ITALIAN SOCIALISTS PREPARING TO EXPRESS THEIR OPPOSITION

Have Planned to Leave Chamber When King Enters at Opening of Parliament and Hold Session in Adjoining Room. They will demand Abolition of Oath on Taking Their Seats.

(Special to the Guardian.)
ROME, Dec. 1.—When King Victor Emmanuel enters the Chambers at the opening of the 25th session of Parliament at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the Socialist Deputies will not rise. They will leave the Chamber when the roll call begins and hold a meeting of the Socialists en bloc in an adjoining room, while the King delivers his address. They will take the oath at Tuesday's session with mental reservations and present a motion to eliminate from the constitution the requirements that the Deputies shall take such oaths. This is the program agreed upon by the Socialist caucus after a long discussion. Some of the deputies say that this moderate program, as they term it, may be modified if their opponents offer an affront. Just what may be regarded by Socialists as an affront has not been made clear and there is much speculation as to whether the King's reception with the customary loud applause by sympathetic deputies and senators will be considered as justification for a more extreme expression of disapproval by the Socialists who held 156 of the 508 seats.

GROWING OPPOSITION IN ENGLAND TO GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF COAL

Notwithstanding Vote of Confidence in Government Outside Opposition is Developing and a Propaganda is Under Way in Opposition to Government Interfering in Trade.

(Special to the Guardian.)
LONDON, Dec. 1.—Discussing the rejection by the House of Commons of the motion by Wm. Bruce for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the Controller's Department, the parliamentary correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, which is a staunch supporter of the Coalition, says "the feeling which was expressed more in the lobby than in the Chamber was that the sooner the government got out of business enterprises like the coal control the better it will be for business. The revolutions so far as they went on the methods of the Coal Controller reflected no credit on this wretched department and showed how difficult it is to graft business methods on a government department. Ex-premier Asquith, speaking at Birmingham yesterday, urges the nation to "beware of Goddessism," and if the imminent election which Mr. Asquith predicted is fought on the question of bureaucratic control there can be little doubt of the country's verdict. The anti-dumping bill which will come before parliament for a second reading next week will be fought not only by the free-traders but by a certain number of thorough-going protectionists on the ground that it creates a new bureaucratic department to regulate trade instead of allowing full play to economic laws of demand and supply.

P.E.I. Family To Be Deported

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—A family originally from Prince Edward Island passed the holiday at the immigration station awaiting deportation. It is considered the strangest case with which the authorities have had to deal. Mary P. Jerome, aged 17, whose case was reported last week, had been deported. Mrs. Agnes Jerome, the girl's mother, who had been notified that her daughter was dead, came from Houlton, Maine, with three other children to claim the body. Upon arriving she was informed that her daughter was held at the station, and hastened down to Long wharf, where there was an affectionate reunion between mother and daughter. The woman also found that her husband was in the detention pen under orders to be sent out of the country. He had served a sentence of six months in the house of correction, having been arrested upon complaint of the wife. The woman was virtually penniless, and the officials at the immigration station decided it would be best not to separate the family again. They will be sent back to their home in Prince Edward Island.

Davenport, and the Senate speaker, Charles McNary, were sworn in.

Gov't Determined to Force Operations in Bituminous Fields

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—The government served blunt notice on soft coal miners and operators tonight that interference with coal production would not be tolerated. Warning that legal prosecution would be employed to thwart conspiracies by either side, and troops sent wherever necessary to protect miners willing to work came from the Department of Justice after members of the Cabinet had considered every phase of the bituminous mines, officially figured at better than forty per cent of normal.

$2,000,000 RADIO STATION TO BE ERRECTED AT VANCOUVER

The station which will cost $2,000,000, will handle commercial business between Canada and the Orient. A station of like power and cost will, of course, be built in Japan. ST. ANDREW'S NIGHT WAS DULY CELEBRATED Galaxy of Happy Scotsmen Did Honour to Their Patron Saint at Banquet Held Last Night at the Davies Hotel. Between 80 and 90 Present.

The celebration of St. Andrew's Night at the Davies Hotel last night was perhaps the most successful and enjoyable in the history of the Caledonian Club. There were between 80 and 90 present and the proceedings from start to finish were bright breezy and brotherly.

Dinner, with the usual accompaniments of the bag pipes, the haggis procession and the address to the "queen of puddings" were carried out in an ancient and honorable form. The memorable figure of the late Mr. Charles Burns address to the haggis, read "Burns address to the haggis," which was taken by Mr. Malcolm, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia. The dinner was a more than ordinarily sumptuous one and, as usual, a distinct credit to the Davies Hotel, whose reputation for elaborate and well prepared and served meals is a long established one.

GERMAN SHIP ENTERS HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 1.—The first German vessel to enter Halifax harbor since the war, is the barque Paul, owned in Hamburg and commanded by Herr Kapitän Wulff Krueger, who is operating in the North Sea. She arrived today bringing an interesting story of battles with the sea. The Paul left Hamburg 33 days ago in ballast for Philadelphia and had a succession of fierce storms. She was reported to distress a week ago and it was current talk that passing ships refused to render any assistance beyond taking of the crew in case they proposed to abandon the vessel. No one would take her in tow. That the captain was able to return to port as now, was asked: "Where is old John?" "Aye John," he replied, "I dinna ken where he is but he is dead." The Scot, while possessed of a kindly heart, is at times distinguished by the use of cutting satire. At the time when the Marquis of Lorne was espoused to the Princess Louise a certain firm in Glasgow produced a flaming colored handkerchief with the photographs of the notables of Aristocracy. The beadle of a certain Church, very much troubled with cold in his head, was vigorously blowing his nose into one of these kerchiefs upon which the minister remarked "Aye John, I see that at last ye are able to get your nose into genteel society." A certain Scottish wife, sitting by the death-bed of her husband, cautiously asked him if he had any suggestions to make regarding her future marriage. The dying man said "Ye can marry the dell gin ye like" to which the lady replied: "Na, na John; I'll no marry twice into the same family."

CANADA MUST PLAY HER PART SAYS GENERAL SIR ARTHUR CURRIE

Does Not Advocate Militarism, But Says Canada Should be Prepared for Any Eventuality and be able to Provide Six Divisions in the Event of War.

(Special to the Guardian.)
VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 1.—If Canada had mobilized all her men in the early days of the war the present unrest among returned men would not have existed, declared General Sir Arthur Currie in an address before the Canadian Mining Institute. He said he believed that the League of Nations might be an instrument to help toward the peace of the world. He thought it should be given a chance. It was a step in the right direction, but it would be folly to say that the League would create a condition leading to universal peace.

A TERRIFIC WIND STORM SWEPT TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT

Preceded by Failure of the Electric Current the Storm Came Suddenly, Unroofing Buildings and Breaking Telegraph Poles Like Matches. Mysterious Light in Heavens Added to Terror of Situation.

(Special to the Guardian.)
TORONTO, Dec. 1.—Toronto was swept by a never before equalled here, at a little past eight o'clock on Saturday night. It was heralded by the failure of the electric lights. Just about 8 o'clock in the residential districts the street lights came to a stop. Within a few minutes the street lights faded out. They came on again shortly and hardly had they begun to glow when the storm came in all its fury. The wind stripped trees like matches, blowing down from the south and east. It tore roofs off houses and factories. It left line up-houses and telegraph poles, and on line of fallen fences, telegraph and telephone wires, caught by the falling trees, came down. In the confusion in homes near the Lake (the Inn) lights blew out. The rock like rain upon a stormy sea. Away out on the lake the water leaped in mountains and even the well-sheltered bay was too rough for navigation. Above all, in the dark clouds, a mysterious blue-green sheet of light came and went, fast and yet too slow, for lightning and added to the terror of a fearful night. At half past eight the machine for ascertaining the velocity of the wind at the storm signal station showed the gale ran at the rate of 78 miles an hour. This is a record for Toronto. Later in the evening the wind veered round to the west and in the opinion of some the change of direction saved Toronto from a still worse storm. One man was killed and several persons injured in the terrific gale and many thousands of dollars loss was entailed in the wreckage that followed in the wake of the wind. The material damage was comparatively light in view of the severity of the gale.
