Courtship

The symposium on "Courtship" held in Holy Redeemer Hall, on Monday evening, was, as might have been expected, an unqualified success. It took the interesting form of a Sunday-afternoon visit of three winsome graduates to the convalescent of their Alma Mater, while waiting for the arrival of "Sister" the girls twit one another about their fellows. The twitting is fast turning to seriousness when "Sister" enters. Overhearing the last words of the conversation, she insists on the girls unbending themselves to her. One of the grads asks if it is wrong to have fellows. To which the Sister replies: "It all depends how badly you have them. They are like the gripe or measles!"

One word borrows another, until pupils and teacher become immersed in their subject. The grads are representative Catholic ladies; they have always been a credit to Alma Mater and a credit they wish to remain. In this lovely spirit they discuss with one whom they have learned to love as a mother, the very vital subject of courtship. "Company-keeping," says "Sister" Mary Daniel, "is sometimes necessary, sometimes unnecessary, often wrong, and always dangerous." Taking these four points as her theme, she treats them in an exhaustive and masterful manner. She also answers all the questions levelled at her and in general dispenses a quantity of advice that is precious and that parents would do well to dispense, not once, but frequently to their puzzled and bewildered children.

The very difficult role of "Sister" Mary Daniel was played admirably by Miss Nan Leightzeiser. The winsome "Grads" were winsomely played by Miss Edna Richard, Miss Teresa Smith and Miss Eileen Whelan.

At Monday's evening symposium, the members of the Catholic Guild were hosts to the married ladies of the parish. As a consequence...

BROKE HER LEG AGAINST A STAIR

Whilst Hammered by Rheumatism

"Two years ago," writes a woman, "I was suffering with rheumatism in my legs, and when walking upstairs one day I tripped and my right foot caught in the stair, and broke my leg just below the knee. I was in hospital for four months, and when I came out someone advised me to try Russian Balm. I did so, and now I have no trace of rheumatism. I would not be without my daily dose of Russian Balm, which I take every morning—half a teaspoonful in warm water."—L-3698-1-17-11.

Parliament Pays Tribute To Former Islander

Tributed to a former Prince Edward Islander, the late George Brecken Nicholson, M.P. for East Algoma, were paid in the House of Commons on Jan. 18 by both Premier Bennett and Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. The Prime Minister first referred to the loss incurred by the deaths of J. A. Dennis M.P. for St. Dennis, the Hon. W. A. Milestone, the Yellowgrass, Rosedale and Prince Albert, in Saskatchewan. He has for a time principal of the Indian Industrial School at Battleford. He was pastor of the First Christian Church in Lethbridge for four years before coming to Calgary.

"The last of our members to leave us was George Brecken Nicholson, the late member for the constituency of East Algoma, born in Prince Edward Island, early in life the late Mr. Nicholson came to what was then called the western part of Canada. In those days any part of the country beyond the northern boundaries of New Brunswick was known as Canada West. He had been associated with the building of a section of the Canadian Pacific railway and had always been proud of the fact that the building to carry his union card. I believe that for a short period he was a fireman, and rejoined in the fact that his relatives are standing in the union organization. The last member was deeply interested in the growth of the community in which he lived, namely, the town of Chapleau. His business expanded to the point where in the latter days of his life he controlled a very large enterprise employing great numbers of men. He was a man I think at times much misunderstood by his relatives, but he was strong in his convictions, determined in his ways, those who knew him and lived in the community in which he resided or in the district in which he was engaged, always spoke of him in a warm and kindly way. I recall reading in an Ottawa newspaper a letter from a correspondent written after he had passed, and I thought of him as I still think, that if any of them knew us, they speak in terms such as that correspondent used, we must indeed have been something out of the ordinary to warrant it. In public affairs Mr. Nicholson was deeply interested. He was a strong adherent of the church of his choice and took a very active part in organizing many funds which will long ensure his name being remembered. In this house he took a fair part in debates, and expressed himself in terms as strong as were warranted by the convictions which he held. To those who sit on the right, news of his death brought to us a sense of real, personal sorrow. I might add that in the last conversation I had with him, only a few days before he passed to the great beyond, he was discussing a means by which he could better serve the country and assist the party to which he belonged.

Spraying of the late Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Nicholson King said: "It was not as well acquainted with the late member for Algoma East, Mr. George B. Nicholson, as with Mr. Black and Dr. Cowan, and therefore I speak with a certain hesitancy of his personal qualities. I believe, however, that those who knew him well were struck in their admiration of his zealous concern for his party's interests, and of a zeal to see great for the well-being of those whose interests he sought to serve in parliament. He began his life in the work of railway construction, and later became interested in lumber business in northern Ontario. These associations brought him into immediate contact with large numbers of workmen on railways and in lumber camps, and with the many needs of a pioneering community. To be a friend and neighbour to those in humble circumstances seems to have been the constant endeavor of his life. In this endeavor he seems to have largely succeeded. I had the pleasure, as the Minister had, of reading this article to which he has referred. It is a long and interesting journal, and his city shortly after Mr. Nicholson's death, and was by a former citizen of Chapleau who had been a life long friend. My feelings were so strong that I was unable to hold my tongue. It was a privilege to which my right hand friend has given expression today. It closed, I recollect aright, with the words: "Those of us who knew him best liked him more." After all that I see one of the best and the highest tribute that can be paid to the worth of a friend and a neighbor is a tribute that in Mr. Nicholson's case many will believe worthily bestowed."
