CHURCH SERVICES.—Rev. J. S. Mackay will conduct services on Sabbath the 19th at Appin Road at 11, Hampton at 3 and Tryon at 7.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.—Boyne L.O. L. meets to-night. Installation of officers. Members of the Association drilling with the 16th Battalion are cordially invited to be present.

FOR PATRIOTIC PURPOSES.—At a tea given in Red House Hall on Nov. 4th by the ladies of the Red Cross Society of Little Bond and Little River the sum of $38.50 was realized.

RECRUITING MEETING.—A very successful recruiting meeting was held last night at Hampton. The speakers were Major Leigh, who presided, Rev. E. G. Fulton and Capt. J. McLeod. The hall was crowded to the doors. The addresses were eloquent, forceful and appealing. There was also an excellent musical programme by the Hampton Musical Society. Four stirring patriotic choruses were sung. Those taking part were Mrs. C. Kenzie, Freda McKinnon, Mary McKinnon, Bertha Cameron, Millie Cameron, Louise McQuarrie, Warren Inman, Joseph Dunsford, David Ferguson and Willie Myers. There was also a recitation by Russell McFarlane. At the close of the meeting three young men, Herbert McDougall, Ross Vailard, and Louis Dawson, Tryon, came forward and offered themselves for enlistment.

SCOTCHFORTH AND THEREABOUTS.—To many friends of Mrs. Michael Egan, Scotchfort will regret to learn that she is seriously ill. Miss Tillie Weir, Scotchfort, went to Charlottetown a few days ago where she intends to remain for the winter. Mr. Michael Curley, Fort Augustus, had the misfortune of losing a leg a few nights ago. It is supposed that it filled with seaweed and with the strong tide that was running was stripped from the poles and carried away. Although a search had been made for quite a distance both ways from where it was lost no trace could be found. Mr. Florrie Fisher, teacher of Scotchfort, has returned home after spending the past week visiting friends in Morrell. Glenroy School is progressing rapidly under the painstaking and capable management of Miss Florrie Fisher, teacher. Mr. J. F. Barrett, Glenroy, went to Charlottetown Monday evening to attend the K. of C. meeting which was held there. He returned home Tuesday. Mr. Artemas Coffin, Glenroy, has erected a fine new machine house where he can store all his machinery with comparative ease. Mr. Coffin does not believe in leaving any machinery out to the mercy of the elements something which is, only too common to a great many farmers. Miss E. Barrett, Glenroy, has returned home after spending the week-end visiting friends in the city.—S.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.
"GLAD" MARY PICKFORD
"Dandy" David Powell
Sir Oliver Holt Forest Robinson
His Nephew Robert Cain
Polly Margaret Seddon
"Bet" Blanche Craig
MARY PICKFORD, the idolized star of the Famous Players Film Company, adds another striking characterization to her notable repertoire of screen successes in Frances Hodgson Burnett's great drama of optimism, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the world-famous story of a young girl's unflinching faith and triumphant ultimate reward. In this celebrated play that gladdened the hearts of so many and the screen version of which will cheer as many thousands more, Mary Pickford portrays the weird and wonderful character of Glad, the beautiful and ragged girl of the London slums, whose undying optimism and heroic courage triumphed over starvation and deadly peril are unable to quench the delicacy of Miss Pickford's portrayal and the threads of forceful symbolism woven about the drama will make an unforgettable impression on the spectator. How the ignorant little slum-girl by her beautiful faith in the mysterious Power she but vaguely comprehends, is enabled to save her lover's not without a redeeming attribute, is sincerely devoted to her and protects her from the rude attentions of the "toughs." She gently declines to accept him, however, until he has learned to make an honest living and "keep straight." She earnestly pleads with him and in the end succeeds in inducing him to leave the gang who are about to "crack a crib." In the meantime Holt, a young man of the aristocracy, is attracted by her and seeks to force his attentions on her. She "cuts" him and he swears vengeance. On the night of the robbery exactly the hour at which the gang are at work in a fashionable house at the other end of the city. The robbers are caught red-handed and they accuse "Dandy" of the crime. Sir Oliver Holt, the young man's uncle, is about to commit suicide by the Thames when Glad saves him from himself. Young Holt refuses to prove "Dandy's" alibi and the old man, who has taken quite a fancy to the brave little girl, compels him to do so. In the end everything ends well. "Testing of a Man" was also a splendid picture, while "Taking her Measure" provided considerable fun. The programme was altogether an alluring one.

POLICE COURT.—There were no cases at the Police Court yesterday.

HOME MANUFACTURED GOODS.—Mr. White, Confectioner, has an advertisement in this issue bringing to attention a full line of confectionery. He is asking our readers to encourage home industry and patronize his manufactured goods. 5750

OF LOCAL INTEREST.—A painful accident happened to Mrs. Thomas W. Baker, president of the Rebekah Assembly, I. O. O. F., for the marketing provinces of Canada at Woodstock, N. B. While in the act of hanging out clothes at her residence from a high platform the rope broke. Losing her balance she was thrown some feet to the ground, and in the fall on the frozen ground both bones of her right limb were broken between the knee and ankle.

CITY TEACHERS CLASS.—The City Teachers' Class, which has been meeting at Prince of Wales College twice a week during the fall term, took for its last lesson "The Making of a Newspaper." As guests of the Guardian, they were taken in charge by one of the staff, shown through every department and initiated into all the mysteries of the printer's art. Very little escaped their notice. The managers and employees had a busy time for an hour or more answering questions and explaining how different processes are carried out. From the place where the news is "manufactured" or the advertisements received, through the proof-reading type-setting, setting up, printing and mailing departments, everything was studied. The teachers came away with a keener and more enlightened appreciation of an agency which becomes more and more in our modern civilization, a strong co-worker with the school in the field of education. The thanks of the class are due the Guardian for their kindness.—Com.

MARY PICKFORD, the idolized star of the Famous Players Film Company, adds another striking characterization to her notable repertoire of screen successes in Frances Hodgson Burnett's great drama of optimism, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the world-famous story of a young girl's unflinching faith and triumphant ultimate reward. In this celebrated play that gladdened the hearts of so many and the screen version of which will cheer as many thousands more, Mary Pickford portrays the weird and wonderful character of Glad, the beautiful and ragged girl of the London slums, whose undying optimism and heroic courage triumphed over starvation and deadly peril are unable to quench the delicacy of Miss Pickford's portrayal and the threads of forceful symbolism woven about the drama will make an unforgettable impression on the spectator. How the ignorant little slum-girl by her beautiful faith in the mysterious Power she but vaguely comprehends, is enabled to save her lover's life from the gallows, keep a great financier from suicide, bringing him a new hope and meaning of life, and awaken his reprobate nephew to a better manhood, are vividly told in this sublime drama of human suffering and hope that has brought to many despairing souls a new inspiration to bear the trials of today in the expectancy of tomorrow's dawn.
