SENSATION IN MONTREAL POLICE COURT

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—A sensation has been caused by some remarks made by Recorder Dupuis in sentencing a prisoner in his court this morning. The woman was accused of keeping a disorderly house. This woman apparently defies the court and is laughing at it, said the recorder, "but I do not blame her, I will see the attorney general and endeavor to have an inquiry to get to the bottom of this matter because I cannot make up my mind that there is not something wrong. I do not believe that a man like Mr. Sycotte would do the work he is doing just for the pleasure of doing it. It is perfectly useless for me to sentence this woman to jail because in five minutes from now Mr. Sycotte would give her liberty. The administration of justice by this court is nothing more or less than a joke since Mr. Sycotte has taken upon himself to do away with the judgments of this court."
Mr. Sycotte was amazed when told of the recorder's remarks. As clerk of the court of king's bench, he explained, he received notices of appeals entered by this woman in accordance with the law, and exacted security from her as the law demands. It was true that some of these women after being convicted in the recorder's court, and entering an appeal, had left the city, but the city was rid of them and this was a good thing. He declared that he intended seeing what Recorder Dupuis meant by his remarks.

KING GEORGE V ON THE TURF.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—All doubts as to whether King George V. will become a patron of the turf are set at rest by the official publication of numerous entries in his Majesty's name in the races to be run after expiration of the year of mourning for King Edward.

King George has adopted his father's racing colors and also engaged his trainer and jockey.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

At Palmer Road on the Feast of the Epiphany, High Mass was sung by the Rev. Father Gauthier. Father Johnson preached a very touching sermon on "The Uncertainty of Life" and as soon as he descended from the pulpit Richard McInnis and Albert Kennedy advanced to the altar rail and presented him with $100 in gold and the following address, to which the good Father, who was very much surprised, replied in fitting terms—

Reverend and Dear Father—Five or six months ago, we the parishioners of Palmer Road, did not know you. You then came amongst us a perfect stranger, but during these few short months we have learned not only to know but also to love you and to appreciate highly your zeal and faithful endeavors in this part of the Lord's vineyard. Since your advent amongst us you have ever been ready to advise and instruct and your kindness and charity have won for you the respect, the esteem and the love of all.

During this glad season, then, when men are wont to express in one way or another, their good will to their fellowmen, we have thought it our duty to tender you a tangible proof of our esteem and consideration, an earnest of our respect for your sacred calling and of our high appreciation of the salutary work you have ever tried to accomplish.

In presenting you the accompanying purse we trust, nay, we are sure that it will be accepted in the spirit it is given. Further, we all sincerely formulate the wish that God may grant you an ample measure of happiness during the year 1911 and that He may guard and preserve you for many a long year to do faithful work in His Kingdom upon earth.

In conclusion if we were permitted to ask you a favor, Rev. Father, it would be that you remember us in your good prayers. Committee on behalf of parishioners.

VERMONT WOMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

Following the granting of the motion for a continuance, Attorney-General Sargent moved that the defendant's bail be raised from $8,000 to $12,000. Judge Stanton granted this motion. Mrs. Dodge was then given into the care of High Sheriff Beattie to wait until her relatives raised the additional $4,000 surety.

Three justices presided at the proceedings. They are Judge Stanton and two associates, Judge McGinnis and Judge Brown. Judge Brown was the justice of the peace before whom Mrs. Dodge was first arraigned. He has since been made judge. He is Mrs. Dodge's cousin by marriage, and will preside with the other two judges when her trial for murder takes place.

Heath was shot while painting the interior of Mrs. Dodge's house. Mrs. Dodge herself gave the alarm. It was at first thought he was a suicide, but the autopsy showed that he could not have shot himself.

Mrs. Dodge was indicted. She has never been in jail. So far the government has been unable to supply a motive, as Mrs. Dodge's past life is blameless. Heath was shot with Mrs. Dodge's revolver. This much she admits.

DENIES MONOPOLY ON THE ATLANTIC

"Last spring the government began an investigation. The lines informed the United States attorney that if any of the practices were illegal, they were perfectly willing to discontinue the same. The matter, we believe, was referred to the attorney general and it being thought that there was doubt as to the legality of certain ways in which the steamship lines were doing business, it was determined to bring an equity action which would raise the whole question of the legality of the practices and we understand this suit is the result."

"Of course as to the legal and technical points involved, we are not sufficiently familiar with the law to pass upon these. But looking at the matter as practical business men, it

No "Saw Edges" On our Collars

We have a system of doing up collars that abolishes "saw-edges" collars. In turning and finishing collars we do the work scientifically, practical, proper.

We moisten along where the collar should turn, then turn and finish, this does not break collars or cause "saw edges".

Wouldn't it be a satisfaction to you to know that your linen would last longer and be free from the irritation of ragged edges.

BOVRIL

THE FLUID BEEF OF QUALITY

Sir James Crichton Browne, M. D. says: "BOVRIL is a genuine food and rests its reputation on merit" seems to us that ocean carriers can never have a monopoly of their business, because the ocean is free, and any person with capital can enter into the business with ease. The railroad has a comparative monopoly of the territory it serves, while in the case of ocean carriers all the territory is competitive.

The stevedore business is a very peculiar one, and must be handled by the united action of all the lines in order that serious abuses may not enter into it and in order to properly protect the interests of the immigrant. Passengers for ocean steamers come from parts of the country far removed from the port of embarkation, and the steamship lines must have thousands of agents all over the various countries. These agents, of course cannot be paid salaries, but have to be remunerated by the means of commissions. In the competition for business, many of the agents were splitting their commissions and so some of the passengers were getting a rebate or in other words, there was the same discrimination in the steamship business as there was in the railroad business before the interstate commerce law was passed.

"The lines have felt and still feel that all they have been doing and that is being done, is entirely legal and is in reality for the best interests of the stevedore passengers, but if it is determined in this suit that any of the practices are in violation of the law in any way they shall be only too glad to cease such practices."
