Souris Gleanings

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peters of Souris died recently at Souris Hospital.

The Maritime Electric, who have recently taken over the job of lighting Souris, have done a fairly good job, but one finds many dark corners that would please many people to see lighted up.

Most of the farmers of Souris and surrounding districts have completed their grain harvesting and as they wait for clear weather to continue their potato picking, they report a very good grain crop with a good heading and lots of straw.

The town of Souris a few months back hired a man to see to it that the streets were kept fairly clean, at least this is the main part of his day's work. One sees a great difference now as one walks up the main street for much of the rubbish is kept in waste-paper tins which are placed at different intervals along the main street. The signs, "Please keep town clean, which are placed above the bins seem to be doing their duty, also as far as reminding the citizens that they too should see to it that the town is kept clean. - So.

The National Film Board presented its monthly film in Souris at the United Church Hall on Main Street. From one of the films, the audience got a birds-eye view of the vast territory that the Imperial Oil covers with its oil fields. The film on "Plastics" was nothing short of fascinating as the audience had viewed before them the process of its manufacture.

ture and the numerous uses to which it is put. On the program also was included a sing song which proved somewhat of a failure as far as the audience's participation was concerned. Despite the fact that the film was shown in a very nice hall, the attendance was remarkably small.

"My wife just lacks a sense of humor. When she brought home this picture she found in the Guardian Want Ads-I ask her if it was one of her kin!"

Last year's sports were a huge success and no doubt this season's events will be of the same high competitive order.

Considerable quantities of haddock, codfish and hake with the greater part of the catch being haddock are being taken by boats operated by Hewitt's of Lower Montague. These boats are equipped with large net drags, similar to those used by the large beam trawlers. It is reported that 17,000 pounds were recently landed and that the haddock are being filleted.

The finishing touches are at present being put to the repairs which have been going on at the Georgetown High School. The interior was completely finished with insul board before the opening of the fall term. Since then the exterior has been covered with brick siding and the workmen are at present building a coal shed, which will take the place of the two old sheds, which have been torn down. It is expected to obtain storm windows, at least for the north side of the building, before the cold weather sets in.

St Peters Flashes

Jim Lewis of St. Peter's is a patient in a Montreal Hospital where he underwent an operation Friday.

Mr. Joseph O'Hanley of the Income Tax Office is spending a weekend holiday at his home in St. Peter's.

Miss Kit O'Hanley has returned to Ottawa to continue her job in the Bank of Canada after attending the funeral of her father, Bon O'Hanley of St. Peter's.

An accident occurred in the potato field of Jack MacCallum when his small son David was run over by a wagon load of potatoes. Fortunately he was not seriously injured.

The St. Peter's High School closed Friday evening for a three-week holiday for potato picking which is now in "full swing" on the farms of St. Peter's and surrounding districts.

The annual Christmas Tree rush is on again under the supervision of G. L. Sanderson, assisted by Joseph MacLeod. Last year some fifteen or twenty cars left the station at St. Peter's and this year it is hoped they will do as well if not better.

St. Peter's has become a much brighter spot this past few days especially the north side of the bridge. Eight street lights have been "turned on" on St. Peter's North, and two on St. Peter's South. We hope that the job will be completed in the near future. - S.P.

MASON IS STELLAR HIT IN NEW ROLE James Mason, who has taken the film world by storm with his dramatic portrayals, has a new kind of role in Universal-International's release of "Odd Man Out," now at the Prince Edward Theatre. In direct contrast to his recent movie parts in which he has either played the villain or a "those you love to hate" character, "Odd Man Out" provides Mason with a powerful yet sympathetic role. He appears as the idealistic leader of an underground Irish army who is badly wounded after a holdup to obtain money for the organization. 8-Hour Fight For Life Hunted by the police, the story revolves around Mason's attempt to reach his comrades during his eight hour fight for life. Robert Newton, who co-stars with Mason, plays a half-crazed artist who attempts to paint the dying man- while members of the world renowned Dublin Abbey players turn in superb performances in the supporting roles. "Odd Man Out" was produced and directed by Carol Reed, and introduces Kathleen Ryan, 24 year old Belfast beauty, as the feminine lead opposite Mason. The film is a J. Arthur Rank presentation. The hit film was photographed by Robert Krasker, who manned the camera for "Brief Encounter" and "Henry V."
