ACADIA AND KINGS ASK FOR GAMES

Acadia University and also Kings have asked the Abegweits and Saints by wire about the possibilities of meeting these rugbists here Saturday 9th, and on Nov. 11, Armistice Day.

Acadia stands fairly well up in Maritime football at the moment of speaking with a 15-0 win over the United Services of Halifax and a 3-3 draw to their credit in their first mixup against Dalhousie.

Just how the Abbies and Saints would fare against the Collegians would furnish a line on where Island fifteens fit in the Maritimes. Fred Kelly's team shapes up as being about as strong as anything in the local provinces and would test the sides and rank them either as "up there" with the leaders, or lacking in class.

Should the Abbies and Saints bring Acadia or Kings to Charlottetown it will meet with the approval of the club members and citizens who remember those much enjoyed holiday games of some years ago.

Furthermore it will fill in a blank afternoon for those who do not care to motor to the country or are for other reasons obliged to remain in town.

On the morning of the 11th the veterans as usual hold their yearly parade to the monument, and in the evening present a show at the Prince Edward, which is followed by a dance in Prince of Wales College Hall, but the afternoon is a vacant spot in an otherwise enticing programme.

The parade, the game, a good show, and the ever-successful Legion dance—it's a fine card that would be spoiled with either one of the four events crossed out.

Coach Kelly's team under the circumstances should not be turned down if at all reasonable figures will bring them over. Intelligent advertising will bring an old-time parkful of folks to the game which is enjoying somewhat of a revival this year.

Kings College, the other possible contender on Armistice Day, lost a week ago to a powerful Xavierian team in Antigonish 5-0. "Shang" McNutt of Charlottetown, captains the Halifax players and is helped out by three other Islanders.

POISONED BY BOOTS

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(British United Press)—A young French aviator, Lieutenant Jean Alexandre, has just been poisoned in peculiar circumstances. He was attending the races at Longchamps near Paris, when he suddenly collapsed and had to be taken to the hospital. There, after a long examination, the doctors decided that he had been poisoned by his boots. He had shortly before attending the race meeting, it appears, had his boots dyed with a solution probably based on anilino, which is known to be very dangerous. The dye or gasses from it had been absorbed by the pores of his skin, and thus, passing into the blood, had poisoned him.

In the days of the Borgias, intentional poisoning was effected by "doctored" gloves.

Both Gotham Ice Clubs Prepare For Winter Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The call for winter's leading sport has gone out. The managers of New York's two National Hockey League's teams, Lester Patrick, of the Rangers, and Lionel Coacher, of the Americans, have set the dates for their men to report for practice in preparation for the season's opening, November 7.

The Rangers and the members of their farm team in the Canadian American League, the Springfield Indians, are to report at Springfield Friday. The Americans assemble Monday at New Haven. Both managers consider the training period unusually important this year because of the changes in playing rules.

Some of the older players are not expected to hold their own with the youngsters in the faster game. The Rangers also have been active in the player market during the off-season and have several new men to try out.

The New York teams are a few days behind at least one of the Canadian rivals, the Montreal Maroons started practice Monday with a new coach, Dr. Jerry Laflamme, former National Hockey League referee.

"SQUARE SHOULDERS" PACKED WITH DRAMA THRILLS AND LAUGHS

"Square Shoulders," which opened with great success at the Capitol Theatre yesterday presents Junior Coghlan, Pathe's juvenile star, in the finest role of his screen career. The boy proves himself not only a dramatic actor of fine talent, but a comedian as well.

With the colorful, dashing background of a military school, "Square Shoulders" is the story of the devotion of a wayward father to his son. Although the father is a delinquent, the boy believes him to have been a great man. The father accidentally meets his son and, stirred by the kid's pride in his memory, decides to try to live up to it.

Running parallel to this phase of the story is a delightful kid romance in which Junior, Anita Louise and Philippe DeLacy are the principals. This is filled with the Tarkington brand of realistic youthful comedy.

"Square Shoulders" was directed by E. Mason Hopper from an original story by George Dromgold and Houston Branch. The cast includes, besides the above mentioned, Montague Shaw, Kewpie Morgan, Clarence Geldert and Maurice Black.

An interesting feature is the appearance of Erich Von Stroheim, Jr. as "menace." Besides bearing a striking resemblance to his illustrious father, the boy also displays acting ability of high order. When Philippe de Lacy and Junior Coghlan try to better each other in the affections of Anita Louise, he steps in and takes her away from both of them.

The best barbers Everywhere use Williams Lather

THE barber ought to know: Good lather is just as important to him as a keen razor. For years the best barbers have used Williams Lather. Simply because it does a perfect job.

Williams Shaving Cream does more than soften the beard. It conditions the face—makes the skin soft and smooth. That means easier, smoother shaving—and a cool, soft, velvety face afterwards.

To keep it so—all day—use a few drops of Aqua Velva. It keeps the skin flexible—conserves its natural moisture.

Shave the Williams way and keep your face fit. For nearly a century Williams have specialized in what is best for beard and skin.

AT HARTLAND

HARTLAND, Oct. 23.—Potatoes ranged 25 to 40 cents lower per ton on the market here today. Shipments during the last few weeks have caused an accumulation in consuming centres and prices declined accordingly. Shippers in this condition will only be for a time and that the situation will very soon.

Digging is over and practical surplus stocks have been moved. Balance of crop being in storage, great amount will be forced to market; and it is hoped that prices will be obtained in the near future.

Today farmers received $2.50 for Green Mountains and $2.25 for Cobblers slightly on the local wholesale duce market today, but with exception prices remained unchanged. October cheese was quoted from 18 1/4 to 18 1/2 cents per lb. while September products quoted 1/4 cent higher. The market was listless, with pricing at 38 1/2 to 39 cents per lb. for eastern townships No. 1 past white prices to the retail trade 41 cents for solids and 42c for Quebec potatoes were quoted as $1.40 for best, while New Wick sold $1.80 to $1.75 pounds in bulk.

N. B. Potato Prices Decline

FREDERICTON, Oct. 23.—prices offered at the important points in the main areas of New Brunswick suffer sharp falling off yesterday, it is reported by shippers. The prices are down as low as $2.50 per barrel after reaching the top market a few days ago of $2.75 and per barrel. The prevailing price $2.65 per barrel, about 11c quotations in the Aroostook of Maine.

The drop is the result of the porting markets in the United States as present over-supply, by through dumping by large raisers in Maine, who were to get the greater proportion of crop off their hands before the set in. In that state there is a shortage in storage facilities.
