ST. JAMES' CHURCH (Continued from page one)

they think they are strong, and prove to them that just what has happened is what has been foretold. He shows them the necessity for Christ's suffering and the conviction that He must needs die on the Cross that the prophecy might be fulfilled. So clearly and so strongly does He expound the things they know to be true, that afterwards recalling His words they said one to another, "Did not our hearts burn within us while He talked with us by the way?"

That is the keynote of the Christian religion: it touches the heart, and the heart has won recognition which it never did in the old world and its religions. We find a class of people who say there is no religion in that wild enthusiasm which characterises certain phases of Christian experience. They would like to place the Standard of Christ on an iceberg, and have the whole religious life on one dead level of cultured reason. What we want in the church today is to be lifted out of our chill indifference. As the sun cannot remain in the winter solstice, no more can we be disciples of Christ unless we have the burning heart which responds to the teachings of Christ. The Gospel of Jesus Christ is a weak thing to us unless it makes our hearts burn as did those of the two disciples on the way to Emmaus. That is the secret of Christian progress. What we want today is not more light or more knowledge, or more heart, more power, more heart, not only in religion, but in all we have to do. It was the personality of Jesus Christ that wrought the change in those disciples, and it is personality that is the dominating influence in all great movements. If men can become enthusiastic over money, and wildly enthusiastic over politics, why should they not be enthusiastic over what concerns their soul's salvation? It is amazing the apathy even of the Church when one thinks of the tremendous fact of eternity. We trifle with the deepest concerns of life regardless of the fact that Jesus Christ came to show us the way of life, the necessity for suffering, and the exceeding sinfulness of sin.

To-night the subject of the discourse will be "The Bread of Life."

WOUNDED SOLDIER RETURNS TO CANADA

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., March 3.—Pierced by German bullets in three places, one through the leg and two through the chest, with a bayonet wound in the shoulder and suffering from rheumatism contracted in the muddy trenches, Harry Gibson, of this city, British army reservist, is home from the war pending his recovery, when he will resume the fight. He arrived in the city Saturday night after an experience that it falls to few men to go through and live. He left here in August and since the first little British army landed in France, and stayed the onrush of the great German war machine, he has been in the thick of the fighting. He was in practically every engagement at Mons and around the Marne, where the thin little line of Britishers held at bay the overwhelming forces of the Kaiser. Mr Gibson is one of the lucky few still living of his regiment, which was almost entirely wiped out.

THE ISLAND BAPTISTS AT BELMONT

On Monday, March the first, the Baptists of Prince Edward Island convened in their 82nd Quarterly Session at Belmont, at 7.30 p. m. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the President and Vice-President, Rev. A. Hurn took the chair.

After the usual opening exercises the Chairman called on the Rev. E. P. Calder to preach the sermon. The subject chosen was, "The Vision of Life." The preacher who has a wealth of expository talent, gave all present a treat as he dealt with: 1st, the Damascus vision, 2nd, the Troas vision, 3rd, the unutterable vision. The sermon was full of bright gems of thought and was followed by an enthusiastic Praise and Testimony service in which a large number took part.

TUESDAY MORNING SESSION.

At 9.45, Rev. A. Hurn took the chair and after the reading of the minutes and their adoption, the appointment of committees and general business, Church reports were received. All the churches that reported indicated progress, and the reports were followed by the reading of a paper prepared by Rev. W. E. Piper, and read by Rev. L. E. Ackland, on "The Church at Work." The paper indicated that much thought and effort had been expended in the preparation.

Another paper was then read by Rev. A. Hurn on "Work for and Amongst the Young." This paper was also of a very high order and sorrow was expressed that there was not more time to have a proper discussion of the points raised. Then followed a devotional service, in which Rev. E. P. Calder took the heart of those present by his interpretation of God's Truth.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The most part of this session was taken up by the ladies and the work of the Women's Mission Aid Societies was attended to.

After Scripture reading and a short address by Mrs. McNeill, of Knutsford, who presided, reports from the societies were received all indicating progress on last year. The Rev. L. E. Ackland was then called upon to give an address on the present encouragement in mission work. The speaker, an adept in the grouping of facts, gave a powerful picture of the world-wide beneficent influence of missions.

The Rev. A. Hurn again taking the chair, a conference was opened and free discussion took place on "Island Work." At the close of the motion an action was taken by the hands of the committee on resolutions. Then followed a discussion of the papers read at the morning session in which many took part and the writers received the thanks of the Conference for their effort.

After a devotional service, led by Rev. E. P. Calder, in which those present were led into the development stages of Christian knowledge, was enjoyed by all.

EVENING SESSION.

At 7.30 p.m., Rev. A. Hurn again in the chair, the report of the committee of resolutions was then called for and was read by the secretary.

Resolutions of appreciation for Rev. R. Morse, now in New Brunswick, were adopted with sympathy for Mrs. C. L. McLeure, in her sad loss, appreciation for Rev. W. E. Piper's paper, regrets at the unavoidable absence of Rev. W. D. Wilson, appreciation of hospitality of the people and church at Belmont, and a resolution regarding the pastoral operation and on motion were adopted.

Then followed an address by Rev. W. P. McVie, on the present situation of the Temperance question on P. E. Island and a vigorous protest was made against a decision of the Government Commission.

The Rev. J. C. Peacock followed with a vigorous sermon on the righteousness that tells. A Praise and Testimony service was then held, conducted by Rev. E. P. Calder and one of the most progressive of Quartet songs was brought to a close with earnest invitations from the people for a yearly return to Belmont.

SPY HUNTING HAS ITS FUNNY SIDE AT TIMES

LONDON, March 3.—The humors of spy-hunting are described by a British artillery officer writing from the front. "Three days ago," he says, "we had information that there was a spy in the neighborhood so one of our batteries, 'C' company, as they say, and informed all battery commanders that our spy was said to be a woman with flaming red hair, not very common in this part; or Belgium.

"The day after these instructions I came back about lunch time (a time of day I am most punctual) and was told that a corporal and two men had a 'lady' for me to see with a red head. I went out and found that she could speak nothing but Flemish; went back to lunch, and at the pudding stage said, 'Beg pardon, sir, but there is a corporal and two men with a red-headed lady for you to see.'

"I said I knew it already and went on eating. A few minutes later another tap and the same message. Thinking someone was trying to be funny at my expense, or that the corporal was tired of waiting, I used language and said if anyone else came and told me of the red-headed lady I would make the corporal wait all the afternoon. Finished an excellent lunch, and strolled slowly out of the back door to tell them to take the prisoner and the Assistant-Provost-Marshal—what was my horror to see three corporals, three files, and three 'red-headed' females.

BUILDING BUSINESS FOR NEXT SUMMER

Although there is a general cry of hard times and unemployment from all parts of Canada and the United States as a result of the financial depression caused by the war, there are few indications of any change for the worse in Charlottetown or for that matter, in the province. Business has been good in all lines and the crops harvested last fall are the biggest and most valuable ever raised in the province.

Now, with spring lengthening out the days, countries are naturally being made as to the prospects in building, which, after all, is one of the chief evidences of prosperity and growth. The loudest cry from cities elsewhere is that building has ceased. Present indications are that there will, this summer, be no material change in building operations in Charlottetown as compared with former years.

Indeed, it would appear as if a boom in building were about due. Among the buildings already mentioned: Mr. George A. Sharp has the plans and specifications prepared and the material on hand for a handsome concrete block bungalow, a new departure in residential buildings here and one which, judging by the worst in the province, will be an ornament to the city. The plans were designed by an architect in Los Angeles, Cal., and the building will be erected on Richmond street. The dimensions are, length 50 feet by 26 feet and on the first floor there will be a living room, dining room, den, kitchen, two bedrooms, a bathroom, a bathroom at front and rear, either of which can be converted into a bedroom.

Mr. D. Nicholson has plans prepared for a cottage on Fitzroy street. Mr. P. McDonald is preparing to build a 28 x 28 cottage on Rockford street.

Mr. Ernest Parkman, Contractor, is about to build a double tenement dwelling on Spring street, to be followed during the later summer by a handsome modern residence for himself at the corner of Euston and Spring streets.

Mr. James Gass intends building a cottage on School street.

WOUNDED BRITISH SOLDIER "BLED" TEA

LONDON, March 3.—A soldier writing home to his mother records the following remarkable escape from death: "I think you must have been praying for me because I had a marvellous escape. Lying down in the firing line on the brow of a bridge, a bullet struck me fair over the heart, boring a hole right through a bullet in my bandolier then turning and piercing my skin in two or three places across my chest. It just cut the skin below my last rib on the stomach and came out through my water bottle. I thought I was finished at first but found out that I was only slightly bruised and cut over the stomach. I was in an awful funk, as I had cold tea (black) in my bottle and when it started squirting out of the hole I made sure it was out of my stomach, and so did the other men near me. But thanks to God I am as fit as a fiddle now, if a little sore."
