Q.S.S. WINS INTERSCHOLASTIC BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

The third game of baseball in the interscholastic championship series between West Kent and Queen Square School teams was played yesterday afternoon at Victoria Park and resulted in a victory for Q.S.S. by a score of 14-13. The game was close and exciting from start to finish and was marked by good batting and clever playing by both teams. Howatt, the Q.S.S. pitcher, twisted his usually clever game, and not contented with this hit the ball hard when at bat, which resulted in several runs for his team. Francis, the catcher for Q.S.S., by his clever throwing to bases caused the downfall of many of the opposing players who aspired to score for their team. Dougan, Trainer and the other players did their parts well.

Three pitchers, McEachern, Moore and Williams were used by West Kent in their effort to stave off defeat, but though coming near it still did not succeed. Lane, Drake and the other players for West Kent showed a thorough knowledge of the game and succeeded in pulling off several double plays when things looked serious.

Queen Square School now hold the football, hockey, basketball and baseball championships.

THAW'S ATTEMPT TO PROVE HE IS SANE.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Fifty witnesses, summoned in behalf of Harry K. Thaw, in his effort to prove that he is now sane and entitled to be set free from the Mattawan Asylum, were ready to testify in his sanity trial beginning today before Supreme Court Justice Hendrick and a jury. This was Thaw's fourth attempt to obtain his freedom from custody by means of habeas corpus, but was the first instance in which his plea was heard by a jury.

DESPATCH RIDER TELLS OF HIS PERILS

The following letter has been received by Mr and Mrs Sellar, who are now living at York. They have also another son, Ray, an officer at the front:

Dear Mother and Father—Received your letter dated May 16th to-night and was awfully glad to hear from you. You said you did not hear from me for three weeks. Well that was about the time we were round Ypres and it was impossible to write there, and even if I did they were no places to mail it. Our post office is four miles from here, but one of our boys go down on a bicycle every night for the mail. We are in a pretty hot place now, but not as bad as at Ypres. Our division has suffered very heavily and I think we are nearly done fighting in the line for a while, as some of our battalions have no officers and very few men left. I think we will go back to the base to reorganise and wait for reinforcements as soon as the second Canadian contingent arrives. I have lost a number of my old comrades in the 11th Battalion, a number of the old Carlton House boys. I guess father will know a few of them, Frank Deas, Jim Law, etc., and my chum that came with me from Winnipeg. I guess you both remember him at the station when we were leaving. He was wounded two weeks ago. I do not think we will stay in the trenches much longer, as there are not many of us left to do much more fighting, unless we are reinforced. I hear the second contingent are on their way here and I only hope they do not have to go through as much as we have. The spies are very thick around this part of the country and we are catching them every day. I have not seen Capt. Duck for quite a while. When we meet we always have a chat about home, and he always asks about you and father. I have not been down to him with messages lately. I am doing brigade and divisional work now, but expect to go to him soon. I very often have messages that mean the welfare of many lives. A despatch rider's job is not an easy one. One of our men rode right into a German line by mistake at Ypres, but succeeded in escaping and only slightly wounded. I always carry a map and am very careful where I ride. I wish you could see the fancy hair cuts we get out here, a close cut with the clippers. We do not use combs or brushes. My chum from the 11th has won the D.C.M. The Germans are using this poisonous gas on us, but now we can fool them as we have coverings for our mouths and nose.

I do hope the war will soon be over and I will be spared to see you all again.

Give my love to grandmother and Mrs Matthews and all. I am writing this by candle light on my knee, so you must excuse it. It is getting late, I must close, hoping to hear from you soon again. Good-bye, from your loving son,

HAROLD.

HOME FOR GIRLS TO BE ENLARGED.

ST JOHN, June 22.—At the last meeting of the Wallace Presbytery, Rev. W. M. Purdy tendered his resignation of the congregation of Parisboro to take up work for the Maritime Home for Girls at Truro. Mr Purdy visited the Province of New Brunswick last year in the interest of this work and in a short time he expects to again visit parts of the province in order to give the people a chance to assist in this work. While in St. John Mr Purdy preached in several city pulpits.

The Maritime Home for Girls has been established since last September, and in that time more than forty girls have been cared for. At the present time there are 22 girls in the home. This is the full capacity of the home.

During the summer it is the intention of the board to enlarge the premises so that more girls may be accommodated.

One of the judges of the Nova Scotia Court has said that more than sixty girls in that province should be committed to the home.

The staff, at present, consists of the superintendent, Miss Day, the matron, Mrs Lewis, and two teachers.

There is a farm of 100 acres in connection with the home and an experienced farmer is required and this branch of the work receives careful attention.

The property is almost wholly within the limits of the town of Truro and has light and water privileges, which assist materially in the carrying on of the work.

WOUNDED ISLANDER GIVES EXPERIENCE

The following letter received by Canon Simpson was written by Lance Corporal E. M. Armand, of the Princess Pats. He is a son of Mr. F. H. Armand, for some years Manager of the Merchant's Bank of Halifax in Charlottetown. The family left here some twenty years ago, but will be remembered by many citizens. Mrs. Armand, the young man's mother, was a daughter of the late Dr. Hobkirk, of Charlottetown, and a niece of the late Mr. Justice Hensley.

My Dear Mr. Simpson—Many thanks for your kind letter of May 22nd. It did indeed cheer me up to hear again from you and it brings me back to my childhood days and the many happy times spent at St. Peter's school, to say nothing of the occasional all whacks we used to get from that little cane you kept in the desk, all of which, I've no doubt, did us a great deal of good. The doctors here, after fighting for two months to save my leg, found after all that it was necessary to amputate it just at the hip. I suffered a great deal during that two months, undergoing four operations, but septic poisoning set in and affected the bone which finished it.

I am making splendid progress now and on Monday last started to walk on crutches but found myself terribly weak and could only put my foot on the ground for a few minutes and then go back to bed. To-day I walked to the end of the passage and back. I expect to be discharged from hospital about the end of this month. Father has taken a house in Folkestone for the summer so I will be with him until I get my artificial leg which will be at least six months. There has been no important war news lately. I am glad to see that the people of England are at last waking up and beginning to realize the tremendous fighting strength of the German nation. England has never before been in such a dangerous position and unless the whole nation is at once organized and we have conscription I am afraid to think of what the result will be. However we must hope for the best. The new Coalition Government seem to be getting down to business and I trust that this time next year will see the German nation absolutely subdued. Thanking you again for your kind letter and with kindest regards to Mrs. Simpson, I am

Yours very sincerely,
E. M. ARMAND.

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT

(Special to The Guardian)

PARIS, June 24.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office to-night: "In the region north of Arras there were no infantry actions to-day. Our troops organized themselves in the conquered positions. A lively cannonade occurred in the sector of Angres-Ecurie.

ZAM-BUK

The enemy late last night and early today bombarded Berry at Bac and the neighborhood of Sapigneu. This bombardment caused us only slight damage. In Argonne and on the height of the Meuse there is nothing to report except artillery action. In the Vosges at Fontenelle a German attack was repulsed. The Germans have bombarded the outskirts of Metzgeral and the ridges east of that village where our progress continued in a slight degree.

OUR style of publicity is being widely imitated—a testimonial of merit duly appreciated. Clothing buyers, however, in common with art connoisseurs, prefer "originals" to indifferent "copies." That is why they are showing so decided a preference for English & Scotch Woollen Co, "Style and Quality."

THE man who pays $15, through ordinary channels, for his clothes will have a "bunch" of disappointment" on his hands, because it is only the "Mill-to-Man" plan that makes good clothes possible at $15. Nobody knows this better than the retailer himself, and many clothiers--anxious to "trade up"--are imitating, and following the initiative of the English & Scotch Woollen Co.

BEFORE you turn loose one cent of your clothes money come here and see our "Direct from the Mill" fabrics. You know good materials when you see them, and when you have a look at ours you'll realize the folly of searching any farther, or wasting and more time. Even tho' $15 is less than you expected to pay, you'll gladly save the middle profits on your clothes appropriation, because ours are the clothes you'll want.
