Royal Navy

Clement, sunk off the Brazilian coast Sept. 30 by a vessel authorities identified as the Admiral Scheer.

Naval authorities said fast ships like the Deutschland and the Scheer would have a "reasonable chance of success" in running the North Sea patrol of the British and French navies. Under cover of darkness, and choosing a period of bad weather, they might easily make a run for it.

How long they would stay out would depend on oil and food supplies. The history of the commerce raiders, however, shows they always get caught if they stay at it long enough—which is what happened to the Emden, the Dresden and the See Adler in the first great war.

Eighty German seamen were landed at a Scottish port today by a British armed merchant cruiser Police and military detachments guarded the landing stage closely. Where the seamen came from was not disclosed.

There was no explanation from naval authorities of what had happened to a wrecked submarine which was destroyed yesterday on the Goodwin Sands in the Straits of Dover. Between 50 and 60 bodies were reported taken off the U-boat

Some believed the submarine might have been attacked off Deal and others that it was sunk off Folkstone and drifted along the sea bed.

On the home front, Food Minister W. S. Morrison said Britain's food supply, against which German raiding is directed was growing. He added a date for rationing would be fixed soon.

Authoritative trade circles said Britain's overseas trade had recovered from the initial shock of war and was rapidly regaining large scale import-export losses suffered in the first few weeks of hostilities.

Trade Picks Up

Import-export figures for September released today showed a drop of 34 per cent in the value of imports in comparison with September 1938 and a 42 per cent decrease in exports. Imports were valued at £49,900,000 ($213,053,000) a decrease of £25,100,000 and exports at £23,100,000 a decrease of £16,700,00. Re-exports also were cut almost in half, with the value in 1939 reaching only £2,400,000 compared with £400,000 in September, 1938.

In explaining this big drop in foreign commerce, board of trade spokesmen explained that during september the Mediterranean was closed to British merchantmen for three weeks, all trade with Germany was cut off and all shipping in the Baltic was suspended.

Return To Normal

During the last few weeks, however, conditions have been returning to normal, it was stated. The convoy system has been placed in operation and British maritime losses have been reduced to a point, trade circles said, where they are insignificant in comparison with losses during the great war.

It was emphasized that the government's plans for rationing food purchases in the near future does not necessarily imply there is a shortage. This move is intended to assure equitable distribution throughout the country. The rationing would be based on the quantity of the various products on hand but there is no basis for the belief that unwarranted restrictions will be clamped down, it was stated.

Acclamation In Quebec

LA MALBAIE, Que., Oct. 27 — (CP)—The Liberal party's representation in the 86-seat Quebec Legislative Assembly was increased to 68 today when Edgar Rochette was elected member for Charlevoix-Saguenay constituency by acclamation.

Rochette was the only candidate for this isolated eastern Quebec Riding when nominations closed at 2 p. m. EST. The election was to have been held Nov. 16 but the acclamation removed the need for this.

Because of its remoteness, Charlevois-Saguenay did not vote with the rest of the Province Oct. 26 when the Liberals swept the Union Nationale Government, headed by Premier Maurice Duplessis, out of power.

Hope Lingers For Averting Indian Crisis

DELHI, India, Oct. 27 —(CP) — Hope of averting the Indian crisis prevailed tonight despite resignation today of the congress ministry of Madras.

Optimism was based on Sir Samuel Hoare's speech in the British House of Commons yesterday. The Lord privy seal's statement was interpreted as leaving the door open to further immediate consultations between Lord Linlithgow, the viceroy, and congress spokesmen demanding dominion status for India.

The Madras ministry was the first of eight congress-controlled state governments to follow the resignation orders given last Sunday by the party's working committee in protest against Lord Linlithgow's promise to consult on dominion status after the war.

The ministry will stay in office for the time being, however. An official statement said Lord Erskine, governor of the province, advised Premier Rajagopala he could not accept the ministry's resignation until lhe had time to make other arrangements to carry on government affairs.

Resignation of the congress ministry of Bombay was expected during the weekend. Following the example taken at Madras yesterday, the Bombay legislative assembly today adopted a resolution condemning the British government's India policy as stated by the viceroy. The vote was 92 to 56.

Lithuanians Occupy Wilno

KAUNAS, Oct. 27 —(CP —Havas) — Lithuanian troops marched into the city of Wilno (Vilna) today, completing occupation of former territory taken by Russia from Poland and returned to this country.

Martial law was proclaimed in the city several hours before the Lithuanians made their triumphal entry. Soviet troops garrisoned in the city since the German -Russian partitioning of Poland withdrew to a point about half a mile outside the city limits.

The Lithuanian military governor of the city immediately banned sale of alcoholic drinks except at certain specified hours and ordered all residents to surrender all arms in their possession to military authorities within 48 houhs. All orders issued by military officials were published in both Polish and Lithuanian.

Occupation of the territory surrounding the city started early today when Lithuanian troops crossed the frontier at eight points.

Copper Deal With British

OTTAWA, Oct. 27—(CP)—Major Canadian copper producers are consumating agreements with the British Ministry of Supply to supply 420,000,000 pounds of electrolytic copper over an approximate period of one-year for Great Britain's war-time requirements, the Prime Minister's office announced tonight.

The announcement said that the price approximates that ruling at the outbreak of war.

The agreements are subject to renewal by the British Government for the duration of the war.

May Declare Holiday On Heavy Ships

By Edward E. Bomar
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct, 27—(AP)— The United States Navy may declare a years "holiday" on the building of additional new battleships, and concentrate instead on fast cruisers and destroyers.

This was reported today in authoritative quarters, which indicated that the primary reason was the crowded conditions of United States shipyards. In addition, German air, and underseas, raids on British shipping have dramatized the necessity for plenty of light speedy surface craft. Cruisers and destroyers are indispensable in convoying merchant ships, combatting submarines, and protecting capital ships.

Officials emphasized they had undiminished confidence in the battleship as the backbone of sea power. They made plain that battleships already ordered would be built, and that replacements would be made regardless of the spectacular air and U-boat raids.

The holiday plan, if it is adopted, merely involves postponements of construction of additional new capital ships for a year, Chairman Scrugham (Dem-Nevada) of the House Naval Sub-Committee said he understood the warship program to be submitted to Congress next year omitted provision for further capital ships, for the first time since 1936.

Officials Silent On St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 —(CP) —Canadian government officials are remaining strictly silent on reports from Washington that the St. Lawrence waterway treaty has again become a live issue but it is believed here discussions have been revived. President Roosevelt's statement at his press conference this morning that the administration had taken the treaty out "and dusted it off" went without official comment.

The War This Week

tion Wednesday of Field Marshal Hermann Goering's newspaper that the time had come when war "must rain down in full force upon the British Isles themselves," and on the bitterly anti-British tenor of foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop's speech at Danzig Tuesday.

In Washington, after days of debate, the senate passed the controversial neutrality bill Friday evening by a 63- to-30 vote and sent it to the house of representatives. The measure would carry out President Roosevelt's recommendation that the existing arms embargo be repealed.

Only One Answer

In his report to the House of Commons Thursday Prime Minister Chamberlain refused to waste time answering Von Ribbentrop's "distortions of the truth," but replied strongly to the foreign minister's assertion that Germany would "fight to the finish." The Prime Minister said there was only one answer and "we are prepared to give it."

For Russia both Mr. Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax had words of conciliation. The foreign secretary said Russia never would have invaded Poland had Germany not set the example while Mr. Chamberlain said the government was not at variance with the personal opinion of Winston Churchill, first lord of the Admiralty, that Russian occupation of eastern Poland "was clearly for the safety of Russia."

The War At Sea

In the war at sea a new factor appeared when the British government confirmed reports the German pocket battleships Deutschland and Admiral Scheer were at large to prey on shipping. However, Mr. Chamberlain was able to report that the week's losses inflicted on the enemy by the Royal Navy exceeded by 6,000 tons net the toll of British snipping taken by German raiders.

The week saw British scouting planes over Berlin and the Krupp armament works at Magdeburg. There were several successful attacks by British naval and air units on enemy U-boats and one shattered German submarine was washed up off the south coast, with between 50 and 60 bodies in her hull.

There was a reminder of the Athenia disaster when the United States freighter City of Flint, which brought 200 survivors of the torpedoing into Halifax last month was seized by the Deutschland and taken to Murmansk, Russia, by a prize crew. The ship was released by Russia and is at sea, but where it is going and in whose jurisdiction is U.S command are questions the Russians have not answered. Attempts of the United States to learn the fate of the ship's American crew and the ultimate fate of the ship received high-handed treatment in Moscow and Berlin and unquestionably increased American sentiment for the allied cause.

Former Constable Faces Charge For Manslaughter

FREDERICTON, Oct. 27—(CP)— R. K. Ackman, a Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable until today, was charged with manslaughter today and released until Monday on $8,000 bail. R. C. M. P. Superintendent W. V. Bruce said Ackman "is no longer a member of the force."

Ackman was previously charged with leaving the scene of an accident without stopping to render aid and without revealing his identity. At an inquest last night the jury blamed him for "gross negligence" in allegedly operating an R. C. M. P. car said to be the one that hit and killed Myron Hazelwood last Monday.

Twelve Hangars For R. C. A. F. Are Planned

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 —(CP) — Twelve new hangars will be built at Royal Canadian Air Force stations in Nova Scotia, according to an announcement by the defence purchasing board, published in the Canada Gazette today calling for tenders.

At Dartmouth air station, the defence department plans to erect two seaplane hangars and three sirgle landplane hangars as part of the east coast preparedness program.

Two single landplane and two seaplane hangars will be built at Sydney and three single landplane hangars at Yarmouth.

Tenders also were called for three seaplane hangars and two single landplane hangars to be built on the Pacific coast.

Foreign Currencies Dip Slightly In U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 —(CP) — Sterling recovered from a morning dip but still was 1-4 cent short at the closing rate of $4.00 in relation to the United States dollar today.

Forlegn exchange dealings were hesitant as traders watched war news from abroad and the United States Senate fight over neutrality.

Aside from a .05 cent drop in the Belga, other major currencies showed little chance. The Canadian dollar, at a discount of 10 9-16 per cent, was off 1-16 cent.

Send Against War Statement To Justice Head

TORONTO, Oct. 27 —(CP)—Attorney-General Gordon Conant said tonight he has submitted the problem of the "witness against war" statement issued by 75 ministers of the United Church of Canada to the Federal Minister of Justice for consideration.

The Attorney-General said the question of prosecuting members of the group was of more than ordinary importance. "Prosecution might unduly magnify the incident and create a false impression abroad," he said. "Furthermore, the form and wording of the statement appeared to have originated outside this Province."

The statement issued a week ago announced the signers' condemnation of the present or any other war. A sub-executive of the United Church of Canada held a special session and issued a statement "regretting" the manifesto of the 75 members of the group.

St. Lawrence Waterways Scheme Revived

OTTAWA, Oct, 27—(CP)—A dream of successive governments in Canada and the United States since the start of the century, of jointly harnessing the power and seaway resources of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River system, has been revived again by news from Washington and local rumors which tonight still lacked official comment.

For the past week in Ottawa and Washington there have been reports indicating the possibility that, even though Canada is at war, the St. Lawrence deep waterways scheme may again become an immediate issue.

Neither confirmation nor denial followed the report a week ago that Premier Hepburn of Ontario had withdrawn opposition to the scheme which was a stumbling block to reopening negotiations in May 1938 when last overtures were made by the United States Government.

Dusted Off

In Washington today President Roosevelt said the old treaty had been "taken out and dusted off" by the administration. This was backed upon here as partially bearing out the report that some indication had gone out from Ottawa that the way might be open for renewal of discussions.

On May 28, 1938, Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, communicated to the Canadian Government fresh proposals under which Canada and the United States jointly work out a development of the power and transportation possibilities of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River.

These proposals contained some changes in the original seaway plan. At the time Premier Hepburn, head of the Canadian Provincial Government most concerned, declared the project could not be justified on economic grounds.

Since the outbreak of war Mr. Hepburn has disclosed a desire to co-operate with the Federal Government, although he had been in open warfare with his former leader, Prime Minister MacKenzie King for nearly two years, particularly on this question.

Power Possibilities Seen

In view of the apparent likelihood of a great wartime expansion of manufacturing industry in Canada and also in the United States it has been suggested both countries would be equally anxious to proceed with the $500,000 000 project as a means of creating fresh power resources.

Removal of Ontario opposition together with Wednesday's defeat in the Quebec elections of the government of Premier Duplessis who also took a stand against the project as being unnecessary, is expected to further smooth the way to resumption of negotiations.

Under the latest proposal it was estimated the cost to Canada, in addition to what the Dominion already has done to develop the Welland Canal would be about $38,000,000.
