were the first shipment to leave Toronto in January and the return postcards were mailed back to Canada from Germany in April. The delay in delivering food parcels was due to shipping difficulties at Lisbon, Dr. Routley said.

British prisoners of war who acknowledged getting Canadian Red Cross food parcels were George Bruce, C.S.M. 6016; G. C. Duckworth, Rod Davey, R.O.M.S. 10114, all of Stalag XXIII; Lance Corporal P. L. Brown, E. C. 7126 and Gunner N. Routley, T. 5318 both of Stalag XXII; BH. To date Two Hundred and Five Thousand food parcels have been shipped from Toronto to New York from which point they go to Lisbon, Marseilles, and Geneva.

International Red Cross Officials handle the distribution to prison camps in Germany. Each camp elects a British spokesman who receives the parcels for all prisoners of war and requires them to fill in the postcards which are enclosed in every box. The cards are given to the International Red Cross officials and mailed back to Canada from Geneva. The Canadian Red Cross is packing 10,000 food parcels a week at a cost of One Million Five Hundred Dollars a year.

Just before adjournment Finance Minister Ilesley submitted further supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year amounting to $48,453,000 of which $45,000,000 was to take care of compensations to provinces which accept the government proposal that they vacate income tax fields.

Although the special committee on war expenditures was set up early in the session at the suggestion of Conservative House Leader Hanson, its strongest critics were Conservatives, particularly John Diefenbaker (Lake Centre), Howard Green (Vancouver South) and Joseph Harris (Toronto-Danforth).

They charged it had been so handled by the government supporters who were in the majority by 18 to six that its value was lost. Political influence had been used, they charged, and proceedings kept secret. It concerned expenditures and administration matters that could be made public without damage to the war effort.

"I must confess," Mr. Sturges-Yarmouth (Clare) who was the last speaker declared he had "heard more partisan politics talked today than one would hear in months before this committee was set up."

He could draw no other conclusion but that the Conservatives, who had backed the committee in the first place, now wanted to destroy it.

Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib. Montserrat) was the Liberal most outspoken in his criticism of the committee, claiming that it had not investigated matters it should have studied. Mr. Pouliot suggested the committee had "instructions" from Munitions Minister Howe "not to touch that department."

Department of defence should do their own purchasing, Mr. Pouliot said and he suggested the Munitions and Supply Department be abolished.

"If I were whether the chairman of the committee did not have instructions from the Minister of Munitions and Supply not to touch that department," Mr. Pouliot said. "I may inform the honorable member that the chairman had no instructions from the Minister of Munitions and Supply, nor from the Minister of Defence. Joseph Thorson (Lib. Selkirk) chairman of the committee.

"I will ask the honorable member to sit down," Mr. Pouliot exclaimed. "I do not want him to speak at this time. He will reply in due course. I do not want to be interrupted by anybody."

Mr. Thorson moved adoption of the committee's report when the House met this morning and the debate on his motion occurred during the morning and afternoon sittings.

Charges that the committee, made up of 18 Liberals and six Opposition group representatives, was dominated by political considerations, were made by Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South). He said "steam roller tactics" were used to prevent Opposition members having their say.

The committee was set up early this spring to inquire into the manner in which public money was being spent for war purposes and many of its meetings were held in private.

Mr. Thorson said it was obvious the committee could not complete its work during the sitting of the House nor even during the forthcoming adjournment. It should function throughout the war, he said.

A recommendation in the report is that the committee sit steadily during the adjournment of parliament and it has been reported that its members will be given $15 a day compensation for expenses.

Members of Parliament receive $4,000 a year sessional indemnity and receive it all during about three months of the first Parliamentary session of each year with some additional allowance for travelling mileage.

John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) was opposed to members accepting the extra $15 a day during adjournment.

Other members did not touch upon this subject except John Diefenbaker, leader of the New Democracy, who was not a member of the committee but had one of his followers on it. He said there should be an allowance but "it should be moderate."

When the Conservatives attempted to have certain meetings of the committee and sub-committees held in public "we were promptly voted down," Mr. Green said.

"The old steam roller was brought out and put into gear and we were run over by the government majority," he said.

"There was a tendency to 'pull punches' when dealing with certain phases of defence expenditures, and there was a chorus of "oh's" and "now, now's" from the Opposition ranks.

"What about these insinuations?" asked Mr. Howe.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if Mr. Thorson wanted to know if there were any evidence of over-expenditure, he would refer to it.

"Make your charges," said Mr. Howe.

"You sit down!" exclaimed Mr. Hanson.

"I am not going to sit down," Mr. Howe shot back. "It is a debate anyone can take part in."

"You are not in charge today," Mr. Hanson said. "You sit down and let the honorable member make his speech," Mr. Diefenbaker continued.
