::Relief From Asthma:—Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes! It has made asthmatic affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN A. McISAAC.

Died, at Cardigan, on Monday, August 13, 1923, John Alexander McIsaac, aged 56 years. Deceased was a son of the late Hilary and Sophia McIsaac, of St. Peter's, and was the third member of a family of nine, four brothers and five sisters. One brother, Bennet F., died some years ago. For several years deceased was engaged Columbia, and New Ontario, in in the mining business in British which he achieved considerable success. He married Miss Caroline, daughter of the late Hugh McCormack, Cardigan, and four years ago settled at Cardigan and took up farming. He was making excellent progress in his agricultural operations unitl about a year and a half ago, when he was stricken with illness. The best of medical skill and careful nursing availed not. Last autumn, hoping that a change of climate might be beneficial, he went to North Carolina, but this Southern visit was not productive of any lasting improvement. He returned to his home in the early Spring and lingered until the end came as above stated.

He devoutly received the last Sacraments administered by his pastor Rev. B. Gillis, D.D., and departed this life fortified and consoled by the rites of the Holy Church. He was buried in the cemetery of his native parish, St. Peter's, and his funeral thither on Wednesday, 15th, was largely attended. High Mass of Requiem was celebrated in the parish church by Rev. A. McAulay, P.P., who also officiated at the Libera and the last sad rites at the grave.

He leaves to mourn a disconsolate widow and the following brothers and sisters: Archibald, in the United States; James on the old homestead; Isabella, wife of John J. McInnis; Catherine, widow of the late John G. McInnis; Sarah, wife of Robert J. Lewis, all of St. Peter's; also Clara, wife of Dougald A. McDonald, Peake's, and Mary, wife of Roderick McDonald, C.N.R., Charlottetown. These together with a large circle of relatives and friends have the sympathy of the community, in their bereavement. R.I.P.

CRICKETS KILL BRASS BAND

(By Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The plague of crickets at Swindon has swollen at such a rate that their chirping in Savernake street today drowned the music of a brass band.

There are at least 2,000,000 crickets above the surface. Many more lie in burrows beneath it. The town is wondering when it will be able to sleep again. Cases of nervous breakdown are increasing.

There is no respite from these crickets either day or night. The deafening chorous increases as evening approaches. The insects then take wing, making light of the barricades of lime and other things, and enter the houses at supper-time. They jump boldly on the table and help themselves uninvited.

If this were all it would not much matter. After supper comes an insect dance, which lasts accompanied by its terrible jazz of chirps, until sunrise. The crickets dance up and down stairs with the greatest ease, and rattle against the walls and windows persistently throughout the night.

Some of them now and again creep in between the sheets for a short nap. The mere human being spends the night walking up and down stairs with a slipper in each hand killing crickets by fifties. He tries to snatch a nap at intervals, but his efforts are useless.

The crickets are supplemented by numberless earwigs, millipedes, wood-lice, fly maggots, and whole troops of spiders.

The refuse here is dumped into an area, where it lies until it putrefies. This method may be suited to open country or marsh land, but is out of place in the midst of a busy industrial town.

The refuse-tip has been sprayed with paraffin. Chloride of lime has been deposited around this area. Various chemical dressings have been applied. All these remedies have been without effect. The cricket nuisance is as great as ever. The meaning of the migrations of crickets from the dump to the houses is simply to obtain drink. The house cricket is a thirsty creature as well as a heat-lover.

It can exist happily on the sun-baked refuse-tip at the present time with periodical excursions for liquid refreshment, but one wonders what is going to happen in the winter. They will then seek the hearths and homes of Swindon workers, where they will become permanent "lodgers."

WHERE BANK CLERKS STRIKE

(By Dominion News Service.)

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 28.—The Bank Clerks' Union of Barcelona has sent an official communication to the Press threatening that if the direction of the banks did not abandon their resistance methods different to those hitherto employed would be adopted by the employees. It is announced that from today the direction of the strike will be entrusted to a strike committee, and the communication states in conclusion that the union declines all responsibility for what may happen if an arrangement is not speedily come to in accordance with its demands. The Westminster Foreign Bank announces that strikers will be substituted by English employees who speak Spanish if it is not possible to secure the services of Spaniards who do not belong to the union. The police service which protects the directors and the boycotted banks has been reinforced as the threats become more serious daily. In all banks salaries at trade union rates have been paid up to the end of the month.

BELL TOLLED, BOY LIVING

(By Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, August 28.—Balderton, near Newark, a busy place, depending on local ironworks, has been thrown into excitement by the report of a child dying and afterwards coming to life again.

The simple facts are that the six-year-old son of Samuel Roninson was admitted to the isolation hospital at Newark on Thursday last suffering from diphtheria. The father visited the hospital on Sunday morning, saw the nurse, and on asking the boy's condition received the answer: "He's just gone."

Mr. Roninson proceeded to arrange for the funeral. Balderton people learned of the death, and the passing bell was rung. But two hours later the nurse arrived at Roninson's house with the news that his son was still alive.

::It will prevent Ulcerated Throat. At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quinsy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

An evening of friendly fun was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Inman, North Tryon last week when they entertained about one hundred and fifty guests in honour of Miss Gladys Dunsford, resigning teacher of the school. The entertainment took the form of the popular "shower." The guests were convulsed with laughter when the prospective bride and groom were presented with a large array of gifts brought into the room in a distinctly unique "carriage," the bearers singing an old classic favorite. The gifts were opened by the Misses Margaret McDonald and Sohpia Henderson, the verses and comments attached to some, causing much amusement. The gifts comprised everything useful and beautiful for the furnishing of the "nest" from cut glass and silver to the much abused rolling pin. Mr. Nicholson thanksd the company not for the gifts alone, but for the friendship implied. Miss Dunsford also thanked her friends gracefully and spoke of the pleasant years she has spent as teacher in North Tryon and of the invariable kindness of all the people.

Mrs. Inman then served refreshments in her usual hospitable manner and a happy evening ended with three rousing cheers for the host and hostess, who are noted for the friendly hospitality of their
