—The Independent Labor Party wrote German Ambassador Herrbert von Dirksen, denouncing Germany's treatment of the Jews as "a throwback to the jungle" by which the human family has been disgraced.

A Labor Member of Parliament, Emanuel Shinwell, said in a speech at Durham that persecution placed Germany's rulers "outside the pale of civilization."

The Liberal Party in a statement said: "The latest addition to the sufferings of an already cruelly oppressed people must surely impair the hope of any earnest and sincere between Germany and this country."

The Evening Star (Liberal) said editorially: "What peace of mind can ever be Germany's advocates feel in the thought of handing over to her Non-Aryan native races (in colonies) and having to face the possibility of standing helplessly by while food is being done in the name of Aryan supremacy?"

By Earl De La Warr asserted Britain faced the possibility of a fight "for her very existence," and that "that struggle may be resolved in terms of diplomacy or in terms of war."

In accordance with the wishes of the Archbishop of Canterbury special prayers for Jews were included in the church services.

Geoffrey Shakespeare, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, speaking at Norwich today said: "I cannot believe that the ordinary decent German folk really would do anything to aid exhibitions of un-restrained mob law and persecution of a people whose only fault is their race."

LIVERPOOL, N. S., Nov. 13—(CP)—The Newfoundland Schooner Nira Corkum was heavily damaged Saturday when a strong current carried it into the Norwegian wharf at St. John's. The schooner will have to be rebuilt from the water line and its cargo will have to be replaced.

The freighter, moving towards the west, met the current and was forced to anchor in the harbor. The deck to which the vessel was moored was also damaged.

In the Book of Acts is portrayed the culmination of a struggle which took place in the heart of Saul between the call of the God of the Christians and the old allegiance to Judaism. On the Damascus road he made the surrender of his Lord, and accepted his world task.

Today many of us are on that Damascus road. We feel the call to the Christian life, and yet do not answer it, justifying our action by stating that while we may not do much to bring the Kingdom, we do not oppose it; but a negative attitude is not enough; the priest and levite adopted it, but it brought the condemnation of Christ. So today, evils such as war, Fascism, unemployment must be met by positive Christianity which realizes that we are bound together in an inseparable brotherhood. Indifference will only strengthen the paganism which threatens us today, and it is only as we answer God's call to service that we can fulfill our destiny and redeem the world.

The Special Music by the choir was an attractive feature of the Anniversary occasion and the anthems at both services were excellent. Mrs. H. S. today well performed Hamblen's "By Hill Waters" in her usual capable manner. Mr. Roy Smallman sang the solo part in the Anthem "Hail, Hail Heavens"—by Sir Walter

Writes of Visit

The visit to the United States was the subject of a message from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt published in the Sunday Chronicle today. The message was headed: "Your King and Queen."

"A big piece of news which I know will interest people from one end of my country to the other is the fact that the King and Queen of England are coming to Canada and will include a visit to the United States in their trip," Mrs. Roosevelt said.

"We may not like pomp and ceremony and may approve of democracy in our government and in our everyday lives but there is a glamour for us about royalty in other nations.

"The fact that we have curiosity about the rulers of other nations and that we enjoy seeing them, especially when they represent our English cousins, savors a little of the pride which a small boy feels in showing off his older brother.

Pride in Hospitality

"We have great pride in our hospitality in this country. We want to show what we have to offer to many different lines to a visit from other nations and at times we want to give with both hands in a spirit of lavish hospitality.

The WEEK In Memoriam

at S. D. U. EVERETT GALLANT

Perfectly resigned to the holy will of God, Everett Gallant passed peacefully away at his home in Charlottetown on Thursday, October 20, 1938. Despite the long and painful illness that preceded his death he ever retained that cheerful disposition that made him a general favorite in his large circle of friends.

Everett was born on December 9, 1918. He received his early education in Queen Square School. Later he spent two successful years at the University of Wales, College Aberystwyth in the autumn of 1936. His first year at St. Dunstan's was interrupted by illness. In September 1937, he resumed his studies but two months later, failing health forced him to abandon forever his career as a student.

His funeral was largely attended and took place from the Holy Redeemer Church where the deceased had been a sanctuary boy. He was followed by the following members of the staff of St. Dunstan's University: Rev. Fathers R. V. MacKenzie, F. McCann, G. P. Monaghan, J. A. Sullivan, R. G. Ellsworth, J. W. McCordie and A. O. Murphy.

He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gallant, and three brothers, Christopher, Thomas and Andrew. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord". Requiescat in Pace.

St. Augustine's Society debated the question that automobiles have done more harm than good. The affirmative, L. McDonald, F. McAdam and G. Murphy defeated their opposition, H. Hogan, M. Coffin and H. McCallum. The critic was P. Sherry.

The Extension course for Fisheries opened here Monday and will continue for a period of four weeks. The authorities are expecting somewhere between 30 and 40 men to register, approximately the same number as last year. The course will be followed by two others shortly after Christmas.
