RELIGIOUS SERVICES

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

The services, yesterday, at St. Paul's Church began with the celebration of Holy Communion at 8.30 a. m. There was a large attendance at the eleven o'clock service. The Rector gave a short talk to the adults and to children first on the importance of being regular attenders at both morning and evening prayer; second, an exhortation to children not to forget Remembrance Day, Wednesday, November 11th. The day upon which we think of those who made the supreme sacrifice to give us liberty.

The texts used by the Rector for the morning sermon were 2nd Peter 1, verses 3 and 4. The Rector said, that Peter, the one who denied our Lord; the one who was forward in speaking first, though sometimes most unwisely, was the same Peter, who was exhorting men to accept the challenge which Christ had upon their lives. The passage, he said, teaches us two things—First, "That God has given to us all things that pertain to godliness." Second, "That His precious promises make us partakers of His grace."

Peter's analysis of the Christian life is one of addition. He illustrates this in verses five to seven of the same chapter. Add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, to knowledge temperance, and to all of these add brotherly love. The Rector enumerated several things which might be added to our faith, there were—Resolution, God given intelligence, steadfastness, and piety towards God. There is a resolve in our Prayer books said for us at our baptism, but which resolve we do not do. The closing words of the Rector's sermon were:—"That the call of the Christian life was not merely receiving gifts from God, but the earnest resolve to live out in our lives God's gifts to us."

At the evening service, the Rector took as his text from 1st John, chapter 3, verse 1. He reminded us of what he had said two weeks ago. He said the message of the text calls our attention to First, "That we have been given a name and an inheritance" which was a challenge for us to live for Christ. Second, "That there is the personal element in the text, or the individualistic side of the Christian life."

I and not someone else should respond to the challenge. And third, "The text is a call to discipleship, a call to service." This was illustrated with various references taken from our Lord as found in the Gospel of St. John. "It is," he said, "only as we are willing to yield ourselves to God, body, soul and spirit, that we can ever hope to answer the call to discipleship and service."

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The services at the Central Christian Church were well attended yesterday. The Pastor Rev. S. C. Cooper, Th.M., conducted both morning and evening services.

The subject of his sermon at the morning service was "Paul and the Greeks," text Rom. 1:14 "I am debtor both to the Greeks and to the barbarians."

Mr. Cooper said in part the Greeks' mind was divided in its contemplations because of many objects. They brought protection from one God, eloquence from another, and from Diana purity. Every desire in man was pictured as an object of worship. At Athens when Paul preached there was an image of the unknown God.

Man was worshipped because of what he could do and what his mind could produce. This was a preparation for the coming of the Messiah, the Lord Jesus, whose promises were greater than any at prophets and whose works surpassed Grecian artists' production because man was made whole. At the evening service Mr. Cooper took for his subject, "The Young Man Who Got the Lowest," text Luke 16:11-24.

Christ is vindicating His Messiahship, and human love is shown to triumph over human willingness. This young man was born in a typical eastern home and had everything that was necessary. He has many present day counterparts who when they leave home plunge into the wild life of the world. When he spent all that he had he came to himself and was compelled to stoop to the lowest, a Jew feeding hogs. It was the lowest job for him that was known and he even desired swine's food. He returned to sanity and his hunger drove him home. Our desires can drive us to God and even low desires can sanctify us and make us acceptable to God.

The father's love is a picture of God's love which found its truest expression in Calvary. This love gives a man character and fits him for the father's table. This discourse was a stirring, heart searching effort and brought conviction to the hearts of his congregation.

The music for the day was a selection sung by the C.G.I.T. girls, Miss Jean Enman taking the solo part, entitled "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love." At the evening service the choir rendered an anthem "God Is Our Refuge," Mr. Preston Beck taking the solo part.

ST. JAMES KIRK

Preaching to a large congregation in St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, the Minister, the Rev. R. Moorhead-Legate, D.D., based his sermon on verses 22 to 26 of the Book of Exodus, chapter XXX.

"We can only create love by dispensing love," Dr. Legate said. "The Christian church of today must shed abroad, to all, its blessings. Just as the Lord commanded Moses to anoint the tabernacle, that its perfume went out into all the entire camp, so should the power of the spirit of God be felt by all who come in touch with the church."

The fragrance of our lives should spread to others. The Christian religion is meant to be handed out to all with whom we come in contact, affecting others in proportion to our sincerity of faith. The anthem, "The Lost Chord" was sung by the choir. At the evening service Dr. Legate built his sermon on the first Psalm, verses 1 and 2, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night."

The minister referred to the Bible as the "Handbook of Happiness." In this text we have a brief sketch of happiness and contentment. The whole world today is in search of happiness, and to obtain this many ways and means are being put forth and tried. True happiness and contentment, at their best and fullest, are things of the spirit, and can only be realized through the union of the soul with God.

Those seeking contentment will find in the Book of Psalms a real guidance, because the Psalms are the fruits of human experiences, and as we read them we see ourselves reflected therein.

A close study of the Psalms, and our own experience, will teach us that true happiness and contentment comes not so much from what we possess as from what we are, depends not so much on circumstances as on character. Special music for the evening included an anthem, "Tarry With Me O My Saviour," Mr. Lester McInnis was the soloist.

The Minister appealed to the congregation to attend the short service to be held at the monument on Wednesday, that we might keep in mind the memory of those who crowned their service with sacrifice.

MUSIC CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Interesting Paper Read by Judge Arsenault—Special Numbers by Octette From St. Dunstan's Male Choir.

The Women's Music Club held their first meeting of the season in the main lounge of the Canadian National Hotel on Saturday afternoon, November 7th. The President, Mrs. H. S. Henderson, welcomed the new associate members and asked for any helpful suggestions or constructive criticisms as the programme undertaken for this year is a very ambitious one. Judge Arsenault read a most interesting paper on liturgical music—Ancient Church Modes—which he found an almost inexhaustible subject. "Liturgy" he defined as a Greek word meaning originally a public duty undertaken by a citizen; but it soon came to mean, service in the temple; then it signified temple ritual; and finally, the music, used for this service. The chants date far back into antiquity, even to the Apostles; themselves, and are closely allied with the development of the ritual of the early Roman Church.

Very little is known of this ancient church music, called Cantus Romanus, the oldest name used for plain chant, until the 4th Century when the Ambrosian chant appeared, so called after the Bishop Ambrose of Milan. And even better remembered is the name of Pope Gregory, during whose rule, the end of the 6th century, the Gregorian Chant developed. This Gregorian Chant is sung in a great many churches today.

In the 13th Century Plain Chant reached almost to perfection, and a great Gothic church during a Pontifical High Mass was the very embodiment of inspired beauty. Palestrina (1525-1594), not the founder, but the perfecter of a style, was regarded as the greatest composer of liturgical music of all time. Judge Arsenault gave a very inclusive sketch of his life, quoting some fine passages relating to Palestrina's music from Gounod's autobiography.

Up to the 5th Century the voice only was used in church music, after that the organ was employed, until the 16th century when church music was accompanied by various musical instruments. But the church soon realized that these almost operatic masses should be banished from the service as they were altogether opposed to the classic beauty of Palestrina.

From the beginning of the 19th Century, there has been a revival of interest in plain chant, and in 1903 Pope Pius X ordered a return to the traditional form of plain chant in church music.

Judge Arsenault paid a tribute to Mr. William Brown who has built up such a splendid choir of men's voices in St. Dunstan's Basilica. And Mrs. Henderson introduced Mr. Brown and some of the members of his choir—Mr. Cornelius Campbell, Mr. Eddie Arsenault, Mr. Chas. Mitchell, Mr. Carl Kelly, Mr. Leo Dolron, Mr. Leo Chaisson, Mr. Sam Doyle, and Mr. Francis MacMillan—who sang the following very lovely chants: "Adorate Deo"; "Heart of Jesus Have Mercy" written in the 4th Century, and since harmonized; an interpretation of Palestrina, a motet, "O Bone Jesu"; Tenebrae's "Scut Ovis", harmonized; and several verses of the "Benedictus."

At the request of the President the last number was repeated. Mrs. Henderson then thanked the guest performers for the very unusual and very fine programme.

FUNERAL OF LATE MR. CARTER.—The funeral of the late Mr. Benjamin Carter was held from his late residence Malpeque Road yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended. The service at the home was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Palethorpe, assisted by the Rev. Hugh Miller. Service at the graveside at Winsloe was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Palethorpe. The pallbearers were: Dr. J. H. Ayers, G. F. Hutchison, G. Ballingall, D. L. MacKinnon, E. F. Acorn and Walter Burke.

ISLANDER WINS AT FAIR.—A steer owned by Mr. E. H. Horne of Winsloe, Prince Edward Island was winner of the Market Championship on the opening day of the Maritime Winter Fair at Amherst Saturday. Mr. Horne was also winner of the Reserve Championship in the Grand Champion Beef division. Mr. Thomas Amos of Moffat, Que., was the judge.

BOY SCOUT APPLE DAY.—Smiling, alert boys—luscious, big, red, rosy apples—generous understanding citizens—all will unite on Saturday next in making this year's Boy Scout Apple Day the most successful ever held on Prince Edward Island. For weeks hundreds of Wolf Cubs and Boy Scouts have been looking forward to November, 14th as the day when they will approach the peoples of our province and ask their support in promoting this worth while work among our future citizens. Committees of men have freely given of their time and advice in planning this drive. It is not possible for everyone to give their talents in actual leadership and training of our boys but by generously contributing next Saturday they can have a part in extending this splendid movement and making it available to all boys throughout the Island. All the apples offered for sale are Island grown No. 1 McIntosh Reds and have been purchased from local growers. The price of the apple is only limited by your ability to assist in this Game of Scouting for Boys.—Be a good scout and do a good turn to these cheery boys who are developing into finer men through the ideals of The Boy Scouts Association.

EXMEMBERS HEARD WITH ENTHUSIASM

Congratulations... on Success of Meeting From Messrs Myers and McLure.

Congratulations to the officers and executive of the Queens County Conservative Association upon the splendid annual meeting of the organization was tendered by Messrs. W. Chester S. McLure and John H. Myers, former federal representatives for the County, at the close of Tuesday night's meeting in the Strand Theatre. Both gentlemen received warm applause.

"Such enthusiasm argues well for the good old conservative party," Mr. McLure said. "If time permitted I would like to have followed the other speakers and told you further with regard to the maladministration and the inconsistencies of the present federal and provincial Governments. However you are realizing those things for yourselves during the past year. Who will have to bear the burden, and who will put an end to them? You will, I suggest, when you get an opportunity at the next election." (Applause.)

"I wish to thank Hon. Mr. Hanson for the kind words he has uttered on behalf of my colleague and myself, and to take this opportunity of thanking the electors of Queens County who on several occasions were very loyal to me. I wish also to say that I will be glad at any time to discuss, when an opportunity arises, questions regarding the two governments that are now in power."

"And in conclusion I may say, with that noted movie actress Mae West—"When you're in town at any time 'come up and see me.' (Applause.)"

Mr. Myers

"It argues well that through the kind of weather Mr. Mackenzie King has bestowed on us, and the kind of roads Mr. Jim McIntyre has left with us, you have been able to come here in such large numbers," said Mr. Myers amid laughter. He joined with Mr. McLure in tendering thanks for the loyal support received in the past, and to Mr. Hanson for his kindly personal references.

"We were defeated, it is true," Mr. Myers continued, "but if I can read the signs aright, and the groans that come from some of my Liberal friends with regard to the Campbell administration, it will not be long before a Conservative government is back in the saddle in this Province again; and the same is true with regard to the Dominion." (Applause.)

Mr. Myers referred to the courtesy of Mr. Hanson as Minister of Trade and Commerce in acceding to the Conservative member's request to grant a subsidy for the Boston steamship service last year. Not only did the King Government withdraw this subsidy (which subsequently had to be restored) but it cancelled the small subsidy paid to the S.S. Harland.

"That trifling sum of money would have kept the service open in the spring and fall months when it was badly needed. If they had given a few thousand dollars more to enable them to compete with the truck competition it would have been more creditable. Through that action the King Government has practically destroyed several of the seaports on the Island," Mr. Myers declared.

Speaking of Hon. Mr. Hanson, he recalled that that gentleman's name was frequently mentioned as a prospective leader of the Conservative party during the dark days of Premier Bennett's illness. "And I for one," he added, "would be very pleased to see another Maritimer in the saddle at Ottawa."

Leftists Set Up Government At Valencia

VALENCIA, Spain, Nov. 8.—(CP-Havas)—The Leftist Government settled down here tonight to the task of saving "Loyalist Spain" from the doom which threatened Madrid when Premier Francisco Largo Caballero and his cabinet fled the city yesterday for this refuge on the Mediterranean coast.

Creation of a supplementary administrative organization to "accelerate the arrival of victory" was one of the first steps decided upon at the series of emergency sessions which featured their first two hours here.

A communique issued today declared the government's transfer here signified neither retreat nor the abandonment of hope for Madrid, but was executed primarily for strategic purposes.

Coughlin Withdraws From Politics

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—(CP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin has withdrawn "from all radio activity in the best interests of all the people," and his National Union Social Justice will cease activity.

The Detroit radio priest so announced Saturday in a farewell broadcast. He said the Union was "thoroughly discredited" in last week's United States election.

Recounting his views on the election, which resulted in a thumping approval of President Roosevelt who has been roundly criticized by Father Coughlin, the Priest announced the Union will adopt a "policy of silence" toward the Roosevelt new deal.
