In Memoriam
In loving memory of our father James P. Clow who died June 21, 1936.
When the evening shades are falling
And we are sitting all alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If he only could come home.
Oh and oh our hearts do wander,
To that grave not far away,
Where we laid our darling father
Just one year ago today.

CAMP PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT—Reports coming in this past week from different points indicate that the Boys' Camp conducted at Canoe Cove under the joint auspices of the M. R. E. C. and Y. M. C. A. will have a capacity attendance. Mr. Ralph Young, the Camp Director held a conference this past week with the Boys' Work Board and Camp Leaders. An intensive plan of camp promotion is being conducted and is already bearing fruit as evidenced by entries and inquiries which are being received. The Y's Men's Club which has always liberally supported the Camp in funds and service is organizing a working party within the membership of the Club to make trip to the camp grounds this week to do considerable painting and repair work. The Camp programme for Junior and Senior Sections will be the strongest in recent years, combining fun and recreation with definite training and instruction in character education and camp craft. Parents and boys interested in the offerings of this high grade camp should make inquiries at once from Church Ministers—the local Y. M. C. A. or the Secretary of the Boys' Work Board, Rev. J. B. Wilton, Summerside.

Traces Cause Of High Cost Of Living
Preacher Emphasizes Lack Of Godliness As Prime Factor In Situation.

Preaching in St. James Church last evening the Rev. Dr. J. Keir Fraser spoke as follows on the cause of the high cost of living: I Timothy 4:8. "Godliness is profitable unto all things."

"This was a sweeping statement for the Apostle to make. We wonder if it was not a rash statement. 'Godliness is profitable unto all things'—not simply some things. We all admit this, but all things. Is that true? What do our business men say about it? What do any of you say? Does it never pay to be dishonest? To be unscrupulous? To be unkind? To be stingy and mean? Are there not times when it pays to be this? Well, Paul says no. He says there are no exceptions. 'Godliness,' he says, 'is profitable unto all things.' And Paul is right. All history proves it; all experience proves it. The wicked may seem to prosper for a time. But God's pay day is

Commencement Exercises At Notre Dame

Five graduates of Notre Dame Academy were presented with diplomas at the commencement exercises last night. Thirteen graduates in the commercial department also received diplomas. His Excellency Most Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, Bishop of Charlottetown presided.

A large audience saw a delightful program of a highly religious nature carried out. It included: Piano duet, "Caprice Espagnol," Winnifred Doyle, Dorothy Conway, Laure Jeanne Arsenault, Eileen Shaw.
Sculpture, Rita Doucette.
Song, "Hour of Parting."
Awarding of diplomas.
A trinity of girlhood, Lebel Goodwin, Joyce Sahl, Doris McCarville and Norma Peppin.
Graduates' Song, "White and Blue."
Honor prize.
Song, "Thanks Be to God."
God Save the King.
His Excellency spoke words of congratulation to the graduates and their parents and commented on the fine evidence of faith as revealed in the program. He urged that Catholics and all denominations stand shoulder to shoulder against subversive forces at work in the world to undermine Christianity. Such forces are being catered to by educational institutions which ranked high in this country and in other parts of the continent, His Excellency said.
The graduates of Notre Dame were mentally stable and could go forth and adjust themselves whatever happened and would be able to distinguish the truth from what was mere opinion, the speaker declared.

Graduation Diplomas were awarded to the following young ladies, who completed with an average:

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH
"We are never far from Calvary," declared Rev. Mr. Miller at the morning service at Trinity yesterday morning, preaching from the theme, "Decisions at Calvary." The love of God outrages the sin of man. Though the prodigal was in the far country, God was by his side. When the soldiers had completed their work of crucifying Jesus they sat and watched Him there. Jesus was at His best and greatest on the cross. From every viewpoint He was great. On Calvary He was most divine. Also here God's plan of salvation was seen at its best in His spirit, faith, love and power. Whatever failure we may charge Christianity with today, it did not fail at Calvary; neither did it fail the first centuries and it will not fail today. If we exercise a similar faith and devotion to those of His early believers. The death of Christ made little stir beyond the boundaries of His country and there were many of His countrymen who paid little attention. Then went out His followers until today the story is told in all parts of the earth. As they watched Jesus on His cross, the world today are watching us who profess Him as Lord. Calvary is the place of decisions. There were decisions made that memorable day long ago and it is there our decisions must be made today. Calvary reveals the worth of humanity, the hope of humanity, and the way of humanity. "When Jesus Shocked People" was the theme of the evening sermon. His disciples reported to Him that the scribes and Pharisees were offended and shocked at His teaching. He had condemned their traditions which they substituted for the law of God. Jesus answered their question by asking another: "Why did they violate the commands of God?" It is easy for many to fall into the habit of shocking people. It is closely related to the sensationalism of press, pulpit and platform. Jesus never shocked for the pleasure it gave, but as His preparation for the truth. His purpose was the reclamation of the individual, the nation in order that He might bring in the Kingdom of Heaven. He often shocked them by His independence of the customs and beliefs of His time; by the demands of His teaching and the sacrifice it involved and His faith and means. If we only listened to the voice of God today, we also would be shocked into a new sensibility and appreciation. If Jesus came, He would shock His church, the nations, our institutions and the individual. Then he would lead us into a more abundant life and our civilization would be born anew.

of flowers, beautiful and fragrant. The Sunday School is showing a continued interest and the numbers are increasing. With the continued co-operation of the members there will be no usual summer slump in our christian activities. The evening sermon was on "The New Spirit and the New Heart" on Ezekiel 36, 26. This prophecy was to do principally with spiritual religion and not temporality. Christianity as a new thing came in a new way, with a new message and giving to God's people a new name. Man receives from God a new nature which cannot commit sin, this nature finds its seat in a new heart. The change in a man's heart is seen by his life. The lover of God will love his fellow men and christians of all faiths and denominations. Man cannot give man this new heart. The whole church combined cannot put God by his spirit. The change in the man's heart is seen by his life. The lover of God will love his fellow men and christians of all faiths and denominations. Man cannot give man this new heart. The whole church combined cannot put God by his spirit. The change in the man's heart is seen by his life. The lover of God will love his fellow men and christians of all faiths and denominations. Man cannot give man this new heart. The whole church combined cannot put God by his spirit.

16. "And brought with them" one Meason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should abide. "What a wealth of content is embodied in the term 'Old Disciple'." It holds riches and treasures of experience, strength and steadyness of faithfulness and the rugged determination and tenacity of perseverance. And with its tendency to the retrospective, considers youth lusty and youthful, and youth, bound up in the prospective, looks upon age as narrow and bigoted. But result are obtained when the energy and enthusiasm of youth are tempered with the wisdom and understanding of age. The "Old Disciple" is a strength of age, calm, ready, with a rich past and a promising, untroubled and happy future. While the young and the old are both necessary to a successful
