

A GOOD RESOLUTION

Replace tubes in your radio set that have served their useful life with Westinghouse radiotrons and enjoy the maximum results of your set.

Keep one or two spare radiotrons on hand, and replace all the tubes once a year.

DOMINION OF CANADA PROVINCE OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

In The Probate Court

18th George V. A. D., 1927

In Re-Estate of Frederick H. Horne, late of Charlottetown in Queens County, in the said Province, deceased, testate.

By the Honourable A. Bannerman Warburton, Surrogate, Judge of Probate, &c., &c.

To the Sheriff of the County, of Queen's County, or any Constable or literate person within said County,

WHEREAS upon reading the petition on file of Annie Holman, Charlotte West, Amanda Taper and Hooper Horne all of Charlottetown aforesaid, the Executors of the above named estate praying that a Citation may be issued for the purpose hereafter set forth; You are therefore hereby required to cite all persons interested in the said Estate to be and appear before me at a Probate Court to be held in the Court House in Charlottetown, in Queen's County, in the said Province, on Wednesday the first day of February next, coming, at the hour of eleven o'clock, forenoon, of the same day to show cause if any they can why the accounts of the said Estate should not be passed and the Estate closed as prayed for in said petition and in Motion of Donald McKinnon, Proctor for said Petitioners, and I do hereby certify that a true copy hereof be forthwith published in some newspaper published in Charlottetown aforesaid once in each week for at least four consecutive weeks from the date hereof and that a true copy thereof be forthwith posted in the following public places respectively, namely in the hall of the Court House in Charlottetown aforesaid, at or near the City Weigh Scales and at or near the Bank of Nova Scotia both in Charlottetown aforesaid so that all persons interested in the said Estate as aforesaid may have due notice thereof.

Given under my Hand and the Seal of the said Court, 23rd day of December, A. D. 1927, in the Eighteenth year of His Majesty's reign. (Sgd.) A. B. WARBURTON, Judge of Probate.

THE NEW JERUSALEM SACRED CANTATA for CHORUS With Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Bass, Solos and Organ Accompaniment Text from the Bible and The Hymnal Music by William E. Fletcher A. R. C. M., A. T. C. L. Price 60c MILLER BROS. LIMITED, 145 Great George Street Charlottetown

THE NEW JERUSALEM SACRED CANTATA for CHORUS With Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Bass, Solos and Organ Accompaniment Text from the Bible and The Hymnal Music by William E. Fletcher A. R. C. M., A. T. C. L. Price 60c MILLER BROS. LIMITED, 145 Great George Street Charlottetown

THE NEW JERUSALEM SACRED CANTATA for CHORUS With Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Bass, Solos and Organ Accompaniment Text from the Bible and The Hymnal Music by William E. Fletcher A. R. C. M., A. T. C. L. Price 60c MILLER BROS. LIMITED, 145 Great George Street Charlottetown

POULTRY We will be buying live, and dressed poultry daily until the end of the season. Highest prices paid. SWIFT CANADIAN CO.

SPORTING COMMENT

By ("Tec") Meeting On Friday

The monster mass meeting of athletic clubs which was to be held in St. John's last Tuesday night was postponed and will be held this evening. The main object of the meeting of course was to hear the report of Mr. D. W. Fraser, President of the M. P. B. U., who returned recently from Edmonton where the annual confab of A. A. U. of C. officials was held.

Referring to a recent interview given by Messrs. S. F. Doyle and L. B. McMillan in connection with the recent expulsion by the A. A. U. of C. "Scoop" Ross, writing in the Amherst News, has this to say: Sammy Doyle made no friends through his attack on D. Webster Fraser. It was entirely too personal, and such statements made in regard to a man like D. Webster Fraser will not gain Mr. Doyle a great deal of support.

WHEREAS upon reading the petition on file of Annie Holman, Charlotte West, Amanda Taper and Hooper Horne all of Charlottetown aforesaid, the Executors of the above named estate praying that a Citation may be issued for the purpose hereafter set forth; You are therefore hereby required to cite all persons interested in the said Estate to be and appear before me at a Probate Court to be held in the Court House in Charlottetown, in Queen's County, in the said Province, on Wednesday the first day of February next, coming, at the hour of eleven o'clock, forenoon, of the same day to show cause if any they can why the accounts of the said Estate should not be passed and the Estate closed as prayed for in said petition and in Motion of Donald McKinnon, Proctor for said Petitioners, and I do hereby certify that a true copy hereof be forthwith published in some newspaper published in Charlottetown aforesaid once in each week for at least four consecutive weeks from the date hereof and that a true copy thereof be forthwith posted in the following public places respectively, namely in the hall of the Court House in Charlottetown aforesaid, at or near the City Weigh Scales and at or near the Bank of Nova Scotia both in Charlottetown aforesaid so that all persons interested in the said Estate as aforesaid may have due notice thereof.

What is thought to be a record for Canada and certainly a new mark in Ottawa curling circles was set up recently by E. L. Brittain of the Ottawa Curling Club, while playing for the President's prize which he captured.

The arrangement to send the Canadian Olympic hockey entry, Toronto University Grads, against three teams at Ottawa, one in each period, is new. It should be a stiff test for the Grads and show what they are. The Olympic entry has done very well on a tour in Ontario so far, Maritime Provinces are anxiously waiting to see the outcome of the All-Nova Scotia-Grad game which takes place in Halifax on January 21st.

WOODSMEN—Keep Minard's handy. The soviet government of Russia is planning to consolidate all telephone and radio systems and is improving interurban telephone communication.

WORST ATTACK, SAYS ROSS Mynheer Seibert, sometimes referred to as the durable Dutchman, apparently dipped his bill into a bushel of grief when he endeavored to decapitate Billy Boucher of Boston Bruins in their last game.

TO END SEVERE COUGH QUICKLY, TRY THIS For real results, this old home-made remedy beats them all. Easily prepared. You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous home-made remedy. The immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

While his suspension is indefinite, it wouldn't be a bad idea as a curb to Seibert and other players of similar bent if he was kept out of action for a month. The president has precedent to guide him, he will have the endorsement of fandom, and his penalty could not be impugned as he saw the preceding chain of events leading up to the flurry.

SOME RECORD

The Maple Leafs and Ottawa Senators have been opponents in three National League games so far this season, but not in a single one of the three have they been able to reach a decision. The first two were scoreless draws, and in the third each team scored a goal, a total of two goals in 210 minutes of play. The scoreless wonders went 146 minutes without the guard of Reach or McConnell, the rival goal-tenders being pierced for a score, 70 minutes in the first game, 70 in the second, and then six minutes and ten seconds of the third game had elapsed before George Boucher raced through to beat Reach from close in. Surely the Leafs and Senators have created a record for light scoring that will hardly be equalled this season, or any other.

NEW UNIVERSITY DICTIONARY to Guardian readers for 98 cents and one coupon. Every home should have one.

NEW YEARS DINNER—Hotel Victoria, Sunday, 1st. Phone your reservations now. 1567-12-29-30.

CORSETS AND CORSELETS on Friday and Saturday 90 cents. Prowse Bros., Ltd.

LADIES KNITTED Silk Bloomers in sand shade only, also Pongee silk natural shade. Extra special price to clear at 98c. Prowse Bros., Ltd.

LADIES BUNGALOW House dresses of Gingham and Percale. Special price 98 cents. Prowse Bros., Ltd.

LADIES BROADCLOTH Bloomers in dark shades, Brown, Black and Blue. Good quality. Special price 85 cents. Prowse Bros., Ltd.

CRAPAUD AND SPRINGFIELD—There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion in Crapaud on Sunday at 11:00 a.m. and Evening Prayer in Springfield at 7:00 p.m. Sermon subject "Problems facing up for 1928."

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH—Early prayer meeting at 10 a.m. Preacher at Morning Service, Rev. Dr. Ross. Soloist Miss Margaret Sterns. (Mount Allison Conservatory of Music). Anthem by the choir. Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, after morning sermon. Sabbath School and Bible Classes meet at 2:30 p.m. Evening service at seven o'clock. Preacher Rev. J. Sidney Bonnell, B.D. of Saint John, N.B. Soloist Miss Margaret Sterns. Anthem by the Choir. The morning service broadcast.

CANDIDATE IN WARD FIVE—Mr. T. W. L. Prowse has indicated that he intends running as a candidate for re-election for the City Council in Ward Five.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Wright, Lower Montague, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Elizabeth Wright, to William M. Cameron, of Mermaid, marriage to take place quietly in Charlottetown on January the eleventh.

OWING TO unexpected boiler trouble, the Conroy Lumber Mill in Belle River will be stopped for repairs for a week or ten days. The work is having the prompt attention of Messrs Bruce Stewart & Co. Ltd.

NEW GLASGOW—CAVENDISH Regular Service in New Glasgow Church of Christ, Sunday, Jan. 1st at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; Cavendish Baptist Church at 3 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. C. E. Armstrong, minister.

NAME CORRECTED—In the School Competition for the best Essay on "Britain's Part in the World's Great War," Mr. Robin Cameron's name was incorrectly given. Robin was one of the three competitors nearest the winning and deserves credit for his good work.

MANSON—McEACHERN—A very happy Christmas Eve wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert MacGoull, Teale Square, Somerville, Mass., on Saturday evening last when Miss Margaret Jane McEachern of Cambridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McEachern, of Nine Mills Creek, P. E. I., was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Manson, of Syracuse, N. Y., Rev. J. W. S. Lowry, minister of the Church of Scotland officiating on the occasion. The bride was very neatly attired in a dress of white satin, while the groom wore the conventional black.

BONSHAW STUDY GROUP—The last meeting of the Bonshaw Study Group was held at the Beatrice House on Tuesday evening, Dec. 26th at 7:30 p.m. There were four teachers present. Each teacher presented a lesson plan on the Averb, a summary of which was forwarded to Mr. Court, Inspector. The evening was pleasantly enjoyed by all, Miss McPhee being as faithful as ever with her candy. We won't we lucky to hold our meeting during Xmas week? Leave it to us to know when the candy is plentiful. Living in hopes for more we will hold our next meeting in the Bonshaw Schoolhouse on Tuesday, Jan. 10th at 7:30 p.m. If not fine the 12th. Each teacher is asked to bring a Lesson Plan on "How to Teach History to the Junior Grades," a special lesson on Teaching Silent Reading to the Junior Grades.

MORSE'S LEAS ALWAYS PLEASE

They have done so for 56 Years

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

THE ECONOMICAL, all purpose Flour is Purity Flour. Ask your grocer for it.

LADIES KNITTED Silk Bloomers in sand shade only, also Pongee silk natural shade. Extra special price to clear at 98c. Prowse Bros., Ltd.

NEW UNIVERSITY DICTIONARY to Guardian readers for 98 cents and one coupon. Every home should have one.

BALANCE OF LADIES Winter Hats clearing at Half Price. Prowse Bros., Ltd. 1595-12-30-21

LADIES HOSE in good heavy quality, clearing off at 79c. Prowse Bros., Ltd.

FUR FARMING PAYS—Order "Brayco" Fox Netting now at Brace's. 1589-12-30-41.

WE WILL be loading live hogs at St. Peter's, Wednesday, January 4th. Highest prices paid. C. E. Pratt & Son. 1603-12-31-21

HOME NURSING CLASSES will start soon at the Red Cross. For information apply 59 Grafton St. 1562-12-30-61

ARTIST'S CALENDAR—Brown and Bigelow, of Saul Ste. Marie, Canada, have the Guardian's thanks for a very handsome calendar.

WEATHER FORECAST—For the month of January, 1928. 1. For winds; period 5 to 8 snow; 9 to 12 blizzard storms; 13 to 16 mild wave; 17 to 21 general snows; 22 to 26 blustery and stormy; 27 to 31 cloudy, cold.

EPISCOPAL SERVICES—Clergymen of Christ, Jan. 1st, St. John's Milton, morning prayer 11 a.m.; St. Knox, Rustico, evening prayer 3 p.m.; St. John's Milton, evening prayer 7:30 p.m. Preacher Rev. C. F. Johnston.

CANDIDATE IN WARD FIVE—Mr. T. W. L. Prowse has indicated that he intends running as a candidate for re-election for the City Council in Ward Five.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Wright, Lower Montague, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Elizabeth Wright, to William M. Cameron, of Mermaid, marriage to take place quietly in Charlottetown on January the eleventh.

OWING TO unexpected boiler trouble, the Conroy Lumber Mill in Belle River will be stopped for repairs for a week or ten days. The work is having the prompt attention of Messrs Bruce Stewart & Co. Ltd.

NEW GLASGOW—CAVENDISH Regular Service in New Glasgow Church of Christ, Sunday, Jan. 1st at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; Cavendish Baptist Church at 3 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. C. E. Armstrong, minister.

NAME CORRECTED—In the School Competition for the best Essay on "Britain's Part in the World's Great War," Mr. Robin Cameron's name was incorrectly given. Robin was one of the three competitors nearest the winning and deserves credit for his good work.

MANSON—McEACHERN—A very happy Christmas Eve wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert MacGoull, Teale Square, Somerville, Mass., on Saturday evening last when Miss Margaret Jane McEachern of Cambridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McEachern, of Nine Mills Creek, P. E. I., was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Manson, of Syracuse, N. Y., Rev. J. W. S. Lowry, minister of the Church of Scotland officiating on the occasion. The bride was very neatly attired in a dress of white satin, while the groom wore the conventional black.

BONSHAW STUDY GROUP—The last meeting of the Bonshaw Study Group was held at the Beatrice House on Tuesday evening, Dec. 26th at 7:30 p.m. There were four teachers present. Each teacher presented a lesson plan on the Averb, a summary of which was forwarded to Mr. Court, Inspector. The evening was pleasantly enjoyed by all, Miss McPhee being as faithful as ever with her candy. We won't we lucky to hold our meeting during Xmas week? Leave it to us to know when the candy is plentiful. Living in hopes for more we will hold our next meeting in the Bonshaw Schoolhouse on Tuesday, Jan. 10th at 7:30 p.m. If not fine the 12th. Each teacher is asked to bring a Lesson Plan on "How to Teach History to the Junior Grades," a special lesson on Teaching Silent Reading to the Junior Grades.

AN ATTIC SALT-SHAKER

BY W. Orton Tewson All Rights Reserved, Reproduction Prohibited

AN occasion on which Ex-President at Roosevelt, Archbishop Ireland and John L. Sullivan, ex-Prize Fighter were observed seated together in a friendly chat at the Harvard Club, New York, is described by Henry L. Stoddard in his memoirs "As I Knew Them." It was in the summer of 1916. Roosevelt was lunching at the Club and a friend had brought the Archbishop there. After a warm greeting had been exchanged between the Colonel and the Archbishop they sat down for a chat.

SOON a tall broad-shouldered, bullet-headed figure approached. The Archbishop was surprised to see him smile at the Colonel and offer to shake hands. As a matter of fact Roosevelt was expecting the visitor.

"Archbishop," said Roosevelt, "meet another good Irishman." "John," turning to the visitor, "meet the Archbishop."

"Archbishop," continued the Colonel, "this is John L. Sullivan. He has fought many battles that I admire an Archbishop cannot; but he has fought one battle that an Archbishop can admire—he battled with himself."

"If I had not been for you, Colonel, I never could have stopped drinking," interrupted Sullivan. "I used to think of you busy in the White House taking time to send word to me to keep up the fight, and seeing me there when I called, I couldn't drink with all that on my mind."

"I'm glad to shake hands with you on your last fight," said the Archbishop.

And an Ex-President, an Archbishop and a prize fighter sat down together!

OUIDA (Mlle. Louisa de la Ramée), the Victorian novelist, whose "best sellers" used to shock our grandparents, was eccentric in her dress and habits, and often very disagreeable in the bargain. Her passion for dogs—she treated them better than she did her friends—is evident by the remark she made upon hearing from a friend that a dog given her by the novelist had caused great trouble.

"What has happened?" asked Ouida.

"He has bitten one of my children severely."

"Heavens! How you frightened me! I thought something had gone wrong with the dog."

MRS. JOHN BIGELOW, wife of a member of Lincoln's Cabinet, chancing to be in Florence—where Ouida lived—made up her mind to see the famous novelist. She went boldly to the door and rang the bell, says Herbert W. Bowen (in "Recollections Diplomatic and Undiplomatic"). When the servant appeared, Mrs. Bigelow stepped into the house, thrust her card into the servant's hand, and ordered her to take it to her mistress.

THE servant hesitated, but intimidated by a glance from the majestic lady before her, she turned and hastened up the stairs, at the top of which stood Ouida, who, highly indignant, snatched the card from the trembling servant, and after glancing at the name and address: cried out:

"Tell her to go away. I do not want to see any Americans."

AT THAT Mrs. Bigelow approached the foot of the stairs, and retorted:

"We are the only people who read your old books."

Thereupon, says Mr. Bowen, Ouida, the celebrity, relented, and with a laugh, descended the stairs, and proceeded to give Mrs. Bigelow a hearty welcome, as everyone else had to, for she was better than a celebrity; she was a novelist.

CAESAR, King Edward's fox-royal master, was deeply attached to his royal master. At luncheon Caesar was frequently permitted to be present, and being no respecter of persons, would at once make for the King, jumping up and pawing for tit-bits. Edward rather encouraged Caesar (in the new volume of his autobiography of the late King), and would often say affectionately to the little terrier:

"Do you like your old master?"

HE would even take him abroad with him, and every night would

AN ATTIC SALT-SHAKER

BY W. Orton Tewson All Rights Reserved, Reproduction Prohibited

AN occasion on which Ex-President at Roosevelt, Archbishop Ireland and John L. Sullivan, ex-Prize Fighter were observed seated together in a friendly chat at the Harvard Club, New York, is described by Henry L. Stoddard in his memoirs "As I Knew Them." It was in the summer of 1916. Roosevelt was lunching at the Club and a friend had brought the Archbishop there. After a warm greeting had been exchanged between the Colonel and the Archbishop they sat down for a chat.

SOON a tall broad-shouldered, bullet-headed figure approached. The Archbishop was surprised to see him smile at the Colonel and offer to shake hands. As a matter of fact Roosevelt was expecting the visitor.

"Archbishop," said Roosevelt, "meet another good Irishman." "John," turning to the visitor, "meet the Archbishop."

"Archbishop," continued the Colonel, "this is John L. Sullivan. He has fought many battles that I admire an Archbishop cannot; but he has fought one battle that an Archbishop can admire—he battled with himself."

"If I had not been for you, Colonel, I never could have stopped drinking," interrupted Sullivan. "I used to think of you busy in the White House taking time to send word to me to keep up the fight, and seeing me there when I called, I couldn't drink with all that on my mind."

"I'm glad to shake hands with you on your last fight," said the Archbishop.

And an Ex-President, an Archbishop and a prize fighter sat down together!

OUIDA (Mlle. Louisa de la Ramée), the Victorian novelist, whose "best sellers" used to shock our grandparents, was eccentric in her dress and habits, and often very disagreeable in the bargain. Her passion for dogs—she treated them better than she did her friends—is evident by the remark she made upon hearing from a friend that a dog given her by the novelist had caused great trouble.

"What has happened?" asked Ouida.

"He has bitten one of my children severely."

"Heavens! How you frightened me! I thought something had gone wrong with the dog."

MRS. JOHN BIGELOW, wife of a member of Lincoln's Cabinet, chancing to be in Florence—where Ouida lived—made up her mind to see the famous novelist. She went boldly to the door and rang the bell, says Herbert W. Bowen (in "Recollections Diplomatic and Undiplomatic"). When the servant appeared, Mrs. Bigelow stepped into the house, thrust her card into the servant's hand, and ordered her to take it to her mistress.

THE servant hesitated, but intimidated by a glance from the majestic lady before her, she turned and hastened up the stairs, at the top of which stood Ouida, who, highly indignant, snatched the card from the trembling servant, and after glancing at the name and address: cried out:

"Tell her to go away. I do not want to see any Americans."

AT THAT Mrs. Bigelow approached the foot of the stairs, and retorted:

"We are the only people who read your old books."

Thereupon, says Mr. Bowen, Ouida, the celebrity, relented, and with a laugh, descended the stairs, and proceeded to give Mrs. Bigelow a hearty welcome, as everyone else had to, for she was better than a celebrity; she was a novelist.

CAESAR, King Edward's fox-royal master, was deeply attached to his royal master. At luncheon Caesar was frequently permitted to be present, and being no respecter of persons, would at once make for the King, jumping up and pawing for tit-bits. Edward rather encouraged Caesar (in the new volume of his autobiography of the late King), and would often say affectionately to the little terrier:

"Do you like your old master?"

HE would even take him abroad with him, and every night would

AN ATTIC SALT-SHAKER

BY W. Orton Tewson All Rights Reserved, Reproduction Prohibited

AN occasion on which Ex-President at Roosevelt, Archbishop Ireland and John L. Sullivan, ex-Prize Fighter were observed seated together in a friendly chat at the Harvard Club, New York, is described by Henry L. Stoddard in his memoirs "As I Knew Them." It was in the summer of 1916. Roosevelt was lunching at the Club and a friend had brought the Archbishop there. After a warm greeting had been exchanged between the Colonel and the Archbishop they sat down for a chat.

SOON a tall broad-shouldered, bullet-headed figure approached. The Archbishop was surprised to see him smile at the Colonel and offer to shake hands. As a matter of fact Roosevelt was expecting the visitor.

"Archbishop," said Roosevelt, "meet another good Irishman." "John," turning to the visitor, "meet the Archbishop."

"Archbishop," continued the Colonel, "this is John L. Sullivan. He has fought many battles that I admire an Archbishop cannot; but he has fought one battle that an Archbishop can admire—he battled with himself."

"If I had not been for you, Colonel, I never could have stopped drinking," interrupted Sullivan. "I used to think of you busy in the White House taking time to send word to me to keep up the fight, and seeing me there when I called, I couldn't drink with all that on my mind."

"I'm glad to shake hands with you on your last fight," said the Archbishop.

And an Ex-President, an Archbishop and a prize fighter sat down together!

OUIDA (Mlle. Louisa de la Ramée), the Victorian novelist, whose "best sellers" used to shock our grandparents, was eccentric in her dress and habits, and often very disagreeable in the bargain. Her passion for dogs—she treated them better than she did her friends—is evident by the remark she made upon hearing from a friend that a dog given her by the novelist had caused great trouble.

"What has happened?" asked Ouida.

"He has bitten one of my children severely."

"Heavens! How you frightened me! I thought something had gone wrong with the dog."

MRS. JOHN BIGELOW, wife of a member of Lincoln's Cabinet, chancing to be in Florence—where Ouida lived—made up her mind to see the famous novelist. She went boldly to the door and rang the bell, says Herbert W. Bowen (in "Recollections Diplomatic and Undiplomatic"). When the servant appeared, Mrs. Bigelow stepped into the house, thrust her card into the servant's hand, and ordered her to take it to her mistress.

THE servant hesitated, but intimidated by a glance from the majestic lady before her, she turned and hastened up the stairs, at the top of which stood Ouida, who, highly indignant, snatched the card from the trembling servant, and after glancing at the name and address: cried out:

"Tell her to go away. I do not want to see any Americans."

AT THAT Mrs. Bigelow approached the foot of the stairs, and retorted:

"We are the only people who read your old books."

Thereupon, says Mr. Bowen, Ouida, the celebrity, relented, and with a laugh, descended the stairs, and proceeded to give Mrs. Bigelow a hearty welcome, as everyone else had to, for she was better than a celebrity; she was a novelist.

CAESAR, King Edward's fox-royal master, was deeply attached to his royal master. At luncheon Caesar was frequently permitted to be present, and being no respecter of persons, would at once make for the King, jumping up and pawing for tit-bits. Edward rather encouraged Caesar (in the new volume of his autobiography of the late King), and would often say affectionately to the little terrier:

"Do you like your old master?"

HE would even take him abroad with him, and every night would

Lesson No. 4

Question: Why is emulsified cod-liver oil so very helpful in rickets?

Answer: Because it is more perfectly assimilated and more efficiently helps the body utilize the natural lime in foods and milk, necessary to make strong bones. Give SCOTT'S EMULSION

Peters Road And Vicinity

The half-yearly examination, entertainment and Christmas Tree of the Peter's Road school was held on the evening of Wednesday, the 21st inst. The schoolroom was well lighted and fittingly decorated for the occasion, while amid the twinkling lights, an imposing and heavily-laden "Tree" showed that Santa Claus was in the vicinity. Nearly all the parents and a large number of visitors were present, which with a full attendance of pupils made a crowded house. The pupils were examined in the different subjects by the teacher, Mr. D. A. McCormac, assisted by Mr. Archie Lannigan, teacher of St. Mary's Road East, and Mr. W. L. McLean. The result of the examination was highly creditable to both teacher and pupils, and many favorable comments were made by parents and others on the splendid showing for the term ended. At the close of the examination, a splendid program was rendered by the pupils, with accompaniments on the organ by Mrs. Harry Butler and Mrs. Otis Jackson.

Program: Opening remarks by chairman, Mr. W. L. McLean; opening chorus, "Christmas, Welcome," school; recitation, "Hang up Baby's Stocking," Lois McDonald; recitation, "A Good Boy," Glen McKinnon; dialogue, "Writing to Santa," Willie and Annie McSwain; recitation, "My Dolly," Marie Kennedy; instrumental, "The Christmas Tree," Mr. D. A. McCormac and accompanist; speech, "Tom's Troubles," Raymond McKinnon; chorus, "Christmas Song," by the school; recitation, Margaret Acon and Willie Butler; recitation, Willie McSwain; dialogue, "The Day After Christmas," Alex. McSwain, Graham McSwain and Lillian Jackson; instrumental trio (as before); recitation, "A Mortifying Mistake," Ethel Jenkins; monologue, "Making Christmas Presents," Jean Butler; step dance, Lillian Jackson; recitation, "The Lost Puppy," Vincent McSwain; dialogue, "A Good Girl," Alice Jenkins; Opera Minn, Jean Jenkins and Ethel Jenkins; vocal sextette, "Holy Night," six girls; recitation, "Santa Claus Makes a Demand," Lester McSwain; dialogue, "Harry's Pockets," Lester McSwain, Myrtle Butler; instrumental trio (as before); recitation, "The Bread-crust Girl," Verma McDonald; step dance, Dora Reid; recitation, "The Crippled Dolly," Lorretta McDonald; mandolin selection, D. A. McCormac, with accompaniment; recitation, Luell McDonald; closing chorus, "Santa Claus is Coming," pupils.

Following the program, Santa Claus appeared as a vote of thanks was being tendered the teacher and others for the excellent program. Santa Claus then, in his usual and pleasing manner, distributed the gift-laden tree to the expectant children. It is pleasing to note that Mr. McCormac, teacher, was remembered by his pupils with a special cash gift. The ladies and members of the district are to be congratulated for their generous donation of candy and fruit supplied for the occasion.

Miss Arlie McLean, city, a recent graduate of the C. B. C., Charlottetown, is spending the holiday season visiting relatives and friends at Peter's Road, the guest of Mrs. Wm. McDonald and family.

Mrs. Lillian McFadyen, late of U. S., recently returned to her home at Peter's Road, where she will spend the holiday season, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Johnston.

Mr. D. A. McCormac, teacher at Peter's Road, is spending his Christmas holidays at his home, Boughton Island.

Mr. James A. Dewar, Murray River, salesman and insurance agent, passed through this vicinity today.

Mr. J. L. McKinnon and Mr. W. B. Hicken, general merchants, Peter's Road and Alliston respectively, are doing a thriving business in the mercantile line.

Mr. James Thompson, late of the firm of Poole & Thompson, Montague, has returned to his home at Alliston, for the winter months.

Containing oil to impregnate the paper insulation, an underground cable is carrying 131,000 volt electric